The SPEAKER announced that the Governor-General would attend in the Senate on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock to prorogue Parliament.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said the work of the session was closed, with the exception of the consideration of any amendments that might be sent to them by the Senate.

HE DIED IN HIS COFFIN.

He Made it His Bed for Forty Years as a Reminder that Death was Near.

EMMITSBURG, Md., July 16.—Forty years ago Mr. David Gamble, a wealthy farmer near here, made a coffin in which he slept every night without failure. His novel bed was chosen, he said, as a constant reminder that death is always near. His desire to impress this fact upon himself was owing to the sudden death of his wife, at the age of 30 years, by heart disease. Just before he made the coffin they had been to a ball, and after returning home retired to bed. Fifteen minutes later Mr. Gamble found that his wife had died in his arms. The shock was believed by many to have unsettled his reason. He always kept his coffin thereafter in the corner of his dining room. He would get into it every night and pull the lid up until only his face was exposed to view. One day he had a travelling photographer take a view of him as he lay in the coffin. This picture he had framed and hung over the dining room mantelpiece. Last night he retired to his coffin at the usual hour, but when the servant called him this morning it was found that he was dead. The body was not disturbed, and will be buried as it was found. Mr. Gamble was a charitable man and much liked.

Managed by Machinery.

Shortly after ten o'clock this morning the employees of McClymont's and company's saw mills in New Edinburgh were horrified at seeing a few men carrying the naked body of a man named D. Cadieux up from the basement of the mill where he had been fearfully mutilated by the machinery. He has been in the employment of the firm since the spring as a carpenter and handyman. This morning he left the workshop and went down to the basement of the mill for some unknown purpose. The millwright was at the time sewing the belt which runs the shaft of the shingle mill up stairs. When Cadieux entered the basement, without evidently realizing his dangerous position, he leaned on the wheel which instantly started. The belt knocked him down and pinned him between the belt and the pillar where he was terribly lacerated by the blunt rivets in the belt. The machinery was promptly stopped, and Cadieux extricated from the machinery and laid on the floor unconscious and prostrated in a pool of blood. He was then removed to his home and medical aid summoned. Dr. Bell, of New Edinburgh, after dressing the wounds, put 11 sticks in his right side and four across his breast. The unfortunate man is about thirty years old and has recently been married. At four o'clock this evening his condition was very precarious, and little hope of his recovery are entertained.—Ottawa Free Press, June 15th.

A PROTEST FROM PETERBOROUGH.

To the Editor of the Monetary Times.

Sir.—Will you kindly permit me through the medium of your valuable paper, which represents the interests of insurance companies, to lay before them the particulars of an injustice which the town of Peterborough suffers from, viz., an improper classification of insurance rates. I have repeatedly demonstrated to agents of the town as well as through the local press that Peterborough undoubtedly deserves to be classified in rate "B." The rivalry among property holders in building, as well as in improving are notable facts here, and a guarantee in itself for preserving the town from injury by fire. Take for instance, my own two stores 40x100 ft.; they are considered by the inspector of the Royal Insurance Company to be the best protected buildings in town on account of having iron doors and shutters; and I have lately spent $3,000 more on improvements and have now an improved roof, also a hydrant at the very door, and yet no difference is made in rates. There has been a by-law prepared by our own town council, to be voted on, for the provision of 60 additional hydrants making the total number about 85. But it is hard to predict the result as to whether the people are willing to be burdened with an additional expense of $3,000 a year, without some recognition from the insurance companies. As a resident of Peterborough for over 24 years I am aware of the losses by fire. Since the last 12 or 15 years, the fires here have been of trivial kind, and in one instance a blessing to the community, not only at Peterborough, but at large. I refer to the burning of the Midland R. R. Station, the town paying for the rebuilding of a fine brick station which is a credit to the town, and a comfort to the travelling public. If insurance companies complain of the great losses which they sustain the amount the better, as no inspection is required. Has not such a mode of insuring a tendency to incendiary fires? And who is to be blamed for such a mode of doing business? Why not employ inspectors, who have a pecuniary interest as shareholders in Co's., and whose chief aim should be to examine buildings and goods insured and at what amount and to classify buildings according to construction and surroundings. With this reform I am sure that the insurance companies will be considerably reduced with benefit to insurance Co's. as well as to the insured. I could point out many other defects but will refrain from taking up too much space.

Yours truly,
WM. LECH.

THE OTTAWA PILGRIMS.

Cures Effected at the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre.

About seven hundred pilgrims arrived on Thursday morning by boat from St. Anne de Beaupre. They all came from the Ottawa district, and expressed themselves as much pleased with the result, not less than three miracles being reported. In the course of an interview Rev. Father Sloan, Director of the pilgrimage, related the following story: An old lady named Levesque, aged 70, and living at Port Rouge, joined the pilgrims on the way and went to St. Anne's with them. It appears that for several years she could only walk on crutches and suffered severely from acute pains in both legs. At St. Anne she offered her prayers at the shrine she left the altar at a rapid pace, without her crutches and crying through grate-tude. She left her crutches at the foot of the altar. Another case is that of a young man, eighteen years of age, named John Dole, of Manitowick. This youth who sustained a severe fall, some fifteen months ago, so injured his back that he has since been unable to walk or sit down for more than three minutes at a time, his only position being a prostrate one, and he even then he could not turn in his bed. Taken to the pilgrimage by some friends, nothing strange occurred to him until the return when, being unable to join the others in their devotional song, he called for me, and I heard his confession. A few minutes after, the young man exclaimed that he was cured, and began to walk around the boat to the great astonishment of all those present.

"The cure is that of a resident of Ottawa, a cripple, who left his crutch behind him and returned from St. Anne much improved, although not completely cured. The Ottawa people have every reason to rejoice over the result of their pilgrimage."—*Montreal

A UNIQUE CASE.—An action of considerable interest, on account of its novelty, was tried at the sittings of the Division Court, held here on Monday last, before His Honor Judge Benson and a jury. It arose in this way: Dr. Day, of Harwood, attended the late Edward Brady during his late illness, and when Brady died the doctor sent to a Cobourg undertaker an order for everything necessary for Brady's funeral to be of first quality; the doctor thinking that, as Brady had no children and no heirs and was reputed to be wealthy, the least that could be done was to give him a good "send-off." The undertaker's bill was $100, and Dr. Day, having given his order, was responsible for the payment. The estate having turned out to be insolvent, the administrator, Mr. W.
L. Payne, of Cobourg, refused to pay more than $50 of the funeral expenses, arguing that that sum ought to be sufficient to bury a man who could not pay his debts. This action was brought by Dr. Day for the purpose of recovering the other $50, which he had to pay the undertaker. Evidence was given as to Brady's standing, and as to the usual cost of burying man in his position in life, and it was left to the jury to say what was a reasonable amount for under the circumstances. The jury found that $100 was not an unreasonable amount, and judgment was accordingly entered for plaintiff.
Mr. J. Y. Cruikshank appeared for Dr. Day and Mr. W. L. Payne, of Cobourg, for the Brady estate. We congratulate the Doctor on escaping punishment for what was at worst an act of humanity to a dead friend.—World.

AN EXTRAORDINARY TRAGEDY.

A Man Killed his Wife and Murdered her Companion Without her Knowing it.

KLONOR, Iowa, July 17.—Miss Grace Rand, a beautiful girl, 19 years old, was a member of the family of Geo. Johnston whose wife was his sister. The ladies occupied one bed in the second story of the house, while Johnston and the hired man slept together down stairs. Last night the family retired as usual. Miss Rand fell asleep quickly, and just as Mrs. Johnston had nearly lost consciousness she was aroused by one approaching the bed. It was her husband. He leaped over the bed and kissed her affectionately and bade her good night and left the room. Immediately her husband was gone Mrs. Johnston was attracted by the strange movements made by her sister. Putting her hand on her sister's face she was terrified to feel blood gushing from her throat. A moment later the girl, writhing in the agony of death, rolled from the bed to the floor. Mrs. Johnston struck a light and discovered the girl lying dead.
The girl's throat was cut from ear to ear. The hired man came in answer to her screams and found Johnston lying near the door with a broad gash in his throat and a blood geyser beside him.

OVER THE FALLS

A Glimpse and Terrible Accident on the Opening Day of Niagara.

Toward evening yesterday at Niagara Falls, a sad accident occurred although it seemed comparatively little known there. A few minutes after 7 o'clock people on the Great Island bridge were alarmed by a cry that some one had fallen over the pier. After a period of excitement in which no one could be of any service, it transpired that the unfortunate one was Mrs. Anne McInstry, lately residing with her cousin, Mrs. Murphy, at 545 Ulica street.

The crowd had seen the body carried away by the current and that was all. It was learned that the deceased was a little over 30 years of age, and that she had gone from Buffalo with Mrs. Shields, the wife of a neighboring storekeeper, to spend the day at the Falls. The accounts of the sad affair were conflicting, some saying that the unfortunate crawled over, and others that she slipped over a plank on the pier portion of the bridge.

A Courier reporter last night interviewed Mrs. Shields at her residence, 547 Ulica street, after her return from the Falls. She answered the reporter's queries substantially as follows: "Mrs. McInstry and I started for the Falls this morning to spend the day there. She was in the best of spirits and was bent on taking in all sights. After a pleasant day we were returning home, about 7 o'clock, and had reached the pier on Great Island bridge. We were looking about us, taking in the sights, when she called to me 'Let us go out here,' pointing to the pier. I replied that I was afraid, it being my first visit. She said, 'Oh, you are a coward, don't be afraid, let's look out here,' and saying she went forward and disappeared."

Mrs. Shields appeared to be much moved by what had happened. "That's all," she remarked, "that I know, for after that we saw her body carried away in the water."

From Mrs. Murphy, who lives next door to Mrs. Shields, it was learned that the deceased had lived with her for the past two months. Her home is in Cleveland, Ontario. She had separated from her husband, to whom she was married some eight or nine years ago. She earned a living by taking in sewing. "There is no doubt," said her married cousin, "it was accidental, for she left my house this morning in the best of spirits."

Mrs. Shields, who had gone with the intention of spending a happy time with some relatives who reside at the Falls, returned to Buffalo very much depressed by her sad experience. —Buffalo Courier, July 16.

FINDING A REMARKABLE CAVE.

Compelled to Remain in it all Night, the Entrance Being Barred by Bats.

CHULAVINE, Ala., July 10.—A party of Northerners, who have been prospecting for minerals in this neighborhood for some time, arrived here this morning from Kiddlebridge, on the Tallapoosa River. They report the finding by them of a remarkable cave near there, and give a graphic account of their meeting with the inhabitants of the cave. The entrance to the cave is near the head of a small ravine, about one mile from Tallapoosa River, and is barely large enough for one person to enter at a time. The party entered the cave at about 4 p.m., and spent two hours exploring it. The cave is about 400 feet in length, varying in width from 10 to 40 feet, with an average height of 15 feet, and is dimly lighted throughout by small fissures in the rocks, extending from the roof to the ground above.

When the explorers were about to leave the cave they were terrified at finding the exit blocked by a writhing mass of big rattlesnakes. The noise made by the party had doubtless roused the snakes from their hiding places among the rocks, and they had gathered in large numbers near the entrance. Deeming discretion the better part of valor, the party retreated to that part of the cave which remained from the entrance to wait for the snakes to return to their hiding places. The explorers were compelled to remain in the cave until morning. Soon after dark one of the party struck a match to light a cigar, and after lighting it, threw the still burning match on the bottom of the cave. He was startled at seeing a bright flame flash up from the rocks where the match had fallen, and much rose to the height of four feet, burning brightly all night, and was still burning when they left the cave in the morning. A small fissure could be seen in the rocks beneath the flame, and the supposition is that a volume of natural gas was escaping through this fissure.

Daylight came at last to the great relief of the explorers, the entire party having remained awake all night. Going forward to the entrance of the cave they found that the snakes, with the exception of one or two, had gone back to their hiding places. Those that remained were quickly dispatched with stones, and the party made their exit from the cave in safety. A large party will go from here to-morrow prepared to exterminate the snakes and fully explore this wonderful cave.

THE WEALTH OF THE NORTH.

In Secrecy and Health-Giving Elements—A Valuable Spring Explored.

For many years past a source of wealth, health and enjoyment has been allowed to literally run off without much notice being taken of it. A few days ago Messrs. Trudelle, Davy, Cates, Dr. Claxton and Rev. J. J. Haylock started from Verona for what is known as the Poltoga Spring; crossing Rock Lake, running into the creek leading into Mud Lake, thence into Spring Lake, a few miles of the way brought them into Poltoga Lake. After fastening their boats they waded their way through a beautiful piece of bush for perhaps half a mile and came to the spring, a clear stream of icy cold water. Its medicinal properties are said to be of a high order by competent judges. Reports say that many years ago invalids used to go for many miles to drink of the water, and to take supplies home with them. There are the ruins of building near the spring, but everything is in a wild state. It would be worth while for some enterprising person to get the water thoroughly tested, and if of a nature medicinally warrantable, to get possession of it, and to do something to get it. From Verona it can be reached by a row boat, and with some trifling amount of expense a good foot path could be made up to it from the lake shore.

Verona, with its ever beautiful water scenery, Rock Lake, Silver Lake, Long Lake and others near by, are becoming a favorite resort for those who wish a day's sport with rod and gun, and if Poltoga Spring possesses the medicinal virtues claimed for it a good temperance hotel (as the North Act came in force) and good boat livery would in all probability prove paying affairs. From Harrington the spring can be reached most of the way by wagon or buggy. —Kingston Whig.

OLD AND NEW CHEESE.

The following appeared in the National Live Stock Journal under the signature of Prof. L.B. Arnold:

The production of cheese and beef that is along in maturing is alike expensive, and the consumers as well as producers of cheese, both in this country and in England, are beginning to look upon cheese, as they have long looked upon butter:—as a product made to eat instead of a thing to keep. They prefer the quicker ripened and cheaper article, whether of cheese or beef. There is a growing appreciation of the facts that there is no adequate compensation for the increased costliness of the longer maturing product.

A hundred pounds of average milk, handled with the skill our best cheese makers possess, will make ten pounds of cheese that will be ready for use when a month to a month and a half old. The same milk made into cheese to keep until a year to a year and a half old, would make but seven and a half pounds of cured cheese, requiring 25 per cent. more milk for a pound. Adding to this the use of capital invested, risk, storage, time, and labor in caring for it, and the increased cost will run to something like 35 per cent. If not more. A cheese on which the producer can realize 12 cents a pound at thirty to forty days old, would be as profitable as one at eighteen cents a pound at a year to a year and a half old. Much of the early maturing cheese, not from necessity, but from lack of skill in making, is inferior to cheese which has been kept a year or more, but the difference in value is often equal to the difference in cost. Notwithstanding its imperfections the short-lived cheese is generally preferred to that of greater age. The sale of old cheese is comparatively limited. A few old cheese consumers, and occasionally an American consumer, prefer cheese as much out of date as themselves, but a score of people will purchase the newer and cheaper cheese where one will take the older and outworn sort. But cheese for export must have some keeping quality, as it takes so long a time to get it into the hands of the consumer, and this is a disadvantage that must always be against the production of cheese for that purpose.

For going into immediate domestic consumption, cheese can be made for half a cent a pound less than for export, and the former is equally as good and preferred by the American consumers to the latter. The general test in this country is for quick maturing, soft, soluble and mild flavored cheese. It happens, however, that most of the cheese factories are made dry, hard, sour and soluble, with a view to shipping, though three-fourths of it is consumed in this country, and still more would be all sold here, what they are preferred. The true policy would seem to be American cheese for American people first, and the surplus, if any, for export, but it is doubtful if there would be any surplus if the American taste was properly cultivated and encouraged.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the bands off our Cable 50, and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, palming them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the brands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (15c) fifteen cent imported cigar, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a musty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine "El Padre."

We do not object to the consumers paying (10c) ten cents for our "Cable" cigars, and (15c) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c) cigars, as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Do not be deceived, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Meeting.
 An old man, named Charles Portsmouth, at one time a soldier, wandered from the Peterborough Protestant Home on Saturday morning. Any information regarding him will be thankfully received.

Battery.
 The Right Wing of the Durham Field Battery will turn out in uniform this evening at 7.30 o'clock to make arrangements for attending the funeral of the late Colonel Williams. A full attendance is requested.

A Reception.
 Long and patiently have the members of the volunteer force here, and the friends of those who have done such excellent service in the Northwest, waited to see a public movement made to make arrangements for a suitable reception to the heroes of the campaign. They have waited in vain; everyone seems to be so engrossed in business, all so eager after the almighty dollar, that it seems as if everyone had forgotten that there was ever such an event in Canadian history as the rebellion of 1865. Those who have served their country so well, however, are not to be allowed to return to their homes without a testimonial being given to the service they have done. Mr. R. N. Roddy, of the Canadian Pacific Hotel, says that if any action is not taken before to-morrow he will, at his own expense, tender the volunteers a banquet on their return. Surely the citizens will not allow this to be done!

Another Attraction at Ottawa.
 The following communication has been received by Mr. Andrew McNeil, in reference to having an exhibition of the power of the famous Waterworks at Ottawa on the occasion of the Foresters' excursion to that city to-morrow:

WATERWORKS DEPARTMENT, ENGINEER'S OFFICE, CITY HALL,
 OTTAWA, July 17, 1885.
 ANDREW MCNEIL, Esq., Peterborough.
 DEAR SIR.—In reply to yours re excursion to Ottawa on the 21st, it will afford me great pleasure to give your party an exhibition of the power of our Waterworks. You can arrange for any time convenient to visit our works, which are close to the C. P. R. station, and I will make no necessary arrangements to show you the power. If you could advise me as to the time your party will arrive here on the 21st, I will have the fountain playing as you pass the works from the station to the city, so that you can all see it, and then, if any members of your party want at any time during your visit here to see the machinery, etc., I will give the necessary orders to give them every facility to see everything in connection with our works. When you arrive in Ottawa, kindly call at my office in the City Hall, and I will render you all the assistance in my power to make your visit agreeable.

Yours very truly,
 ROBT. SURTEES.

Saved.
 On Sunday afternoon, at about four o'clock, George Halpin, a boy of about eight years of age, was playing with his dog on the platform which crosses the creek some twenty yards above Hunter street. The platform is just on a level with the water and is very slippery. The lad was trying to get his dog to go into the water when he slipped in himself. His little brother ran to tell his mother, but was so excited that he could not point out where the boy fell in. Mrs. Halpin, as may be imagined, was much alarmed. She looked along the creek but could see no trace of her boy. Mr. Wm. Logan, who was near at the time, hearing the cries for help, came up, and after a search for some time noticed bubbles coming up a few feet from where the boy fell in. Mr. Logan waded out, and saw the boy standing in the water his head about a foot below the surface. He brought the boy out, but to all appearance life extinct and the face was quite black. He was taken to his home and Dr. Bingham and Pison were summoned. Hot blankets and other resuscitative remedies were applied but it was fully fifteen minutes ere signs of life appeared. At first a faint beating of the heart was produced, and then a very weak pulse. Consciousness was restored after a time, and this morning the lad was able to be around again. He is the son of Mr. John Halpin, Hunter street.

Turnbull is showing this week South Lane Shawls in black and colors, bought at a bargain and selling at 50 cts each.

Cobourg Saved Army Picnic, July 17.
 The steamer Golden Eye will run an excursion to the above picnic on Wednesday, the 22nd July, leaving her wharf at 8 a.m. Return tickets, 50 cents. R. W. Carnon, Master.

Legal.
 Mr. R. N. Roddy has, through his solicitor, Mr. C. W. Sawers, issued a writ against the town to recover $100 damages in respect to the dinner prepared (but not partaken of) for the Nile Voyageurs last spring.

The Weather.
 The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—
 Thermometer. Barometer.

Niagara Falls.
 As interested parties have circulated a report that the Firemen's excursion to the Falls was not coming off, we wish to assure the public that the excursion will be held on the Civic Holiday, the date of which is not yet fixed, but that is the day. Wait for it, as it will be the best excursion of the season.

A fresh supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

Re-organized.
 At a meeting of the members of the old city band, for the purpose of re-organization, the following officers were elected:—
 PRESIDENT.—Mr. J. Baydon.
 LEADER.—Mr. J. Reynolds.
 SECRETARY.—Mr. E. Mannell.
 TREASURER.—Mr. E. Dunford.
 The band is strengthened by two new members from the Old Country, and it is the intention of the president to have the organization composed of ten efficient musicians. The first practice will be held to-morrow evening.

New Scale of Prices.
 The management of the Lansdowne Roller Rink has adopted the following scale of rates. Lady visitors will be charged 5 cents admission. Gentlemen visitors will be charged 10 cents admission. For those intending to skate the rate will remain as before. George Stevenson, Manager. Since the opening of the Lansdowne Rink, the management has been very generous to the public, at no time charging those as spectators unless an event of more than ordinary interest was on the boards. Every other rink throughout Canada and the United States charge an admission fee, and it is nothing more than proper that the citizens of Peterborough should also pay a small admission, since Mr. Brown has been so liberal in the past.

The Team.
 The following are the names of the team representative of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, that will contest with the "Mets" in Ottawa on July 21st:—
 J. Joyal.....Goal
 J. Hall.....Point
 M. Tierney.....Cover point
 M. Halpin.....1st defence field
 R. H. Fortye.....2nd do do
 J. Shewchuk.....3rd do do
 R. A. Kelly.....Centre
 J. Henderson.....2nd do do
 W. J. Scott.....1st do do
 C. Rutherford.....Outside home
 W. Rudkins.....Inside do
 G. H. Gloor and P. Moscorip.....Sparemen
 M. McDonald.....Captain
 The Ottawa Free Press, of July 17, referring to the Foresters' excursion to that city, says: "The Peterborough Lacrosse team will accompany the excursionists to this city on Tuesday, when they will meet the Mets for the first time this season. The Peterboroughs have a strong team this season, and an interesting match may be looked for."

White and colored Prints, all prices, now being shown at Turnbull's.

To-morrow at Ottawa.
 The excursion under the auspices of Court Peterborough, No. 23, which leaves the C.P.R. station to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock sharp will indeed be a grand affair. At 6.30 the splendid band of the 57th Battalion Peterborough Rangers, arrayed in their beautiful new uniform (24 strong) will play from the Post Office corner to the station, when the whole party of excursionists will be taken in charge by the obliging railway officials and the indefatigable and untiring committee of Foresters. Ottawa will be reached at 12 o'clock noon, when the party will disperse for dinner. In the afternoon there will be any number of attractions that will be all free to the excursionists, including the lacrosse match between the Metropolitan, of Ottawa, and the Peterborough first twelve, and the grand cricket match, Ottawa vs. Peterborough. On the train a committee will pass through distributing programmes containing particulars of the events to come off and as to be seen in the capital, and any other information the excursionists may require will be cheerfully given. This committee will also sell tickets for both dinner and tea, at a $2.50 a day house, for the small sum of 75 cents. Arrangements have been made with the proprietor of the same hotel, the Grand Union, to accommodate all who remain for any length of time at greatly reduced rates. As before stated the excursion train will leave the city for home at 6 o'clock in the evening, and another train leaves at eleven the same night. If you come on the first you will have six hours in Ottawa and be home at 11 o'clock, and if you wait for the second you will have nearly 12 hours in the city and be home again at 5 o'clock the next morning. Any who wish may remain over until the end of the third day, and return on any regular train. Through the kindness of the railway authorities Port Hope citizens can leave Peterborough on the 11.11 train on Tuesday night, and participate in the excursion at the same rate as others, viz. $2.25 for a return ticket. Nobody can afford to miss this trip. If they do,—well, they miss a good deal.

Just to hand at Turnbull's one case of new Brown Goods, in all the prevailing shades for the coming season, ask to be shown them.

Col. Williams' Funeral.
 The members of companies Nos. 12 and 3 of the 57th Battalion will meet at the drill shed this evening at 7.30 o'clock, to make final arrangements for attending the funeral of the late Col. Williams. All are requested to attend.

Cycling.
 The watched bicycle race between Kent, of Newcastle, and Gibson, of Peterboro, will take place in the grounds of the Amateur Athletic Association on Friday evening. Gibson is steadily practicing under an efficient trainer, and an exciting race may be expected. Kent is fast on the track.

Federations.
 Contrary to what was anticipated, Williamson did not arrive here on Saturday to arrange for a match with Bird. An effort is now being made to match Williamson against Hamly for a half mile dash. A good many of Williamson's admirers think that he can get away with Port Hope's champion in a short race, and it is altogether likely that the match will be arranged. There is also some talk of a matched two mile race between Bird and Laidlaw. The races, if arranged, will, in all likelihood, be run in Peterborough.

If you are in want of anything in the Gent's Furnishing Line, try A. McNAIL.

Disgraceful.
 It seems that there has been a relaxation in the carrying out of the cow by-law, and that the bovines are again on the trail. A gentleman residing in the west end counted no fewer than thirteen cattle wandering around on one street, within two blocks, on Sunday afternoon. One of the venturesome came up and attempted to hook open the gate of this ratepayer's garden, whereupon two dogs were let out. The cattle soon made tracks, but had it been in the night it is likely that another fine garden would have been destroyed. If this by-law is not carried out to the letter, some fine morning the caretaker will enter our beautiful Horticultural Gardens to see flower and shrub trampled to pieces.

Agricultural.
 A meeting of the Directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society was held in the Council Chamber on Saturday afternoon to make arrangements as to the Central Exhibition. The President took the chair and at two o'clock nearly all the directors were present. The revision of the prize list was completed, and several special prizes were offered for different events. It was decided to ask for tenders for the printing of the posters and prize list. Several special attractions are being arranged for. It is probable that the celebrated lacrosse team, the Conghwaags Indians, and another team, will give an exhibition of the national game on the afternoon of the first day. The grand train of every beast shown will proceed around the half mile ring on the afternoon of the second, and on the evening of the third a bicycle tournament will be held. Large prizes are to be offered for the latter event.

FAIRWEATHER & CO

ACCIDENT IN A MILL.
 Four Fingers Sawed off An Operator in Forsyth's Pump Factory.

This forenoon at about ten o'clock a very serious accident occurred in Forsyth's pump factory, Mill street.

Mr. Robert Sheridan was cutting off lengths of pump material with a "button" or saw. As he cut off the lengths he removed them and took them away. He had sawed off one and was about to remove the length when the cord holding the weight that drew the saw back snapped in two and the saw swung forward again.

Three fingers of the left hand were immediately clipped off and the fourth left hanging. The poor fellow was taken to Dr. Fife's surgery, where the other one was amputated. He was then driven to his home in Ashburnham.

OUR NORTHWEST CONTINGENT.
 To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Should we not hang our heads in shame after reading in to-day's papers of the glorious reception our brave lads received yesterday at the hands of the people of Toronto, among which were our own boys. Well might we feel ashamed when we think of the preparations that have been made for the glorious (?) reception our boys will receive when they return home to-morrow night. We naturally looked to the Council to have taken the matter in hand and many thought that preparations were going on to have a fit reception, but up to this late hour nothing had been heard of it except that "a committee was appointed." I hope the knowledge of this fact will have a soothing effect on the brave boys when they arrive home. If the Council had said at once that they would have nothing to do with it, there would have been any number only too glad to have taken it up. But it is a matter that should have been taken up as a town, and therefore individuals did not care to take the initiative. Every little village that sent contingents has made preparations to show their appreciation of the services our volunteers have rendered. It remains for this town, with its much boasted vitality, to let her sons return home the best way they can. Can't something be done at this late hour to have this reproach wiped away?

Yours, etc.,
 CIVIS.
The Arrival.
 A telephone message just to hand from Port Hope states that the Midland Battalion arrived at Port Hope at midnight, slept in Forsyth Park in blankets, and are now in camp. All of our boys are there, with the exception of Corporal Alf. Rogers, in Calgary, and T. Bell, in the hospital at Winnipeg. Capt. Burke expects to be here with his company on Thursday on the noon train.

We keep the largest stock of Gent's White and Colored Shirts in Peterborough at prices that defy competition. A. McNAIL.

HOME FROM THE WAR.

The Midlanders' Arrival in Port Hope.

THE PETERBORO COMPANY.

A CONCISE HISTORY OF THEIR MOVEMENTS IN THE WEST.

A Tremendous Record in Travelling—The Scene of the Frog Lake Massacre—Incidents of the Campaign—Col. Williams' Death.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PORT HOPE, July 20.

I arrived in Port Hope this morning, and at once proceeded to the camp of the Midland Provisional Battalion, which has just returned from assisting in quelling the rising in the Northwest.

As you learned by telephone, the battalion reached Port Hope at midnight on Sunday. Although the hour was so late there was a large number of people at the station to meet them, but mourning hearts and grieving spirits could not give such a reception as the battalion would have received had not their gallant commander been lying in another part of the town awaiting the last rites of the church, and the last service that his friends could render him.

The battalion hastened to the Agricultural Park, east of the town. They did not wait to pitch tents—men who had gone through what they had could do without them—but rolled themselves in their blankets and rested there till morning. "And it was a good night's rest, too," remarked an officer of the battalion, "because we were tired, and daylight did not come at two o'clock, as it did in the Northwest." This morning the tents were pitched and the men proceeded to get breakfast.

One of the first reporter met was a member of G company, an enterprising and ambitious disciple of Euclipsus, with a large slice of bread in his hand, walking about eating and giving orders at the same time. Soon others were met and questions regarding Peterborough were so numerous that little with reference to the battalion could be learned for some time. The

the members of A. and C. companies, 15th, and 45th, Battalion, if they ever were boastful of the past they took in that battle, do not appear to be so now. The officers, however, appear to have heard the subject discussed sufficiently, for a rule was adopted while at Fort Pitt that anyone mentioning the name of Batoché should be fined one dollar. An officer who had come home on leave of absence, but is now with the battalion, transgressed the rule to-day and the fine was promptly entered against him, although offering the plea that he had not heard the rule.

The rule appears to be a sort of Parliamentary one; it is an easy matter to get around it; and when an officer wishes to refer to Batoché he asks whether they "remember that little skirmish of the 12th." The battalion presents a PICTURESQUE APPEARANCE.

Every variety of uniform is represented in camp. The men say they have tried to "tony up" since they drew close to Ontario, and a great part of this morning was devoted to patching and pipe-claying, but so long as they were not given an entirely new outfit no amount of cleaning can remove from them the appearance of veterans. "I didn't know," remarked Lieut. Brennan this morning, "that I was so much tanned until I got back among white people." He certainly is well tanned and so is Capt. Burke and every man in the company and battalion. One part of the uniform as worn by the men is a small conical cap, painted, made by the Midland Battalion Cap Manufactory. It was told that Capt. Hogan was the architect of this part of the uniform. Many of the tunics are, to use a new and untried phrase, all tattered and torn, and those that do not exhibit rents give evidence of having been sewed more or less nearly. The trousers are of different variety, but the boys say that they are elegantly dressed in this particular to what they were a short time ago. The Captain of G Company is unable to wear the trousers, that did duty for him through the campaign, in a civilized community. While the boys show by the state of their uniforms that they have done some hard work, they appear to be in good health. They are browned, which gives them a hardy appearance, and they appear to be as hearty as well. Three of the Company were invalided while in the Northwest, namely, Anderson, Weir and Kelly. Corp. A. B. Rogers left the Company at Fort Pitt on June 30th, and went with a company of G. Co. Strang's scouts to Calgary, and is still in the Northwest. Private Samuel Bell, of Hastings, on May 30th fell and injured his head. At the time he received the injury he remained unconscious for some time, but he afterwards recovered. While on the way home, however, he was taken ill at West Portage on July 10th, and was sent from Selkirk to the hospital at Winnipeg. With these exceptions all the members of G Company (57th Battalion) who went out to the Northwest are now returning in apparently good health.

It may be uninteresting to give a HISTORY OF THE CAMPAIGN, or at least that part of it with which Company "G" was connected, even though it be somewhat disjointed and not elaborated. On Saturday, March 28th, Col. J. Z. Rogers, of the 67th Battalion, received a telegram from Col. Villiers late at night, telling him to prepare a company for service in the Northwest. The next day an order came for the company to report at Kingston on March 30th. This was quick work, but Col. Rogers answered that he would do it. On Monday, however, word came which altered more his plans. That night the Norwood, Hastings and Keene contingents arrived in Peterborough, and on April 1st the company started for Kingston. They left Kingston on April 6th, and at 3 a.m. on the 11th they entered Winnipeg. On the same day Swift Current was reached and the battalion went into camp there. On April 22nd the right half of the battalion went to Saskatchewan Landing to proceed to Clarke's Crossing or "Northfork." This left "G" (Peterborough Co.) and "H" (Bellefleur) at Swift Current, Col. Deacon in command, and E and F remained at Saskatchewan Landing, while the right half proceeded down the river. On May 7th Maple Creek was left, and the company started under the command of Lieut. J. L. Waller to take barges down the river. On May 2nd the two companies went from Swift Current to Maple Creek, further west, because the people in that vicinity had become alarmed. They feared the Indians, and it was thought that if the red men were defeated in the north they would move towards the boundary and place Maple Creek and vicinity in danger. Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JULY 21, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Cobourg Saved Army Picnic, Idyl Wild.
 The steamer Golden Eye will run an excursion to the above picnic on Wednesday, the 22nd July, leaving her wharf at 7 a.m. Return tickets, 50 cents. R. W. Carson, Master.

Not Satisfied.
 It seems that the Bethany baseballers are not satisfied with the result of Saturday's match. They want the Peterboroughs to give them another match within two weeks.

Association Sports.
 Remember the fortnightly sports in the grounds of the Amateur Athletic Association on Friday evening. Several entries are made for each race, and the matched cycle race will take place. Admission, 10 cents.

Masonic Funeral.
 An invitation has been received by the Worshipful Masters of the two Masonic Lodges in Peterborough for the brethren to attend the funeral of the late W. Bro. J. A. Butterfield at Norwood, on Wednesday, July 22nd, at 3 p.m. They can leave by the noon train and return home at 6 o'clock.

Off for the Capital.
 At shortly after seven o'clock this morning the excursion train consisting of ten coaches bearing the Foresters of Court Peterborough and their friends, drew out from the Canadian Pacific Railway station. The 57th Battalion Band were on board, and also the first twelve of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club. The cricketers go on a later train.

If you are in want of anything in the Gent's Furnishing Line, try A. McNELL.

Another Excursion.
 Mr. A. S. Mansard, formerly Travelling Passenger Agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, and now stationed in Montreal, was "back home" on Monday. He informs us that arrangements are now in progress for running a large excursion to Peterborough from Almonte, Carleton Place and Amherst. The excursion will be run under the auspices of the Oddfellows fraternity some time during August.

To the Back Lakes.
 Camping parties are now every day leaving for the back lakes. A large party from Guelph, Elora and Fergus passed through town on Monday, bound for Stony Lake. On Monday morning Messrs. Wm. Leach, D. Hellegren and D. Cameron, went northward. They went up to Lovensick, and then will sail down to Stony Lake and camp out for a time.

New mode of Prices.
 The management of the Lansdowne Roller Rink has adopted the following scale of rates: Lady visitors will be charged 5 cents admission. Gentlemen visitors will be charged 10 cents admission. For those intending to skate the rate will remain as before. George Stevenson, Manager. Since the opening of the Lansdowne Rink, the management has been very generous to the public, at no time charging those as spectators unless an event of more than ordinary interest was on the boards. Every other rink throughout Canada and the United States charge an admission fee, and it is nothing more than proper that the citizens of Peterborough should also pay a small admission, since Mr. Brown has been so liberal in the past.

The Beech Bee.
 Aylmer street north was the scene of not a little amusement on Monday evening. A swarm of bees had lit on the branches of a tree on the street just in front of the gate of a resident. He, in order to get rid of them, proposed to hire the countless mites. In a few moments he appeared on the street in the latest ghost fashion, arrayed in a white table cover and each hand encased in a sock. An assistant armed with an old biscuit tin appeared and the two commenced operations. After considerable trouble, during which several methods were resorted to, including the water dodge, the hummers were hived in the box without harm being done to anyone. The novel process was watched with interest by quite a crowd.

Turnbull is showing this week Scotch Lace Shawls in Black and colors, bought at a bargain and selling at $1.50 each.

Personal.
 Mr. Edward Brown, Mayor of the Lakeshore Rink departed this morning to spend a few weeks at the seaside.

For a Nobby Summer Suit, try ANDREW McNELL.

The Weather.
 The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:
 9 o'clock.....77
 1 o'clock.....85
 3 o'clock.....83

Strawberries.
 Oakville and home picked Berries, fresh every day. Any amount supplied at one day's notice. Cherries, Green Peas, Green Beans, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Cauliflowers, Cabbages and all kinds of Green Vegetables at Smith's Market.

Making Good Progress.
 The force of men engaged in digging the foundation trenches for the new factory to be erected on Mill street, by the Dickson Company, are making good progress, and it will probably not be long before commencement will be made to build the factory. While some of the men were digging away a day or two ago, they unearthed a small log which had apparently been underground for years. The timber was found to be quite sound, however—quite sound enough to make material for the new factory.

A Busy Day.
 The Golden Eye will have a busy time of it to-morrow. She leaves the Wolfe street wharf at 7 a.m. with excursionists for the Saved Army picnic at Idyl Wild. Arriving at Idyl Wild, she stops for a time to allow the passengers to disembark, and then starts for Harwood for more excursionists. These landed, she makes another trip to the same place to meet the Cobourg Army people. After landing these at Idyl Wild she will run a private excursion from Harwood to Cameron's Point. At four o'clock she takes the Armyites again to Harwood, and at five she takes the Cameron Point picnicers back again to Harwood. At a quarter to six she leaves Idyl Wild with the Peterborough contingent and will arrive here again at nine o'clock.

Accident.
 The old man Portsmouth, an inmate of the Protestant Home, who has been minding for some days, was found on Monday evening lying close to the Canadian Pacific Railway track near the Roman Catholic Cemetery by Section-man O'Brien. The old man was out and bruised in several places, and was quite helpless. Mr. O'Brien lifted him on a hand car and brought him to the George Street Station, from which place he was immediately sent to the Home in a hack. The old man has been suffering from mental aberration for some time, and he does not know how he came to be hurt. On examination it was found that he was not so much hurt as was at first supposed.

Obituary.
 On Monday morning Mr. J. A. Butterfield died at his home in Norwood after a very short illness. He had driven a lady who had been visiting the family to Birdall's station, on the Grand Junction Railway, on Friday. When he reached home again he complained of a pain in the back of the neck. The pain continued to increase in severity and medical aid was called. On Sunday no hope was entertained of his recovery, and on Monday morning he died of brain fever. The deceased was Postmaster and Clerk of the Division Court at Norwood, and one of the prominent residents of that place. He leaves a widow and three daughters. Mr. Butterfield has filled the chair of Norwood Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and was at one time a member of Corinthian Lodge, Peterborough. He will be buried with Masonic honors on Wednesday, July 22nd, at 2 p.m.

The "River-side."
 The Riverside Park, the grounds of the recently organized Peterborough Base Ball Club, contained some forty or fifty of the baseballers of the town and admirers of the game on Monday evening. A good practice was held, the eighteen who took up their positions pertinaciously playing until the dim twilight closed in. The new diamond will soon be ready for use, and the general appearance of the grounds has been greatly improved. A novel feature in the seating accommodation which is being provided is the erection of opposition grand stands. On each side of the diamond there will be a grand stand, so that spectators may have their choice of positions and may observe the game from either side. One stand is already up and the other is in course of erection. Each will be capable of holding a thousand people.

Col. Williams' Funeral.
 At a meeting of the volunteer force held at the drill shed on Monday morning it was decided that all of the military divisions here should be represented at the funeral of the late Col. Williams. Accordingly, this morning a number of volunteers went down, including Capt. Stapleton, of the cavalry troop. A large floral cross, the present of the ladies of Peterborough, was sent down on the same train. The 11.55 train took down Lieut.-Col. Harry Rogers, Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, Major Bell, Captains Edwards, Langford and Rogers, of Nos. 1, 3 and 3 companies, together with a representative of each company, Sergt. Dickson, Corp. Dayman, and other members of the signal corps, Capt. Sanderson, Color Sergeant Methford, and quite a number of the members of the right division of the Durham Field Battery. The train also took down Lieut. G. Graham, of No. 6 Company of the 45th Battalion, and about twenty-five of the Lindsay military force. The members of the Peterborough Town Council went to attend in their corporate capacity. The train consisted of eight coaches, all well filled.

Just to hand at Turnbull's one case of new Brown Goods, in all the prevailing shades for the coming season, ask to be shown them.

WAS IT SUICIDE?

A Man Cut to Pieces on the 11.55 Train—Instantly Killed.

By Telephone to the Review.

MILBROOK, July 21.—When the noon train from Peterborough had reached within two miles of this place, a man named Thos. Hadden, one of the section men, ran from out of the bushes and to all appearances deliberately threw himself in front of the engine. His body was terribly mangled and before the train was stopped life was quite extinct.

THE HORSE'S FOOT.

This subject which is very interesting to farmers who are dependent on their four-footed friends for so much hard labor, was treated by Mr. R. Stone, a practical New England blacksmith, at the winter meeting of the Connecticut State Board of Agriculture. Mr. Stone said we had given little thought to the foot of the horse, because the sensitive parts are not within view, as is a sore upon the shoulder and back. Judging by practice, many believe that every horse must be constantly shod, and the longer the shoes can be made to stay on the better.

If horses have been idle, it requires care in beginning to work them. An excellent farmer once remarked that the first day or two of spring work he only wanted his man to do half a day's work per day, but to be all the day doing it. Frequently rests and putting back the collar to admit air to the spine will often save much loss from pulled shoulders, or at least more tips, to protect the excessive wear at the toes. The frog is a cushion to receive the lower bone of the hoof, and it should be kept soft by close contact with the earth, and not exposed to drying by raising the foot upon high calks. It is not necessary to shoe often in winter, because the hoof grows slowly in cold weather. For many bad feet the best treatment is to pull off the shoes and turn out to pasture. Idleness in winter spoils many good feet. Idle horses had better be unshod. The owner and not the blacksmith is responsible for most of the lame horses, yet too many suppose that anybody who can drive a nail is fit to shoe a horse. The horse has more friends now than ever before in the history of man. Water is one of the best medicines for bad feet. Wind flannels around the ankle and keep them wet for hours together, to keep the hoof at top, where growth only takes place. It cools the foot, and often makes an animal almost a new one. Wrinkles in the hoof often pinch the tender parts and cause lameness. Use no grease on the foot, but water instead. Shoe so that the foot will stand square and level.—In Farmer's Advocate.

The Romance of a Rose.

In an article on moss roses, Land and Water tells a very curious tale as to the discovery of the variety known as the White Provence, La Blanche, or Unique. Mr. Daniel Grimsod, of Little Chelms, nurseryman, was on a journey of business in the county of Norfolk, exactly 110 years ago, when riding very leisurely along the road he perceived a rose of great whiteness in a mill. He alighted, and on close inspection discovered it to be a Provence rose. He sought an interview with the inmate of the mill, who was an elderly woman, and begged a flower, which was instantly given to him. The old lady must, no doubt, have been considerably surprised at being in turn presented with a guinea. In cutting off the flower, so runs the tale, which has been recorded "by the late Henry Shalerdis, Esquire, Fields," Mr. Grimsod cut three buds and on arriving at the nearest inn he packed up the flower and sent it directly to Chelms. "ad. dressed to his foreman, who was no other than the father of the discoverer. Shalerdis, who now tells the story. Two of the buds grew and in the following autumn the forist went down to Norfolk again and brought the whole stock for five guineas. The forist was then allowed to propagate it and for doing so was paid ten plants three years. At the expiration of that time the plants were sold out at a guinea apiece, the forist's share of the profit amounted to £300. Not the least pleasant part of this pleasant little "romance of a rose" is the fact that the old lady who had been the unconscious discoverer of a grand secret in horticulture was gratified by receiving out of the proceeds of the undertaking a handsome present, consisting of a silver tankard and other plate to the value of £50.

I suffered very much and tried many different remedies, which gave me only temporary relief and then I was as bad as ever again. I was recommended by a friend, who had been restored to health by this try Ptolemy's Speedy Cure. I did so, and I was cured, but before I felt like a new man, and I have enjoyed my health ever since. PEACE WITH HONOUR.

The Funeral of the late Col. A. T. H. Williams.

A VERY LARGE PROCESSION.

THE HERO OF BATOCHE LAID TO REST WITH MILITARY HONOURS.

An Immense Number of People in Port Hope—The Town in Mourning—An Address by the Minister of Militia.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Port Hope, July 21.

Port Hope was a town of mourning to-day. The late Col. A. T. H. Williams was buried, and the expressions and tokens of sorrow were numerous. In every part of the town flags were flying at half mast, and the buildings on Walton street and several other streets were draped in mourning. A large arch had been erected on Walton street, and it was also covered with tokens of the grief of the people. Early in the forenoon people began to arrive from a distance to attend the funeral, and in the afternoon there was an immense throng on the streets. A number from Peterborough came from that place on the morning train, and a very large number came down on the afternoon train, including the Mayor and Councilors, and officers and men of the 57th Battalion and of the Durham Field Battery.

The body of the late Col. Williams had been lying in state at his late residence until this forenoon, when it was taken to the drill shed. The shed was heavily draped in mourning, and the coffin was placed on a gun carriage, which was also covered with black. Another gun carriage had been prepared for carrying the floral offerings, and was also covered with black cloth. During the day thousands visited the drill shed. The

THE SENIOR.

The recent session of the Canadian Parliament will long be memorable for many reasons. In spite of the many obstacles, most important measures have been passed. Foremost among these is the new Franchise Act for the Dominion. It completes the carrying out of the plan which at the time of Confederation was carefully devised for our constitution by the leaders of both parties, putting into force the system that was then adopted of entrusting to Canada as a whole the establishment of its franchise. While placing this opening stone upon the edifice thus planned, it has been done so as to bind it together. A most liberal extension of the electorate has been made, adding enormously to the number of electors, and so widening the franchise as to place it within the reach of almost every man of even moderate industry. The Conservative party has shown that it does not hesitate to rely upon the whole people.

Among other measures of great value that restricting the immigration of Chinese, by the adoption of the plan of erecting an entrance fee, a measure which has been found successful in Australia for suppressing an intolerable nuisance, while it has the merit of not conflicting with obligations to China that might have been called for.

We have passed successfully through troubles in the Northwest that at one time appeared very grave. But thanks to the gallantry of our forces, the efficacy and activity of the Administration, and the loyal support of Parliament, this rebellion has been crushed out, it is true with an expenditure of life and money that is to be regretted, but in such a manner as to inspire respect abroad for Canada, and to give us confidence in our resources.

Our great transcontinental highway, duly encouraged by the Government, the Legislature and the country, has made such unprecedented progress, that already it is not only of the greatest service in the settlement of our country, but has been able to afford the most valuable aid in our warlike operations. The wise liberality of Parliament has ensured that next year will see the C.P.R. linking ocean to ocean.

Our financial position is also satisfactory. By an addition to our tariff on intoxicating liquors and tobacco a sufficient income has been secured without burdening those who do not voluntarily tax themselves, and without derogating from the principles of our National Policy. So firmly has our credit been established that a new loan for the carrying out of reproductive improvements has been raised on unprecedentedly favorable terms, and an old loan has been refunded so as to reduce the interest we have been paying.

In another way this session will be memorable: for its great length and for the constitutional attempt of the minority, by deliberate obstruction, to enforce its will upon the majority of the representatives of the people. Fortunately, however, this attempt failed, and we hope that the threat of some of the Reform leaders to pursue this system if the business of the country is not conducted in a manner to please the minority, will not be carried out, for we would be sorry to see Parliament forced to protect itself against wilful obstructionists by the adoption of the closure. We would like to retain the distinction of having one of the few legislative bodies that is able to rely as to such matters upon the safe and good sense and discretion of its members.

INSURANCE RATES.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—My attention has been called to a letter addressed to the Monetary Times of last issue, and published in the Review from the pen and under the signature of that versatile writer, W. Leach, referring to the rates charged by the Fire Companies in Peterborough. I would not condescend to notice the lines of this well known letter writer, who has for the past ten or twelve years developed such a mania for newspaper writing, and which is scarcely ever noticed here at least, only the editor of the Monetary Times devotes so much space to him in explaining the classification of Peterborough upon the tariff, to some extent gives an importance to Mr. Leach's letter, which is assumed by the writer, of that valuable paper to be of our interest to the community here that it really is. I shall not go into the question of the classification of Peterborough by the Fire Insurance Association that is fully explained by the editor of the Monetary Times, and I would respectfully suggest that those who publish the explanation in full, that those who pay for fire insurance protection may see both views of the question, especially since we shall soon be called upon to vote for an extension of the waterworks system.

I desire to point out, however, how intensely selfish Mr. Leach is: he wants his rates lower because his building is covered with iron shutters and an iron front—i.e., a special rate should be made for him. No matter about his neighbor how much he pays, while each pays equal rates for fire protection, and, as the Monetary Times points out, Mr. Leach should remember "that the rates are based not on the losses in a particular place, but on the average losses over a large area for a series of years." Then he would have insurance at wholesale, so selfish is he that he would have inspectors appointed to deal with direct, insinuating that the agents in the pursuit of business are so eager they will write insurance everywhere and anywhere without regard to classification or selection, as they must live. He is very much like the man who purchases all his tea, sugar, etc., in Montreal wholesale, in order that the poor grocer in town shall not make anything out of him. He goes out of his way to have a sting at the agents; his sneering will do him no good. His very clever and funny saying that one could hardly throw a stone in our business streets without hitting some insurance agent, is so absurd that it requires no answer. Supposing they were so numerous, and Mr. Leach should throw the first stone as an experiment, and the first agent he should strike should be our worthy Mayor, Mr. Cox, agent for the Royal Insurance Company, that Mr. Leach evidently patronizes, what a clever shot he would make. Expectations would be required, since Mr. Leach is crying out about the rates charged him, how it was that his store, which we are given to understand is such an "iron clad," fire proof, etc., was left open all night last very long ago, through carelessness, I have no doubt. I am informed that it was discovered by a young man at an early hour. Our nightwatchman did not notice it, I am told.

I have not been informed if any fire companies have a special rate in case of this kind or not. It is to be regretted that agents like Mr. Cox and his companies should make such fortunes out of men like Mr. Leach. No agent of any company, in my opinion, should solicit business from them; when they do so they lower their respectable calling, and give opportunity for sneers. I would suggest in conclusion that Mr. Leach be elected Mayor next year, and that the Council appoint him a delegate to attend the Fire Underwriters' Association, and then we shall have honest rates charged for our insurance.

Yours, etc.,
JUNIOR CLERK INSURANCE OFFICE.

AN EXPLANATION.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Words are inadequate, and fail to express the deep feeling of mortification, pain and regret that we experienced on reading the account of that disgraceful affair, in which Messrs. J. W. Thompson and S. Mann are involved. Carrying revolvers in an office which should be punished on all possible occasions, and had the officials of Peterborough been aware of Hooton's conduct on that occasion, he, too, would have occupied a seat in the prison dock on Wednesday morning last. The facts of the case are these: Thompson and Mann were driving home from Peterborough on Saturday evening last, and when near the town hall, were overtaken and passed by a party who they recognized as Hooton and his brother-in-law. Shortly after Mann, who was foolishly handling a revolver, asked Thompson if his horse would stand fire, and, receiving an answer in the affirmative, discharged the weapon in an upward and north easterly direction, while Hooton was in front and driving west. The report had scarcely died away, when Hooton, refusing his horse to leave, from his buggy rushed back, and after discharging himself of all unnecessary clothing, challenged any of the occupants of the other buggy to fight him, as he was "man enough to lick any of them." The boys, now seeing that things had taken a rather serious turn, refused, and managing to get past the man, started for home. Hooton, nothing daunted, gathered up on his horse, and, with his gun, and started off, in hot pursuit. After following them at a break neck pace for four or five miles, succeeded in passing them, when within about a mile and a half from Faversham, and again rushing into the road, seized Thompson's horse by the bridle, but being ordered to release his hold, again prepared to rush, and as each article of clothing was discarded, was sent whirling through the air, as again the universal challenge went forth, accompanied by the same confident assertion "I can lick any man in the buggy." In his rage they managed again to pass him, only to be pursued as badly as ever, but having got a good start and the night having become darker, they were enabled to get out of his sight, and when within a mile of Faversham, left the gravel road and turned east. Hooton, on coming up to the corner, being unable to tell in the darkness which way they had gone, turned and started for home, and further to show that the boys meant no mischief, he rode to the village of Faversham, followed by the pugilistic bully, still "yelling for a row," he would have returned a sadder and quieter, if not a wiser man, for, as they well know, more than twenty of their friends were waiting for them after their football practice, only too ready to engage in any excitement, but they chose rather to leave their own road than to have any more trouble. Both Thompson and Mann are old residents of this township, and have only maintained their reputation for courtesy, honesty, industry and respectability. What can have induced them to have acted so foolishly on this occasion, none of us know, but we all sincerely wish them out of any further trouble, and are very glad that they had the good sense not to fight, for the mere gratification of the unspeakable passion of one who, when he could not get any satisfaction in his way, laid his case in the hands of the law he had so lately defied and broken.

The Afghan Question.

LONDON, July 21.—The Daily Telegraph says that the Russo-Afghan situation is unaltered. Unrest was caused only by the augmented Russian forces at Zulkar and the line of communication with the Caspian. The negotiation continues friendly but hardy. The Standard thinks Russia wants Morochak, and will accede to England's demand for Zulkar, to compensate for the concession of the former place.

The West End Fire.

VIENNA, July 21.—A despatch from London says Mr. Leach states only that possession of Herat has become necessary for Russia and ought not to cause war.

WELCOME HOME.

We bid you welcome home again,
Our gallant Volunteers!
But our joy is somewhat damped by pain,
Mingled with our smiles with tears.
For we mourn the death of him, your chief,
Who nobly led the war,
When the Half-breed and the Indian "braves"
Before your bayonets ran.
With cap waved high above his head
He called on you to follow:
And you, all eager for the fight,
Charged down Bascoe's hollow.
A ringing cheer was your response,
As he led you to the fray,
And the Midland brave Battalion,
Won the victory that day.
Then, once more, welcome home again,
Our gallant Volunteers!
We greet you with hand and heart,
And roasting British oysters.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

FROM THE SENATE.

MONDAY, July 20.—Some Bills were reported from the Senate without amendment.

PROBATION.

Mr. Trow was making his annual speech reviewing the session in a general manner, when the Commons were summoned to the Senate, where the Governor-General had arrived with the customary ceremony to propose Parliament. He made the following

SPEECH FROM THE TROUBLES:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I desire to convey to you my best thanks for the diligence with which you have performed your duties during this long protracted session. It has been in many respects an eventful session.

In no more than because since its commencement the peaceful progress of the Dominion, unbroken for so many years, has been interrupted by a serious insurrectionary outbreak in the Northwest Territories.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

A REFORM WAIL.

The eighteenth birthday of that ill conceived and misbegotten creation of the needy Upper Province politicians, yeolot the Dominion of Canada is a fitting time for retrospection.—Picton, N. S., News (Reform).

ONE ADVANTAGE.

The Canadian Pacific will be useful to England in war, even though the St. Lawrence should be unblocked. The Pacific end of it would be the best and most convenient base of operations for her Pacific fleet. Here she could sit out cruises, gather forces and provisions on the Pacific coast. It is not too much to say that the completion of the railroad and the establishment of military and naval depots will double her effective strength against any power on the Pacific coast. The steamship company of disposing of country post offices, pays no attention to such trivial matters; but with its nose buried in the sands of patronage, like the proverbial ostrich, imagines itself safe from the enemy.—Detroit News.

BY POWER OF LUNGS.

The London Free Press has been examining the record of the obstructivists in Hansard. On the French side 42 of them spoke no less than 520 times. Mr. Mills made one hundred and thirty speeches. Mr. Casey 56, Mr. Macdonald (Huron) 47, Mr. Dufferin 44, and Mr. Patterson (Huron) 44. Think of it! Three hundred and twenty-five speeches by five men on one bill! This does not include, either the thousand and one interruptions opposite with their names constantly figure. And this is what Mr. Blake threatens to make customary if the Opposition are not allowed their own way. It is gratifying to know that the country is heartily sick of this kind of organized obstructionism, and that they will not be again tolerated.—Mail.

WILL HE EXPLAIN.

We don't wish to do that great and good man the member for the London Advertiser, an injustice; but we think he is responsible in the official report as being, two or three weeks ago, warned the Government that if they brought down a proposition to increase the occasional indemnity he and his party would oppose it. Now we have failed to find that this truly good man carried out his threat when the resolution to that effect was presented for adoption. Perhaps Mr. Mills will condescend to explain why.

FROM ALL OVER.

The total majority against the Scott Act in the county of Haldimand is 308.

Rav. J. G. STEARNS writes: "I consider Perry Davis' Pain-Expeller the best remedy I ever knew for Dyspepsia."

By the recent earthquake in Bengal fifty persons were killed and much property was destroyed.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

The French Government is enforcing the law against lotteries and the various forms of gambling.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fretful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

This Mansion House Committee spent four on July 21st investigating the revelations made by the Fall Mail Gazette.

NATIONAL PILLS in the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

The cruise of the evolutionary squadron of the British navy continues to show the seaworthiness of many of the war vessels.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy them, and expel them from the system.

Far superior to Pills, contains no Calomel, perfectly safe, Dr. Carson's Bitters. All Druggists, 50 cents.

The way to keep the blood pure and cool through the hot summer months is to take an occasional dose of Dr. Carson's Bitters. Made in the West. 50 cents.

Mr. WALLACE, Druggist, of Hastings, Ontario, says: "I recommend Dr. Carson's Bitters far ahead of all other stomach medicines. It is just the right thing for Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Headache, and Dyspepsia. Large Bottles 50 cents."

The French Minister of Marine states that more than 30,000,000 francs will be required to repair damages caused to the French navy by the recent war in China.

A FRENCHMAN, who had just arrived from America, was arrested on Monday in London, charged with the murder of John Gately, a brother of the Frenchman, in Warwick in 1880.

Two hundred persons were poisoned with tea cream in Bhopal, India, during a public holiday. The vendor was attacked by the crowd and barely escaped with his life.

A FATAL COLLISION occurred on Monday morning near London between a freight and a passenger train, the driver of the latter being instantly killed. Both engines were smashed and a number of freight cars wrecked.

WE BELIEVE the cause of the wonderful success of our Murray & Lumman's Florida Water is found in the fact that the principal aim in its preparation has always been to give the simple natural perfume of flowers, without any chemical addition whatever, and to extract it by all means, the great secret of making a heavy, sticky, sweet perfume.

KEEP YOUR HOUSE GUARDED.—Keep your house guarded against sudden attacks of Colic, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and Cholera infantum. They are liable to come when least expected. The safest, best and reliable remedy is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

STOMACH ACHE.—We all know what it is; we acquired a perfect knowledge of the "Pain" in our youth, after a raid on the green apples we were extremely forbidden to touch. Our mother gave us Perry Davis' Pain-Expeller and we were cured, so say, no other remedy has been discovered to this day to equal it.

A WANT OF ACTIVITY.—Much of the ill condition of chronic invalids is due to want of activity in a sluggish liver. Burdock Blood Bitters arouses a healthy action of the liver to secrete pure bile, and thus make pure blood which gives perfect health.

SHOULD BE ATTENDED TO.—Much suffering is the result of neglected constipation. There is no better regulator of the bowels than Burdock Blood Bitters by its prompt attention to the liver all tendency to irregularity is removed and one chief source of ill health prevented.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

A STRANGE DREAM.—There is scarcely a system belonging to the human body but that is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

To enjoy a slow, cool, sweet, delicious smoke, use one of the Peterboro' Cigar Factory Cigars.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the bands off our Cable Cigs, and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, passing them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the bands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (15c) fifteen cent imported cigar, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a musty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine.

We do not object to the consumers paying (10c) ten cents for our (No.) "Cable" cigars, and (15c) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c) cigars; as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

On Friday Evening.

The Association sports will be held on Friday evening. A first class programme will be carried out. Don't fail to see the matched bicycle race. Admission, 10 cents.

Incarcerated.

On Tuesday P. C. McGinty ran in four cows to pound which were roaming at large. If cattle owners do not want to pay poundage fees they had better look after the kine, for the police are determined now to strictly enforce the by-law.

A Favourable Impression.

In speaking of the various Canadian exhibits at the Antwerp exhibition the Canada Gazette says:—

"The canoe, manufactured by the Ontario Canoe Company, which have already gained such a popularity in England have elicited equal admiration at Antwerp."

To Shaven.

We were to-day viewing at Statham's Hardware Store the finest lot of razors ever shown in Canada. Among them were some extra thin blades and some German ground, which we were told were specially made for barbers' use. Mr. Statham says that all razors stamped "Five" are warranted good, and if they do not prove all right a new razor will be given in exchange.

Turnbull is now showing 3,100 yards of new print in 100 different patterns, good value at 12½ cents, but selling at 10.

Picnic.

The Sabbath School of the Mark street Methodist Church, Ashburnham, holds its annual picnic to-morrow at Mud Lake. Preparations are being made for a big time. Buses will leave the church at 8.30 a.m. Adults, 25 cents; children, 10 cents.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly north and west, generally fair weather, slightly lower temperature.

The Body Guard.

The Lieut. Governor's Body Guard came from the Northwest the way they went up, by way of the north shore of Lake Superior and down the Canadian Pacific Railway to Ottawa. They were to have passed through on Tuesday evening, but owing to the trouble at the sink hole, near Sharbot Lake, they were unable to get through. The Guard will probably pass through this evening or to-morrow.

Turnbull is showing this week Scotch Lace Shawls in Black and colors, bought at a bargain and selling at $1.25 each.

Forester's Excursion.

The first train of the Forester's excursion for Ottawa, leaving the George street station at 7 a.m., arrived at Ottawa at about half past three o'clock in the afternoon. A delay took place at the sink hole near Sharbot Lake, where the passengers had to be changed from one train to another, walking across the boggy ground. The Lacrosse Club, shortly after arriving, repaired to the new Metropolitan Lacrosse Grounds, where the match was played. The Mets won by three straight games, 25, 30 and 18 minutes respectively. After doing the city a number of excursionists took their departure for home, including the Lacrosse Club. The 57th Battalion Band stayed over till to-day, and the Cricket Club, which went down on the second train, play the Ottawa to-day. The excursionists will return to night. A full report of the joint to the capital will be given to-morrow.

New Scale of Fines.

The management of the Lansdowne Roller Rink have adopted the following scale of rates: Lady visitors will be charged 5 cents admission. Gentlemen visitors will be charged 10 cents admission. For those intending to skate the rate will remain as before. George Stevenson, Manager. Since the opening of the Lansdowne Rink, the management has been very generous to the public, at no time charging those as spectators unless an event of more than ordinary interest was on the boards. Every other rink throughout Canada and the United States charge an admission fee, and it is nothing more than proper that the citizens of Peterborough should also pay a small admission, since Mr. Brown has been so liberal in the past.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock	77	29.84
1 o'clock	80	29.88
3 o'clock	87	29.86

A fresh supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

Business Notes.

Mr. J. Armstrong has removed his harness shop to number four, Dickson block.

Mr. J. C. Turnbull will shortly open up a millinery store on Simcoe street, number two, Dixon block. The passage will lead to his present dry goods stand.

Mr. Batcher has removed his tea and store to the old eight cent store stand.

Mrs. Brown has opened up her new millinery establishment, number three, Dixon block, Simcoe street.

Messrs. Hall, Jones & Co. have placed ornamental iron gates at the entrance of their dry goods store.

Mr. Geo. Stethem has ornamented the front of his handsome store in a similar manner.

An attractive lithograph comically setting forth the effects of Fear on a negro boy, hangs in the entrance to Mr. J. D. Tully's drug store.

The Champion.

Some time ago Mr. Richard Reeves, of this town, issued a challenge to the effect that he would back an unknown to swing clubs for the championship of the Dominion of Canada. A few days after he received a communication from a resident of Toronto, accepting the challenge on behalf of one Parkhill. The articles of agreement were drawn up and signed and sent to Parkhill to obtain his signature. An objection was made to the wording of agreement and it was sent back. The matter was arranged and the article was sent to Toronto to again, but it seems that Parkhill's brother lost confidence in his man for he wrote to Mr. Reeves declining to have anything to do with the match. After waiting for a reasonable time to allow Parkhill to accept the challenge on his own account the following letter appears in the Mail:—

To The Sporting Editor of the Mail.

Sir,—As I have received notice from Mr. DuBois that he has nothing further to do regarding the club swinging contest, and not hearing from Mr. Parkhill or any representative for over two weeks, I am forced to believe he does not wish to proceed with the match consequent on my challenge published in the Mail, to claim Mr. T. McNaughton the title of champion of the Dominion of Canada. I am, however, a man of honor and I will uphold the honor at any time if called upon to do so.

Yours etc.

R. REEVES.

RECEPTION AT LINDSAY.

The Volunteers of C Company of the Midland Battalion were welcomed.

By Telephone to the Review.

LINDSAY, July 22.—The train from Port Hope bringing the members of C Company of the Midland Battalion, arrived at midnight last night. All the town bells rang out a welcome to the returning heroes. All yesterday had been spent in decorating Kent street. A magnificent three span arch had been erected, illuminated with gas jets and hung with Chinese lanterns, and so mounted with a crown. The town was illuminated at 9 p.m., every window being brightly lit up. When the volunteers arrived a torchlight procession, in which 200 torches were carried, was formed, and escorted the volunteers through the streets, led by the Bowmansville band followed by the Lindsay band. A procession of citizens followed. It was estimated that, including the procession, there were 7,000 people on the streets. The volunteers were brought under the arch and presented with bouquets. An address was read on behalf of the town by Mr. John Dobson, to which replies were made by Col. Deane, Major Smith, Capt. Rekl and Lieut. Fielding. Three cheers were given for the volunteers and at about 1.30 a.m. they marched to the Town Hall, where they were disbanded for the night. They returned to Port Hope to-day to be paid off.

Killed by Lightning.

DURHAM July 21.—During a thunderstorm last night the house of Nell McKinnon, in Bentinck, about ten miles from here, was struck by lightning and Mr. McKinnon instantly killed. His wife who was in bed with him, was seriously injured by the electric fluid, her face, head and both arms being bruised and blistered. She was insensible for some hours, but is likely to recover. It is only about three weeks since Mr. McKinnon had five head of cattle killed by lightning while they were lying under a tree about forty yards from the house.

An Awful Catastrophe.

DOUGLAS, Kansas, July 21.—Six persons were drowned in Walnut river, seven miles below here, yesterday morning. Anson Garman and wife, and Mrs. Jay Carman—their son's wife—drove into the stream, had been risen during the night from recent rains, and were swept down and out of sight of a second wagon which came down to the ford a few minutes later. In the second wagon were Mr. and Mrs. Kusta and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Carman. They drove into the stream and were swept down also. Anson Garman was the only one rescued alive. But three of the bodies have been recovered.

The following is from J. W. Pottery, of Winnipeg, formerly grain buyer for William Giesler, Hamilton and Grimsby: "I was for many years much afflicted with Constipation, Biliousness, and ultimately Dyspepsia. I suffered very much and tried many different medicines, which gave me only temporary relief and then I was as bad as ever again. I was recommended by a friend who has been restored to health by it, to try McCreary's Speedy Cure. I did so, and it was not long before I felt like a new man, and I have enjoyed my health ever since. I commented taking it February the 17th, Mr. Giesler sold by John McKee."

VOLUNTEERS RECEPTION

A HEARTY WELCOME TO BE GIVEN TO COMPANY Q.

To be met by the Military, Firemen and Town Council—Reception in the Drill shed.

At nine o'clock this morning it looked very much as if no public demonstration would be made to welcome home the volunteers who went from Peterborough to join the Midland Batt. ; but the citizens seemed to suddenly awake from their apathy in the matter and at twelve o'clock George Street, instead of wearing its usual business appearance, was all arrayed in gay holiday colors. Fearless of busting stretched across the street at intervals and flags and other devices greeted almost every building.

When the people of Peterborough enter into any undertaking they go in no half hearted manner; and receiving home Company "G" will be no exception. The ladies were the first to make a move in the matter. On Tuesday evening a meeting was held in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association. It was adjourned until this morning when the ladies and a number of citizens met in the drill shed. It was decided to present each member of the company with a ten dollar gold piece and to give them a banquet. The ladies have about $175 in hand from the volunteer fund and the balance will be made up by grants from the Town and County Councils.

The programme for this evening is as follows: The members of Nos. 1, 2 and 3 companies will meet at the drill shed at 4.45 o'clock, and headed by the City Band will march to the Bethune Street station. The firemen and the Town Council will also proceed thither. On the arrival of the train at 5.15 a procession will be formed and marched up Charlotte street to George street, George to Murray, and along Murray to the drill shed. A luncheon will be partaken of after which the presentations will take place, and speeches will follow.

IT WAS SUICIDE

John Hadden Deliberately Ends His Life—Temporary Insanity also comes.

There can be no doubt that John Hadden, sectionman on the Grand Trunk Railway, came to his death by deliberate suicide.

For some time, it seems, the deceased had been subject to insane fits at intervals. On Monday night, in one of these, he attacked his wife with an axe and threatened to kill his family. In answer to cries for help the neighbors ran in and prevented him. He then left the house and the next morning Mrs. Hadden laid an information against him. Constable Richardson had been on the look out for him but did not secure him.

When the special train from Peterborough was speeding, along about three miles south of Millbrook at shortly after twelve o'clock on Tuesday, Hadden sprang from a clump of bushes by the railway track and was instantly killed. The train stopped, backed up, and two doctors, one from Oshesee and one from Peterborough, made an examination. They found life quite extinct. The deceased had been struck on the neck and the jugular vein had been severed. Besides the gash in the neck there were other wounds—one just above the ear, another on top of the head, and the jaw bone was crushed. The left foot was taken off about half way between the ankle and the toes. Another train going northward took the body on board and carried it to Millbrook.

The deceased was a man of about thirty-four years of age, and has for a long time resided in the township of Cavan.

EXTENSION AND IMPROVEMENT.

The Little Lake Cemetery to be Largely Increased in Size—How it Now Looks.

A meeting of the Directors of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held on Monday afternoon. There were present: Messrs. John J. Lundy, the Hon. Robt. Hamilton, Judge Dennistoun, Charles Stapleton and James Edwards. It was resolved to close the bargain with Mr. John Burnham for the plot of ground, consisting of about five acres, to the south of the entrance to the cemetery. The Directors of the Cemetery Company have been trying to effect the purchase of this ground for some months, but the sale is now closed.

It is probable that next year the recently purchased ground will form a part of the cemetery proper and that an entrance for carriages will be made about a hundred yards west of the present one. The drive will lead southward and will run around the hill connecting with the drive in the lower part of the cemetery. At present Mr. John Kelly, the superintendent, is engaged in having a new range cleared up in the lower part of the cemetery. The trees are being thinned out and it is the intention to make this plot into single grave lots.

Just now the cemetery looks very beautiful indeed. The two fountains jet the glistening spray upward to be wafted here and there over the emerald verdure by the stirring zephyr, while the sweet perfume of the full blown roses mingles with the refreshing odor from the luxuriantly growing trees and shrubs. Mr. Kelly and his four assistants have performed their duties faithfully and well up this time of the present season, for never did this charming spot look neater than it does at present. The principal graves are kept with such punctilious care that one would almost imagine they were made of cement; the grass is kept evenly mowed; in the flower beds the bright and dark hued foliage and floral plants fairly rejoice in their health and vigor.

When the new addition is laid out and improved this cemetery will, without doubt, be one of the prettiest on the continent.

It is also hoped to ameliorate matters in Annam by the French remaining in Hue, to provide the Queen mother and prince regent. THURSDAY, JULY 23, 1885.

WELCOME HOME!

The rebellion is over, the volunteers have returned home and soon the occasion of their visit to the Northwest will cease to be a common topic for conversation, but the work they did, and the admirable manner in which they accomplished it, will never be forgotten.
The Midland Battalion has made an indelible impression upon the minds of the people of the Dominion, and its name and deeds will be immortalized in the history of Canada. Of the three battles and two skirmishes which took place in the Northwest the Midland Battalion took part in only one, but that engagement dispersed the forces of the halfbreeds, made a prisoner of the leader, disheartened the Indian marauders and crushed the rebellion.

Although the 57th Battalion (Peterborough town and county) contingent of the Midland Battalion did not take part in any engagement, the work they did was important and arduous,
and the officers state that they did manfully.
They were placed in positions where the situation was critical, where the attacks by Indians were feared, and although they were not required to use their weapons to protect the people, their presence was a shield for the helpless and was efficient protection. The protection of the base of supplies, and the forwarding of supplies, in which they were engaged for a time, were the duties of a soldier, and although they chafed because they were not at the front with their comrades in arms who met the foe face to face, what they did was necessary for the success of the campaign and for the suppression of the rebellion.
They were on their way to the front when Batoche was fought, and they exerted their strength to join Gen. Middleton in time for the engagement, but, like Blucher approaching Waterloo, they were too late. In the pursuit of the Indian Big Bear and his murderous warriors they took part, and were among the foremost when the release of the prisoners and finally the submission of the Indians, who, being pressed hard by the troops, had no other alternative except to fight, ended the campaign.
They volunteered to go to the west at a time when there were reports of the great prowess and superior marksmanship of the foe, they did their duty well, they materially assisted in renewing and pushing an attack on the authority of our young Dominion, they returned weather tanned, travel stained and with well worn clothes that were proofs of the hardships they had experienced, and all at a material personal sacrifice and for the welfare of the country, and the whole town and county bids them a hearty welcome home.

The death of the gallant commander of the Battalion is universally deplored, and it is also a matter for regret that one member of G. company, Private S. Bell, of Hastings, had to remain behind on account of illness. The battalion admired their leader, and it must have been gratifying to them to see the honors paid to him at the funeral obsequies.

The Globe's news is sometimes very antiquated.
It has discovered and announces that as another step towards the "Irlandization" of the Northwest, there now comes an Arms Act.
Our contemporary must have had a regular Rip
Van Winkle sleep, not to have heard of the Blake Act before now. But perhaps it studies a history from which all modern events are excised to enable it to be passed fraudulently through the Customs House.

THE OTTAWA EXCURSION.

Arrival Home of the Party After a Two Day's Stay.

At seven o'clock on Tuesday morning, July 21st, the excursion train to Ottawa, under the auspices of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C.O.F., started on the C.P.R. station with about four hundred souls on board. The weather in the early part of the morning was anything but the right kind for an excursion party to wish for, but before the train started it cleared up, and the sun, which was for a time hid behind dark clouds, came out and shed its rays on mother earth, causing joy and thankfulness to take the place of gloom and despair in the hearts of all.

The splendid band of the 57th Battalion, and the Peterborough Lacrosse Club accompanied the excursion. On the way to Ottawa the party amused themselves in various ways.
Some of those who were musically inclined,
and there were many, sang songs, duets, trios and quartets. Others, having brought reading matter along, assisted the ever fleeing time to fleet away in reading. Others could be seen at times indulging in a friendly game of euchre, while here and there the champions of either political party might be heard discussing various points in the many burning questions of the hour, such as the new franchise bill, etc.
Thus it was that the party whiled away the time until a change came over the scene.
This change was a novel one, and proved entirely new to the majority of those who took such an active part in it, and was nothing more or less than a portage over a dubious at Sharbot Lake. For some time this place has given trouble to the railway authorities, and, unfortunately, Tuesday was one of the days on which it was destined that the excursion train proper across the gap to a train that was in waiting on the other side.
This caused a delay of half an hour, and considerably lessened the chances of the party getting to Ottawa in time for dinner. After the train again got under way, the cravings of the inner man were appeased by the partaking of a lunch. After a ride of eight and one half hours, Ottawa was reached at 3.30. At the train they were met by the Mayor and other civil dignitaries, and as they passed from the station towards the city, Mr. Sturges, the city engineer, gave an exhibition of the water works power. The immense fountain was throwing a large stream high up into the air, and as the spray descended it formed into a rainbow of different colors and shading, and altogether was a sight that the excursionists enjoyed. When the city was reached the majority of the party, headed by the band, made for the Grand Union Hotel. At this point of the proceedings an alarm of fire was sounded, and in exactly 25 minutes water was playing from the nozzles of two branches. The comments on the promptness and alacrity of the brigade were numerous, and the party were unanimous in saying that for quickness and every other thing in connection with fighting fire, Ottawa stands away up in the front rank. A hurried dinner was partaken of, and a large number made for the Athletic Association Grounds, where a lacrosse match was to be played between the Peterboroughs and the Met. of Ottawa. Unfortunately it was Peterborough's day "off," and the result was disastrous, both to them and their friends.
In spite of the really good play of the Peterborough boys they were doomed to be beaten, and they lost in three straight games. In the evening, after tea, the band marched to the Parliament Building, took up a position on the pavilion, and rendered several selections in their well known accomplished style, after which the library of the House of Commons was visited. It afforded the utmost pleasure to all, as they looked at each fresh point of interest in this large and elegant department. In the centre of the room stands a life size statue of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, and it was admired by all with pride. The Parliament buildings are indeed a sight well worth a visit. Among other places that were visited were the Lover's Walk, Ottawa water works and pump houses,
Chandler's Falls, fisheries exhibit, Rideau Falls, Nepean Point, Mayor Hill's Park, Geological Museum, central fire station, city hall, the model room and other places. On the whole Ottawa is a good place to go for pretty and attractive sights, and the visitor need not wait for new features on which to gaze. Any one of the places mentioned above will afford enjoyment.

The band played at different points throughout the city during their stay, and before they left they serenaded the Free Press and Citizen printing offices. Mr. C. Mitchell, the proprietor of the Free Press, took the representative of the Review all through his establishment. It is a finely equipped printing office, four stories high.
The large job room and the composing room are well lighted, and a very large amount of the work done in the job department finds its way to the United States as well as all over Canada.
Mr. Jas. Menzies, an old REVIEW boy, fills the position of news foreman, and Mr. Harry Alford, who also served his apprenticeship in this office, has secured an excellent situation in the job department of the Free Press. Peterborough young men generally succeed wherever they go, and the above are no exceptions to the rule.

Mr. Robert Romaine, well known by almost every reader of the REVIEW in Peterborough, was thoughtful enough to call at the different hotels and enquire for old friends. He looks well and says that life in the capital has agreed with him.

Mr. James Kennedy, brother of the late Hon. W. N. Kennedy, is in Ottawa, where he has been since his return from the South.
Before going back to the Northwest it was his intention to pay a visit to his old acquaintances in Peterborough.

Mr. J. H. Lynch, a member of the Western Field Battery, was in Ottawa on a visit to his home. He is known to a number of Peterborough boys, and it will please them to know that he has passed through the campaign without injury, taking part in the famous fight at Batoche.

CRICKET MATCH.

The Peterborough Cricket Club arrived in the city on Wednesday morning and played a match with the Ottawa Club. Although the Ottawas have an exceptionally strong team, and notwithstanding that the Peterborough club were weakened owing to Norley and others being off, yet they made a creditable stand, but had to give way to the Ottawas. The home team won the toss and elected to take the field. Rutherford and Hamilton were sent to the wicket to face the bowling of Coste (slow overhand with back break) and Little (fast overhand with tremendous leg spin). Rutherford was bowled by Coste's first ball, and Stratton filled his place—one wicket for 0; both batmen batted steadily until Hamilton ran himself out—two wickets for 13. The third wicket fell when but two runs were added to the total. Miles Hamilton took the vacant place and when the fourth wicket fell the score's book indicated 30. Morris and Hammond put up 13 runs, when Morris was bowled by a "good one" for a nicely played seven.
Hamphire then partnered Hammond and a grand stand was made, both batmen batting brilliantly. The result of the first innings was 232 for Ottawa and 81 for Peterborough. In the second innings the Peterborough made 113.
The Ottawas therefore won by one innings and 38 runs.

HOMeward BOUND.

At 12.15 on Wednesday the excursionists again turned their faces homeward. The trip home was much the same as when going, the only difference being the sink-hole, which was by this time repaired and the trains running over it as usual. Peterborough was reached about eight o'clock, when the party heard for the first time of the return of the Peterborough Company from the North-West. All was hurry and bustle to get to town immediately, which was done just in time to see the closing scenes in connection with the reception.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

The principal part of the country in the immediate vicinity of the track between Sharbot Lake and Norwood is nothing but waste and useless land.

There has been some very heavy cuttings on this line. After the sink hole was passed these cuttings became more numerous and gigantic.
There was no less than three C. P. R. officials on the excursion train, viz., Alex. Elliott, the town agent in Peterborough, J. W. Jennings, and A. S. Manshard, the travelling passenger agent.

The Committee of Foresters who had the
m. a. r. in hand are deserving of high praise for the manner in which they carried out their portion of the trip, and if the railway authorities did not run the train through as quickly as they agreed to do, it is not the fault of the Committee.

The following is taken from the Ottawa Free Press, and it will be read with interest by those who participated in the trip:

The first de-achment of the Peterborough excursionists, who arrived in this city yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, enjoyed a very pleasant evening in the city. Large numbers visited the Lacrosse grounds, and witnessed the match, whilst many others visited the immense building, much enjoying the exceeding great beauty of the massive pile, as well as that of the extensive view commanded from the eminence on which they stood.

The library of the House in particular afforded them much pleasure, not unmixt with pride for many of them, the fact that the Dominion possessed such a collection of literary, and art treasures, contained in such a magnificent building was a revelation.
The Lovers' Walk and Major's Hill also had their quota of visitors, whilst some of the excursionists passed a pleasant time on the canal and river basting.

The splendid band of the 57th Battalion and Peterborough Fire Brigade, under the efficient leadership of Bandmaster Miller, gave several selections at various central points of the city.
About 6.30 last evening they played "The Sacred Lyre," and fantasie "La Fanciulla." In the City Hall Square, attracting much notice by the excellency of their expression, especially in the former piece. They afterwards played the "Gloria in excelsis Deo" from Mozart's twelfth Mass, in front of the Grand Union Hotel, where they stayed in the evening giving a first class selection on the Parliament Hill, thereby affording the citizens the rare treat of a musical promenade. Before leaving this morning they also serenaded the Free Press office.
It had been their intention to serenade the Hon.
J. P. Carson, but Mr. Mitchell of the Free Press ascertained for them, by means of the telephone that the Minister of Militia was away from home, presumably at the funeral of Colonel Williams.

The second detachment arrived in the city this morning, amongst these being the members of the cricket team, who played the Ottawa club at the Rideau Hall ground to-day. Those who were forced to leave by the return train last evening, met the wood train at the "Sink Hole" on the C. P. R. line, as they were trans-shipping from one train to another.

Before leaving this morning the members of the band and a large body of the excursionists visited the Geological Museum, the Canadian Fisheries exhibit, and various places of interest.
A large number of visitors were obliged to leave the city, by the 12.15 this afternoon, amongst their number being the band. All were loud in their expressions of the enjoyment they had derived from the visit, and unanimous in giving thanks and praise to Mr. Andrew McNeil, their W. O. R., the leading spirit in the excursion, to whose exertions its great success is mainly attributed.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Insurance Rates.
 Mr. W. Lech is at the back lake at present, and "Junior Clerk Insurance Officer" will not be replied to until he returns.

The Cemetery Company.
 The name of the Rev. V. Clement was inadvertently omitted from the list of the Directors of the Cemetery Company who attended the meeting on Monday last.

Last Good Night.
 The funeral of the late J. A. Butterfield took place on Wednesday. It was conducted with Masonic honors, and a large number of members of the fraternity from Peterborough and the neighboring villages were present. The funeral took place at 2 p.m., and was largely attended.

A Quaint Greeting.
 A notable feature in Wednesday's decorations was that in front of Mr. Geo. Rubidge's tobacco shop. His Indian Queen, gaily attired, was wheeled out to the street, and that lady held in her hand a flag to wave a welcome to the returned campaigners.

Dead in the Goal.
 On Wednesday morning an old man named George Carlisle died in the goal. He was committed last May for vagrancy and was over eighty years of age at the time of his death. An inquest was held on Wednesday afternoon when a verdict of death from paralysis brought on by old age was returned.

The Bike.
 A number of the members of the Newcastle bicycle club arrived in town to-day among them Kent, who is matched against Gibson of Peterborough. They will remain over to see the match which takes place in the grounds of the Amateur Athletic Association to-morrow evening. Admission 15 cents.

Excursion.
 An excursion under the auspices of the Methodist Church Sunday School, of Uxbridge, arrived in town over the G. T. R. at noon to-day. The excursionists, numbering about two hundred, went to the Central Park and drill shed where dinner was had. The juniors of the Uxbridge Lacrosse club came with the excursion and are playing the home juniors in the Driving Park this afternoon.

To shavers.
 We were to-day viewing at Stethem's Hardware Store the finest lot of razors ever shown in Canada. Among them were some extra thin blades and some German ground, which we were told were specially made for barbers' use. Mr. Stethem says that all razors stamped Wes are warranted good, and if they do not prove all right a new razor will be given in exchange.

Rescued in Time.
 On Wednesday evening a very narrow escape from drowning occurred near the Ashburnham wharf. Miss Lundy had taken several little girls who were visiting her down to the edge of the lake to give them a bath. For a short time the little creatures peddled around in their bathing suits, when all at once one of them went beyond her depth. She cried for help and Miss Lundy endeavored to save her, but had it not been that a passer-by came to the rescue, it is quite probable that both would have been drowned.

New Scale of Prices.
 The management of the Lansdowne Roller Rink have adopted the following scale of rates: Lady visitors will be charged 5 cents admission. Gentlemen visitors will be charged 10 cents admission. For those intending to skate the rate will remain as before. George Stevenson, Manager. Since the opening of the Lansdowne Rink, the management has been very generous to the public, at no time charging those as spectators unless an event of more than ordinary interest was on the boards. Every other rink throughout Canada and the United States charge an admission fee, and it is nothing more than proper that the citizens of Peterborough should also pay a small admission, since Mr. Brown has been so liberal in the past.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In giving a report of the Foresters excursion I hope you will give the committee that degree of justice which they are entitled to. Arrangements were perfected to have a special train of ten first class coaches and a parlor car for the committee. The run was to be made in five hours. We were to stop at Norwood only—that is to take on passengers. Now I wish to show the public how these arrangements were carried out by the C. P. R. The train was to start at 7 a.m. We were ready to start at that time, but found that we could not start till the local from the east arrived at 7.15. We started at 7.25 with six first-class coaches, three immigrant cars and no parlor car; stopped at every station between Peterborough and Ottawa. So long did they stay at Mountain Grove station that the band had "time" to disembark, and play an excellent selection on the platform, which had a tendency to put a little life in the already worn out excursionists. After over half an hour's delay the gravel train for which they were waiting arrived, the conductor of which stated that "the could have been in long ago had he known." Instructions "said he" are to pay attention to no trains but first-class. On our arrival at Sharbot Lake station, twelve o'clock, the time advertised to arrive in Ottawa, we had to put up with orders of a new conductor, who insisted on having the baggage car removed from rear to the front of the train, necessitating delay of 10 minutes. The new conductor made the train fly. It actually flew 33 miles in one hour and twenty five minutes. Arriving at Smith's Falls we had to wait 30 minutes, hungry, sick and travel stained. The band again took compassion on the disgusted party playing a selection on the platform, which was very much appreciated. We had to stop at Carlton Place for new conductor and engine, and finally arrived in Ottawa at 3.30. It is all nonsense for the railway authorities to blame the sink hole at Sharbot Lake for the delay as we were just twenty five minutes transshipping, which is understood could not be avoided. The Company broke faith with the Committee in every detail, and appointed a representative, Mr. McNeill, to accompany the excursion, who proved himself to be disinterested, all the power he seemed to possess being from station to station.

The Foresters have heretofore carried out successfully every entertainment provided for the public, and naturally feel annoyed at the Company for the nonfulfillment of their part of the contract. We are sorry for the position Mr. Elliott, the town agent, was placed in, but we attach no blame to him whatever, as we found him painstaking and obliging in every particular, and are of the belief that if the Company had carried out their part of the contract as faithfully as he did, the success of the trip would have been assured.

Yours truly,
 A. MCNEIL,
 Sec. Committee.

POLICE COURT.

LAGERT.

THURSDAY, JULY 28.—Arthur Lassar, of Smith, and John Irwin, of Peterborough, were arrested yesterday on a warrant issued upon the complaint of John O'Connor, Jr., for that they at the Town of Peterborough, on Tuesday, the 21st inst., did feloniously steal and take away from and out of the premises of William Clancy, one cow, the property of the said John O'Connor, Jr., contrary to the statute in that behalf.

The taking of evidence occupied the Court all morning, and at the close the Magistrate dismissed the case as against Irwin, and by mutual arrangement the case against Lassar was withdrawn.

Reward For Her Gentleman.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., July 22.—Joel Brown, a 13 year old colored girl, was horribly mangled by a cat yesterday. She had been sent on an errand, but stopped to rescue a cat which was being teased by boys. Taking the cat in her arms started off, but had not gone far when the frantic animal drew itself to her face and fastened its fangs in her nose. The girl's efforts to relieve herself only increased the brute's rage, and it tore the flesh from her cheeks with its claws. A boy who was passing came to her assistance and choked the cat to death. The girl was taken home. She will be disfigured for life.

LONDON, July 22.—Sir Charles Dilke, in a speech at Chiswick yesterday, said he could not regret the prevalence of the Democratic Tory influence, but he deplored the manner in which Sir Stafford Northcote had been hustled from the leadership in the House of Commons. There were two voices in the Conservative party respecting the Irish policy. He thought the conservatives would be unable to face the results of conceding local Government. The Liberal policy was to concede such measures as were consistent with the safety of the Empire.

BEING ON YOUR LIST.

The Globe makes the following contribution to the desiderated Reform platform:—
"All joint stock companies doing business with the Dominion Government ought to be compelled, for security of the public, to print a list of their shareholders, and the persons for whom the nominal stockholders are trustees."
And, pray, if this system is to be adopted, why should it not also apply to joint stock companies doing business with the Ontario Government? Does the Globe thus discriminate because it feels that it would be awkward to publish its own list of stockholders with the name of a swindler and forger upon it?

As usual the Globe, having uttered a slander, continues to repeat it in the face of the strongest evidence of its falsehood. It says:—
"Mr. H. H. Smith has been banquipped. According to the conditions of merit which prevail in Tory circles, he deserved to be."
Mr. H. H. Smith has not been banquipped, but as our readers know has received a presentation and address from the people of Peterborough without regard to politics. The speeches made on that occasion by some of the leading Reformers of Peterborough, praising Mr. Smith's impartiality as the head of our municipality and expressing confidence in his similar performance of his new duties, would shut the mouth of a low malicious and reckless slanderer than the Globe.

As we have had occasion to condemn the selfish spirit in which the Toronto press have monopolized for their own volition the credit due for the operations in the Northwest, either ignoring altogether or describing very inadequately the share of the Midland and other corps in the suppression of the rebellion, it is only right for us to acknowledge that the Toronto papers did justice to the Midland on the occasion of their reception in Toronto. The popular demonstration, like the official reports, was all that could be desired by the friends of the volunteers of this district, and it seemed that the Toronto press thought it desirable to follow in the wake of public opinion.

In its efforts to defend its friends the rebels, the Globe insults every farmer in Ontario by pretending to believe that they would rebel, if they could not have their own way.

RECEPTION TO NORWOOD VOLUNTEERS.

Presentation of a Silver Medal to Each Man by the Corporation of Norwood.

On the arrival home of the Norwood detachment of Company G at noon on Thursday, they were accorded an enthusiastic reception.
They were met at the Canadian Pacific Railway station by a large number of citizens and a deputation of prominent men of the village. The campaigners were vigorously cheered on leaving the train and for some time the greetings on all sides were of a most hearty character.

A procession was formed and a march made to the Town Hall, where the captain, lieutenant and corporal of Company G, all of Norwood, and each of the men of the Norwood detachment were presented with a handsome silver medal bearing the following inscription:—
Village of Norwood to Company G,
Midland Battalion.

On the reverse side were these words:
Norwood Battalion,
Canada,
1885.

The name of each private or officer, as the case might be, was engraved on the medals, which were of a very handsome and appropriate design. Each was suspended by a blue corded silk ribbon attached to a silver buckle.
Capt. W. H. Stephenson, Mrs. T. Burke, Mrs. R. P. Ford, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. J. H. Pearce, Mrs. H. Reynolds and Mrs. D. Brennan, all took prominent parts in the presentation.

Capt. Burke and Lieut. Brennan gracefully acknowledged the handsome gifts on behalf of themselves and the men. After the presentation addresses were delivered by the Reeve, Mr. W. H. Stephenson, Dr. Ford, Mr. J. B. Pearce and resident ministers.

ECHOES FROM THE WEST

REMINISCENCES AND OPINIONS OF THE RETURNED VOLUNTEERS.

Their Experiences to Reach the Front—Peterborough Boys in Battle—A Comment in the Wilderness—Indolent Indians and Baskin Squaws.

The volunteers who have returned from the Northwest will have tales to relate for many days to come, for although their time in the field was not very long (they arrived in Peterborough three months and twenty-one days after they left here) it was full of incidents. Many conversations heard would be worth recording, and the few facts now given will hardly weary the reader, although much has been published regarding the operations of the volunteer soldiers in the Northwest. The officers of the Peterborough company stated at the reception that the men were anxious and Lieut. Brennan says that, while going down the Saskatchewan before the battle of Batoche, he could hear the men talking about the expected engagement and hoping that they would be in time to assist in capturing the rebel stronghold. It might be thought that these expressions were cheap boasting, but the men proved that it was not. They exerted themselves to the utmost to hurry forward with the supplies, never hesitating to plunge into the water when they ran aground, or do anything that would hasten their progress. But when Saskatoon was reached they learned that the decisive engagement had been fought and that Riel was a prisoner, and from that on they did not work so cheerfully, as the incentive which had caused them to work so hard was gone.

Among those in the Lindsay company of the Midland battalion who took part in

at Batoche were Joseph Keefe and Wm. Pratt, former Peterborough boys. It might be feared that the reading public would adopt the rule of the officers of the Midland and impose a fine for the mentioning of Batoche, it has been so frequently referred to, but if that is done we will say that they were in "that little skirmish on May 12th." However, the reading public of Canada may expect to encounter the name of Batoche as long as Canadian history is read, and it is too soon to get wearied with the subject. It is evident that the members of the Midland companies who took part in the engagement have not a strong desire to talk of the affair, either on account of their natural modesty or because they are tired of it—that is, judging by Keefe and Pratt. Joe was more anxious to ask the REVIEW reporter who met him at Port Hope, questions about Peterborough, his former comrades in the Field Battery and others. After his enquiries had been answered he talked of the war. He says that on the first day of the battle the boys were a little nervous. The Midland was in the reserve, and when the "singers" flew over their heads the music had an effect the opposite of nothing. During the day an order came for them to charge the ravine, and though they prepared to do it, and would have done so, it was not without misgivings. The order, however, was countermanded. Later in the day they did enter the ravine to cover the battery men who were bringing out a wounded comrade, and they had a warm time. After the first day the nervousness was gone, and the boys "got used to it" to such an extent that they took up their guns and went out as coolly as if they were going out duck shooting on Rice Lake. The "singing" of the bullets did not soothe their breasts (perhaps because they were not savages, or because it was not really music), and the rough work of shooting and being shot at all day, not having time to get enough to eat, sleeping without tents, and on the first night especially, with the whistle of the bullets for a lullaby, almost maddened the men. When they got the word to charge on the 12th, the tremendous cheer they gave was largely one of joy at having an opportunity to punish those who had caused them so much suffering, and "death or victory" was what they intended to meet. The Midland, being on the left, had the disadvantage of being opposed to a fire from the opposite bank of the river as well as from the front, and the first man to fall, Private Barton, was shot by a marksman on that side of the Saskatchewan. Pratt and Keefe escaped unhurt, although they had narrow escapes and men were struck very close to them.

RELICS OF THE WAR.

Many of the Midlanders, perhaps all of them, have relics of the war and curiosities of the Northwest. Among the latter are a badge captured on the North Saskatchewan, and a prairie dog brought home by Sergt. Percy Myles. The dog is a large, powerful looking animal, bearing a striking resemblance to a wolf. Some have guns taken from rebels, bullets fired by the same parties, Indian tobacco pouches, &c. Perhaps about as interesting relics as they could preserve would be the clothes they were coming home.

A CONCERT IN THE WILDERNESS.

While the brigade was at Fort Pitt several concerts were held. The most successful was one given by the Midlanders on the evening of July 2nd. The other regiments were invited and Gen. Middleton patronized the entertainment. Major Hughes presided. The programme was of respectable length, and Private Jas. Hannah, who has been seen at many entertainments in Peterborough, gave an exhibition of club swinging that received great praise. To show what could be done in the way of giving an entertainment while "so far from civilization," the programme is here given:—Song and chorus, F Company, (Portsmouth); song, Pte. Clifton; club swinging, Pte. Hannah; song, comic, Pte. Warner; song, comic, Sergt. Warner; stump speech, Hookum Schoolman; song, Sergt. Atkins; song and dance, Sergt. Mercer and Pte. Gilchrist; song, comic, Sergt. Warner; Irish jig, Pte. Seery; song, Pte. McGill; club swinging, Private Hannah; song, comic, Private Irwin; song, Private Lynch; recitation, Lieut. Bliss; song, Lieut. Hubbard; song, comic, Staff Sergeant Stewart; recitation, Major Hughes, and the concert was closed with the National Anthem.

THE INDIAN CHIEFS.

Capt. Burke, and others of G Company, saw Big Bear, Poundmaker and others of the Indian chiefs. Big Bear he describes as an old man, of a repulsive and brutal cast of countenance. Big Bear looks like an Indian who would be capable of doing any bad deed. Poundmaker is a different kind of person. He is tall (over six feet) and commanding in appearance. His countenance is open and has even a genial expression. The opinion of the officers appears to be that the prominent leaders of the rebellion and the Indian murderers should be executed. This appears to be the opinion of the authorities also, for those are the persons who are now prisoners and who will be placed on trial.

POWERFUL INDIANS.

Many of the Indians seen in the Northwest notwithstanding their decided preference for kindness, are powerful fellows. Some who assisted in banding supplies would pick up a side of pork that it would take more than one of the volunteers to handle and shoulder it and walk off without trouble. In carrying wood they showed the strength of their physique. They would place a wire around a pile of cord wood and shoulder it, or shoulder it first a stick at a time and then put the wire over it, and carry it with ease. One stalwart Indian, who was not larger than most of them, carried a pile of cordwood on one of the steamers in that manner that none of the volunteers on her could shoulder. "These Indians," said a volunteer in G company, "should not be assisted to live in idleness when a short term of work on the rich land of the Northwest would produce enough to keep them." "But," it was suggested, "what is to be done if they will not work and will fight and will pillage before they will starve?" "Then let them fight," was the answer, "and shoot them off. I would go back again to help." That would be a somewhat heroic method of solving the Indian problem. "Ugh!" said a volunteer, "it was disgusting to see the big, lazy, greasy brutes come around the camp, as I have seen them, and pick up bones that had been thrown away and pieces of hard tack, and try to make a meal of them."

BARBUL SQUADS.

There is such a thing as a barful Northwest Indian woman. To prove it an incident was related. While G company was at Maple Creek, a member of the company took some beans that had been left from a meal to a couple of hungry squaws and children who were sitting on a bank near the camp. But the barful creature refused to eat them until the volunteer went away, they were so shy. Would it not be an easy matter to civilize such squaws as these?

BUFTY AND THE NORTHWEST.

Murray Matheson, a private in G company, was in Egypt with the voyageurs and has been through the Northwest campaign. He says that the Egyptian trip was the best of the two, but he thinks he had harder work in the prairie country than in the land of the Pharaohs.

CARRIED BY A THOUSAND.

Victory of the Scout Act in the County of Victoria.

LINDSEY, July 23.—The Scout Act has been adopted in Victoria county by a majority of 659 with twelve polling stations to hear from, also the Muskoka district, which will swell the majority to over 1,000.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.
We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the bands off our Cable 50, and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, passing them off as the genuine "Cable."
We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the bands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigars, and place them (the El Padre cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (10c) fifteen cent imported cigar and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a musty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine.

We do not object to the consumers paying (10c) ten cents for our (No. 1) "Cable" cigars, and (15c) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c) cigars; as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Moderns" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

THE STOVE WORKS EXEMPTED FROM TAXATION FOR TEN YEARS

The Grant of $300 to the Central Exhibition Committee Made—A Further Report on Streets and Bridges.

A meeting of the Town Council was held on Thursday evening.

There were present: Councillors Davidson, Cahill, Kelly, Green, McNaughton, Yelland, Rutherford and McClelland.

In the absence of the Mayor, Councillor Rutherford was called upon to preside.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read as follows:

Pearce, Secretary of the Town Trust Commissioners, stating that he had been instructed to inform the Council that the amount required to pay the interest on debentures for the current year, altogether, at one per cent. for the sinking fund, is $7,240; the amount required for the payment of the interest on the sinking fund in respect to the Union School debentures would be $3,140; and the amount on miscellaneous debentures, $5,100.

Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., repairing fire engine.....10 00

The accounts were all referred to the Finance Committee, with the exception of that of J. Strain, which was ordered to be paid.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

Councillor Cahill, Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, read the following report:

To the Mayor and Town Council:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee on Streets and Bridges beg leave to report that they have this day made a further examination of the streets and bridges of the municipality, and recommend as follows:—

Smith Street Bridge—Repairs which it was supposed would be only of a temporary nature were ordered on this bridge, but upon examination we find that the whole superstructure is completely rotten, and that a large amount would be required to put it in temporary repair. We do not feel warranted in recommending so large an expenditure, and your Committee deem it not in the interests of the ratepayers of the town that so large an amount be expended on a bridge which is so rotten, and therefore recommend that the bridge be abandoned and be closed entirely to traffic of any kind.

Your Committee, however, believe that this Council is willing to make any reasonable sacrifice in order to maintain the continuity between the town and county. We therefore make the further recommendation that the town should pay one-half the cost of any bridge, should the county deem it in their interests to build one on the present site.

Harvey Crossing—In their report of last year your Committee recommended that the Grand Trunk Railway Company should be required to build over the bridge as required by law, where their railway crosses Stewart and Hubbs streets. No steps have been taken by the company, so far as your Committee is aware of, to comply with the law in this respect. We again recommend the Clerk to be instructed to write to the Company requesting them to have these bridges built as soon as possible.

Dublin Street—Walk from Water to Harvey street to be repaired.

Water Street—To be water-tabled from Antrim to Smith street, and walk on west side of Antrim to street to be repaired.

Harvey Street—To be water-tabled from Smith street to railway, and a narrow sidewalk to be built on east side.

Street leading to Methodist Cemetery—Sidewalk to be built on west side.

Smith Street—Sidewalk west from the Midland railway track to be repaired as far as may be found necessary.

Stewart Street—To be graded from Hunter to Brook street.

Raid Street—Sidewalk on east side to be repaired from Hamilton's foundry to King street.

Douglas Street—New sidewalk from Brook to Hunter street.

Park Street—Water-tabled from Brook street to Hunter street.

Weller Street—To be graded from Park street to the foot of the hill on the west end.

Elm Street—The stones in the centre of the street to be taken off and the roadway repaired where necessary.

Cedar Street—Sidewalk to be built on south side from Park street as far west as there are houses on the street.

McDonald Street—New sidewalk from the Grand Trunk Railway track as far as Mr. Lerry's house, also that the Clerk request the railway authorities to make good the crossing as required by law.

Howie Street—The drain on the north end to be continued as far as Edinburgh street and sidewalk from thence to Smith street to be repaired.

to the first class, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY.—That the grant be $200.

The amendment was put and lost and the by-law passed its second and third readings.

STOVE WORKS.

A by-law exempting the Powell & Jones Stove works from taxation for ten years passed its second reading.

THE LOCK WORKS.

Councillor KELLY asked if a similar by-law had been passed, exempting the lock works from taxation.

The Clerk replied that he had drawn one up some time ago, in accordance with a motion passed in Council, but it had not been passed.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor YELLAND.—That the Clerk have a by-law prepared exempting the lock works from taxation for ten years, to be presented at the next meeting.—Carried.

JOHN SMITH.

Councillor HARTLEY moved, seconded by Councillor YELLAND.—That the Charity Committee have power to procure a railway ticket for John Smith, to take him out of town.—Carried.

CULVERTS.

Councillor YELLAND moved, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON.—That the Street Inspector be instructed to have the culvert repaired along Bethune street, from Murray to McDonald street.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned for one week.

PRODUCTS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

The standing timber in the upper counties of the mountain region are of incalculable value, and strange to say in estimating the natural wealth of the country this portion of it is almost wholly ignored. The soil being extremely fertile and rich in potash, magnesia and other mineral elements which go to make up the ash of timber, produces hard, firm and tough wood, so that it is universally conceded by experts that our hickories, birch and dogwood are of far greater value for manufacturing than those grown in any other part of the United States. So, too, the grain and texture of the ornamental woods, black walnut, poplar, maple, cherry, black birch, ash, chestnut, oaks, plum, laurel, and other furniture and decorative woods, are unequalled in any other locality. To enumerate all the purposes to which our timber are applicable and the numerous variety which grow here would be impossible for one occasion, and a large volume has been written on the subject. Still it may be interesting to note some of these. Black walnut grown here is remarkable for its exquisite veining and color, and as it can be easily cultivated by planting, owners of suitable lands would do well to make plantations of this timber for future use. The stock of this timber is daily growing less and less and the largest stock is now found in these upper counties. Old fields may be planted with walnut and in forty years from now would be worth $300 or $400 per acre. What safer and more certain inheritance for their children could a young parent make, less cost than ten or twenty acres of idle land planted with this timber. Western North Carolina has a larger number of varieties of timber growing in its valleys and on its mountain slopes than any other part of the world. It has every known variety of oak but two, one more hemlock than is known elsewhere, all the walnuts, all the hickories, all the pines but one, all the spruces, and more herbs and shrubs useful for medical purposes. The chestnut is more handsomely veined than any grown elsewhere, the crooked maple, the poplar and the ash are more handsomely marked and the black birch vies with the best Honduras mahogany for fine furniture. There are many thousands of acres of lands which carry in the timber alone a greater value than would be sufficient to clear and fence them and put all the needed buildings upon the farms.

There is no other place in the United States where forest culture could be made more profitable; where the preservation of the standing stock is more carefully guarded from destruction by forest fires and from the ruthless indiscriminating axe. We have seen the fields of many acres in which the most valuable hickory timber had been girdled and destroyed, and many of these were singly worth more than the whole field out at the original purchase. Our hickories and white oaks yield the very best timber for carriage and wagon work and before long, this region will be the great source of supply for the carriage and wagon factories, which will send their products to the low land in every direction. Our dogwood is now supplying the weaving mills of Europe with millions of spindles, and the poplar forests will continue to be turned into paper pulp for the manufacture of printing paper and our timber is unequalled for this purpose. Among the oaks we have the abundant chestnut oak the bark of which is the best material for the tanner, and other oaks furnish the best knees for the shipbuilders of the coast cities.

How to utilize these valuable timbers should be made a study of the owners of the forest lands. First, the practice of burning the woods should be put an end to, summarily. The undergrowth can be kept down by ranging cattle in the timber and owners of such lands should fence them in and to utilize them to the best advantage. When old lands are thrown out they should be planted at once and so preserved from washing and waste and made to begin a new course of profit. The cleared land should be cultivated under the most careful system by which the largest yield can be secured, and the farmer, instead of half-working one hundred acres, should aim by good culture to get as much crop from forty, and so economize his land or increase his income by keeping more stock.

The time will soon come when a good deal of forest land will be cleared by new owners who will bring them under cultivation; a judicious system of clearing land should be followed so as to prevent washing of the slopes and the drying up of our unimproved prolific springs and to preserve the full volume of our streams and rivers. The head of every branch, and around every spring, should be protected by sufficient grass, and every mountain farm should retain at least three-fourths of the land under timber and utilize this wood land for grazing sheep and cattle. By taking this wise course we should preserve our forest with our springs, our streams, our pleasant climate and abundant rainfall, and while so doing gradually draw from them in continuous instalments all the wealth which nature has stored up in them for our use and enjoyment.—Webster, M. C., Enterpriser.

MR. WALLACE, Druggist, of Hastings, Ontario, says:—I recommend Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters far ahead of all other stomach medicines. It is just the right thing for Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Headache, and Dyspepsia. Large bottles 50 cents.

SHILOH'S CURE will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

WHY WILL YOU cough when Shiloh's Cure will give you instant relief? Price 10c, to each box. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

Don't despair of relief, if troubled with Chronic Dyspepsia or Constipation. These ailments, as well as Biliousness, Kidney Irritation, and female troubles, are eradicated by Northrup & Lyman's Vegetable Compound.

Dyspepsia Cure, an alternative of long tried and clearly proven efficacy. It is a fine blood purifier, as well as a corrective, and cures all ailments which are not of the highest standard of purity.

The following is from J. W. Ptolemy, of Winnipeg, formerly grain buyer for William Gillingham, Hamilton and Grimsby:—I was for many years much afflicted with Constipation, Biliousness, and ultimately Dyspepsia. I suffer from very much and tried many different remedies, which gave me only temporary relief and did not touch the root of the trouble. I was recommended by a friend, who had been cured by it, to try McCreary's Speedy Cure. I did so, and it did it. I feel like a new man, and I have enjoyed my health ever since. I commenced taking it February the 17th, 1879. Sold by John McKee.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? Yes, you can prevent this by giving your child a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and in the preparation of one of the oldest and best families of nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

For your Complexion use WHITEHEAD'S

For any preparation that will equal Whitehead's Cream to remove Tan, blotches, pimples, and all skin diseases. Price 25c per bottle. For sale by all druggists and the HARTLAND CHEMICAL CO., 27 Wellington Street East, Toronto. Stamp taken.

TOY, N.Y., Jan. 4, 1886.

GENTLEMEN,—I have much pleasure in saying that I have used your "Wife's Cream" for my complexion some time past, and it did it superior to anything I have ever used for this purpose. It softens the skin and imparts a fresh and delicate bloom to the face and is highly commendable by the use of my other preparation. Sincerely yours, ELLA LOMAX.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JULY 24, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Remember.

Remember the sports in the grounds of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association this evening, including the matched bicycle race between Kent and Gibson. To commence at 7 o'clock. Admission 15 cents.

Annual Picnic.

The annual picnic of the employees of the Midland Railway will be held in Hutton's Grove, Lindsay, to-morrow. It is expected that a large number will be present, as is always the case at this annual event.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock	77	29.17
1 o'clock	80	29.16
3 o'clock	87	29.10

A Correction.

In the list of the decorations made on Wednesday, given in Thursday's Review, the name of Mr. James Alexander was inadvertently omitted. Mr. Alexander, in addition to handsomely decorating his own store, furnished decorations for a number of his neighbors.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh east and south winds; fair warm weather with showers in a few localities to night.

Good Progress.

Good progress has been made during the past week in improving the Riverside Park. The two grand stands are now up and are very comfortable. The new diamond has been laid out, levelled and is ready to be rolled. The "Peterborough" baseballers played their first practice match on it on Thursday evening. The Park now presents a very pretty and picturesque appearance.

Going.

It is altogether likely that the waterworks and gas tranches of the town of Peterborough will no more be graced with the bulky form of John Smith, that individual who has such original and erratic notions of dress. At the meeting of the Town Council held on Thursday evening the Charity Committee were given power to procure a railway pass for the said individual to take him out of town.

A FRESH supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

The Luncheon.

Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom, wholesale fruit dealers, received on Thursday a consignment of one carload of watermelons. The greater portion was taken to the warehouse on Water street, and some was dealt out to retail dealers at the car. The watermelon load was nearly all disposed of the same day. The melons came direct from Baltimore, [Md.], and were all in good condition.

At the Lakeside Bath To-night.
A matched two mile race between J. Shevlin of Peterborough, and Hubert Swetzer, of Berton, will come off at 9 p.m., after which a boys' race (McFarlane barred) for a silver cup. The Newcastle and Peterborough bicycle clubs will be present (after their races in the Athletic Grounds in Ashburnham) and parade to the rink at 9.30. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Admission 10c. Members of clubs with their bicycles admitted free.

Peterborough Dry Goods Palace.
Fair, Van Every & Co. are opening many new lines from Europe, much in demand and scarce at this season. Their stock is now very large and complete, comprising novelties, all kinds and all qualities of millinery, etc., etc., at remarkably low prices. You can rely on getting a good assortment and most decided bargains at the "Golden Lion." They are clearing all remnants and summer goods in order to make room for their extended fall importations.

For a Nobby Summer Suit, try ANDREW MCNEIL.

CHEESE MARKET.

The fortnightly meeting of the Association of Cheese and Milk.

A meeting of the cheese market was held in the Council Chamber on Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance of salesmen, and the following buyers were present:—Messrs. J. D. Flavell, W. H. Wrighton, W. Clutton, B. Green, Peterborough; Cook, Belleville, and Calder, representing Grant, of Ingersoll and Liverpool. The following is a list of the factories and number of boxes offered by each:

Mr. Clutton bid 8 cents, reserving the right to make selections or take all.

Mr. Calder bought 801 boxes at 8 1/2 cents from the Keene, Warminster, South Dummer, Lily Lake, Myrtle and Woodland factories.

The balance was held over until the next meeting.

Board of Education.

S. S. Picnic.

The Mark Street, Ashburnham, Methodist Church Sunday school held their annual picnic on Thursday. Buses conveyed the picnickers from the church to Chemong Lake where the picnic was held. A good day of fun and frolic was had, and the picnickers returned early in the evening.

A New Street.

For some time those interested in the property to the south of the gravel road and west of Park street, have been making efforts to have a new street opened out. An application was made to the Town Council for a supplemental grant to the funds already subscribed. That body has granted $100, provided those interested spend $150 in the opening of the street. Nearly $200 has already been subscribed, and the work will be commenced at once. The new street will run through the centre of the lot to the south of the gravel road, and will run from Park street to the Monaghan road. It will be christened Bolter street.

Down the River.

The annual picnic and excursion in connection with the St. Paul's Church Sunday School was held on Thursday. At one o'clock in the afternoon the Gai dea Eye moved out from the Wolfe street wharf with a good load of scholars, teachers and members of the congregation. After a very pleasant sail of about half an hour the steamer drew up to the shore at Mr. Matthew Johnston's farm, about four miles down the river. Mr. Johnston had very kindly drawn water to the grounds, and brought a plentiful supply of ice also. The first thing that was done was to post up a card, very artistically painted by some of the ladies, representing a boy and girl carrying picnic baskets, pointing out that "this was the way to the picnic grounds," and following the direction given brought the people to an exceedingly pretty place for picnicking. A number came down in canoes and others drove down in buggies. Tea was served and then the sports were held. The powers of the boys in running and jumping were duly tested and rewarded, and the girls also received prizes for fleetness of foot. After spending an exceedingly pleasant time the return trip was made, the Gai dea Eye again drawing up to the Wolfe street wharf at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Torrance was present.

A NEEDED INSTITUTION

THE PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE TO BE OPENED ON MONDAY.

The College thoroughly equipped with the latest conveniences—A First Class Business Training offered.

It is an acknowledged fact that the Town of Peterborough is the leading business centre in the Midland district; indeed, few cities in the country can boast of a finer business street than our principal thoroughfare, and still, up to the present time, our young men have been sent to outside places to receive a commercial training; but supply always follows demand, and on Monday next Mr. J. Bannell Sawyer will open the Peterborough Business College thoroughly equipped with every modern convenience.

THE PRINCIPAL DEPARTMENT is the theory and practice room. It is an airy department, handsomely decorated. Along the walls hang on tablets with black letters the names of some of the successful business and professional men of the country, and between these tablets are little flags crossed nestling among evergreens. The names of Messrs. J. S. Stevenson and Geo. A. Cox, of this town, are noticeable. At the south end of this department is the banking, etc., department. The end of the room is partitioned off with screen work, similar to banking establishments. The bank is provided with offices for paying and receiving teller and accountant. To the right is the post office, express office, and railway offices, and to the left the insurance, commission and merchandise emporium departments.

In front of these departments are sections marked out representing six of the principal cities of Canada.

Passing out from this department through the folding glass doors and going down the hall a little distance is

THE PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE, a cozy place, elegantly appointed, and hung with rich gold paper of a handsome design. Around the walls are photographs of the principal penmen of the Dominion and specimens of their penmanship in frames below. A desk for amanuensis is provided and also a typewriter.

THE CLASS ROOMS are in another section. In one of these telegraphy and typewriting will be taught, the teaching of these branches incurring such as require them, being taught in a separate apartment. All of the class rooms are neatly furnished.

The subjects taught are numerous, embracing all needed to fit a young man or woman for business occupations. The finance course consists of bookkeeping, penmanship, commercial and mental arithmetic, banking, bank book-keeping, business forms, commercial law, correspondence, spelling, package marking, practical grammar and detection of counterfeit money. The special courses include several of the subjects before mentioned, shorthand, type writing, brief writing and pen art and telegraphy. Pen art, to subdivide, includes the teaching of plain and ornamental penmanship, French back hand, English round hand, German church and Old English texts, Roman, Gothic, Block and ornamental alphabets, and line and stipple shading. In the special course working in framing resolutions, testimonials, diplomas, display, and graduating specimens are also taught and designing forms a special feature.

THE PROSPECT. There is a good prospect before the new college. A number of pupils will commence studies at once and a large number begin on the first of August. The night lessons will commence on October first, and they will, no doubt, be largely attended. Mr. J. Bannell Sawyer, the principal, is receiving applications daily and from present indications nothing but success seems probable.

DEFEAT OF THE TORIES. A Majority of Fifty Votes Against the Government.

LONDON, July 23.—The Government was defeated in the House of Commons this evening by a vote of 180 to 130, in a clause of the medical relief bill. The Liberals opposed the Government. On the announcement of the result the minister held a hurried consultation, and Sir Michael Hicks-Besch announced that the Government relinquished responsibility for the bill. Sir William Harcourt immediately accepted the responsibility on behalf of the Opposition. The discussion was then continued. Mr. Labouchere started an exciting debate in which the Liberals tried to induce the Government to state whether it intended to oppose the bill eventually. Sir Michael Hicks-Besch promised to make a statement to-morrow. An amendment to the rejected clause is almost certain to be rejected in the House of Lords and a conflict will thus be raised between the two houses.

His Last Leap. New York, July 24.—At about 9 o'clock this morning a small party of men, one of whom wore a linen duster reaching down to his feet, passed through the Brooklyn entrance to the bridge promenade. They walked out a little beyond the first pier to a part not guarded for the moment by the police. Then the man with the duster hastily threw off the garment and showed himself to be attired in a close fitting jumping suit. He ran quickly to the side of the bridge and clambering through the wire netting, jumped off. He stood perfectly erect for about a hundred feet of his fall. Then he suddenly doubled up, and a second later struck the water like a bullet from a rifle. His body disappeared and did not come to the surface again. The men who were with the jumper quickly disappeared, and it was sometime before the police were informed of the tragedy. But few persons saw it.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JULY 25, 1885.

THE OTTAWA EXCURSION.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to an article contained in the daily Examiner of last evening's issue, I wish to correct a few misstatements. It is claimed that Mr. Maynard got the train's time of leaving for home extended four hours. It was the committee who got the time extended three hours. The committee guaranteed the C. P. R. Co. five hundred dollars against loss, they, the C. P. R., to provide ten first-class coaches and a parlour car. Notwithstanding Stratton & Co.'s doubt in the matter, Mr. Maynard broke faith with the Committee before we got to Norwood, as every member can testify. No one is trying "to get a spiteful dig below the belt of Mr. Maynard." It may be the opinion of W. A. Stratton, Esq., Barrister at Law, etc., that we can collect damages from the Company, but such is not the intention of the committee. It does seem very "thin" for the Examiner & Co. to champion the cause of Mr. Maynard and the C. P. R. in the face of its base attacks against the road and its officials almost daily. Its actions in assailing the officials and the "action" are about equal. The Examiner's scurrilous, malignant and personal ill-will towards myself is well-known. Every opportunity they get to show the machine up in its time-honoured (and) light is profited by to the very letter. I acknowledge frankly that as a common tailor I am not able to reply to the grossly abusive strain contained in this semi-weekly. My Billingsgate proves a failure. True my political stripes do not suit their cause, but for honesty of purpose they have none; for truth they don't evidently comprehend its meaning, and for justice, well, they are something like Shylock. I have no ambition to be "portrayed to the gaping eyes of thousands." I will simply state, however, in conclusion, that I am more delighted to do well than to be raised, and I have never set commendation at such a rate as to set contrary to my own reason for the obtaining of them. I was appointed unanimously to the position of Secretary on that Excursion Committee, notwithstanding my protest. I have done my duty to the best of my ability and my own conscience is satisfied. It is quite natural to be indignant at falsehood, and I take this means of showing the baseness of the Examiner & Co. So far as I am concerned I will take no further notice of their malignant attacks. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain, Yours faithfully, ANDREW MCNEIL, Peterborough, July 25th, 1885.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK. SATURDAY, July 25.—James VanNorman appeared on a charge of having been drunk, preferred against him by Chief Johnston. He acknowledged that he did get "a little bit of liquor," but his excuses and promises secured him his liberty, and he was allowed to go.

George Burn was charged by P. C. McGinley with being drunk. In answer to the charge he uttered the one word "guilty," but a further question from the Magistrate as to where he was from led him to say that he was from Buffalo. He promised to leave the town, to drink no more here, etc., and was allowed to depart.

The Market. There was a very good attendance on the market this morning. Hay sold at from $11 to $12; oats, 35c to 36c; potatoes, 75 to 80 cts.; butter, 17 to 18 cts.; eggs, 11 to 12 cts., and currants, 10 cents per quart. Vegetables unchanged.

San fo. Jas. VanNorman made many promises this morning in the Police Court, but when he was liberated he hastened to break them so fine that nothing was left of them. Chief Johnston again took him in charge and the Magistrate will have another talk with him.

MURDERED BY INDIANS.

A MAN FIRED UPON BY A BAND OF RED MEN EATING DINNER.

Rel Relieved to Renounce his Apostasy —Claims he has a Mission—Jackson Found to be Insane and Acquitted

SANATCHEWAN, LANDING, via Winnipeg, July 24.—The Indian war is not yet over. Great excitement was raised here to day at noon by the sight of a small boat, with a man lying in the bottom of it, drifting down the stream. Some men, not knowing what was up immediately took a small boat and rowed to the middle of the river, when they beheld a man in it, not able to raise a hand or speak above a whisper. On the men's approach near he told them he had been shot by Indians on coming ashore. Everything was done possible for the poor man, and after a short rest he said, "My name is Geo. McKeever. I was going to Prince Albert, where I have a brother living. I have been in British Columbia for some time and was just returning home. When about forty miles west of here, yesterday I was having dinner on a small island, when I was suddenly fired upon by a band of Indians from the north side. They fired about ten shots, but only one took effect, being a shot in the abdomen. Then I got into my boat and started away, the Indians running after me for some distance." The Indians are camped in the bush, and are evidently moving south as they were basely crossing their goods. McKeever went to Swift Current on the mail stage this afternoon. He is in a very weak condition, and the chances of his recovery are doubtful. McKeever had been drifting since yesterday noon, not knowing where he was, and unable to do anything. The police have been notified to start immediately in pursuit of the Indians. They most probably belong to Little People's tribe. Two more men arrived this afternoon from Medicine Hat with a ferry for Saskatchewan. They report having seen some Indians to-day, but passed unmolested, and then managed to get their boat that they were crossing roads in.

REL AND RELIGION.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 24.—Rev. Father Dufrat has just returned from a clerical visit to Kiel and the other prisoners now in custody. Kiel showed some willingness to make confession, but upon the priest's telling him that as he had made public an apostasy from the Church of Rome, he would now have to give him written renunciation of such apostasy before granting absolution. He declined, stating that he had mislaid his will, and his conscience would not allow him to do so. All the other prisoners are penitent.

REL'S SECRETARY INHANE.

REGINA, N.W.T., July 24.—T. W. Jackson, Kiel's secretary, was tried to-day and acquitted on the ground of insanity. The crown called evidence to the verdict, having itself offered evidence of insanity. The trial was merely formal.

Commercial Capabilities of the Congo.

In regard to the commercial capabilities of this country Mr. Stanley says: "It bears with itself nearly all the products required by the necessities of Europe and the elements that might be needed for its conversion from being an unproductive waste to be a material and moral profit to humanity. Within its bosom it contains abundant copper and iron mines, valuable forests producing priceless timber, inexhaustible quantities of rubber and coffee, cattle in countless herds and people who are amenable to the courtesies of law, provided they are protected from the attacks of lawless freebooters and the murderous wives of the slave-traders. If 200 tons arrive per week from Stanley Park, or, say $1,300,000 per annum, it would still require 25 years to destroy the elephant in the Congo basin. In my opinion, however, ivory stands but first in rank among the natural products of the basin. The total value of ivory supposed to be in existence in the region would but represent 107,500 tons of palm oil or 30,000 tons of Indian rubber. By the most trifling labor of the able-bodied natives, living on the banks of the Nijoyoke river near either palm oil, rubber, gum, orchilla wood or cornwood would be produced in one year than all the ivory in the Congo basin is worth."

Gen. Grant's Funeral.

Mr. McGrouther, July 24.—There is now little doubt that Gen. Grant will be buried in Central Park, New York city. All that remains is the assent of the authorities of that city to the dead general's own condition regard to the interment. The remains will lie quietly at the out-gate in the room where the general died until Tuesday afternoon next, when the funeral cortege will be placed on a special train and conveyed directly and without demonstration to Albany. The remains will be borne to the Capitol building, where they will lie in state until Wednesday noon. Then and thence the dead general will be conveyed by funeral train to New York, arriving Wednesday evening, where the body will remain in state until Saturday, when it will be borne to its final resting place in Central Park.

He Was too Long Away.

OTTAWA, July 24.—A man who left Ottawa some eighteen years ago for California, where he hoped to make his fortune, returned the other day to find his wife, to whom he had never written during his absence, remarried and living in peaceful ignorance of his still being in the land of the living. It appears that after waiting for some years for some communication from her husband, the lady gave him up for dead, and after mourning his supposed demise for a time was induced to re-enter the married state. It is understood that the first husband is content to allow matters to remain as they were before his arrival here so far as his wife is concerned, provided his son and daughter will live with him, which, however, they are not willing to do.

Shot Dead by Accident.

KINGSTON, July 24.—Patrick Ryan, of Perth, son of Hugh Ryan, railway contractor, went into the yard to test a new rifle. The ball went through the fence and entered the back of a young man named C. Cooper, who was sitting on a chair playing the violin. The wound was mortal, the young man dying almost immediately. Cooper was the only son of a widowed mother, and the widow of a large family. Ryan placed himself in the hands of the police. His grief is intense.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

TERRIFIC STORM IN ITALY.

LONDON, July 24.—There has been a terrific storm at Forte Cayastal in Italy. Thirteen persons were killed and 22 injured by lightning.

THE PRICE PAID BY FRANCE.

LONDON, July 24.—Mail advices from Africa says that France paid the Congo Association $3,000,000 for the whole littoral from Gaboon to Loango. The natives, it is said, evince hostility to the French.

THE MUNSTER BANK.

LONDON, July 24.—The various Munster Bank committees and the Parliamt members of Parliament have decided to ask the Bank of Ireland to loan the Munster Bank half a million pounds.

THE MEDICAL RELIEF BILL.

LONDON, July 24.—The Cabinet will meet to-day to consider what course to pursue in regard to the Medical Relief Bill. They will probably decide to accept the decision of the House and go on with the bill.

A RUSSIAN VIEW.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—The Journal de St. Petersburg says the committee reports originating in London relative to Russia's intentions in Afghanistan, have failed to elicit sympathy in Europe. Any grievance alleged in "hall of England's interests or honor, the Journal asserts, receives a chilling response, and this is above the sympathies of the continent are for peace than for the Conservative Government of England.

OUTBREAK AT CABUL.

ALLAHABAD, July 23.—The British envoy is leaving Fathawar for Cabul where it is reported an outbreak has occurred.

THE FRONTIER COMMISSION.

St. Petersburg, July 24.—Doubt is expressed that the Lesser commission will arrive at the Afghan frontier by the end of August.

THE PRINCESS THREATENED.

LONDON, July 24.—A man of short stature and between 50 and 60 years of age, was arrested in this city this morning on the charge of making threats against the life of Princess Beatrice. The man has been subjected to medical examination, but the doctors are unable to determine whether he is insane. A charge against him will probably be made before the police magistrate.

KILLED IN COLOGNE.

COLOGNE, July 24.—Forty-five persons have been killed and twenty-five others have been wounded by the collapse and fall of a row of buildings in this city.

AFGHANISTAN.

SIMLA, July 24.—The Sher Ali faction are propagating rumors of an outbreak at Cabul and murder of the ameer. Capt. Pencock and Yate were still at Herat on the 18th inst. Forts were being built there vigorously. Four thousand troops, armed with brass guns, were expected there shortly. All official news indicates that Afghanistan is in a tranquil state. The alleged outbreak at Cabul is a fiction.

ORDERED TO REST.

LONDON, July 24.—Mr. Gladstone is suffering from obstinate catarrh of the larynx, causing a partial loss of his voice. His physicians have enjoined entire rest.

THE FUNERAL OF EL MAHDI.

CAIRO, July 24.—A sheikh has arrived here who declares that he witnessed the funeral of El Mahdi.

A CONFESSION.

COKE, July 24.—In the case of Wm. Sheehan and his brother-in-law, David Brown, who are charged with the murder of the former's mother, sister and brother at Mrs. Sheehan's farm house near Castletown, Roche, county Cork, in October, 1877, David Duane, a young farmer who was arrested for complicity in the murder, and who gave information which led to the arrest of Sheehan and Brown, has made a full confession. He states that he was an unwilling witness of the murder. All three were killed by Wm. Sheehan and David Brown with a cooper's adze. The bodies of the victims were taken by the murderers to a well 500 yards from the house and thrown into it, a lot of rubbish being afterwards thrown in to cover them. Duane further declares that after disposing of the bodies and washing themselves, the prisoners went to the house and made a dance the remainder of the night. The trial begins on Monday.

DAVITT AND CHAMBERLAIN

LONDON, July 24.—Michael Davitt has written a letter to Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, the Liberal leader, in which he says he would be proud to stand with Mr. Chamberlain on any platform during the proposed visit of the latter to Ireland. The letter marks a final rupture of the Irish party. Davitt refuses to enter Parliament, and because so it would be compulsory to swear allegiance to the Queen. He declares he will remain an unrelenting enemy of England's power in Ireland.

THE OTTAWA EXCURSION.

REMARKS OF THE FOREMAN'S AUCTIONEER TO OTTAWA, JULY 21st, 1885.

"Tickets ready," Andy cries, "Doors banged up," "Mind your eyes!" "Morning papers, will you buy?" "Mind back! whistle blown." "Good bye," knees, do as and bow. A scream, a shout, and off she goes. Now at first, then faster, faster, faster, and faster! Hedges, trees, cattle and men, houses, fields, more and men, are passed like a flash of light. Are there, here and out of sight; pushing, blowing, and gasping, rattling, rolling and rapping. Snorting, smoking, and steam rising. Hurrying and hammering. Hissing, crashing and puffing. Telling, cutting and grinding. Pulling, panting, snuffing. To the "link belt" hurrying. The passenger hurrying; stumbling, rolling, and dashing. Through village stations crossing. Roaring, screaming and shrieking. Steamers, belching and quaking. Through stony cuttings rumbling. Trundling and jumbling. Through villages and towns. Over hills and over downs. And at last the race is run. And to Ottawa we have come.

OUR AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITION.

The Town Council have acted in a liberal but judicious manner in voting $300 to the Central Exhibition to be held here this fall under the auspices of the West Riding Agricultural Society, but open to the whole county, and indeed to all comers. Even a motion to reduce the grant, on the very natural plea of the extraordinary decision of the County Council to refuse any aid, met with very slight support. This is as it should be, for such exhibitions are for the benefit of the whole community, and it is for the credit of our locality that we should do ourselves justice in the eyes of visitors. Neither is it a case of the promoters of an exhibition asking for public grants without themselves putting their hands in their pockets, for on this occasion the private contributions have been exceptionally liberal.

From the expressed opinions of many of our leading farmers, it does not seem that the Agriculturalists of our county approve of the short sighted parsimony of their representatives. We believe the various Reeves will find this view of the case forcibly impressed upon their attention. If, as is not improbable, another appeal is made to them at the January session we feel that this strange decision will be reversed. Our farmers are not afraid to exhibit in competition with all comers, and on the other hand they do not despise the hint and the stimulus they would receive from such an open competition.

THE "GLOBE" SPIRIT "GLOBE."

The Lindsay Post, well known as a Reform paper, vigorously protests against the manner in which the Globe treated the letters of Mr. Geo. Laidlaw on the Franchise Bill, in the following article:

"The Globe exhibits a mean and contemptible spirit when in criticizing Mr. Geo. Laidlaw's letters in the Post on the Franchise Bill, it says Mr. Laidlaw 'could not see a fault in anything which tended to keep in power a Government opposed to Mr. Geo. Laidlaw, who paid Mr. Laidlaw's debts.' It is well known to many that Mr. Laidlaw, in a spirit of sanguine enterprise, personally assumed very large liabilities in connection with the Credit Valley railway. Financial schemes to obtain the assistance of capital in England failed owing to the persistent and all powerful hostility of the Grand Trunk. At a critical stage, long before the G.T.P. company was formed, Mr. Geo. Laidlaw and some others were able to come to the rescue and maintain the independence of the Credit Valley, at that time a matter of supreme importance to Toronto, and that city including the Globe—owed to Mr. Laidlaw's sagacity, and enterprising energy a debt that it will never repay. No man has in his time done more to promote Toronto's remarkable progress and prosperity. We can bear this testimony to Mr. Laidlaw's labors without sharing his political views or endorsing his policy. We believe Mr. Laidlaw's present views are pretty much what he held before the Credit Valley transactions to which we have referred. He was, we understand, an ardent Reformer; but he did not agree with the late Mr. Geo. Brown, and gradually withdrew from active association with that party. Mr. Geo. Brown, had he been living, would have condemned Mr. Laidlaw's letters in vigorous terms; but he would not have dealt unmanly and an unfair blow such as the Globe has dealt in the sentence quoted."

SPEAKING OF THE Prince Albert halfbreeds the Globe says:—

"What would any Ontario farmer have done had he been in the same position—had the Government refused for fifteen years to grant him a title, and then had granted his land to a colonization society?"

The plainly suggested answer that they would have turned rebels and murderers is an insult offered by the Globe to every farmer in Ontario. We may also remark that the Globe by its own showing blames the Mackenzie Administration for provoking the Prince Albert halfbreeds to rebellion through many years.

The Brooklyn bridge bids fair to become a genuine fool-killer. It is not long since Prof. Odium jumped from it, struck the water and died. Another has followed his example, and although he sought notoriety, the despatcher did not even mention his name! These cranks, we presume, must do something, and it is much better that they should jump from the Brooklyn bridge than that they should shoot a President.

Fire at London.

LONDON, July 25.—Mr. Jno Ferguson's furniture factory on King street was the scene of a destructive fire, which broke out in the upholstery room about 2.40 this morning and burned for several hours. The building was badly gutted and much damage done to the contents. Loss about $10,000; no insurance.

ESTIMATED EXPENSES

OF THE CARRYING ON OF THE SCHOOL SYSTEM FOR THE YEAR 1885.

A Long Discussion on Procuring More School Accommodation—A Ward School or a New Institute?—Collecting the Fees.

A meeting of the Board of Education was held on Friday evening.

There were present Mr. James Stevenson, Chairman, and Messrs. Cox, Dumble, Denne, Errett, Millar, Rutherford, Sawers, Weir, Wrighton and Stratton.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The following communications were then read:—

From the trustees of the Douro School, presenting their bill for fees for town pupils for the first half of the year, $16.00.—Finance Committee.

From H. Key Coleman, thanking the Board for the increase of salaries, and stating that it would be his endeavor to bring the public school system to the highest state of efficiency.—Received.

From W. A. Morrow, Secretary of the Board, asking for remuneration for the extra work devolving upon him through having to issue cheques monthly to the teachers instead of quarterly, as heretofore.—Finance Committee.

From L. E. Horning, asking for an increase of salary.—Finance Committee.

From Dr. Tassie, presenting his account of $12 for attendance at examinations.—Ordered to be paid.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The Secretary read the statement of the school attendance as follows:—

Average att. No. on Roll.

Collegiate Institute, for May.....110.....128

South Ward School, for June.....117.....117

FINANCE.

Mr. MILLAR, Chairman of the Finance Committee, read the following report:—

To the Board of Education:

GENTLEMEN.—Your Finance Committee beg to report that they have carefully considered the estimates, receipts and expenditures for the current year, and in connection therewith present the accompanying statement, which shows that the sum of $16,530 will be required to be levied for school purposes, being $8,750 for public schools and $7,780 for the Collegiate Institute.

When it is considered that provision has been made for a deficiency of $386 from last year, and that the schools are being maintained with a fuller degree of efficiency than in the past, it is a matter of congratulation that the Board will not require any increase on the levy of last year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. MILLAR, Chairman.

After a good deal of discussion over the items in the estimates the report of the Finance Committee was adopted and the Secretary instructed to make the application to the Town Council for the necessary amount.

DELINQUENT PERCENTAGE.

Mr. DUMBLE asked if the Board had received this year its share of the amount collected by the town in the extra five per cent addition on overdue taxes.

The SECRETARY replied that the Board had not.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. ERRETT, that the Secretary be requested to demand and obtain from the Town Treasurer the share of the penalties collected from the delinquent tax payers in respect to the monies raised from the Protestant ratepayers for public school purposes, and one from all ratepayers for high school purposes.—Carried.

MORE ACCOMMODATION.

Mr. DUMBLE said that some time ago he had moved in the matter of the separation of the High and Public Schools. It was absolutely necessary that such should be done, and the Board had authorized the procuring the services of a lady teacher, but there was no place to put her when she came. It was impossible, too, to maintain the dignity of a Collegiate Institute when so near a Public School with hundreds of children in attendance. The rental of the present building amounted to $700 a year, and this would pay five per cent. on $14,000 or $15,000. For this sum a commodious building could be erected, and as far as the money part of the question was concerned, it was a decided advantage to build a new Institute. He believed that the number in attendance at the Institute would be largely augmented if it were in a suitable place, and a better building would be provided.

The CHAIRMAN said that it would require a by-law to be put before the people before such a measure could be taken, and that it would have to be obtained to sanction it.

Mr. DUMBLE replied that he knew everything could not be done in a day but he thought the present time a good time to start.

Mr. RUTHERFORD was in favor of providing more school accommodation, but was not in favor of the building of a new institute. He thought it would be a better plan to build a new ward school and use the Central School for a Collegiate Institute.

Mr. ERRETT was satisfied that even if a new ward school would be put up the accommodation would be insufficient. He thought that $14,000 would purchase grounds and erect the building for a new institute.

Mr. COX considered this as too important a matter to be decided this evening. He was not fully informed as to the results that would follow in the building of a new institute. The expense of carrying on the school system would certainly be largely increased, and he thought it would be safe to put down the erecting of a new Institute at $25,000. He considered that a ward school was needed in the north ward, and one would have to be built there before long. He did not mean to say that he was opposed to the separation of the Boards or the building of a new Institute, but the matter should be well considered.

Mr. DENNE would be the first man to support the building of a new Institute if he thought it were needed. But he did not think that to incur such a large expense was at all necessary at present.

Mr. ERRETT advocated appointing a committee to collect information in regard to the effects of the separation of the Boards, and the building of a new Institute, they to report at the next meeting.

Mr. STRATTON announced that if the law was strictly carried out in regard to compelling the attendance at school of children between the ages of 13 and 16, as was requested by law, the present schools would be wholly inadequate. It was the duty of the Board to see that the law was carried out, and he knew it to be a fact that there were between 600 and 700 such children in town.

The CHAIRMAN said that in Port Hope the two Boards were continually quarrelling, and a member had told him that it would be much better if they were brought together again.

Mr. ERRETT said that it was the High School Board that wished again to be with the Public School Board; not so with the Public School Board. They were quite satisfied with the present state of affairs.

Mr. WILKINSON thought that the matter of building a new Institute should be looked squarely in the face. One would have to be built at no distant period and in ten years from now sites would be trebled in value; in fact, in all likelihood one could not be had at all in a suitable place.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. ERRETT, that inasmuch as the High School is charged $700 a year for the use of the building occupied for High School purposes and much inconvenience is suffered by reason of the inadequacy of the High School accommodation, and inasmuch as the High School would be more efficiently conducted in a separate and more suitable building, away from interjections and annoyances, and inasmuch as the proximity of the Central School with its 500 pupils.

Be it therefore resolved, that the matter of providing proper High School accommodation for a Collegiate Institute be referred to a committee to consist of the Chairman and Messrs. Stratton, Errett, Millar, McNaughton, Rutherford, Denne, and the mover to consider the matter and report to the Board.

The motion was put and lost.

SCHOOL FEES.

In answer to Mr. Errett, the Secretary stated that the fees collected in the high and public schools in the month of June amounted to about $61.00 in all.

Mr. ERRETT was of opinion that a different method should be adopted for collecting the fees. Not that he blamed the teachers, but he was satisfied that a number of pupils represented themselves as coming from the town, when they really were outsiders, so that they would pay the 50c. fee instead of the 25c. fee. Others, again, would leave off half the fee when they were in the town and then the time came to pay fees they were gone.

The SECRETARY stated that Dr. Tassie had told him that if the Board would pass a resolution providing that the fees should be paid at the first of the month instead of the last, his hands would be strengthened very much in collecting the fees.

It was pointed out that such a resolution was already passed, and the Principal was given power to carry it into execution.

The Board then adjourned.

Big Bear and the Midlanders.

Conversing with your correspondent, Big Bear told how he had left the large part of his band to the west of Green Lake when he knew that all the soldiers were up there. Heating the Saskatchewan, a few miles from Carlton Place started to cross to the north shore, and had got to an island in the middle of the stream when a steamboat made its appearance. The seven Indians—Big Bear was accompanied by his wife and three children as well as by his brother-in-law and his wife—determined to keep quiet.

He thought that the steamboat was stuck, as it remained all day between him and the south shore, in which supposition he was perfectly correct. For I happened to be on the Alberta myself, and we remained upon that sand bar no less than eight hours. Several times during the day our boat hands landed and fired ropes to trees on the island, and some members of the company of the Midland East, sent as escort to the boat, swam ashore to the same apparently uninhabited spot. If the Midlanders had only known that they were within a few yards of Big Bear—but they did not know and were as innocently as when the steamer at last swung off into the channel, as if Big Bear and his family had not been checking to themselves on the other side of a few trees.—Cor. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Erratum.

An error crept into the report of the cheese market yesterday. Mr. Calder bought the cheese of the Westwood factory at 11, and it was Mr. Clouston who purchased the 861 boxes, at the same price.

The Harvest.

The harvest has commenced. Mr. J. B. Fowler of Smith commenced to cut his wheat to-day and will attack his barley on Monday. The barley, which was sown on May 1st, would have been cut sooner if he could have got labourers.

The Railway Picnic.

The annual picnic of the employees of the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway is being held to-day at Hutton's Grove, Lindsay. The train started at 10.30 and carried a large number of passengers, and a number also went on the regular local train.

Personal.

The Lindsay Post says:—"Mr. J. J. Wright, B.A., of Peterborough, preached in St. Andrew's church again last Sunday. His attainments as a preacher at this early stage of his theological career show that he has chosen a sphere for the exercise of his talents in which he will prove eminently successful."

Beautiful Roses.

The beds of beautiful roses in front of the residence of Mr. G. B. Sproule attracts much attention. In these beds there are no fewer than twenty-eight varieties of the principal species of the plant. Mr. Sproule imported the plants from Philadelphia and has indeed a pretty garden full.

They will report at a meeting to be held on Monday evening.

Baseball.

A meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club was held on Friday evening in the Riverside Park. A report was brought in by the Committee on Grounds and Supplies embodying an agreement for the use of the Riverside Park for matches and practice. The agreement proved satisfactory to both the owners of the park and the club, and the report was received and adopted. Several applications were sent in for the position of pitcher, but the acceptance of none was decided on.

Large Sales of Granite.

The Lindsay Warer says:—"We learn that the well known firm of J. J. & R. Wolfenden of the Whitty steam marble works, have been favored with large orders for granite monuments; for the late John Bailey ex-reeve of Emily, and the late Robert Webster, of Ups. Those sales amount in the aggregate to $2,500. The monuments will be erected during the present summer. That over Mr. Boyd goes to Peterborough, Mr. Bailey's to Osnaburgh, and Mr. Webster's to the Riverside cemetery, Lindsay. David Walker, Esq., reeve of Ups has represented that firm for 20 years."

Turnbull is now showing 3,100 yards of new print in 100 different patterns, good value at 12 1/2 cents, but selling at 10.

The Nicholls Hospital.

The Trustees of the Nicholls Hospital have secured the services of Miss Hannah Dalby as matron of the Hospital. Miss Dalby attended the St. Catharines Training School and Nurses' Home, and after three years' training took her degree on August 15th, 1879, which entitles her to be designated "Sister Hannah." Afterwards she was one of the nurses under Dr. Mack, of "Springbank," St. Catharines, for two years. She then became Lady Superintendent of the Good Samaritan Hospital, Portland, Oregon, which position she retained until last January, when she was compelled to give up the situation on account of the death of a relative. She possesses testimonials of the highest order, among them being one from Dr. Frank Hamilton, one of the surgeons of the late President Garfield. The trustees have been fortunate in securing a lady of such attainments and experience.

Fun at the Lansdowne.

The two mile race at the Lansdowne Roller Rink last evening was not witnessed by as large a crowd as on the former occasions, owing, no doubt, to the inclemency of the weather and to counter attractions. At nine o'clock the gong was rung and the floor cleared, when the contestants, Messrs. J. Shovel, of Peterborough, and H. Sweetser, of Boston, made their appearance. They were greeted with loud applause. One the word "go" Sweetser shot a head and kept first place until the second lap, when Shovel passed him and held the lead until the finish, easily beating his opponent by three quarters of a lap. Time, 7 minutes, 54 seconds. After this race the boys' race for a silver cup, to be won three times, was called. There were four entries: P. Courney, G. Macfarlane, B. Rubidge and P. Rubidge. Courney led off, but was passed on the second lap by Rubidge. From this the run was an even and exciting race until the eighth lap, when S. Rubidge fell and dropped out, thus giving Courney the lead, and leaving the floor to Macfarlane and Courney, S. and P. Rubidge both dropping off. Courney won the race, beating Macfarlane by nearly two laps. Time, 4 minutes and 26 sec. When the boys' race was finished some members of the Newcastle and Peterborough bicycle clubs took the floor and went through some movements. Kent gave an exhibition of fancy bicycle riding which was very creditable.

The Churches.

The following is a list of to-morrow's services: St. Peter's Cathedral—First mass at 7 o'clock in the morning; second, at 8.30, and High Mass at 10.30. Vespers in the evening at 7 o'clock.

ASSOCIATION SPORTS

Bicycle and Other Races—Kent Wins the Matched Bicycle Race.

The fortnightly sports of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association were held on the Association grounds on Friday evening. The rain, which was falling lightly when the sports commenced, prevented many from being present and the attendance, therefore, was not very large.

ONE HUNDRED YARD RACE.

The first event was the hundred yard race, in which three started. G. F. Orde took the lead and held it to the finish, but C. A. Lawford was not far behind and came in a close second. Time, 11 sec.

MATCHED BICYCLE RACE.

Then followed a matched bicycle race for one mile, between A. Gibson, of Peterborough, and Kent, of Newcastle, for a medal given by the Association. Kent was mounted on a 52 inch light bicycle, while Gibson's was a 50 inch, and heavier. Gibson had the inside, but after going one hundred yards Kent forged ahead enough to take the lead on the inside track. Then followed a close and exciting race. Gibson kept within a yard or so of his opponent during the whole time, until they were on the last lap, when Kent drew further ahead, but in the last hundred yards, Gibson put on a powerful spurt and came in about two yards behind. Time, 3 m., 30s.

QUARTER MILE RACE.

P. M. Hamilton, of Bobcaygeon, had no opponents in the quarter mile race, and he went over the track alone. He did not walk over it, however, as he made the distance in 55 sec.

MILE BICYCLE RACE.

A special medal was presented by the Association for an open bicycle race for one mile. There were five entries, and the race had to be run in heats, three contesting first, two next and the two winners to run the final heat.

In the first lap G. McCalland took the lead on the start, with G. Billinger second. On the second lap Ames passed Billinger, and as the fourth lap was finished he passed McCalland. On the fifth round McCalland tried to pass Ames, but by running too close the bicycles struck and both fell to the ground. Neither of them was injured. A foul was claimed and the heat was not allowed.

In the second heat E. Bowie and T. Miller, of Newcastle, went around the track at a very leisurely rate. They were reserving their strength for the final contest. Miller took the lead and held it, coming in first.

It was now getting dusk, and it was decided, instead of running the first heat over again, to make the next the final contest. Four started in it. Miller took the lead and held it for about a lap, when Bowie passed him, but on the next lap Ames passed Miller and Bowie took the lead. On the fourth lap Miller passed Bowie and became second, Bowie dropping out, but on the last lap he (Miller) passed Ames and came in about seven yards ahead, Ames second and Billinger a very close third. Time, 3.55. This was a very exciting race.

ONE MILE RUNNING RACE.

In the one mile running race two started—P. M. Hamilton and C. A. Lawford. Lawford led until the end of the fourth lap, when Hamilton passed him. An exciting race followed for some distance, but Lawford, after making a good attempt to get ahead, fell out before finishing the mile and Hamilton won.

Dr. G. Burnham and Mr. R. Sallabury were the judges, and Mr. R. B. Rogers acted as starter. The sports were very good, and it was unfortunate that the weather was unfavorable, as they should have been witnessed by many more. Sports will again be held on the Association grounds in two weeks.

ALMOST A WEDDING.

The Preparations Made But the Bridegroom Did Not Appear.

In a certain house in the village across the river preparations were made for a wedding on Thursday evening. The couple had been courting for some time, the friends were present, the clergyman was in attendance to perform the ceremony, and everything seemed to promise well, but the hour appointed for hymns to complete the work that Cupid had begun drew near and the bridegroom came not. The hour drew still nearer, but the bridegroom did not come with it; it passed, and he was not seen. It was learned from a mutual friend of the parties who were to be bound together in wedlock, that the delinquent would not appear that night, and the clergyman and friends departed.

It appears that the bridegroom, who was a bold young showman, not afraid of the bad Ashburnham boys who throw stones, had fully intended to cross the bridge on the evening named and keep his word with his betrothed, but unfortunately he limbed too freely of the bowl that intoxicates. When the day arrived that was to crown his happiness he sought to quiet his exuberant spirits by drinking with friends, and as the afternoon wore on he became hilariously happy. He started for Ashburnham, but his load of happiness was too much for his weak knees to bear, and on this side of the bridge he collapsed. A friend, who knew nothing about the proposed marriage, took care of him, and when a scout came across to look him up he was in no condition to take part in such an interesting and important ceremony. He was taken home in a cab, and the bride informed of the unfortunate state of affairs.

The next morning the young man was both ashamed and frightened. He had not intended to act so, but it was done, and he could not remain to face the disappointed bride and angry friends. He fled. A friend drove him to Osnaburgh, and he took the train for Toronto and departed.

The disappointed bride bears up bravely. In fact, she has expressed sentiments to the effect that there are as good fish in the sea as were ever caught, and she does not intend to break her heart on account of the little disappointment.

Success of the C. P. R. Loan.

OTTAWA, July 23.—The Canadian Pacific Railway loan of fifteen million dollars has been successfully floated in London, of which fact the Premier was to-day informed by cable from Mr. George Stephen. It is understood that the whole loan has been taken up. This will obviate any necessity on the part of the Canadian Pacific railway to avail itself of the temporary loan of $5,000,000, which Parliament authorized the government to give, and it places the Canadian Pacific in a position to relieve itself of obligations which have been pressing upon the Company for some months back. A considerable sum of money will be distributed among contractors, banks and others, to the general advantage.

LAKEFIELD ADVANTAGE.—The Reeve has arranged with Mr. White, of the Midland

Division of the Grand Trunk Railway that the freight on the product of any new industry started in Lakefield shall be the same as charged from Peterborough and is willing to enter into an agreement to this effect. Lakefield has a water power second to none in the Province

starting any business requiring water power

A SWINDLER.—On Friday afternoon at the Doris circus a young man who represented himself as the assistant reserved seat seller, asked a representative young man from Chisholm's giving large bills for small ones, as his roll was growing unaccountably big. In making the change the so-called assistant kept back a dollar.

This shortage was detected on the spot, but the crowd was not to be balked so easily. As he put a one dollar bill on the pile he attracted five dollars. This time Chief McKinnon was called, when the man, who gave his name as E. F.

AN AMERICAN HERO DEAD.

The death of General Grant, though it had been expected for some time, called forth expressions of deep sorrow throughout the United States. His protracted struggle with the disease that at last carried him away, while it did not effect the poignancy of the sorrow of the people, when the end came, created much sympathy for the man who showed so much courage during the time of suffering.

Different views have been expressed regarding Gen. Grant's claims to a first position as a great commander, but none, at any rate, can deny his success. He led the army which preserved the Union, to him the enemy finally surrendered, and many had before tried to do what he succeeded in accomplishing. A great general he may have been; a victorious commander he was.

It was not only as a general that Ulysses S. Grant was known to the people. During two terms he was the President of the nation. It is an honor that falls to the lot of very few to rise to the highest position in their country's army and also to be the chief ruler of the nation. It was no doubt General Grant's popularity as a military hero that first placed him in the President's chair, but the people must have been satisfied with his administration on the whole or they would not have elected him to the position a second time.

Of Gen. Grant's private life much has been written, and all that has been given to the world has been to his credit.

For many years he has been the most prominent man in the United States. Since he retired from office he has been read of so much as those who held the highest office, so much interest did the people take in the man whom they had delighted to honor. He did the nation great service, and his name will never be forgotten so long as the United States of America exist.

The Halifax Recorder refers to the grant made to Gen. Middleton as "grazing the fat pig." The Winnipeg Free Press says that "we are signalling by wholesale theft," and the Toronto Globe is publishing column after column to show that the Government is not giving him as good an opportunity as he should have to prove that he does not deserve to be hung. Sneering at the commander, slandering the volunteers and defending the chief rebel is the cheerful way the Reform press has of welcoming the troops and rejoicing because of the suppression of the rebellion.

"It is reported that every Tory lawyer in Peterborough, with the exception of two, have applied for a Reversing-Officer's license, under the Debranching Act. The other two probably have offices, or else feel too respectable for the job."—Toronto Globe.

The report, like many others that find their way into the columns of the Globe, is a Reform canard.

The Long Session.

In view of the length of the session of Parliament which closes to-day, it may be interesting to give the duration of each session since Confederation, as follows:—

Opening.	Proportion.	Duration.

1885—Jan. 28	July 20	173 do

During the session of 1887, upwards of a month was taken up in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne; so that the actual business of the session may be said to have commenced only at the second part of the session, commencing March 12th, 1888. And in the session of 1889, during which the contract with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was confirmed, there was a recess for the Christmas holidays of eleven days.—Montreal Gazette.

The Queen, prior to the marriage, invested Prince Henry of Battenberg with the Order of the Garter, and the Grand Duke of Hesse with the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath.

RELAXED RAILROADERS

MEET AT THE MIDLAND RAILWAY EMPLOYEES ANNUAL PICNIC.

A Day of Right Royal Recreation at Hutton's Grove, Lindsay—The Games and Sports—Incidents of the Day.

The annual excursion of the employees of the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway took place this year at Hutton's grove, near Lindsay, on Saturday. The day opened out fine; the sun shone cheerily, and, from a look at the events down on the programme, everything pointed towards the realization of a good day's sport.

On the arrival here of the morning special from Belleville, the Toronto mixed, which had been waiting for some time, drew out with three coaches full of excursionists, and those from Peterborough who could not secure accommodation on this one, boarded the Belleville train, which followed hard after. Conductor Hurlbut and Driver Hill had charge of the mixed, and the excursionists, after a rattling ride over the "link," reached Lindsay at twenty minutes to twelve o'clock. The Belleville special, with five coaches, piloted through by Conductor Stanton and Driver McCarthy, drew up to the Lindsay station about fifteen minutes after. A good many of the excursionists left the train and went up town for dinner, while a number remained in their seats and went to the picnic grounds.

Before the people from the points along the Grand Junction, and those from Peterborough, reached the grounds, all of the contingents from the other divisions had arrived. The train from Cobourg, Midland and points north, consisting of eight coaches, got in about eleven o'clock, under the charge of Conductor Givens and Driver James, while that from Haliburton, under the charge of Conductor Scanlan and Driver Clarke, with five coaches and six flats lined with evergreens, had arrived about a quarter of an hour previous. Conductor White and Driver Dean, with the Whitty special, consisting of four coaches, were at the grounds at half past ten, and Conductor Abe Riley, busily engaged in punching the tickets of some five hundred husbands, wives, children, young men and maidens, that had come down from Toronto and all intermediate points, arrived on the grounds with Driver Cruikshank about noon. The Port Hope special, under Conductor Adams and Driver Donoghue, brought in five loaded cars.

When the crowded contents of these forty four cars were let loose on the picnic grounds, the transformation scene can be better imagined than described. Snowy clouds were spread in all directions and the contents of the baskets were brought to light.

Several booths which were on the grounds at once commenced business, and three or four waiters behind the counters of each were kept on their feet throughout the day to attend to the wants of the numerous picnicers. At about one o'clock in the afternoon the orchestra from Lindsay arrived and during the afternoon furnished excellent music to those who wished to trip lightly in the mazy.

The sports then commenced. The following is the list of the names of those who won prizes and the trophies won:— the edge of the woods. There must have been fully three thousand present.

EVENTS OF THE DAY.
Mike Foley came in first on the 100 yard race, but it being decided to have it run over again he came in behind.

The committee in charge carried the programme through in a most satisfactory manner. Mr. D. McMillan acted as starter in the sporting events, and Messrs. J. A. Cheer, J. W. Sutherland, R. Tiley and A. R. Stewart were the judges.

Messrs. W. H. Morris, J. Young, C. S. Goodrich, J. Letbridge and D. McMillan judged the dancing.

The Grand Junction men proved themselves to be towers of force on the tug of war. They drew the last man of both the Nipissing and Midland divisions over the line, although the northerners got the advantage on the start each time.

Mr. "Dan" Kitchens' ruddy face beamed forth at the picnic. He has left the road now, but he does not seem to have lost any of his old railroad spirit.

Conductor Morris did not put in an appearance; but it wasn't his fault. He was ably represented, however, by Brakenham McNealy, his right hand man.

One of the attendants of a booth on the ground was struck on the forehead by the glass of a burst soda water bottle. Dr. Falkner, of Cobourg, who was on the grounds, performed the necessary surgical operations.

Mr. "Jim" Scanlan, of Haliburton, made a very satisfactory Master of Ceremonies. His cheery voice seemed to inspire the dancers with spirit and vim.

Tiger McDonald, from Peterborough, was on the grounds, to the delight of several sons of Scotland. Bob Bond, of Port Perry, so well appreciated the music that he could not keep his feet still. On an out of the way platform he stood as only Highlanders know how.

Mr. "Charlie" Crowe, the Ashburnham signal man, made stirring music on his tin whistle, and from the big crowd around him it seemed to be thoroughly appreciated.

Several of the picnicers went down town to see the baseball match between the Lindseys and Toronto. The former won by 18 to 14.

Going up in the morning Brakenham McNealy donned a blue apron and created considerable laughter by his efforts to get away with his "patent pineapple."

Coming down from Lindsay a young lady from Peterborough fainted. Restoratives were brought into use and in a few minutes she was brought back to consciousness.

Mr. W. Brundrett, the agent here, went up with the Peterborough people and saw that everyone was made comfortable.

Hutton's grove is indeed a pretty and commodious place for holding such a large picnic, but it is not time that the railroaders on the Midland Division should pay a visit to Peterborough?

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

At the Lanes.

Miss Jane Warts (Star of America) will give an exhibition of fancy roller skating at the Lanes on Wednesday and Thursday evenings next, at 8 p.m.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, mostly north and east, fine weather, not much change in temperature.

Montreal vs. Peterborough.

The cricket match, Montreal vs. Peterborough, commenced at shortly before ten o'clock this forenoon. The Peterboroughs went first to the bat, and retired from the first innings with 51 runs to their credit. Montreal followed with 74, and at fifteen minutes after three o'clock the Peterborough score in the second innings stood at 19 with three men out.

Thrown from a Buggy.

On Sunday morning Mr. Daniel Coughlin and his wife from Ottonabee drove to town to attend the eight o'clock service at St. Peter's Cathedral. Mrs. Coughlin had alighted and Mr. Coughlin had just got back into the buggy to take the horse to an adjacent post. The animal took fright at a pile of stones and bolted. Before it had gone many yards the buggy came in contact with a post, and Mr. Coughlin was thrown to the ground. He was not, however, much hurt. The horse was caught, but the buggy was badly smashed up.

Change of Time.

A change in the time table of the Ontario and Quebec division of the Canadian Pacific Railway took place this morning. The change will effect the arrival of trains at the George street station as follows:—The morning express going west will arrive at 5.30 instead of 5.31; the mixed going west at 7.04 a.m. instead of 7.35 a.m.; the evening express going west at 6.41 instead of 6.42; the morning express going east at 11.31 instead of 11.40; the mixed going east at 9.05 p.m. instead of 8.07 p.m.; and the night express going east at 10.30 instead of 11.11.

Turnbull is now showing 2,100 yards of new print in 100 different patterns, good value at 12 1/2 cents, but selling at 10.

Baseball.

The Peterborough Baseball Club has received several of letters lately. The Clippers, of Hamilton, the Metropolitans, of Toronto, the Atlantics, of Toronto, and the Bethanys, of Bethany, want matches. The challenge of the Atlantics have been accepted, and a match will be played in the Riverside Park on August 17th. Arrangements are being completed to play the matches with the other three teams. It is probable that the season's nine will be completed within this week, and then a match a week will be played. It is the intention of the club to lease a limited amount of stock.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

In anticipation of the increased poverty and suffering, which, owing to the late rebellion, must inevitably prevail amongst the Indian families of our Northwest, the executive committee of St. Paul's auxiliary of the above society have agreed to send a box of clothing suitable for the approaching winter season. They hereby notify the members of the W. F. M. S. the congregation worshipping in St. Paul's church and other friends, that contributions for this purpose will be most thankfully received in any of the following articles:—Cast off women clothing (not too much worn), woolen under wear of all sizes and both sexes, but specially for children that they may go to school; jackets, coats, shirts, stockings, socks, yarn, cloths, mufflers and mitts. The box must leave Peterborough on August 15th. Contributions marked, "For Indians of N. W." will be received by Mr. Stewart, sexton of St. Paul's Church, at his house, Murray Street.

A TERRIBLE DEATH.

An Unknown Man Jumps from a Train in Motion and is Killed.

On Saturday, at about 10 p. m., as the night express was speeding along on the Ontario and Quebec Railway past Burketon, a station near Myrtle, an accident of an unusually character occurred.

A man whose name has not come to hand jumped off the train into the darkness. The train was at the time moving at the rate of forty miles an hour and it was decided not to stop the train. Those in charge of the freight train following, however, were notified to be on the look out for the man.

On the arrival of this train, a short time afterward, the body of a middle aged person was found near the track. A doctor residing in the vicinity was sent for, and on examination it was found that the skull was fractured, the right leg broken about the knee and the left arm cut off. There was still life in him, but the doctor pronounced the case to be a hopeless one. The man expired in a few hours afterward.

From the looks of the deceased he appeared to be a farmer, and was probably a resident in the vicinity. He was to all appearance about forty years of age, of middle height and size, and wore side whiskers and moustache.

The express does not stop at Burketon, and it is probable that when he found that he had boarded the express instead of the mixed, he jumped off so that he would reach home without having to come to Peterborough. When he jumped off he struck a bank, rolled backward to the track, where he was struck by the passing cars.

Peterborough Dry Goods Palace.

Fair, Van Every & Co. are opening many new lines from Europe, much in demand and scarce at this season. Their stock is now very large and complete, comprising novelties, all kinds and qualities of dry goods, millinery, etc., at remarkably low prices. You can rely on getting a good assortment and most decided bargains at the "Golden Lion." They are clearing all remnants and summer goods in order to make room for their extended fall importations.

For express this week at Turnbull's, White Linen and Victoria Linen.

The World's Wonders.

Many persons have travelled thousands of miles, and incurred great expense, to see Niagara Falls, one of the great wonders of the world. And it is no wonder that they did, for it is a grand sight, well worth the trouble and expense. The people of Peterborough, however, will have an opportunity of seeing the falls in all its magnificence at a trifling expense, through the enterprise of the Fire Brigade.

The Firemen will run an excursion to the Falls on the Civic Holiday, and as that day will be a general holiday, no time will be lost by attending. The fare is very low, $2.50, which further minimizes the expense. In addition to the pleasure of viewing the grandest of the works of nature, the excursionists will have a pleasant ride on the railway, a beautiful sail on the palace steamer Chlorea, and a view of magnificent scenery along the route. This will be an opportunity that should not be missed.

Y. M. C. A. News.

On Sunday afternoon the Y. M. C. A. held an open-air meeting in the upper part of the Court House Park. They arrived at the decision of holding these meetings in consequence of the difficulty of getting young men inside these warm beautiful afternoons.

Persons passing the young men's rooms on Sunday evenings remark on the fine singing that comes from their hall. They have a quartette at present composed of Messrs. John Miller, first tenor, Harry Stephens, second tenor, Geo. S. Matthews, first bass, and John French, second bass. They intend soon to have a double quartette. Miss Stephens presides at the organ.

Mr. W. H. Newell, Secretary of the Man. Chartist, Eng., Y. M. C. A., is visiting Canada just now in the interests of a society furthering the emigration to this country as farm help, of the better class of young men in commercial positions on the other side. It is probable he will be in Peterborough in about a week, and deliver an address on the great social evils, and the demand for personal purity among men.

A FINE supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HABILIMENT HALL.

Personnel.

The Winnipeg Manitoban of a recent date says:—

"Mr. H. H. Smith, Commissioner of Dominion Lands, who has been visiting his old home at Peterborough, has been given a farewell presentation of his final removal with his family to Winnipeg. Mr. Smith is deservedly popular in the Manitoban district, where he is well known. Here in Manitoba his prompt, business like action and courteous demeanor have already won him a host of friends."

The Rev. E. F. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's church, left town on Saturday for a month's holiday trip.

Messrs. James Henry, of Dumble Henry, and J. D. McLomys, Principal of the Separate School, departed this morning for a ten days visit to New York.

The Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the Baptist church, Murray street has gone to visit his family in Massachusetts. He will be absent for a month.

In the absence of the Rev. Mr. Torrance the Rev. Walter Rogers of London, Ont., will occupy the pulpit of the St. Paul's.

The many friends of Mr. N. Steele, of Lakefield, will be pleased to learn that he has arrived at his destination, Portland, Oregon, in safety. Mr. Steele and his family left Peterborough on June 25th over the Canadian Pacific Railway and, as he says on a card to Mr. Elliott, the agent here, "we arrived all safe on July 3rd."

Mr. Jas. Kennedy, of Winnipeg, and formerly a resident of Peterborough, is in town on his way home. Mr. Kennedy was in Egypt with the voyageurs, and has been in Ottawa settling to settle the accounts. He was ill while in England, but has almost entirely recovered.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The Opening Day—The Formal Opening Ceremonies Resounded.

The above named institution opened this morning. The attendance was not large, owing to the opening taking place at a time of the year when most of the young men are away on holiday trips. A large number, however, start on the opening of the full term, and the formal opening ceremonies will therefore be postponed for about a month. The college is centrally situated, being on Hunter street, a few yards from George street.

A full description of the elegantly appointed institution has already been given, and it is needless to make further remarks on fittings, furnishings and situation.

The Principal is daily in receipt of applications for terms of tuition, and from present prospects it looks as if the attendance during the fall and winter months will be very large.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

MONDAY, July 27.—Chief Johnston charged James VanNorman with having been drunk on Saturday. VanNorman had been in the Court on Saturday, and on the strength of his most profane promises he was allowed to go, but he soon got drunk again, and was again arrested. This morning he renewed his promises, and said he would leave town in five minutes. He was fined $1, which he paid.

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables. Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, hams and bacon.

Just received another lot of Linen Damask Table Cloths and Napkins. Beautiful quality, but slightly imperfect, very cheap. J. ESKRINE.

Old Country vs. Canada.

A cricket match was played in the grounds of the Amateur Athletic Association on Saturday afternoon between the Canadian and English members of the cricket club. Messrs. J. M. Irwin, J. E. Hammond, J. Norley, H. A. Hammond, C. A. Lawford, B. Carter, J. Craven, J. G. MacMillan, W. T. Gray and H. Grundy played on the side of the Englishmen, and Messrs. Myles and Max Hamilton, B. B. Rogers, D. Logan, A. E. Ames, G. F. Orde, A. St. A. Smith, C. H. Gosla, W. Hamilton and J. Morris played on the Canadian side. At the end of the one innings the score stood 70 to 69 in favor of the Canadians.

Lancers on Saturday.

At Toronto on Saturday the Toronto Lancers Club defeated the Shamrocks, of Montreal, by three goals to one. At Montreal on the same day the Montrealers defeated the Ontario, of Toronto, by three straight games.

A Deckhand Drowned.

MONTREAL, July 26.—The officers of the steamer Algeria which arrived here this evening reports that while a deckhand named Kenny was shipping the aftergangway on leaving Clayton he lost his balance, fell into the river and was drowned. The steamer was stopped but all efforts at rescue were fruitless.

Killed by an Overhead Bridge.

ORANGEVILLE, July 25.—John Phillips, an old employee of the T. G. and B. road, while attending to the brakes near Black Creek bridge yesterday morning, was struck on the head by the timbers of the bridge and knocked to the ground, his injuries proving fatal shortly afterward. Deceased was 40 years of age, and his relatives live near Orangeville junction.

Call at Turnbull's and ask to see his new Dress Goods at 12 1/2 cents worth 25.

Explosion in a Drug Store.

QUEBEC, July 26.—At 9.45 to-night a loud explosion occurred in the drug store of J. Vernier, corner of St. John and Dancourt streets, smashing the front window into atoms, and carrying the shutters across the street. The explosion was followed by an outbreak of flames which gutted the store and caused the total loss of the stock. Mr. Vernier is unable to account for the explosion. He stated that there was no nitro-glycerine or other combustible in that portion of the store where the explosion occurred, and as there was no escape of gas the whole thing is a mystery. The stock is insured in the Western for $8,000.

Sad Tragedy at Panama.

PANAMA, July 26.—A sad affair occurred on board the Amer. leas Dredge Company's dredge, Ferdinand de Lesseps, now lying in Fox river, on the 3rd inst. F. F. Hayes, the captain of the dredge, was called to stop a disturbance on the main deck and his wife, leaving trouble to her husband, followed him, with their child in her arms. By the time they reached the deck shots from several revolvers were flying around. Mrs. Hayes ran to the forward part of the dredge, and in endeavoring to get under cover fell with the child into the bucket well. Efforts to revive them were unavailing, and their bodies were not recovered until the next day. The father on seeing the child by its mother's side in the coffin was entirely overcome, and went to his room, where he shot and killed himself.

A Woman Chopped in Two.

BORROW, July 25.—Alex. W. Camach, the keeper of the Union Club boat house, saw what was apparently a sack of potatoes afloat on the Charles river, opposite the foot of Revere street, at about 5 p.m. He towed it ashore, and when he opened the bag he found it contained the upper half of a woman's body. The body had been brutally chopped in two at the waist, evidently with an axe. It was that of a woman 35 or 40 years of age, of dark complexion and small build. Finger marks were plainly visible about the neck, showing that death might have been caused by strangling. There were bruises on each shoulder and over the right temple. The body had been in the water about four days. It was clad in an ordinary undergarment only. It cannot be said whether the corpse came from up or down the river, for the tide was flowing in at the time, and when picked up the sack was moving up with the current from the ocean. No person of the description given has been reported missing in this city, and the police feel that they have a big mystery on their hands.

To enjoy a slow, cool, sweet, delicious smoke, use one of the Peterboro' Cigar Factory Cigars.

Camping Out.

This is the time of year, from July to October inclusive, when if every, young and old folks too may go to the mountains for an airing for health or for flowers, fish and fun. It is rare fun even for country boys—and the girls need not be excluded—to do this sort of thing, for they have new experience of life, and a kind of romance, which the farm and village, and certainly the town, does not furnish. The gain in healthful recreation, in knowledge of natural history, and in a sort of useful independence is immense. All of which we value highly for our own boys, and which we enjoy even now most highly for ourselves. The place for camping should be dry, healthy, above all flats, and at some distance from swamps; not in dense woods, but in some pleasant opening, near to good water—a spring if possible—away from near neighbors, possibly in wild forest country, or near a mountain, lake, or stream or by the sea.

The rockier it is the better, and there should be dry, dead wood, or handy stuff to burn in abundance. Now, what to take. If spruce or hemlock boughs are plenty a good shelter can be made of them, if not, a piece of strong cotton or canvas, eight feet by twelve, well sewed, and with eyelet holes in the corners, and two in each short side besides, to take tent ropes, all strongly made, will serve the purpose. The ropes must be about ten feet long each hence 100 feet of half-inch manilla or other good rope is required. This will be well to hold in a pot of water, and when dry, stretch. These it will not sink. A tent-pole ten feet long, and crooked sticks to it, seven feet long to the crochets, may be cut on the ground probably; if not, must be provided. Of course, a good light axe or hatchet is essential. The mother will see that necessary food and cooking utensils are packed in a small compass. Thus equipped, and with rubber coats and blankets, a week or a month in the woods may be well spent with great pleasure and profit.—Exchange.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

RECEIVING OUR TROOPS.

The 18th Battalion can thank its stars that it was not called to the Northwest. Had this battalion taken part in the suppression of the rebellion it could now be described as a gang of looters, thieves and plunderers by the rebel Grit press of the country. "We are triumphing," shrieks one rebel Grit organ, "in a victory which we have signalled by wholesale theft." The 18th battalion has escaped Grit abuse of this sort, which is being heaped upon the brave fellows who went at the call of their country to put down the Grit rebellion. —Hamilton Spectator.

RIEL'S TRIAL.

The trial of Riel, the halfbreed who is responsible for the recent murderous insurrection in the Northwest Territories, has begun at Regina, and the presiding judge shows a commendable determination not to allow trivial objections to interfere with the progress of the case. —New York Tribune.

MR. MILLS.

There is no let up to Mr. Mills' party hatred. It is impossible for the Premier to do anything which Mr. Mills will admit to be right. There is but one man alive who can act in a way to satisfy Mr. Mills' severe judgment, and that is Mr. Mills himself. During the session Mr. Mills threw all the weight of his constitutional knowledge and his extreme verbosity to prolong the session. He kept on harping on the chopping logic and refining until the patience of the House was exhausted, not once, but often. His pertinacity, his long-windedness, his persistence were an excruciating even of Mr. Cass's defects, with this difference, that while nobody expected anything worthy of note to issue from the latter, and went to bed in the confidence that they would have nothing by their absence during Mr. Cass's outflow, some remained in their seats, expecting of Mr. Mills ultimately casting new light upon the subjects treated by him, but were usually sadly disappointed. —Montreal Herald (Ind.).

IT GOES TOO FAR.

If Riel comes hanging it will doubtless be due principally to the public-opinion and the most disinterested efforts the Toronto Globe has been making to prove that the rebellion of which Riel was the head was entirely justifiable. It is the "honest" business over again, angling for Quebec votes to strengthen the "party." The Globe goes a little too far, however, when it shows a disposition to take up the statements in regard to outlaws alleged to have been committed by the volunteers in the Northwest. It prints on its editorial page a letter of some length addressed to Le Manitoba charging the volunteers with "pillage that would have been considered in the 19th century," but adding no specific facts by which the accusation might be proved or disproved. It would be time enough, we think, to republish matter reflecting on the volunteers when statements are made in such shape as to furnish a basis of enquiry, and to indicate good faith on the part of those making them. —Montreal Star (Indep.).

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

One of the bulwarks in Great Britain is Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada. Except the Prince of Wales and the mayor he attends as many meetings and makes as many speeches as any public man in the metropolis. Every week brings a sensational story of four meetings where Sir Charles Tupper speaks of Canada or, as more often happens, for the British colonies. He is easily first among the colonial agents in London and as in the case of the meeting with the new Colonial Secretary, reported elsewhere, is usually spokesman for the denigration of these representatives. He is always direct, practical, and well informed. Where colonial interests are involved he is quick to see the bearing of things, even in action, and absolutely fearless. These last qualities he most bitter opponents always concede to him. In diplomatic circles there is but little scope for the pungency which once characterized Sir Charles. But he was shown that he is no home amid his present calm, dignified and courtly surroundings than he was in the fierce political battles of old times. Within the past few weeks he has been great in the London university men, and later he spoke at the opening of a new building in connection with the Birkbeck literary and scientific institutions. There were four other speakers, Mr. Birkbeck, the president of the particular institution, the Prince of Wales, the Mayor of London, and Lord Aldershot (Sir Stafford Northcote). —Daily Herald.

A PRECAUTION.

Now that the insurrection in the Northwest has been crushed, it has been deemed advisable to take precautions against a future outbreak, by vesting in the government power to a certain extent, in a particular district which it may be necessary to proclaim, are in possession of arms. The possession of arms will, in that case, be by license, and registration will show where they are. Though this act is primarily intended to prevent the Indians from possessing themselves of arms of precision for unlawful purposes, the regulation is made to apply generally to all persons. By this means centres of male and distribution of arms will become known, and, if necessary, be put under surveillance. The necessity which dictated this measure may be deplored, but it is worth while to submit to some inconvenience to make another outbreak impossible. Loyal subjects will willingly bear with the inconvenience which the law may occasion, and the evil designing have no right to consideration. No one who ought to be in possession of arms will be deprived of the privilege, and it is quite time to prevent their being put in the way of persons who would use them like the men who fought against the volunteers at Fish Creek and Batoche. —Money Times.

Free Instruction in Sun Spots.

A New York street scientist had been renting a venerable telescope to such curious passers-by as desired to gaze at the sun and would pay a nickel for the privilege. Quite a crowd collected each day, and patronage was liberal. It became raining when the venerable fellow hung up a sign, "One day only—a free view of the sun." The line extended half a block. Old Deacon Pennyman, who lives in Harlem, and walks home to save car fare, concluded to take advantage of the free show as he came by. He took position 108 in line, and at the end of a hour he was No. 3. His face wore an expectant air, and as he wiped his brow, for it was very hot, he asked the exhibitor: "How can you afford to do this for nothing, my friend?"

"A wealthy and philanthropic man, who wishes to enlighten the people on the appearance of the sun, pays me so much a day to show it: you turn now."

The deacon bent down, craned his neck as if he was going to savor all the spots at once, and saw "Bismarck's Sun Spots." The deacon solemnly followed 108 miles, and men down the avenue.

Gen. Grant's Funeral.

General Grant's remains will be buried with national honors in Central Park, New York, on Saturday, August 8th. President Cleveland and his Cabinet will attend. The Dean of Westminster has granted the use of Westminster Abbey for a commemorative service on the day of the funeral.

It is expected that the Munster Bank will reopen this week.

AN ORIGINAL LOVE STORY.

He struggled to kiss her. She struggled to the same. To prevent him, so bold and undaunted; but, as smitten by lightning, he heard her exclaim: "Avalanche, Sir!" And off he vanished.

But when he returned, with a wild, scowling laugh, showing that he was affronted, and threatened by main force to carry her off, she cried: "Don't!" And the poor fellow don'ted.

When he meekly approached, and got down at her feet, playing loud, as before he had ranted, that she would forgive him and try to be sweet, and said, "Can't you?" the dear girl recanted.

Then softly he whispered, "How could you do so?"

I certainly thought I was jilted, but come along with me, to the person we'll go. Say—will thou, my dear?" and she smiled.

Then gayly he took her to see her new home—A cabin by no means enchanted.

"See! Here we can live, with no longing to roam."

He said, "Shan't we, my dear?" So they shantied.

OTONABEE.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW GRIST MILL.—The water has been shut out of R. & G. Strickland's raceway to allow the masons to erect a stone foundation for a grist mill, which that firm are about to put up.

THE HAY CROP.—Haying is nearly over in this section of the country, and on the whole may be taken as a very fair crop.

BOOMS WANTED.—In 1883, during the A. C. A. Camp at Stony Lake, sawlog drives were a source of delay and annoyance to the boats between here and Young's Point. A considerable outcry was made at the time, and we were told that the Government were about to place piers in position in the lake which would give the steamboats one channel and the logs the other. So far so good. The piers are there, but piers are no good without the connecting booms, and the consequence is that things are just as bad as they were before. Last Tuesday, July 21st, the Cruiser had bills out announcing a moonlight excursion to start at 8.30. As it was a beautiful evening a number of people were at the wharf at the appointed time, but the Cruiser did not arrive until after ten, having been detained over four hours by sawlogs. On Friday a drive ran into the Smithtown channel, so as to pass another drive that was in the Donora channel, and in consequence it was only with the greatest difficulty, and after much delay, that the boats were able to get through. This is a matter that should be looked into by those whose duty it is to do so. Stony Lake every year is becoming more and more the resort of excursionists and camping parties, but if visitors find that they are to be subjected to delay and annoyance owing to sawlog drives, they will go elsewhere, and we cannot blame them for doing so.

HAVERLOCK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW HOTEL.—Mr. N. Provenza, proprietor of the new Canadian Pacific Hotel, Havelock, has a formal opening of his new hotel on July 17th, by an assembly. Some 50 couples tripped the light fantastic until supper was announced at 12 o'clock, which was up by nine host in his usual good style. After ample justice had been done to the good things provided dancing was again resumed until the "wee sma' hours," the party breaking up, after a pleasant night's amusement, at 3 o'clock, a.m., all going home well pleased with the reception given them by Mr. P., who was indefatigable in seeing that all had a good time. The hotel is a large and commodious one and will, when completed, be second to none outside the city, being well situated at a convenient point, and where a first class hotel was much needed. Havelock being the first terminus point on the C.P.R. quite a number of the train officials are obliged to remain over night.

C. P. H. STATION.—Mr. Purcott, the new agent (formerly from Smith's Falls), took charge of the station on July 17th. Mr. Burnett comes highly recommended for courteousness and practical ability, and we wish him success at Havelock.

A Council in a Barge.

From Our Own Correspondent.

TAMING, July 24.—The accusation is made that Dr. Schmidt, Austrian Consul here, has guilty of defrauding and extorting lands and money from the number of the Moore. The Doctor had it in his residence a damson in which were found iron neck collars, hard fetters and chains, which had been used to torture his victims. The matter has been referred to the Austrian Government.

 A special Loyal True Blue meeting will be held in their hall this evening at 8 o'clock. Fred H. Weir, W.M.

Landmark Rink.
 Don't fail to see Miss Jessie Wartz on Wednesday & Thursday evenings. She comes highly endowed as a very superior artist on the skating rink.

The Weather.
 The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:
 Thermometer. Barometer.
 9 o'clock.....72.....29.20
 1 o'clock.....84.....29.19
 3 o'clock.....84.....29.19

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate east and south winds, generally fair weather, with thunder storms in northern Ontario, slightly higher temperature.

Cheese Shipment.
 The cheese purchased by Mr. Wm. Claxton at the last cheese market was shipped over the Grand Trunk Railway this afternoon for Montreal. The amount is six hundred and thirty-six boxes, averaging in weight about 60 pounds. The shipment consists of two car loads, and the price paid for the cheese was 8 1/2 cents per pound.

The Medal.
 The medal given by the Amateur Athletic Association for bicycle competition at the last fortnightly sports is now on exhibition at Jewellery store of W. A. Sanderson. The medal is generally known, was won by Kent, of Newcastle. It is of solid gold, and the medal proper, of spherical form, hangs from the clasp on which is inscribed the letters F.A.A.A. In the centre of the medal proper is a convex sphere bearing representatives of two bicyclists going at full speed on their wheels. The design is a very handsome one and is valued at $20.

Socially Based.
 At a meeting of the Lacrosse Club held on Monday evening at the Little Windsor Hotel it was finally decided to hold the coming lacrosse tournament on August 10th. All arrangements are to be made for holding on that day what is expected to be the best lacrosse tournament ever held in the Midland district. The senior Shamrocks and the Ontario will compete for a valuable trophy presented by Mr. H. LeBrun, President of the National Amateur Lacrosse Association, and the leading clubs of the Midland district will compete for the Brown cup.

Horticultural.
 A meeting of the directors and committee members of the Horticultural Society was held in Mr. J. H. Roper's office on Monday afternoon. There were present: the Rev. V. Clementi and Messrs. J. H. Roper, D. W. Dumble, J. R. Stratton, Jas. Stevenson, Jas. Best and J. D. Collins. The principal business before the meeting was the revision of the prize list for the annual exhibition, which will be held on Sept. 8th in a place yet to be selected. A committee was appointed to draft a set of by-laws for the preservation of good order and the protection of property in the Horticultural Gardens. The Committee to submit the said by-laws to the Town Council on Thursday evening for approval and confirmation. After other minor business the meeting adjourned. A good opportunity is now offered for joining the Horticultural Society. Anyone in the town or county may become a member for the ensuing year on the payment of one dollar. Considering the great boon that has been bestowed on the community by the continual efforts put forth by this society the membership should be largely increased.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.
 TUESDAY, July 28.—Michael McGuire was charged by P. C. McGinty with having been drunk in a public place. The prisoner pleaded guilty, but urged the first offence plea as an excuse to be let off. He was allowed to go on promising that he would leave town.

D. AND D.
 John Kennedy was charged by P. C. McGinty with having been drunk and disorderly. John remembered that he had been drunk, but he did not think that he had done anything out of the way. He made a similar promise to the last offender, and was allowed to go.

VAGRANCY.
 Catherine O'Neill was up again before the Court on the same old charge—that of vagrancy, preferred by P. C. McGinty. She pleaded not guilty, and supported the plea with a vigorous use of her voluble tongue. She heartily rated the P. C. for having again brought her before the Court, and while the Magistrate was making out the document for a three months residence at Castle Nesbitt, she kept up a continual tirade of abuse.

ASSAULT.
 Harvey Pearson, of Lakefield, was charged by Constable Cochrane with having, on the 23rd of July, maliciously inflicted grievous bodily harm on his wife, Elizabeth Pearson.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried by a jury.

From the evidence taken it appeared that a family was living in a part of Pearson's house. While under the influence of liquor he had ordered them out. Mrs. Pearson went to tell them to take no notice of her husband while he was in this state, and on coming back into her own apartments was struck by a heavy stool thrown from the hand of her husband. She was struck on the head, and lay with her head over a water trough, bleeding profusely, for some time. A number of villagers collected and two doctors were summoned. Mrs. Pearson was carried back into the house, and after a time was brought back to consciousness. In her evidence Mrs. Pearson stated that Harvey was a good husband, and it was only when he was in liquor that he ever acted in any way rough.

The prisoner was committed for trial, with bail placed at $400 for himself and $200 for two sureties, and the witnesses were also bound over to appear.

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables, Kips Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, hams and bacon.

Personal.

Prof. Saunders, of London, Ont., Government Analyst for Western Ontario, passed through town this morning en route to the back lakes where he will spend several weeks. Prof. Parker was met at the station by some friends and was shown some of the sights.

The Hanged Man.

The name of the man who met with such a terrible death by jumping off the night express of the Ontario and Quebec Railway as it was passing Burkston, was John Goodman. He lived in Hamilton, a village about three miles from Burkston station, and was a farm laborer.

Just received another lot of Linen Damask Table Cloths and Napkins. Beautiful quality, but slightly imperfect, very cheap. J. ESKINKE.

The Parlor Rolling Rink.

Owing to the warm weather, and to the fact that many are away enjoying holidays, the Parlor Roller Rink will be closed on Thursday and will remain closed until Sept. 1st. Advantage will be taken of this opportunity to make improvements in the rink, the floor will be improved and skates repaired. The Parlor Rink will in every way be a first class one when it is re-opened.

Peterborough Dry Goods Palace.
 Fair, Van Every & Co. are opening many new lines from Europe, much in demand and scarce at this season. Their stock is now very large and complete, comprising novelties, all kinds and qualities of dry goods, millinery, etc., at marvellously low prices. You can rely on getting a good assortment and most decided bargains at the "Golden Lion." They are clearing all remnants and summer goods in order to make room for their extended fall importations.

Down the River by Moonlight.
 The City Band purpose running a moonlight excursion down the river as far as Faucher's Point on Friday evening next. The proceeds go towards a good object, that of purchasing some instruments in which the band have long stood badly in need. When the new instruments are obtained ten efficient men will compose the band, and it is to be hoped that the excursion will be so well patronized that the band will not only have enough from the proceeds to purchase the desired instruments, but sufficient to purchase other needed articles of equipment.

Philharmonic Society.
 During the last few years efforts have been made again and again to organize a Philharmonic Society in Peterborough. There is no reason why such an organization should not exist in Peterborough. There has ever been good material to work on, and able leaders have been resident here. But heretofore the promoters of it have gone to work in a half-hearted manner, and the result was that their efforts came to nothing, or next to it. Now, however, it seems as if the society will be successfully organized. Messrs. J. S. Parker and C. C. Hampshire, the organists of St. Paul's and St. John's churches, respectively, have taken the matter in hand, and have issued invitations to the principal local vocalists to enroll their names on the membership list. Already the invitations have been largely accepted, and a meeting of those interested is called for Thursday evening, July 30th, to consider the ways and means to complete the organization of the society.

THE OTTAWA EXCURSION.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—My attention has been called to a communication in your edition of Saturday, signed by Mr. Andrew McNeil, of Peterborough, in which he covertly intimates that I was the author of a communication signed "Excursionist," which appeared in the Examiner of a late date.

I feel confident that Mr. A. McNeil was laboring under the influence of something stronger than mere misapprehension when he penned his very vulgar and totally uncalled for philippic.

I do not wish to discuss the extraordinary appropriateness or the propriety of, or the language, but merely wish to deny in the most emphatic manner possible, that I was the author of the communication.

I have always estimated Mr. McNeil at his face value, which all must admit is a very broad and liberal standard, have ever been solicitous to ascribe to him the possession of many graceful virtues, but I sincerely regret that among them cannot be numbered either truth, sincerity or manliness.

All must admire the courage and the man who, like a footpad, is accustomed to strike in the dark, and when occasionally brought to task, acts like an arrant coward and whines because the injured party turns him over and whips him with the nearest fence picket.

Yours truly,
 W. A. STRATTON.

A FRESH supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HABILIMENT HALL.

Alleged Forgery.

SOREL, Que., July 24.—A lad of 12 or 13 years of age called at the Molsons Bank here yesterday afternoon and presented a cheque for sixty dollars, accompanied by a letter to Mr. Geo. Grebass, the manager, reporting to have been given him by the Superintendents of the hospital. On a close examination of the cheque by Mr. Synnys, the teller, his suspicions were aroused, and he at once questioned the boy, who at first felt extremely reticent in giving the desired information, but was at last informed, after a little persuasion, that the forged cheque had been given him by an unknown man who was then walking up and down in the park just opposite the bank, awaiting its proceeds. Messrs. J. H. Wainwright and G. Patterson, who were entering the bank, saw the boy, and, unfortunately, the delinquent's fleeting powers were too great for them, as he soon outran both of them, and found a safe shelter in the vicinity. The cheque and letter are in possession of the bank.

Effect of Smoke on Iron.

The western approach of the Callowhill street bridge, in Philadelphia, is in a shaky condition. The bridge is an iron one, and its western end spans the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at a point where locomotives are continually passing, and it is said that the sulphurous acid from the smoke stacks of the engines has been the cause of the trouble. A great deal of the iron work above the tracks most used is being gradually eaten away, and the ground beneath is thickly strewn with thick iron scales that have dropped from the bridge work, which has not been protected by proper painting. Several iron posts have been weakened and are bent in such a way as to indicate a slight movement of the bridge to the south. It is estimated that $12,000 or $14,000 will be required to restore the bridge to a good condition. The river span, which is not reached by locomotive smoke, is not affected, and is in excellent condition.

A Robber in a Box.

ELROY, Wis., July 27.—A box was shipped by express from Black River Falls to Chicago on Saturday night. The messenger became suspicious of the contents and telegraphed to the authorities here on the arrival of the train yesterday. The box was opened and inside was found a man armed with a revolver, a billy, a razor, a bottle of chloroform and a bunch of cords. He refused to give his name. The box was shipped to Sidney J. Bernard, Chicago. Two more persons, supposed to be confederates, were arrested here and all three are in goal. It is supposed they had planned to rob the mail and express cars. Nothing is known regarding the identity of the men.

A LOT of Ladies Colored Cotton Hose, 12 1/2c. per pair, much below value. J. ESKINKE.

An Assailed Constable Dies.
 MONTREAL, July 27.—Constable Malone, who was seriously assaulted by a man named Considine while in discharge of his duty about eight days ago and who has appeared to be recovered from his effect during the last few days, took a turn for the worse during last night and died this morning.

Killed at a Barn-raising.
 ELORA, July 27.—At a barn-raising near Kenilworth on Saturday the fall of a bent resulted in the death of one man, John Shaw, and the wounding of three others beyond much hope of recovery. Nineteen additional were more or less injured.

The Heat in Washington.
 WASHINGTON, July 27.—There were three fatal cases of sunstroke here yesterday. The average temperature during the last ten days was 84°-87°-100°. This is greater than in any other city in the Union.

 How often does it happen that the general comfort and happiness of man depends on a good fitting pair of pants. Nothing will ruffle a man's temper more than to find when he tries on his latest new pair of pants that they are either too long or too short; that they pinch him so bad in one place that he dare not stoop, and are so large and baggy around the waist and knees that he is afraid he might be taken for the departed "Sm'ish."

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Much Better.

The Winnipeg Manitoban, of July 24th, says that Private R. Cook, of French's scouts, who was wounded in the leg, and is in the hospital at Winnipeg, is much better.

The Market.

On the market this morning hay sold for $10 per ton; potatoes for 20 cents per bushel; green peas at 5 cents per quart; raspberries at 90 cents per bushel; chickens at 60 cents per pair, and butter and eggs at 15 and 12 cents respectively.

The "Trio" Camp.

The members of the "Trio" camp arrived in town on Tuesday evening after ten days' pleasure rustling. The campers, Messrs Wm. Leach, D. Bellegem and D. Cameron, went to Chemung Lake from here and paddled in one day to Lovelock. They passed leisurely down to Stony Lake and spent several days. On Tuesday they paddled from Stony Lake to Lakefield and took the train home.

Rescued.

On Tuesday afternoon at about three o'clock a lad of about 7 years of age named Walter Dredge, while "running the logs" near Hilliard's, fell into the river. He was carried away by the current and efforts put forth to rescue him were of no avail until he had been floated down nearly to the old railway bridge. Here some of his relatives fished him out, not without considerable difficulty. When the lad was brought to shore he was scarcely able to stand.

More Telephone Facilities.

The Bell Company is still pushing on with its new lines at the rate of about thirty miles a day, and has completed within the last few days, the line from Trenton to Pictou, taking in also Bloomfield, Wellington, and the Lake Shore Hotel at West Point. Welland has been connected with Thorold and St. Catharines, and the line is now being rapidly finished to Hamilton, Buffalo, Port Colborne, Niagara Falls, and other connections in that neighborhood will also be complete in a few weeks; Montreal will be in communication with Kingston and all towns on the way in a few days and several other lines are in course of construction.

Checked in Time.

On the arrival of some of the employees at the Central Bridge Works this morning at about half-past five o'clock, they were startled to see smoke issuing out of the windows, and shortly after to see flames bursting up through the floor of the machine shop. They broke into the building, and with a few buckets of water succeeded in partly quenching the flames. It seems that some coals had fallen on the floor from one of the furnaces and had smouldered away all night. When they had burrowed through the floor and came in contact with the combustible materials under it, flames were the result. The employees arrived just in time, for had the fire been allowed a few minutes longer to get a headway it is difficult to say where it might have stopped. The firemen arrived on the scene in response to an alarm and completed the quenching of the flames.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

In anticipation of the increased poverty and suffering, which, owing to the late rebellion, must inevitably prevail amongst the Indian families of our Northwest, the executive committee of St. Paul's auxiliary of the above society have agreed to send a box of clothing suitable for the approaching winter season. They hereby notify the members of the W. F. M. S., the congregation worshipping in St. Paul's church and other friends, that contributions for this purpose will be most thankfully received in any of the following articles:—Cash, off woollen clothing (not too much worn), woollen underwear of all sizes and both sexes, but especially for children, that they may go to school; jackets, coats, shirts, stockings, socks, yaks, slacks, muffs and mitts. The box must leave Peterborough on August 15th. Contributions marked "For Indians of N. W." will be received by Mr. Stewart, sexton of St. Paul's Church, at his house, Murray Street.

BOON IN BRIDGES

Orders Coming in From all Parts of the Province to the Central Bridge Works.

Since Mr. W. H. Law established the Central Bridge Works, Simcoe street, and since the first bridge was turned out of the works, entire satisfaction has been given to all customers. Not one complaint has yet come in.

An evidence of the increasing popularity of the bridges turned out from these works is the number of orders which are coming in. No fewer than four contracts are now in hand.

Not long ago an order came in from the County Council of Lambton for the construction of a bridge across the Sydenham at the village of Florence. It will be one span of a hundred feet, and will be set on wrought iron cylinders, or abutments.

Another order comes from the Council of the County of Wellington for the construction of a one sixty-four foot span truss bridge, with side walks across the Canastota River at the village of Arthur. This one will be set on stone abutments.

An order comes from the Council of the County of Perth, and that of the Councils of the Townships of Hibbert and Fullerton, for the bridging of a stream running between the two townships. It will be a forty-five foot truss bridge set on stone abutments. This is the fourth order which the Central Bridge Works has received from the County of Perth this year.

On Tuesday another order was given by the joint committee representatives of the Counties of Northumberland and Durham and Peterborough for spanning the Otonabee at Wallace's Point by a swing bridge. The bridge will be 83 feet in length, and will be similar in construction to that built over the locks, Peterborough.

Middleton's March.

A march triumphal, composed by Mr. W. F. Sudds, dedicated to Gen. Middleton and the volunteer force of Canada, is now for sale at D. Smart's Bell Organ office. Price 25 cents.

The Championship.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson went to Prescott on Tuesday evening over the Ontario and Quebec Railway. He is to-day refereeing a lacrosse match between the Prescott and Brockville clubs for the Intermediate Championship.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Variable winds, mostly fair warm weather, with showers of thunderstorms in a few places.

A FRESH supply of SUMMER Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

Thermometer.	Barometer.

From Claremont.

An excursion train from Claremont, Pictou Township, Ontario County, arrived in town this forenoon at 11.30 a.m., bearing about 500 people. The excursion is run under the auspices of the Baptist Church Sunday school of Claremont. The village band, of twelve pieces, accompanied the excursionists and played several very creditably. The train leaves at 6.40 this evening.

Grand Lacrosse Tournament.

Arrangements are now satisfactorily going on in regard to the grand lacrosse tournament which will be held in Peterborough on August 10th, under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club. The event of the day will be the contest between the Shamrocks and the Ontarios for the trophy presented by Mr. LeBrun. Numerous other attractions will be offered, and the day will close with a grand lacrosse social in the Separate School grounds, which will be illuminated by electricity for the occasion. The large posters containing full particulars will appear in a few days.

Call at Turnbull's and ask to see his new Dress Goods at 12 1/2 cents worth 20.

Contract Let.

A meeting of the joint committee of the representatives of the counties of Northumberland and Durham and Peterborough met at the Court House on Tuesday to consider the tenders for the erection of a swing bridge over the Otonabee River at Wallace's Point. There were present: Mr. Geo. Campbell, Warden of the County of Northumberland and Durham, Mr. E. C. Strickland, Warden of the County of Peterborough, and Messrs. Frowse, Reeve of Bowmanville, Ferguson, Reeve of Midland, Fowles, Reeve of Hastings, Riddell, Reeve of South Monaghan, Moloney, Reeve of Dorcas, Lang, Reeve of Otonabee, Stewart, Deputy Reeve of Otonabee, and Foster, Reeve of North Monaghan. Mr. J. E. Belcher, County Engineer, was also present. There were four tenders sent in, from the Hamilton Bridge Company, from the Toronto Bridge Company, from the Robt. Waddell Trestle Bridge Works, and from Mr. W. H. Law, of the Central Bridge Works, Peterborough. The County Engineer reported on the various tenders submitted, and that of Mr. Law was accepted, the price being $2,350. There were two tenders in for the abutment and masonry work and that of Mr. Charles Wynn was accepted, he to remove the old bridge and build the new abutment piers for a set piers by the cubic yard, and to do the timber work for a set piers by the foot lineal. Mr. Law is to be congratulated on thus securing the contract, for it was not without considerable consideration that it was given to him in preference to the Toronto Bridge Company, which have given such satisfaction by the work they have done in this county.

For express this week at Turnbull's, White Linen and Victoria Lawns.

POLICE COURT.

DUNK.

WEDNESDAY, July 29.—John Strain was charged with having been drunk. He was remanded until Friday, the 31st, on account of the non-appearance of witnesses.

The Government Building.

Mr. E. Phelan has returned from Ottawa and states that the lot on the corner of George and Charlotte streets has been selected for the new post office.

Baseball.

Members of the Peterborough Baseball Club who wish to see something out of the regular order of things should be present at the regular practice in Riverside Park this evening.

Madison Decoration Day.

A number of Oddfellows were to Lindsay from Peterborough on Tuesday to be present at the first decoration day ceremonies in that town. The programme was carried out in a most satisfactory manner, and the affair was completely successful.

Steamer Golden-Eye.

Don't forget that Thursday is cheap excursion day to Idyl Wild and Harwood. Return fare, only 60 cents. The steamer will leave the wharf at 8 a.m., and run straight to Idyl Wild and Harwood, leaving again at 4 o'clock, giving lots of time for fishing, sailing and bathing. She also runs on every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Personnel.

Mr. John E. Boyle, press representative for John B. Doris' 3-ring circus and 50-cage menagerie, is stopping at the Grand Central Hotel during his stay in town, while transacting business for the appearance of his great Inter-Ocean Circus in Peterborough, on Thursday, August 13th.

Mr. H. Constable, of Alexandria, Ont., lately publisher and proprietor of the Gleaner Review, is in Peterborough and called at the REVIEW office this morning.

Peterborough Dry Goods Palace.

Fair, Van Every & Co. are opening many new lines from Europe, much in demand and scarce at this season. Their stock is now very large and complete, comprising novelties, all kinds and qualities of dry goods, millinery, etc., at marvellously low prices. You can rely on getting a good assortment and most decided bargains at the "Golden Lion." They are clearing all remnants and summer goods in order to make room for their extended fall importations.

A Pleasant Day's outing.

The Charlotte Street Methodist Church Sunday School held their annual excursion and picnic on Tuesday. The day was exceptionally fine, and when the Golden-Eye moved out from her mooring at the Wolfe street wharf there were between three hundred and fifty and four hundred people on board. An early sail down the river brought the excursionists to Campbelltown at about 12 o'clock. Dinner was produced and after a hearty meal by all, sports and games were held. The boys engaged in lacrosse, baseball and football matches, and many also participated in the various races the management of which, Mr. A. L. Davis, the superintendent of the Sunday School, took efficient charge. A large part of the picnicers enjoyed themselves in strolling through the beautiful grove, situated at the edge of the river, while others who had sailed down indulged themselves in picking water lilies. The boat left on the return trip at about 4.30, and on the way up tea was taken. The boat arrived at the wharf at about nine o'clock. The excursion and picnic, besides being successful in every other way, was also a financial success, forty-five dollars having been made after all expenses were paid. To the ladies who conducted the ice cream and lemonade stands so successfully this large surplus is due. The picnic was without doubt the best ever held under the auspices of this Sunday school.

HASTINGS.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Roland Hughes met with a severe accident on Thursday at Havelock by a beam falling on him, fracturing an arm, at least that was the extent of the injury which the medical man who was called in could discover. On Mr. Hughes being brought home, one of our medical friends found that he was also suffering from fracture of several ribs. We trust Roland will soon be around again.

A CASE OF LEPIDODERM.—At an early hour (2 p.m.) on Monday morning our quiet village was aroused by the clanging of the church bell intermingled with the startling cries of "Fire, fire!" The glare of the flames indicated the locality, and on rushing to the spot it was discovered that an immense pile of flour barrel staves, the property of Messrs. Fowles & Mills, was in a blaze. That it was the work of an incendiary there can be no doubt, and the accidental effect of his evil deed was so great. So serious was the blaze over the whole pile that it was quite evident that one of the staves was burning, as the entire pile, 150,000, was one about of burning, roaring flame. The loss is estimated at $800, on which there is an insurance of $400.—Star.

Killed Through an Assault.

HAMILTON, July 28.—Calab Moore, who, over two months ago was assaulted near the Market square here, and received serious injuries about the head, was brought up from the Toronto hospital Monday and taken home. This afternoon he was admitted to the city hospital again. He is almost hopelessly blind. Jas. Shaw, who was arrested for the assault, is out on bail to appear when called upon. It will be a long time before Moore will be able to prosecute.

"Laugh and Grow Fat."

Is a precept easily preached, but not so easy to practice. If a person has no appetite, but a distressing nausea, sick headache, dyspepsia, bile, or any other ill resulting from inaction of the bowels, it is impossible to get up such a laugh as will produce a permanent cure. In order to laugh merrily you must be well, and to be well you must have your bowels in good order. You can do this and laugh heartily with Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," the little regulation of the liver and bowels and best promoters of health.

Here several games of pool were played and considerable liquor drunk. The man left the saloon without paying for some of the games.

Outside they got into a cab and returned to the saloon. Gibson asked John Warden to settle.

The latter said he was not "stuck," and would pay for nothing. It is said that Gibson then remarked: "Well, then, you'll not get out of this room until you do. The man clenched and fought, but it is not now known who struck the first blow or how many were struck. John

Warden left the room after the fight pretty well beaten up about the head. When he reached his home he had several bruises on it. The police home his wife had to undress him. Tuesday morning he became unconscious, and remained in that state until he died next morning.

Warden visited a great deal before he died.

His body had several bruises on it. The police did not hear of the affair until Wednesday at 2

REGINA, N.W.T., July 29.—Mrs. Roy, of

They are now engaged conversing with him in his cell. To-night it is their intention to visit

Riel at the barracks, when they expect to be able to form an opinion regarding the state of Riel's mind. Doctor Dods, of Regina, who has examined Riel several times, is an expert in England, and is associated with the others.

The counsel for the crown expect to get through with the case to-morrow.

Foundsmen and the other Indian trials will follow immediately afterwards.

The case, as presented by the crown yesterday, was terrible convincing, and the defence admit,

it is sufficient to convict.

English Barristers and the Law Society.

L. J. de Souza, an English barrister, appeared in person with a petition for leave to appeal from a refusal to allow him to practice as a barrister before the courts of the Province of Ontario. The point was whether a barrister could so practice without having been previously admitted by the law society of Upper Canada. Mr. de Souza argued that the court had power to admit barristers to practice without the intervention of the law society. Lord

Watson said their lordships considered it an exceedingly plain case. The statutes conferred on an English barrister a right to be duly admitted as a member of the law society of Upper Canada, but they gave no other privileges. It was therefore impossible to ascertain the application.—London Observer.

A CUNNING TRICK.

In its long account of the late session of the Parliament of Canada, the Globe, among a host of other misstatements, repeats the falsehood that Mr. Mills extracted from Sir John Macdonald the confession that it was his intention to extend the right of voting to enfranchised Indians in all the Provinces, and that in the event of representation being given to the Northwest Territories, Poundmaker, Big Bear and all the other savages would be duly qualified electors. This is absolutely false. At first we thought that Mr. Mills' question was only one of his usual impudent interruptions. But Sir John was stating that Indians would have votes when possessed of the same qualification as white men, even though they maintained their tribal relation. Mr. Mills queried: "What, Poundmaker?" and Sir John answered: "Yes," and so with similar queries. Of course to anyone not grossly ignorant of the English language, or as grossly dishonest, this could not possibly convey any other meaning than that the Indians named would have votes if possessing the qualification provided in the bill for white electors.

It is a mere paltry quibble to pretend that it has any other meaning, and as dishonest as paltry.

We repeat what we have before stated, that it is the educated and industrious Indian votes of his own constituency, not the wild Indians of the plains, of whom Mr. Mills is so terribly afraid.

A REFORM contemporary says that "Mr. Mowat's majorities always grow." It may not be good English to say that Mr. Mowat's majorities sometimes grow, but it would be true, and in no other way could the statement quoted be made to agree with the facts. Mr. Mowat's majority was reduced by the last general election.

It seems that the fanatical leader of the Arabs in the Sudan is really dead. When the report was telegraphed to this country a few days ago it was doubted, but it is now generally believed. Whether Osman Digma or Khalifa Abdool will take command of the followers of the late Mahdi and cause further trouble remains to be seen.

The Last Stand at Majuba.

The whole Boer force was turned on the last point of defence in the left rear. There the men were crowded behind a clump of stones, but the officers made them extend to the right and left, lest they should be outflanked. Our direct rear at one part was held by only 30 men; luckily, the ground there was so steep that the Boers were unable to scale it. Above all their efforts were buried against the left. "Men of the 92nd Highlanders, don't forget your bayonets!" cried Major Fraser. Col. at Stewart called on the men of the 58th, and Captain Wainwright on the 1st Buffs. The 92nd, and all did their duty steadily and well. In some places the Boers were seen, a thick line in mouth, taking pot shots quietly, as they do when practising at pumpkins rolling down a hill. Nearer and nearer the fatal column of death was closing round the devoted band on the hill of Majuba, and through the smoke the officers were seen doing their utmost to urge the defence. In the centre of a group that held the knoll was seen Sir George Colley, animating the men and behaving in the most resolute manner, though one by one they quickly dropped around him. While fired bayonets, and shot and shrapnel, at last, formed in a semicircle, our men continued firing while ammunition began to fail. Many more would have been spared to succour them. The Boers at last reaching a few men who held the true front, the latter brought their bayonets to the charge, but beyond striking distance, and all save three were shot down where they stood. With the General there were barely 100 men of the main body left. The advanced line had been long since shot down or driven in upon the last or main position—this has been described as being about 200 yards long by 50 broad—where the whole survivors now lined the rim of the basin with fixed bayonets to repel the assailants. The Boers, with fierce and exultant shouts, swarmed up the side of the hill, and made furious attempts to carry it at a rush, but each time were driven back by the bayonets, many of which were fired with blood. After such a rush, the firing, which ceased during the melee, broke out with renewed fury, and again the air became alive with whistling bullets. All at once Sir George Colley was seen to throw his arms above his head, to reel slightly forward, and fall dead, shot through the brain, and then all was lost!

From British Press.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A DIFFICULT QUESTION. It is possible to imagine a Conservative member of Parliament doing anything which would please the Globe, short of committing suicide.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

A FORCED CONFESSION. We frankly acknowledge that taking the experience of other campaigns as our guide in estimating the probable outcome of the disturbance we have been mistaken in our forecasts, and most agreeably so.—Toronto Globe (Reform).

HAS A GREAT DEAL TO LEARN. What chance is there in the Globe's eternally recurring Nationalist Policy men with the crime of importing goods? The Globe editors must yet have to learn what national policy means. They must be merely on the threshold of their political education.—Toronto World (Indep.)

A TRIBUTE. The country in paying Dr. Bergin and other M. P.'s their Parliamentary salaries for the time they were in the Northwest has only done what many private employers have done gratuitously to their own credit. It is significant tribute to the merits of the Government when the lending organ of the Opposition is reduced to the necessity of carping at such things as these.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

THE SHORT LINE. Messrs. Angus, Burpee, Bourassa, Gillmor, Irvine, Weldon and Wells, all stalwart Reformers, voted for the new short line to the Maritime Provinces. Had these gentlemen believed that the proposed grant was, as some of the Reform prints describe it, "a straight steal," surely they would not have supported it. Messrs. Blake and Mills shirked the vote on this question. Surely if these distinguished patriots had regarded the subsidy as "a straight steal," they would have raised their voices and recorded their votes against it.—Toronto Mail.

A SLAP AT THE "GLOBE."

It is stated that the government intends to make the position of surgeon general in the Canadian militia, filled by Dr. Bergin, M. P., during the Northwest campaign, a permanent one. Some of the newspapers have shown a disposition to ridicule a $500 or $600 uniform which the doctor has imported from England. They show very bad taste. If he is to be surgeon general he is entitled to wear the proper uniform and it is none of their business how much he spends upon it.—Brookville Recorder (Reform).

A ROSY OUTLOOK.

Accounts from all sections of the Dominion point so an abundant harvest, and foreign advice indicates that our surplus will find a better market in Great Britain than was had in the crop year just closing. The conditions of trade are decidedly hopeful. Money is cheap and abundant; credit has been sparingly taken for two or three years past; business failures are not numerous; income and expenditure have been equalized; surplus earnings are again possible, and are finding their way into bank; railway construction is being resumed with considerable vigour in the North West; the disturbance to trade caused by the rapid decline in price of staples is passing away; a harvest is assured; and altogether the outlook is full of encouragement. No "boom," indeed, can be anticipated, but there is ground for expecting decidedly better prospects for the better than the last and latest considerations.—Montreal Gazette.

COPYRIGHT LAWS.

The Government of the Dominion of Canada has just answered in the negative a petition presented by the Toronto Trades and Labour Council, in which it was asked that the copyright laws of the Dominion might be changed. The point of the petition was that under existing laws the book publishers of Canada could not compete with Americans, who are not bound to respect, and, to do them justice, very rarely do respect the rights of foreign authors. The Government are not permitted to carry on the business of book piracy; at least, not against English authors and the royalties they would be compelled to pay them amount to a positive prohibition. What they asked was that their own laws might be so altered as to give them the same freedom of action that American book publishers enjoy, and so place them on an equal footing. The reply was a decided negative, one reason alleged, among others, being that the law, as it now stands, prevents the Canadian market being flooded with American pirated reprints of British authors. Moreover, it was stated that if such a bill should be passed by the Dominion Parliament the assets of the Crown would probably be refused. The reasoning is sound, irrefragable; but it is to be hoped that the time will soon come when the reproach to Americans that it contains no law to be removed. Why it should be that the most enlightened class of our own people, those who delight most in literature, should not urge more strongly than they yet have done a copyright law which would protect the rights of authors on both sides of the Atlantic, almost passes comprehension. The outrageous dishonesty of the present system ought to work its speedy overthrow.—St. Louis Globe.

A Novel Form of Female Emancipation.

American ingenuity is said to have devised a method of emulating the skins of fashionable women which suspicion asserts to have found favor with the daughters of Eve on this side of the ocean also. The process is widely different from that pursued by the followers of Madame Rachel in their efforts to confer eternal beauty on their persons, and in some respects its advantages over the latter proceeding are considerable. It comprises three stages: in the first, the shoulders and arms and other parts to be beautified are well rubbed with rose-water, which is next wiped off, and the second application made with cold cream, a thick layer of this being allowed to remain on the skin for five minutes. After this has been rubbed off, the surface is next covered with violet powder, and a process of "polishing" is then gone through, at the end of which the parts so treated present the appearance of polished marble, a beautifully delicate texture given to the skin. It is quite conceivable that the results may be as desired, and that the skin will be rendered supple and delicate under such a regime is highly probable, while the harmfulness of the process is exceedingly slight, as compared with the violent process of "enamelling" as hitherto understood. So long as fashion approves the weakness of forcing an appearance of beauty by artificial means it is hopeless to expect that the resources of chemistry will be neglected; but it is always a matter for congratulation when the methods adopted for "assisting" nature are not in themselves destructive of health; and this last circumstance seems to be an improvement in this direction. Medical Press and Circular.

Good Advice to Many Girls.

If young ladies, through association with young men whose limited education and poverty of ideas compel the use of slang in lieu of correct expressions, comprehended the meaning of many of the terms thus put into their innocent mouths they would be shocked at the vulgarity of their conversation. Almost without exception words and phrases popularly denominated "slang" are drawn from the slums; they are the invention of the most degraded elements of human society, and should be avoided by persons with any pretensions to refinement and gentility.—Little Rock Gazette.

MUSKALONGE BRANDY.

Some of the Willy Tricks of the Smugglers of Old on the St. Lawrence.

"There was an old man down the river some years ago of the name of Gregg; he's dead and gone now, and has left no relatives, so it won't hit anyone to let out on him," said a river boatman to a New York Sun representative the other day. "But when you talk about genius as a smuggler he was right there. He took to it from the first. He was rocked in a smuggled cradle and dozed with smuggled medicine, and it grew into him. I'll give you a sample. You know in the winter about here the river freezes up solid, so that teams can go all over from the lake to the rapid, and when the mercury gets down among the twenties it makes things uncomfortable for green hands if they happen to be revenue officers. But this sort of winter weather was just the kind that old man Gregg liked. It was a cold day when they nabbed him. You could make a sure guess that every snow storm would see more or less brandy brought over, and the way he fixed it was this: Knowing that an ordinary team would be seen on the snow and ice when a long way off, he always started out with a white horse, a sleigh painted the same color, and wearing a white rubber coat and hat, so that on the ice he looked like a great snow heap only for the motion. They say that the officers often passed him so close that he could hear their breathing.

Once when the old man was taken sick some one went to his place, and in fooling around the team found four or five thousand yards of rubber piping. One line smelled of kerosene and the other of liquor. It was concluded that he had tried to force kerosene over into Canada through one pipe, and to draw Canadian brandy into the United States with the other. It was a big scheme, but I guess it didn't work.

"One day the old man was seen hauling ice on the river. He was coming up from Chimney Island. Up he goes to his ice house unloaded, and straight off after another load. One of the officers thought it was queer for him to go so far for ice when he had it right along his own dock yard, so he stopped on the sled, and they started off together. The old man gave him a ride down to Chippewa Bay, then over to the other side, covering 40 miles in all with the thermometer at ten below zero. When the officer got home that night he was so stiff he nearly broke in two when he tried to get off the sled. He said that old Gregg was the most particular man for ice he ever saw. He'd taken a block here and there all down and up the river. But there were people that knew the old man's dodge, which was to have a brandy frozen into snow ice and out into blocks and piled so that no one would suspect it in the world. Some loads of ice would clear the old man $50 or $100 in brandy.

"In the old times, and not so many years ago," continued the speaker, "the boatmen had plenty of clever dodges and cute tricks to get ahead of the officers with. One man used to come in with his fat fish as long as the corner of the officers got after him. An officer came down one day, and while looking at the fish, took up an oar and hit him a big muskallonge a crack. Then there was a crash, and the smell of smug-gled brandy rose on the air. The chap had had a big bottle of good old brandy in the fish. Talk about peach brandy, but that was muskallonge brandy."

She Wouldn't Do for a Minister.

A carping old woman once said to her pastor, "Dear me, ministers make' muckle ado about their hard work; but what's two bit o' sermon in the week to mak' up; I could do it myself!" "Well, Janet," said the minister good humoredly, "let's hear you try." "Come away" with a text, then, quoth she. He repeated with emphasis, "I will never do for a minister." "And what for no?" said she. "Because, Janet, you come over soon to the application."

The anti-neur had just disposed of a broken-down cook stove, and he enquired who bought it.

"Charge it to Mrs. Doe," called out a woman in the crowd.

"Whose Mrs. Doe?" asked the auctioneer.

"I am," replied the woman.

"Well, we don't know you. What's your full name?" Mrs. Doe—ain't enough. How do you spell it?"

"D—e—e," she repeated slowly, and the auctioneer fell off the box.—Merchant Traveler.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Personal.
 Mr. B. Earle, of the Collegiate Institute, has gone for a week's vacation near Lake Simcoe.

The Park.
 The Driving Park will be open to the public to-morrow evening, when a scratch match will be played between eleven twelve from the members of the lacrosse club. On Monday and Wednesday of next week the first week will practice, when all are invited to go down and see them.

Fire Alarm.
 On Wednesday evening at about nine o'clock a fire alarm was sounded. Some one passing along Simcoe street saw smoke from a pile of burning refuse back of Armstrong's saddlery, it-coming through the stores. An alarm was given, but a few pails of water doused out the heap of burning rubbish. The firemen were promptly at hand, but their services were not required. The rubbish was taken from some of the dry goods stores in the vicinity and was being disposed of in this manner.

Boat Race.
 A meeting of the Boat Race workers in this county was held at the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was not a large one, but was a representative one, there being workers from every part of the county present. It was decided, after due consideration, to go on with the campaign at once, and those present were instructed to canvass vigorously from this time. The necessary papers have been forwarded to the Secretary of State for the fixing of a date on which to take the vote.

A FRESH supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

Matches on Hand.
 The Peterborough nine play a return match with the Bthany baseballers in the Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon. Two weeks ago the little county fellows proved themselves to be no unequal match for the town blood, at the end of the ninth inning the score stood 18-7, in favor of the home nine. With this score the Bthany boys were not satisfied and on Saturday expect to make the work a little warmer for the Peterboroughs. On Tuesday next the formal opening of the Riverside Park will take place, when the Peterborough nine will play the Lindsay, the champions of the Midland district.

The Battery.
 The battery for the recently organized Peterborough Base Ball Club, Messrs. Fred J. O'Neill and Pat J. Sullivan, both of Hamilton, arrived in town on Wednesday. A hundred or so admirers of the game were in the Riverside Park in the evening to see O'Neill take Sullivan's swifter. The battery worked well together and was quite satisfactory. But it is well known that the Peterboroughs are deficient in batting, and this fault they showed in a remarkable degree Wednesday evening. Most of them retired with three strikes and it was just now and again that a ball would be sent out. The fielding, too, was not up to the mark. The nine are to face the Bthany on Saturday and if they don't get down to work the result of the match will be doubtful.

Curious Inscriptions.
 A day or two ago Mr. Carveth, the contractor for building the new spire on St. Peter's Cathedral, while up on almost the pinnacle of the old spire, came across some rather curious inscriptions. One of these were on the tin covering the ball, and read thus:—"O. R. Kendall, George Smith and James Carpenter put on this lightning rod on August 1st, 1837." The lightning rod referred to has stood in its place just about 25 years. Strange to say, the lightning seems to have struck the top of it, for it is melted off at the top and the molten metal has run down quite a distance like the grease of a burning candle. Another inscription was this one:—"Charles McCarthy, builder of this spire, 1846." A number of other names were found scratched on the tin and cut in the wood work.

Landowner's Mollie Bink To-Night.
 Don't fail to see the splendid performance of Miss Jessie Warts this evening. She took last night's visitors by storm. They went away astonished and delighted.

The U. S. Champions.
 Mr. Geo. H. Giroux, Secretary of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, has received a challenge from the champions of the United States, the St. Paul's Lacrosse Club. The St. Paul's want a match here during the latter part of August. It is probable that the challenge will be accepted.

The Weather.
 The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—
 Thermometer. Barometer.
 9 o'clock.....73.....29.12
 1 o'clock.....91.....29.11
 3 o'clock.....89.....29.10
 The thermometer once before this year registered 91° at noon.

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Variable winds, mostly southeast and southwest, generally fair weather, with showers or thunderstorms in a few places; not much change in temperature.

A Pleasant Trip.
 Capt. Kennedy, who is here on a short visit, and about a dozen of his friends, took a sail down the Outcubes on Wednesday as far as Faucher's Point. A very pleasant day was spent and the captain found many fresh beauties to admire on the banks of the river on the downward and upward trips. It is a good many years since the captain has had a sail on the old Outcubes.

New Goods.
 In the show case in the Hardware Store of Mr. Stebbins there is the finest lot of Ladies' and Sportmen's knives we have ever seen. We do not believe there is a store in the Dominion that has such a large assortment of elegantly finished Pocket Knives. Mr. Stebbins says they are made by Jno. Clark & Son, Sheffield, makers of the very fine razors, for which he is having so good a call just now, and who make only very fine goods.

New Pottery.
 Mr. Kingston's new pottery on the corner of Sherbrooke street and the Monaghan road, is now turning out goods in full blast. The pottery proper is a commodious frame building fitted with the requisite machinery for turning out all kinds of "round" ware. In the second flat there is stored away quite a stock of jars, crocks, etc., of all descriptions. In the yards outside are the clay vats. Mr. Joseph Sawdy is now engaged in building a circular brick pottery kiln. It will be twenty-four feet high, thirteen feet in diameter at the base, and will terminate in a pinnacle. Mr. Kingston procures the clay for manufacturing pottery ware from Mr. N. Leplante's farm below the locks, and judging from the goods made from it, the clay is of the right kind.

A Surprise to All.
 So little had been said in the Peterborough press regarding the previous career and performances of Miss Jessie Warts, the little lady who was announced to give an exhibition on roller skates at the Lansdowne Rink on Wednesday evening, that those who did see her were completely surprised. The handbills that were distributed throughout the town simply described her as the "Star of America," and what meaning the words is intended to convey we leave to the general reader to ponder, but one thing is certain, it there is a "star" on the American continent that can outshine Miss Jessie Warts in the art of fancy skating, then there must certainly be more skatorial marvels than Peterboroughites ever dreamed of before.

At 9 o'clock the floor was cleared, and the Fire Brigade Band struck up a lively set of quadrilles, to the inspiring tones of which the performer was to skate. When she made her appearance her small, lithe figure, and the pretty and modest manner in which she was dressed, together with her general appearance, gave rise to various comments as to her ability to give an exhibition such as would please, but before she was on the floor two minutes the surprised audience gave vent to their appreciative feelings in round after round of applause, as each difficult figure was successfully executed. Her performance on the skates with the hind rollers taken off simply held the assembly spellbound, as did also, in fact, every movement gone through during the exhibition. Miss Warts is by far the best attraction the Lansdowne Rink has had yet, being able to entirely eclipse the performance of the mute who appeared here a short time ago, and who claimed to be the champion of the world. To those who did not see her last night, we say by all means go this evening. It is her last appearance here.

Just received at Hamilton Hall, a fine lot of Men's Linen Coats, just the thing for hot weather. A. McNEIL.

New Rig.

The Peterborough steam biscuit and confectionery works has just put on the road a new light delivering rig, built by Messrs Porter Bros. of this town. Mr. Hall says it is the identical thing he wanted, being strong and serviceable, and runs with all the ease and comfort of a pleasure rig.

Peterborough Dry Goods Palace.
 Fair, Van Every & Co. are opening many new lines from Europe, much in demand and scarce at this season. Their stock is now very large and complete, comprising novelties, all kinds and qualities of dry goods, millinery, etc., at marvellously low prices. You can rely on getting a good assortment and most decided bargains at the "Golden Lion." They are clearing all remnants and summer goods in order to make room for their extended fall importations.

Just received another lot of Linen Damask Table Cloths and Napkins. Beautiful quality, but slightly imperfect, very cheap. J. KASSIRER.

A Fall.
 On Wednesday afternoon Mr. David Dolg's tinware express, to which was attached a horse, was standing on the northern end of Water street. Mr. Dolg was in a house and the horse stood quiet for a time. Then the animal took a notion to have a little exercise. It started on the run up street, scattering the tinware as it went. When nearly all the goods had been shook out of the express to the street, the equine again came to a halt, remained as before till its not at all pleased owner came up.

REVIEW

Correspondence of the Review.
 ACCIDENT.—While working on the roof of a barn in Dunsmuir on Tuesday last, Dush McIntyre, son of Mr. Dan McIntyre, of this place, fell to the ground among a number of large stones, which were intended for the foundation. He was badly shaken up, but is improving.

CAMPELLFORD.

REPAIRING A BRIDGE.—Workmen have been actively engaged during the week building new abutments for the bridge crossing Trout Creek, on the gravel road. The timbers of the old abutments were beginning to decay, and the structure was sinking beneath the level of the road. While the work has been in progress, teams have been driven through the creek above the bridge, and foot passengers have been accommodated with a plank walk across the stream below it.

NIGHT WORK IN WOOLLEN MILLS.—So heavy have been the orders for manufacture in the Trent Valley Woollen Mills of late, that it has been impossible to keep pace with them. To meet this demand and to "catch up" with the work, the employees have been summoned back to labor after their day's work is done, on extra time. We believe that this will continue about two hours and a half three nights a week until the strain is overcome, and business comes back to its former level.

CUT BY A SCYTHE.—One day last week two sons of Mr. Wm. Ivey, Seymour west, aged about 10 and 13 years, were out in the yard near the family residence, and the elder one was handling a scythe, cutting thistles. Among what he cut down was a milkweed, the flowing liquid of which interested the boys, and both drew near to look at it. A few minutes later the boy with the scythe told his brother to step aside and he would cut it again. Both acted accordingly, but the younger boy did not move far enough away, and the scythe came in contact with him and cut an ugly scab in the calf of his leg. The blade entered the flesh to the bone on one side and cut it open to the other side. The doctor was immediately summoned, who sewed up the cut and bled the boy. A large quantity of blood flowed from the wound, through the loss of which and the fright, the little fellow became very weak. —Herald.

Making War on Squaws.
 TOMERON, Arizona, July 29.—Parties from Sonora state that a company of Mexicans, led by the Prefect of Arizona, discovered a squaw camp in the Pinal mountains last week. The camp was attacked, and a number of squaws and a few old bucks were killed. Many of the former were captured by taking refuge in the mountains. They were undoubtedly the families of rascals trying to gain the reservation.

New Uses For Old Shoes.

It may be a surprise to some people to learn that the old shoes cast into the ash barrel are liable to re-appear in the boudoir and parlor. An inquisitive reporter who saw a couple of ragpickers quarrelling over a lot of worn out and seemingly worthless footwear interviewed one of the chaffociers and found that they sold them to the manufacturers of wall paper. He followed up the clue, and, on questioning the foreman of one of these establishments, elicited the following bits of information:—"We buy," said the foreman, "all the boots and shoes that the scavengers can bring us. We pay different prices for the different qualities of leather. A pair of fine calfskin will bring as high as fifty cents. We don't buy cowhide boots. The boots and shoes are first soaked in several waters to get the dirt off them. Then the nails and threads are removed, the leather is ground up into a fine pulp and is ready to use."

"The embossed leather paperings which have come into fashion lately, and the stamped leather fire screens, are really nothing but thick paper covered with a layer of this pressed leather pulp. The finer the quality of the leather the better it takes the bronze and old gold and other expensive colors in the designs painted on them. Thinkable as it may seem, they are going away back to medieval times when they have the walls of their libraries and dining rooms covered with embossed leather. They didn't know that the shoes and boots which their neighbors threw into the ash barrel a month before form the beautiful material on their walls and on the screens which protect their eyes from the fire."

"We could buy the old shoes cheaper if it were not for the competition from carriage makers and bookbinders and picture frame makers. I don't know how many other trades use old shoes and boots, but the tops of carriages are largely made of them, ground up and pressed into shape. Bookbinders use them in making the cheaper forms of leather bindings, and the new style of leather frames with leather mats in them are entirely made of the cast off covering of our feet." —Boston Transcript.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Another Excursion Coming.
 The Sons of St. Patrick, of Belleville, will run an excursion to Peterborough on Monday, Aug. 10th, the day of the Shamrock-Ontario Lacrosse match.

New Lacrosse Club.
 A new lacrosse club is to be formed this evening in Ashburnham. The lacrosse element in that village are to form themselves into an organized body, and when their first dozen gets down to work, no doubt they will give a good account of themselves.

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Variable winds, mostly north and west, continued fine weather, not much change in temperature.

 1 o'clock.....82.....29.15
 3 o'clock.....80.....29.15
 This is the hottest day that has been this summer.

On the Civic Holiday.
 On Peterborough's civic holiday an excursion to Niagara Falls will be held under the auspices of the Fire Brigade. The holiday will be on Tuesday, July 31st. A more pleasant and profitable way of spending the day than visiting the world renowned falls could not be devised. It is expected that the excursion will be largely attended, and it should be.

A Fresh Supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

A Queer Looking Weapon.
 An odd implement of warfare is now on exhibition in the bar of the Canadian Pacific Railway Hotel. It consists of a grotesquely formed battle axe, or the head of a battle axe, and was brought from Upper Egypt by Captain Kennedy, who has recently returned from that country. The axe has five blades, two branching out immediately above the handle, and three more flat prongs are at the end of the continuation of the shaft from the handle. The blades are all finished with concave grinding, and altogether it is an article worth seeing.

Grand Military Ball.
 A grand military ball will be held in the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Thursday evening, August 6th, under the auspices of Company G, of the Midland Battalion. As is well known, the Lansdowne is one of the most commodious places in Canada to hold any such event. The floor is large enough to accommodate hundreds of dancers and the appointments, such as dressing rooms, illumination, etc., are of the best order. On the evening of the 6th of August the whole rink will be superbly decorated with military emblems and souvenirs brought from the Northwest. It is expected that a large number will be here from Lindsay, Campbellford, Port Hope, Cobourg, and other places where companies composing the Midland Battalion were organized. The officers will appear in full military uniform and the band of the 87th Battalion will be in attendance in full numbers.

THE A. C. A. MEETING.

From Our Own Correspondent.
 A. C. A. CAMP, GRINDSTONE ISLAND, July 30th.—As additional members arrive both the main camp of the A. C. A. and "Squaw Point" are growing till they are now quite populous. They present a very picturesque appearance, with their groups of tents of all shapes and sizes and several colours, with the liberal display of bunting before them, national flags, Association and club bunting, and private signals, all standing out in bold relief against the verdant foliage or the green hill side.

Along the shores are canoes of every known variety, and with every conceivable rig. The Ontario Canoe Factory craft are largely represented, even among the clubs from the United States. On the water white sails gleam in every direction, and the flash of the double and single paddles strike the eye. In the evening the lights of the camp fires and of lanterns are equally effective until the moon rises and dims all lesser luminaries.

On Monday
 THE GANANOQUE BAND came over with a number of visitors, and having serenaded the camp, they landed and played excellent music on the hill in front of the headquarters.

Several additional clubs are now represented in camp, and those that came early have received accessions to their numbers. Among the later arrivals is the New York C. C.

At "Quaw Point," the last arrivals are the Rev. Mr. Neide with his wife and daughter, and Mr. Mrs. and Miss Seavey. It is to be hoped that Mr. Seavey will this year repeat his photographs of the camp and its various details, those of the last meeting being greatly admired.

So far there have been no general camp fires, as the beautiful nights invite moonlight paddling, but all acquaintances are renewed and reminiscences exchanged by the fire at the different camps.

There is every indication of a most successful meeting. Those Peterborough members of the A. C. A. who could not spend the whole fortnight in camp would not regret joining it for the second week, when there will be a full assembly and when the association races, the canoe review and the illuminated parades will take place, and the camp fire with its songs will be in full swing.

Smith's Market.
 Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables. Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, hams and bacon.

Lansdowne Bank Room.
 Remember that to-night the fortnightly race comes off at the Lansdowne Roller Rink. Prof. Kerr will give an exhibition of fancy skating. Band in attendance. Admission, ladies 5 cents, gents 10 cents.

Bill of Fare
 At the Rochester Fruit Store. Black Raspberries, Cherries, Watermelons, Muskmelons, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Apples, Black Currants, Red Currants, Plums, Pears, Green Corn and Garden Vegetables of all kinds. E. G. Stone, Proprietor.

Go and See Them.
 The new battery from Hamilton will officiate in the baseball match to-morrow afternoon between the Bethanys and Peterboroughs. The match will be played in the Riverside Park, to commence at 3 o'clock. Admission, 15 cents, ladies free. Ample grand stand accommodation free to all.

New Goods.
 In the show case in the Hardware Store of Mr. Stethem there is the finest lot of Ladies' and Sportmen's knives we have ever seen. We do not believe there is a store in the Dominion that has such a large assortment of elegantly finished Pocket Knives. Mr. Stethem says they are made by Geo. Clark & Son, Sheffield, makers of the very fine razors, for which he is having so good a call just now, and who makes only very fine goods.

The Stone Works.
 The building of the Powell & Jones Stone Works is being vigorously prosecuted. The foundations have all been built and on Monday the brickwork will be commenced. The contract for the brickwork has been let to Mr. John J. Hartley, and this is a sufficient guarantee that the job will be completed at the shortest possible date. Several thousand dollars worth of the plant has already arrived at the Ontario and Quebec station. While the work of building progresses the machinery will be placed in position, and the moulding floors will be made. It is expected that the new factory will be in operation early in the fall. By reference to another column it will be seen that Mr. Hartley wishes to engage a number of bricklayers.

Three Holidays.
 August 10th, 11th, and 12th will be big days in Peterborough. On the first date the lacrosse tournament under the auspices of the local organization will be held and it is expected to elicit every former effort of the kind. The match between the senior Shamrocks with the Ontario will be the chief feature. Excursions will be run from Toronto, Montreal and Orillia, under the auspices of the clubs of those places, and the St. Patrick's Society of Belleville will run an excursion from the Bay City. On the 11th the Civic Holiday will be held. Excursions will be run to Niagara Falls and Belleville and it is expected that the Peterborough baseballers will play with the Uxbridge in the Riverside Park for the Midland district championship. On the 12th a circus is billed and a citizens excursion from Belleville and a large excursion from Brantford will visit town on that day.

Just received at Hamilton Hall, a fine lot of Mrs. L. L. Coats, just the thing for hot weather. A. McNEIL.

FARQUHARSON THE FRAUD.

Operations of the Man Who Robbed the Munster Bank.

DUBLIN, July 30.—Farquharson took the money after the suspension of the Munster Bank. He had been in the service of the bank for twelve years. The almost crazed shareholders have offered a large reward for his apprehension. He possibly caught a Baltic steamer early on Wednesday. The warrant of arrest is for the specific sum of $50,000. This sum he entered as having been remitted to the Union Bank of London. The entry was a lie. The first suspicion was when the official examiner on Tuesday found a half-crazed post entry. While talking about this Farquharson left the room on a plausible pretext, and took a cab to his house in Leeson park. He hurriedly took a pair of boots and overcoat and drove away. Farquharson did not live extravagantly, but speculated heavily. He was the director of several companies, notably a distillery company. He was engaged to marry a wealthy Dublin lady named Ferguson, and had bought a house in Leeson park for $25,000. The highest confidence was reposed in him. He had been proposed an official liquidator of the bank. The reward placards describe him as 40 years old, five feet six, of average build, dark hair and whiskers, mouth slightly tinged with gray, fresh complexion, dark eyes, prominent white front teeth, walks with a stoop, elegantly dressed; a native of Scotland. Two years ago $4,000 in gold was stolen from the bank safe. A clerk named Lodge was charged, tried and acquitted. Farquharson was the only other man who had a safe key. There is no doubt now that he was the culprit.

The committee which is enquiring into the affairs of the Munster bank reports that Farquharson willfully prevented the Bank of Ireland from advancing to the Munster bank a desired loan which would have enabled it to tide over the crisis by refusing to give the Bank of Ireland securities entrusted to him with which to obtain credit and upon which the Bank of Ireland had decided to lend. The police traced the defaulting manager to North Wall, whence he departed for Holyhead.

Just received another lot of Linen Damask Table Cloths and Napkins. Beautiful quality, but slightly imperfect, very cheap. J. ESKRINE.

THE CIVIC HOLIDAY.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In looking over the columns of the Morning Times of today, I observed with no little degree of surprise that the Town Council had again changed the date of the civic holiday in Peterborough to the 11th of August. Now, sir, this has been done contrary to the wishes of those who so largely signed the petition to Mayor Cox, asking him to appoint Monday, August 10th, as the day. This is carrying things a little too far to suit me, and doubtless others who signed the petition for the 10th, will do so they intended doing, and also up their respective business places on Monday and open up on Tuesday as usual. Such is my intention notwithstanding the action of the Council.

Yours truly,
 HUNTER STREET MERCHANT.
 July 31st, 1886.

A Handsome Block.
 Mr. Jas. Stevenson put a force of men to work last summer to overhaul and improve his block of buildings on the corner of George and Hunter streets. The finishing touches were put on yesterday, and the block is to-day among the handsomest in Peterborough. A new mansard roof, slated, has been constructed all the way round and a conical tower, about thirty-five feet high, has been built on the corner. The whole facade, both on Hunter and George streets, have been given three coats of red paint and block lined. Galvanized iron window casings of an appropriate design have been placed over every window and each one has been painted and sanded. The cornices and trimmings are finished in maroon and the ornamental cresting, which runs round the mansard roof is finished in blue and gold. The painting has been done in a very neat manner by Mr. T. McGrath.

DOMINION DASHES.

Mike Hushon, for many years a well known popular conductor on the Grand Trunk railway, died at St. Joseph's hospital, Guelph, on Thursday morning.

A grand demonstration, including an illumination of fireworks, was held in honor of Col. Ousmet, of the 66th battalion, at St. Rose, Montreal, Wednesday night. About 5,000 people were present.

D. McIntyre, principal of one of the public schools, has been appointed inspector of the Winnipeg public schools at a salary of $1,600. There were some 50 applicants for the position from all parts of the Dominion.

A woman named Lavis, while a patient of the Hotel Dieu hospital, Montreal, stole several articles of wearing apparel and other property of the hospital. When arrested she implicated another patient, who was also arrested. She is well known to the police and entered the institution for no other purpose than robbery.

 If you want a glass of Lebeche's prize medal fine ale (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Parlor Restaurant. This ale has received four gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

ECHOES FROM ABERDEEN.

Events That have Occurred During the Past Few Days.

Samuel Graham was brought up before His Worship Justice Wood on Tuesday for using insulting language towards Constable Craig.

His Worship heard the statements given and found Samuel guilty. Five dollars was the amount contributed.

SHORT LIVES.

On Tuesday evening the wife of a villager gave birth to a pair of twins—a boy and a girl.

One of them died the same night and the other passed away on Wednesday.

WANDERING GHOST.

Constable Craig seems to be having considerable trouble on the goose question. A few days ago he spied a flock meandering around and spied after them. A passing urchin who foresaw the probable fate of the feathery flock, drove them into the mill race and off they sailed down the stream. The Constable was more successful subsequently, for he caught the same flock out again and promptly impounded them.

LOCK AND BRIDGE WORKS.

A Description of the New Building that is being Erected.

Now that the by-law exempting the lock works from taxation for a term of years has been passed, and another is being prepared for the exempting of the Central Bridge Works extension, the new building to accommodate these industries will be erected with all reasonable haste.

The new building will have a frontage of 35 feet, a depth of 90 feet, and will be situated between the present bridge and lock works and

Mr. G. W. Hall's biscuit and confectionery works. The building will be three stories and a half high, and will have walls 17 inches thick from the first flat and 13 inches thick from the other flats.

The first flat will be an extension of the Central Bridge Works, while the other flats will be completed by the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company. The entrances of the front and rear of the first flat will have iron doors and iron columns. The entrances will be "open" so that a team of horses may be driven in and out of the other. Cedar sills will be placed under the floor instead of joists, so that the

The Prisoner Addresses the Jury—The Trial Nearly Closed.

REIL, July 31.—In the Reil trial to-day the evidence was concluded this evening by calling

Capt. Young, Gen. Middleton, and the prison

Mr. Fitzpatrick addressed the jury for the defence.

Reil followed with an hour's speech in Eng-ments in proof. He said he did not believe he was insane when in Beaupre Asylum, and wondered they did not bring the Superintendent

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Excursion from Lindsay.

The Lindsay Base Ball Club are to run an excursion to Peterborough on Tuesday, the day of the match for the championship of the Midland District. It is expected that a large number will come down to see the game.

Again in its Place.

The big golden horse shoe taken down from across the door of the City Clothing Store some months ago has been again elevated to its place. The emblem of good luck is a fitting sign for this establishment.

Well Done.

The Lindsay Post says:—"The Peterborough cricket club is in great form this year. On Monday they played the Montreal club at Peterborough—and were beaten by only one run. Well done, Peterborough."

Tuesday, August 11th.

Do you really want to enjoy the Civic Holiday? If so, join the excursionists to Belleville and Massena Park. A quick run, a delightful sail and a cheap day's outing. Starts 81. Home at 8 p.m. Train leaves at 7.30 a.m.

A FINE supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

The Floral Offerings.

Speaking of the floral offerings sent by the ladies of Peterborough and the Town Council to adorn Col. Williams' bier, the Lindsay Post says they were "beautiful, elegant and appropriate and quite equal in point of beauty to the best effort from Toronto or Montreal hands and well worthy of the important town which kindly sent these mementoes of respect to the dead soldier."

Weekly Inspection.

Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer, and P. O. Adams, Sanitary Inspector, made their weekly inspection of the town slaughter houses on Friday. These places were found to be in a fair condition. The butchers this year are exerting themselves to keep down any offensive odor, and they have been more successful this summer than last in doing so. The sanitary condition generally of the town is better than it was last year.

Turnbull is now showing 2,100 yards of new print in 100 different patterns, good value at 12 1/2 cents, but selling at 10.

Personal.

Messrs. Charles Paisley and Hugh Ross have purchased the stock and the good will of the business of Mr. J. D. Anderson, the well known Montreal clothier, and will shortly take possession. Mr. Paisley has long been a resident of Peterborough, and his many friends though wishing him success, a large share of which he is worthy, will no doubt regret his departure from Peterborough. Mr. Ross has proved himself successful in the capacities both of cutter and of conducting an establishment for himself. We join in wishing Messrs. Paisley & Ross success in their new venture.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

In anticipation of the increased poverty and suffering, which, owing to the late rebellion, must inevitably prevail amongst the Indian families of our Northwest, the executive committee of St. Paul's auxiliary of the above society have agreed to send a box of clothing suitable for the approaching winter season. They hereby notify the members of the W. F. M. S., the congregation worshipping in St. Paul's church and other friends, that contributions for this purpose will be most thankfully received in any of the following articles:—Cast off woollen clothing (not too much worn), woollen underwear of all sizes and both sexes, but especially for children, that they may go to school; jackets, coats, shirts, stockings, socks, yarn, cloths, mufflers and mitts. The box must leave Peterborough on August 15th. Contributions marked "For Indians of N. W." will be received by Mr. Stewart, sexton of St. Paul's Church, at his home in Street.

For a Nobby Summer Suit, try ANDREW MCNEIL.

Civic Holiday Excursion.

Look out for the grand excursion to Belleville on the Civic Holiday. Tickets $1.00 for two days. Wait for particulars.

Vital Statistics.

The vital statistics as taken from the record kept by the Town Clerk are as follows:—
 Births.....19
 Marriages.....13
 Deaths.....8

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables, Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, game and bacon.

Bill of Fare.

At the Rochester Fruit Store. Black Raspberries, Cherries, Water-melons, Muskmelons, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Apples, Black Currants, Red Currants, Plums, Peas, Green Corn and Garden Vegetables of all kinds. E. G. Stacey, Proprietor.

A Garden Party.

Will be held in the beautiful grounds of Thos. Bradburn, Esq., on Tuesday evening next, the 4th instant, in aid of the organ fund of the George Street Methodist Church. All the fruits of the season, ice cream, lemonade, &c., will form part of the refreshments. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Admission 10 cents. This entertainment will be the continuation of that of a fortnight ago, which was unfortunately broken up by the rain storm.

New Goods.

In the show case in the Hardware Store of Mr. Stethem there is the finest lot of Ladies' and Sportmen's knives we have ever seen. We do not believe there is a store in the Dominion that has such a large assortment of elegantly finished Pocket Knives. Mr. Stethem says they are made by Jno. Clark & Son, Sheffield, makers of the very fine razors, for which he is having so good a call just now, and who makes only very fine goods.

Another fresh stock of low priced Gingham, just received at Turnbull's.

Trouble in Navigation.

Several complaints have been made in regard to the accumulation of sawdust in the river. A few days ago the Golden Eye was stuck at the locks in a bed that had accumulated, and the water in the river is now several inches lower than the metre all of the locks in consequence of this bed. The east channel of the river at the entrance to Rice Lake is nearly choked up, and the western one is rapidly filling up. The matter should be looked into.

A Popular Polka.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—"Peterborough has long been noted for its musical talent, it was therefore not surprising to find one of our fair musicians appear as a composer. The Hatoche Polka, by Miss Annie Delaney, has just been issued, and is spoken of in the highest terms by competent judges. What competent judges say, and the people say are frequently two different things, for a piece may be very fine from a competent judge point of view, and not be worth a shuck to dance to. That is not the case with the Hatoche Polka. It is bright, dashing, well marked and full of soul to the dancer. It is certain to become popular and hold a lasting reputation."

Hotel Notes.

Mr. Jas. Martin is again in his place behind the bar of Chamberlain's Hotel.
 Mr. J. F. McIntyre, of the Oriental, will will shortly pay a visit to his branch hotel in Creek, Nebraska. During his absence the Oriental will be under the management of Mr. Jas. Dolan.
 The genial "Tip" O'Neil presides behind the bar of the C. P. R. Hotel.
 Negotiations are pending for the transfer of the good will of the business of the Albion Hotel, Ashburnham, from Mr. C. Young to Mr. S. Ray, but no definite agreement has yet been made.

Moonlight Excursion.

A moonlight excursion was given under the auspices of the City Band on Friday evening. At about eight o'clock the Golden Eye left the Wolfe street wharf having on board between one hundred and fifty and two hundred people. The succeeding three hours were very pleasantly spent in the usual attractions at excursions of the kind. An orchestra provided good music for the dancers, who tripped the mazy all the time the boat was out with the exception of a few minutes when the rain fell. After sailing round the lake until shortly after 11 o'clock the boat again drew up to the wharf.

Call at Turnbull's and ask to see his new Dress Goods at 12 1/2 cents worth 20.

At the Landowine Bank.

On Friday evening the usual fortnightly race came off at the above rink, and was witnessed by a large number of persons. In the final dash for the medal, which had been won by Shevlin on two previous occasions, he again proved himself equal to the occasion, and won by about one lap, Willie Macfarlane (a junior) coming in second. The medal thus goes to Shevlin, he having won it three times in succession. In the boys' race Courney again came to the front, winning first position for the second time, with Johnston second and Chamberlain third. After the races were over Prof. Kerr gave a first-class exhibition of roller skating. Many who were present, and had previously only seen Mr. Kerr perform for a few minutes at a time, were greatly surprised at his really good skating. When about ten minutes had been spent in doing all the fancy figures (which he performed with apparently the greatest ease), a number of chairs were placed in the centre of the floor, and Mr. Kerr succeeded in jumping over no less than eight chairs, at one time performing the difficult feat of scaling them with one chair placed on top of the others. Altogether the performance was highly creditable, and pleased the spectators very much.

Just received at Hamilton Hall, a fine lot of Men's Linen Cuffs, just the thing for hot weather. A. MCNEIL.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

9 o'clock.....73
 1 o'clock.....73
 3 o'clock.....83

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, mostly north and north west, fair weather, slightly lower temperatures.

A Splendid Day.

Two venturesome employees of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co.'s Works undertook on Friday to climb up to the top of the new spire of St. Peter's Cathedral. One of them climbed a little higher than the tower, but the other climbed upward and upward until he got to the topmost part of the new spire, where he sat for a time, surveying the town and country for miles about.

The Market.

The market this morning was fairly well attended. There was scarcely any movement in grain. Hay sold at $12 a ton. Lamb sold at 7 and 8 cents per pound, and chickens at from 50 to 60 cents per pair. New potatoes brought 20 cents per bushel; shelled peas, 8 cents per quart, and beans, 3 cents per quart. Fruit was scarce. Raspberries sold at 80 cents per bushel. Eggs were plentiful, selling at 12 cents per dozen. Butter sold at 15 to 16 cents per pound.

After the close of the regular Friday evening Bible Class in St. Luke's Church, on Friday evening Mrs. H. H. Smith was presented, with an address and "The Life of Christ" (two volumes), a copy of Tennyson's poems and a copy of the American Female Poets by the congregation. The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw read the address, and Mrs. Smith replied in a few well chosen words. Mrs. Smith will be missed from St. Luke's Church, as she was an energetic worker and took a deep interest in church affairs.

A Bad Squeeze.

At about ten o'clock this forenoon, Thomas Gullett, a brakeman from Belleville, met with an accident near the Bethune street station which all but proved fatal. He went in between two cars which were fitted with different kinds of drawheads and attempted to couple them. When the car in motion came up the link by some means slipped, and the cars jammed up within a few inches of each other. The brakes the brakeman sustained were of a very severe character. His back, from the shoulders to the hips, and his abdomen, suffered much. For a time he was tightly wedged between the cars. When they were separated he was carried into the Superintendent's office and laid on a couch. Dr. King was summoned and has since been attending the patient.

For express this week at Turnbull's, white linen and Victoria lawn.

The Churches.

The following is a list of to-morrow's services: St. Peter's Cathedral.—First mass at 7 o'clock in the morning; second, at 8.30, and a high mass at 10.30. Vespers in the evening at 7 o'clock.

 Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in saying that I have used your White Base Cream for my complexion some time past, and find it superior to anything I have ever used for the same purpose. REBEL ORGANS.

THERE is a paper published in Manitoba which is said to be an organ of the halfbreeds, and a short time ago the publication of a paper intended to speak for the same people was commenced in Montreal. The Globe, however, appears to be bidding for the support of the rebels and their friends, and if it continues its present course it will soon have as strong a claim to the position which Le Manitoban is said to claim as that paper. Le Manitoban, if, indeed, it is not already as much entitled to be considered the organ of the rebel halfbreeds as either of the others.

In its issue of July 30th the Globe refers to the recent rebellion in four editorial articles. The first article is in the interest of Riel and advocates the granting of additional facilities for the defence. The second article is a continuation of an attack upon Col. Oulmet, the commander of the 87th Battalion, which rendered excellent service in checking and pursuing Big Bear and was among the troops which engaged the Indians at Frenchman's Hill. The third article is a rebuke of charges made by Le Manitoban against the volunteers who took part in the engagement at Batoche. The fourth article is a sneering reference to Mr. Carson, Minister of Militia, and Dr. Bergin, Surgeon General, in which it is stated that "numerous and tempting offers, it is understood, have been made by enterprising show managers" to induce these gentlemen "to go on exhibition." This sneering reference to Mr. Carson and Dr. Bergin is very silly, but the same spirit of hostility to all who took part in suppressing the rebellion is exhibited.

Such is the record of the editorial columns of the Globe for one day on this matter. Perhaps the attack upon Col. Oulmet and the sneers at Mr. Carson and Dr. Bergin might be expected, as they are Conservatives, and those who are aware of to what extremes the organ will go in order to endeavor to injure the Government might even not be surprised at its course in regard to the trial of the rebel leader, but the republication in the prominent position of an editorial article of the slanders upon the volunteers can only be accounted for on the ground that the Globe wishes to attain the position of the mouthpiece of those who fought against our citizen soldiers. Many persons have for some time looked upon the Globe as the organ of the disaffected halfbreeds and malcontent whites, and it is difficult to see how any reasonable person can now deny that it has well earned its claim to such a title.

In one particular the position of the Globe needs to be explained, and those Reformers who are loyal to the Dominion and proud of the achievements of the Canadian volunteers should insist on having an explanation. In claiming that the halfbreeds and their leaders are not responsible for the rebellion, and in its pleadings on behalf of Riel, it may be only following the lead of Mr. Blake, who set it an example in his six hours speech, but when it gives publicity to charges of wholesale theft, disloyalty, cruelty, and even murder, against the volunteers, is it speaking for the Reform party or leaders of the party?

A MONSTER CANNON.

The Pneumatic Dynamite Gun Just Cast in Jersey City.

On roughly huge trunnions in center of Ribbons & March's shop in Jersey City, there rested a peculiar looking mass of tubing that was explained by the foreman to be the most powerful gun in the world. It has just been finished, and the last polish was being put on by a dozen mechanics. The monster, for such it is, was cast for the New York pneumatic dynamite gun company, and if the expectations are realized, nothing almost can withstand one of its terrible broadsides. The barrel is 60 in long, breech-loading, and weighs 43 tons. It is heavy wrought iron, brass lined throughout, and with a full bore of eight inches. It was cast in four sections, 15 feet long, with iron collars which are welded together with stout steel bolts. The barrel is bolted to eight reservoirs, where the compressed air necessary to fire it is stored. Brass nozzles connect the reservoirs to the barrel and the amount of air necessary to throw out the projectile is regulated automatically. Upright castings carried on 12 inch channel iron support the whole, which is moved by compressed air to any position desired by the gunner. More formidable looking than the gun itself is the projectile fired. The cartridge, which is of brass, is five feet long and fits the bore snugly. In an iron cone at the head of the projectile 180 pounds of dynamite are stored, covered with a slight cap of thin metal, which is easily broken off, exposing the projectile wherever it strikes. When the gun is charged the gunner takes his stand on a platform behind the barrel, and by means of a lever closes the breech.

In accordance with the provisions of an Act passed last session, the Dominion Government have perfected arrangements for taking a census in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories, and the district of Keewatin, and the work will shortly be commenced in the Northwest Territories.

TOMBS OF PRESIDENTS

Last Resting Place of the Chief Magistrates of the United States.

The Presidents of the United States who are dead are nearly all buried in the neighborhood of the houses which they occupied. Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon is known to all the world. John Adams and John Quincy Adams lie beneath the Unitarian church at Quincy, Mass. The coffins are of lead, placed in cases hewn from solid blocks of granite. Their wives are buried with them. John Adams died on the same day with Jefferson, a strange coincidence itself, but stranger still, it was on the Fourth of July, 1826, just half a century after the Declaration of Independence, which they had joined in making. Jefferson, like his old compatriot, was buried in his family burying ground at his home in Monticello. He had written on the fly sheet of an old account book his wishes concerning it. "Choose," his memorandum said, "some unfrequented vale in the park where there is no sound to break the stillness, but a brook that babbling winds among the woods. Let it be among ancient and venerable oaks, interspersed with some gloomy evergreens. Appropriate one-half to the use of my family, and the other to strangers, servants, etc. Let the east look upon a sunset of each other in the line cemetery of Hollywood at Richmond. Monroe's death, like those of John Adams and Jefferson, fell upon the Fourth of July. He, too, in 1831, five years after his death, was buried at the same place, the national cemetery at Washington. He died in New York, a poor man, and his remains were entombed there until 1838, the Legislature of Virginia removed them to Hollywood and placed them in a substantial vault, marked by a Gothic temple on a foundation of Virginia granite. Tyler's grave, near by, is scarcely marked at all; it is pointed out as the spot.

The three Tennessee presidents were buried at their homes. Jackson at the Hermitage, near Nashville, his wife beside him. A massive monument of Tennessee granite marks the grave. Polk is buried at Nashville at the old family homestead. He survived Jackson four years, dying in 1849. The grave is handsomely inclosed, and a block twelve feet square by 12 feet in height bears the inscription. Andrew Johnson's grave is in Greenville, on a spot selected by himself. His three sons have erected a handsome monument of marble on a base of granite. It bears numerous patriotic emblems, a flag, an eagle, a scroll of the constitution, etc., while the inscription declares: "His faith in the people never wavered."

Martin Van Buren lies in the village cemetery at Kinderhook, N.Y., in a family lot, his resting place marked by a modest granite shaft. He died in the summer of 1863, when the civil war was at its height. His successor, Harrison, was buried at his old home at North Bend, on the Ohio, a few miles below Cincinnati. An aged man, much worn by a family war, neglected, but more recently carefully kept, marks the spot.

The dust of Zachary Taylor is now buried in the cemetery at Frankfort, Ky., after several removals. William Fillmore's grave is at Forest Lawn cemetery, three miles from Buffalo, and that of Pierce in the old cemetery at Concord, N.H. Buchanan is buried at Woodward Hill cemetery.

The most magnificent of all the memorials to the dead presidents is that over the resting place of Lincoln, in the Oak Ridge cemetery at Springfield, Ill. It was dedicated in 1874, and cost $250,000.

Garfield is buried in Lake View cemetery, at Cleveland, where a grand mausoleum has been erected in his honor.

Of the eighteen dead presidents, two only lie in the same place. Two were buried in Massachusetts, two in New York, five in Virginia, three in Tennessee, two in Ohio, and one each in New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, and Illinois. Eight lie in private grounds, or family burial places, as in the case of the Adamses at Quincy. — Chicago Herald.

A THRILLING NARRATIVE

A Wonderful Escape from the San Diego Mines.

Allan Wade, of Portage, Summit County, recently a convict in a Mexican prison, condemned to labor in a mine half a mile beneath the surface of the earth, recently told the story of his sufferings to a representative of the Cleveland Plain Dealer:—"I am thirty-one years old," he said, "and I feel as if I were twice that age. In 1878 I obtained employment on the Mexican Central Railway in the capacity of passenger conductor, and ran between Chihuahua and the city of Mexico. My trouble began on the 12th day of February, 1884. My train ran at the average rate of thirty-eight miles an hour, and when I left Chihuahua that morning at 8 o'clock I told my engineer, McFarland, to slack up to ten or fifteen miles an hour in passing Sierra Blanco, a quarry twenty miles out, where about 1,000 Mexicans are employed by the government getting out stone. Every day these laborers would get drunk and hang around the track, and as this was pay day I warned my engineer to slow up around the Sierra Blanco curve lest he might hurt somebody. Well, it happened just that way. McFarland saw a fellow lying right across the track and whistled for his men to stop. The man moved, and my engineer thought he'd got off. He didn't, however, and was struck. Of course he was dead, and when we reached Domingo we were both arrested. McFarland and I were taken to the city of Mexico and tried before the court of sessions, presided over by the governor of Sonora. The charge was murder. I had two Mexican attorneys and paid them $11,000 to get me out, but the prejudice against Americans was very strong, and I was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $500. McFarland's sentence was just twice as hard, four years and $1,000."

"But your term of service has not elapsed yet," suggested the reporter. "No," dryly remarked Mr. Wade, "not yet. That is, not in the regular fashion." "When I got my sentence," he resumed, "I appealed to the American minister, but nothing was done for me until I managed to get a letter to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and then intervention was of no avail. I was taken to the Torreon penitentiary, and employed as under-steward. I made an impression of the key to the stocks, but just as I attempted to escape I was discovered and placed in irons. Then I was sent to the San Diego mines, 2,245 feet underground. My work compelled me to kneel all the time—striking a drill. A Mexican in the mine insulted me, and I knocked him down. For this I was sentenced to receive 38 lashes on my bare back, but the sentence was suspended until my term of confinement should expire. I met some men down there who had not seen daylight in nine years. After working in the mine three months the hydraulic pump in use gave out, and I told the captain of the guard that I was a mechanic and could repair machinery. The engineer went for me and I stayed up two days fixing the pump. One of the men in charge belongs to a certain secret society to which I belong, and he told me that if I could get up on the cage he would boost me. According to the agreement I returned to work, and on the third day I made a break for liberty. Three or four times I started, but each time my courage failed and my heart was in my mouth. At last I took my lamp off my head and dashed it to the ground. That meant certain death for me if I was caught, and I ran to the cage and gave the signal to boost. Immediately the cage began to move, but I had not been lifted five feet when the guards fired their double barreled carbines at me. None of them hit me, however, and I was drawn safely. Near the mouth of the mine I found a rifle and a quantity of lead, and many questions I mounted and made tracks for the American side. That day I rode seventy miles.

Mr. Wade halted a moment to mop his drops of perspiration from his forehead. When he had cooled off a bit he said: "It is no wonder I got excited in telling my experience. It's only six weeks ago that I escaped, and I have never felt safe until I struck American soil. I made my escape May 29, and I don't know how I know not for weeks. I traded my burro for a mustang, but one day my mustang got away from me and I had to foot it. Footsore and famished I made my way through the forest, getting into a hole and a quince tree here and there. The first American town I struck was Tombstone, A.T. There I was all right."

PERPETUAL MOTION.

A Hamilton Man Claims to Have Attained Success After Twenty-seven Years.

P. Motter, of York street, was seen by a Times representative this forenoon, who was shown the principle of the power connected with the perpetual motion machine, which that devoted mechanist has been working on for the past 27 years. Mr. Motter objects to the invention being described at present. He says he has had a machine in motion for some weeks back running two new machines in heavy work, and no water, no fire, no steam, nor anything of the kind is required in its operation. He is now constructing a two-horse power model, which he purposes sending to Ottawa, upon which to secure the patent which has been applied for. The principle of the apparatus is very simple. Mr. Motter says that he constructed 172 models in all, and now declares that success has crowned his efforts. The last model is almost finished, and which he has been over 25 years ago. All through his life, says the principle of that one haunted him, and now with some slight amendments it is this that carries him through. A Toronto gentleman has offered him $20,000 for a part interest in the concern. Mr. Motter says that in a couple of months he will give an exhibition of it to the citizens. — Hamilton Times.

Fifty Feet Out of a Balloon.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 31.—Prof. Brooks and Frederick Moore, prominent residents of Winsted, Conn., started this afternoon on a balloon ascension. The balloon rose rapidly, and was soon sailing neatly among the clouds. Then a streak of lightning flashed from the clouds and struck the balloon, and the rope was pulled from its fastenings, and the balloon began to descend very rapidly. When within two hundred yards from the ground the balloon began to surge from side to side. The occupants bravely held their positions, but when they were some fifty yards from the ground, the balloon turned badly over, and they were hurled to the ground. Brooks was badly hurt but may possibly recover. Moore sustained no injuries, but was badly frightened.

It Wasn't Likely.

The following expressive dialogue lately passed between an American school committee man and a scholar undergoing examination—"Where is the North Pole?" "I don't know."—"Don't know? Are you not ashamed that you don't know where the North Pole is?" "Why, sir, if Sir John Franklin and Sir John Kane, Capt. De Long and Captain Greely couldn't find it how should I know where it is?"

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the bands off our 5c, 10c, 25c, and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also put our celebrated "Cable" cigars, placing them off as the genuine "Cable" cigars.

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the brands off our celebrated "Cable" cigars, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (15c) fifteen cent imported cigar, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a nasty, dry imported cigar, which we import Havana cigars, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them. Four first prize medals in competition with the world; Paris, 1867; Centennial, 1876; Montreal, 1868-1869.

Personal.
 Dr. G. S. Ryerson, having returned from service as surgeon of the Royal Grenadiers with the Northwest field force, has resumed the practice of the special branches of the profession, eye, ear, throat and nasal diseases, at his office, 317 Church street, Toronto.

Feasting the Estimates.
 The estimates of the expenditure for maintaining the Separate School system for the current year were passed at a recent meeting. The amount required is $3,500, and the Secretary was instructed to request the Town Council to vote the same.

Nearly Drowned.
 On Saturday afternoon, soon after St. Luke's S.S. Cricket Club had ceased playing, Mr. C. W. Orde took his young brother Bertie and another lad down to the lake for a bath. Bertie got in where it was too deep for him, and screamed for assistance. His cries brought his brother to his aid, who rushed in and pulled him out as he rose the second time. He was very much exhausted, but soon recovered.

George Newbold.
 We learn that George R. Newbold died on Sunday afternoon in Columbus Hospital of brain disease. He had been taken to the hospital about four weeks ago to be treated for his trouble, but no apprehension was felt about his recovery. His wife and aged parents, who have always lived together here, received the news of his death by telegraph yesterday. It is probable that the body will be brought to Peterborough at his wife's request. His age was 43 years.

Turnbull is now showing 3,000 yards of new print in 100 different patterns, good value at 12 1/2 cents, but selling at 10.

A Hot Contest.
 The Peterborough nine meet the Lindsay in the Riverside Park at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon to play for the base ball championship of the Midland District. The Lindsay are now acknowledged to be one of the strongest teams outside of the Canadian League, and have swept everything before them this year. The base ball talent of Peterborough is now all together, and the club has lately been greatly strengthened by several excellent players. A hot contest will doubtless be seen, for the nine selected are the strongest in Peterborough. The ladies will be admitted free of charge. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance.

To the Front Again.
 Bellegem, the furniture man, is always on the look out for the latest novelties in the furniture line. He comes to the front again to introduce to the people of Peterborough the American Chair Fan, a very neat piece of mechanism for attachment to a rocking chair to produce a gentle breeze on a hot day and to keep bothersome flies out of the way. The fan attachments are fastened to each rocker and at each backward motion of the chair a roller runs out along the floor, pulls a cord and produces two revolutions of the fan, which is placed about six or seven inches above the head of the occupant of the chair. The forward motion produces two more and the fan is where it was before. The device is easily adjusted to fan sideways so that anyone near may receive the benefit of the breeze. The price of the article is very liberal and Mr. Bellegem has already disposed of a large number of them. The proprietors of the Canadian Patent, the Canadian Novelty Company, Bradford, have acted wisely in appointing Mr. Bellegem their agent here.

Dead.
 The young man Thomas Gullett, brakeman on the Grand Junction branch of the Grand Trunk Railway, who was so severely bruised between two cars on Saturday, has since died. He was first taken to the superintendent's office at the Bethune street station, but was afterwards removed to the C. P. R. Hotel.

On Saturday night and Sunday he received watchful care and attention from the hotel attendants and was visited by a number of his fellow train hands. Notwithstanding that the best medical aid was constantly in attendance the inflammation set in and the injured brakeman succumbed to the effects of the bruises at a few minutes after five o'clock, in the evening. The Rev. F. H. Wallace was with him during his dying moments and administered comforting words of hope. The father of the deceased arrived at about six o'clock this morning by a freight train from Port Hope. The remains of the son had been taken charge of by D. Bellegem, the undertaker, and the next train to Belleville, 7.35, took the coffin and the mourning father away. The home of the deceased is in Prince Edward County, opposite the Bay from Shannonville.

Call at Turnbull's and ask to see his new Dress Goods at 12 1/2 cents worth 20.

Just received at HABILIMENT Hall, a fine lot of Men's Linen Coats, just the thing for hot weather. A. MCNEIL.

A RETURN MATCH WON

THE BETHANY AND PETERBOROUGH AGAIN MEET ON THE DIAMOND.

The Score kept well down—The Peterboroughs win by Five Runs, Eight to Three being the Result.

On Saturday afternoon the Bethany and Peterboroughs met on the Riverside Park to play the return match. It will be remembered that two weeks ago a match was played between the two clubs, resulting in a victory for the Peterboroughs with the score standing 13-7. The Bethany arrived by the C.P.R. noon train and were quartered at the C. P. R. Hotel.

At three o'clock the match commenced, the Peterboroughs going first to the bat. O'Neill took up the ash and sent out a grounder. It was well fielded to first and "Tip" retired. Moore followed, made a base hit, and stole second. Charlie Sanderson went to base on balls, and Sullivan came to the bat. He sent out a "delay" and Moore and Sanderson came home, while he himself went to first. Will Metcalfe came next. Sullivan got home on the pretty hit, but the batsman went out on first. Campbell left the seat, took up the bat, and made a two bagger. He stole third, and was coming in home when A. Metcalfe, the next at bat, was put out on first. Three men out—score, three.

Robinson was the first of the Bethany to wield the ash. He made a safe and got to 1st. He went around to third on a field error, and reached the home plate on a pass ball. Gillis went to base on balls, and Simon and Lindsay both retired after vainly ponding the air. Strike went to 1st on balls, and Jennings gracefully retired after three of Sullivan's twisters had passed over the plate into "Tip's" mitt. Score, 1—two on bases.

Cameron and Rogers were both struck out, but O'Neill, the third to the bat on Peterborough's second innings, called for a high ball and returned it with interest back to left field. First to second was stolen, and when Archie Moore slugged out a fier, O'Neill got to home. The latter came in home on a pass, but was given out by the umpire. Score, nothing.

Reynolds went out on strikes, Will Metcalfe nearly took a foul struck out by Douglas, and Dick Gillis went out on strikes. Short and sweet; another duck egg.

Sanderson, W. Metcalfe and Campbell went out on strikes, when Sullivan, the second to the bat, had travelled around as far as third base.

Robinson was the only one who succeeded in getting around the diamond in the second half of this innings. Cameron was caught out; Rogers followed with a base hit, and O'Neill, by a pretty two bagger, brought Rogers in home. Third was stolen and "Tip" trotted leisurely in on a pass. A foul tip was taken by Simon off Sanderson's bat, and the side went out to field with two to their credit.

Another short side followed. Jennings hit a foul, which O'Neill thankfully accepted; a field flier was caught (applause from the grand stand) by Charlie Sanderson, and Douglas went out on strikes.

Sullivan got home and Campbell to second base, when the side retired. W. Metcalfe and A. Metcalfe being struck-out, and Cameron going out on a foul catch.

On the second half of this innings no score was made. Gillis and Robinson were on bases when the side went out.

O'Neill, Moore and Sullivan distinguished themselves again. The two latter both made two baggers, while "Tip," after nearly running the bases, reached home in safety.

The Bethany went in and retired with another blank, with one on 1st base.

The first half of the second innings was also a blank, Cameron alone reaching 2nd base. Robinson got to second on good batting, and a fine grounder sent by Simon brought him to third. Robinson attempted to come home on a pass, but did not get there in time. He made back to third, but "Tip" followed him up and threw to Rogers. Robinson hooved it back towards home when he saw the ball pass over O'Neill's head, but Sullivan had backed up Tip, and took the ball in time to welcome home the Bethany man, amid cheers from the spectators. Gillis, however, succeeded in getting around, thus adding another to the credit of the visitors.

The two succeeding innings were both blanks.

The following is the score:—
 PETERBOROUGH. Runs. Hits. Errors.
 O'Neill, c.....2 Robinson, p.....3
 Moore, 1f.....3 R. Gillis, 2b.....0
 Sanderson, 3b.....1 Simon, c.....0

 Campbell, 2b.....0 Jennings, cf.....0

RUNS BY INNINGS.
 Peterboroughs.....3 0 0 2 1 0 0 0—8
 Bethany.....1 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—3

SHORT STOPS.
 George Campbell acted as umpire and tried to do what was fair. His judgments, it was thought by a number, were somewhat faulty.

The way "Tip" got to second base in the 4th innings puzzled the umpire.

The fielding of the Bethany was good all round, and Robinson and Dick Gillis know how to run bases.

Harvey Strike was fairly victimized on Sullivan's curves.

On the sixth innings Bob Gillis neatly took a foul off Sanderson's bat.

The Bethany are thorough gentlemen and they play a good game.

Simon, of Northwest base ball fame, caught for the Bethany.

To enjoy a slow, cool, sweet delicious smoke, use one of the Peterboro' Cigar Factory Cigars.

RAILWAY SMASH UP.

Eleven Cars Tumble Over Each other and the Engine Ditched.

On Saturday evening at about half past five o'clock a freight train consisting of eleven laden cars and a van was nearing the village of Keene, on the Grand Junction branch of the Grand Trunk Railway.

By some means, not yet discovered, the engine left the tender and jumped off the track into the ditch. It was almost wholly buried in the soft mud, not even the driving wheels being visible.

The tender and cars ran along for a few yards when the tender doubled under and the cars all tumbled over each other. About half of the cars comprising the train were thrown off and most of them were considerably damaged.

At the time of the run off the brakeman, engineer and fireman were in the cab of the engine. Geo. Brown, the brakeman, when he felt that the engine had left the track, ran back to apply the brakes. He got as far as the second car and was carrying out his purpose when the cars commenced to double. He was pitched off and sent through a wire fence some yards distant. He was very badly scratched all over the body, his face suffering terribly. His clothes were torn into rags. O'Hagan, the fireman, on the first shock, was sent flying through the window like a circus rider through a paper hoop. The ash went with him, and when he reached the ground was considerably off by the glass. Mallico, the engineer, had his hand on the throttle when the engine left the track, but beyond a severe jerking he was uninjured. The wounded men were taken to Keene to have their injuries attended to. Today a train has gone down to clear up the wreck.

MURDERED BY INDIANS.
 A Reported Massacre Near Maple Creek—The Origin of the Report.

REXINA, N. W. T., Aug. 1.—Eight whites have been butchered by marauding Indians thirty miles south of Maple Creek, in the Cypress hills. It is believed that the Indians came on the victims by stealth, and when a favorable opportunity presented itself pounced upon them. Some of those attacked escaped by swimming and reaching across the narrow lake, and barricading themselves in Sands' lumber mill. Thirty police left here by train about 5 o'clock this morning for the scene of the butchery, and a like number from Medicine Hat. Great excitement is said to exist amongst the settlers around Maple Creek. If the Indians begin guerrilla warfare, it will be worse than the rebellion.

A LATER DISPATCH.
 A later dispatch from Maple Creek says the report that eighteen men were killed at the Cypress Hills originated amongst the Sands' mill hands. They saw the Indians making a warlike demonstration and rushed across the lake, and barricaded themselves in the mill.

FICTION, FRAUD AND FORGERY.

THE London Advertiser again refers to letters written during the contest in West Algonia in the hope of effecting the election. One would think that the Reform party would keep directly silent regarding letters written at that time. There was a letter published in the Port Arthur Herald, the Reform paper, addressed to Mr. J. A. Connors, the Reform candidate, and purporting to be written by Mr. Macmaster, M. P. It was written and published "in the hope of effecting the election" and of benefiting Mr. Connors, but Mr. Macmaster did not write it. When his attention was called to the letter he publicly characterized it as a "combination of fiction, fraud and forgery." Who wrote the letter? The Herald has given no explanation. It was addressed to Mr. Connors. Did he hand it to the Herald for publication? Under the circumstances the Reform press would show more discretion by being silent regarding letters written by members of Parliament at that time, and, indeed, regarding the election, until the statements made by the Port Arthur Sentinel as to the tricks of Mr. Connors's supporters are explained.

THE report of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture for July gives some interesting statistics. The number of acres of barley sown is given as 47,316, compared with 40,848 in 1884. The earliest date on which seedling was begun was on May 4th, and the latest, May 26th. The earliest date on which seedling was ended was May 20th, and the latest was June 15th, the average for the Province being 54th. The average bushels sown per acre was 2.10. Of this and other crops the prospects are favourable for a large yield.

THE Bobbysgon Independent says that the army of Big Bear mustered forty warriors, yet twenty-five of them met their deaths at the hands of the volunteers under Gen. Strange, a larger number than the Independent mentions capitulated and some are still at large. Mr. Smith may be a philosopher, but he is not good at figures.

THE London Advertiser refers to Mr. Blake's donation of the extra $484 he received as an increased indemnity to his constituency as "a good investment." Exactly. Mr. Blake took the money and invested it where he thought it would do himself the most good. It was not a restitution he made; it was an investment.

PLEURY OF MONEY.

A Man Arrested for Storing Money in the Streets.
BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 1.—Last evening a man of fine appearance and good address created quite a sensation in the Central depot by a distribution of his money, of which he appeared to possess a fair amount. Near the ticket office he threw away a $20 bill, which was picked up by a gentleman, who thought it had been dropped by mistake, and returned it to him. The stranger again threw it down, pulled out a handful of bills and change, and scattered it likewise. The crowd was not slow in appropriating what he threw away. Officer Hughes succeeded in having nearly all the money returned to the stranger, and then took a walk with him to the police station. The stranger said his name was Amos Grey, and that he came from Vergas, Ont. Papers found in his possession bore out this statement. He acted like a man who was just recovering from a protracted spree, but the condition of his clothes and general appearance did not indicate that such was the case. Mr. Grey stated that he expected to meet his wife and sister-in-law at the depot, and join them in a trip to Chautauque. He could not find them and wanted to go on alone. As he could not take care of his money the officers advised him to go to an hotel and sleep until morning, when he might want. Officer Hughes then installed him at the National hotel. After registering he wanted another drink, but being refused he retired without it and threw himself on a bed. Five minutes later he left the hotel and was not seen again last night. From papers and letters in Grey's possession it appears that he is a prominent temperance lecturer.

Rare Marine Monster.

GALVESTON, Aug. 1.—A school of marine monsters has been seen for several days sporting in the gulf. Yesterday one was caught in seine. Ropes were thrown around the monster, and with horses it was dragged ashore. It proved to be a specimen of the Cephalopoda Vampyrus, also called "Devil Fish." It is believed to be third specimen ever captured. It weighed two tons, and as it lies spread out on the beach it is miles across and four feet wide. The mouth is four feet wide.

SETTLED.

A Big Suit Regarding Assessments in Haliburton Compromised.

A correspondent sent the following from Haliburton to the Globe on Aug. 1st:—A legal warfare has been going on for some time between the Canadian Land & Emigration Company on one side and the municipality of Dysart on the other. The dispute affects the townships of Dysart, Dudley, Guilford, Harburn, Harcourt, Bruton, Eyre, Havelock and Clyde. The greater part of these townships is owned by the Company, and the settlers in them are suffering from heavy taxation caused to a great extent by the large bonus they voted to the Victoria Railway in 1883. The municipality assessed the Company's property at $111,000. The Company considered this too high and appealed against it unsuccessfully before the then Municipal Magistrate. In 1884 the municipality further increased the Company's assessment, putting it at about $240,000. The Company claim that this is more than three times the value of their property. Mr. James M. Irwin, lumberman of Peterborough, and Wm. H. Lockhart Gordon, barrister, of Toronto, hold a controlling interest in the shares. They bought about two years ago on a valuation of $80,000 for the whole property. Attempts have been made to sell the whole estate at various times recently, and the only offer received was one of $80,000 from Mr. Ross, the Quebec lumberman, which was withdrawn before acceptance. The Company's price for land is nearly all the good and accessible pine has been taken off. On the 18th assessment being made, the Company filed a bill in the Court of Chancery, obtained an injunction against the assessment, and was begun in earnest. The case was tried before Mr. Justice Ferguson, then taken to the divisional Court of Chancery, then to the Ontario Court of Appeal, all of whom decided they had not jurisdiction to interfere with the assessment. The Company were preparing a case for the Supreme Court of Canada, and in the meanwhile they appealed in the ordinary way against their assessment before Judge Dean, the County Judge of Victoria. He heard the case in the village of Haliburton on Thursday and Friday last, when Walter Camels, Q.C., of Toronto, appeared for the Company, and Mr. Moore, of Lindsay, for the municipality. After hearing considerable evidence the judge adjourned to consult with Mr. Gordon and the Revere, Mr. James Down, to see if a settlement could be effected. Half a day was spent in negotiation, and a verbal understanding was arrived at, but when it came to be reduced to writing in the evening a bitter and the opposing parties got once more to arms length. The taking of evidence was resumed on Friday morning and finished, and the case stood for argument and judgment till the evening. Meanwhile another attempt was made at settlement, this time with better luck, and the following agreement was signed and sealed between the parties: The Company's assessment to be reduced to $70,000 in round numbers; the Chancery and Supreme Court suits to be dropped; the assessment of the municipality for the next ten years to be fixed at fifteen cents per acre for the settlers, land sold or leased by the Company to be credited to them in the assessment; all law costs to be paid by the municipality, amounting to nearly $3,000; the company to give the municipality a bonus of $2,000 to help them to pay the railway bonus; the Company to give to the municipality if the municipality does not carry out the agreement. There are other details, but the above are the main features. A friendly understanding between the company and the settlers is important for the welfare of the district, and the stoppage of his costly and protracted law suit is a matter for general congratulation. Considerable feeling has arisen, and it is largely owing to the patience and kindly lack of Judge Dean that the parties were brought into position to settle all their differences. Had this not been done Judge Dean's decision would have settled only one of the assessments, and the big law suit before the Supreme Court would have been continued.

THE HOLIDAY SEASON.

This is the season when everybody goes out of town, everybody, that is who can afford it; and the question, Where shall we go? is now uppermost. The answer depends altogether upon the object the holiday-maker has in view. If he wishes to spend a lot of money in order to have it to say that he belongs to the first families of North America, then he had better go to Long Branch and hire a cottage, or else set out by easy stages for Switzerland, the German baths, Rome, Naples, and London. If he wishes to visit the sea-side because it is fashionable, then let him go to the coast of Maine or Massachusetts, and endure the sand and the big hotels as best he can. But if he be in search of a cool and pleasant shade for himself and his family, it is not necessary that he should leave Canadian territory. Lake Superior, with the magnificent North Shore, is within forty hours' journey of Toronto. This region has been patronized for many summers by Americans and Canadians will probably flock to it by and by. It affords a maximum of coolness and good fishing for a reasonable outlay, not to say anything about scenery. Muskoka is another good summer resort, though it is useless to deny the fact that the eccentric mosquito which flourishes among the rocks and islands of the district, is a drawback. A new holiday ground is being opened up in the northern part of the county of Victoria, where the chain of small lakes, commencing at Fernon Falls, affords capital fishing. The Omineca river with its lakes near Peterborough is also a rare place. Some day in the near future the tourist from Ontario will doubtless make for the Rocky Mountains, where the everlasting glaciers, the redolent depths of pine and balsam, the streams and lakes and waterfalls are all very beautiful. Some bold spirits are already visiting the battlefields of the recent campaign. It will doubtless be an interesting trip. There is no sweeter spot in the world than the Qu'Appelle Valley, leading up to Fish Creek and Batoka, but the traveller who seeks perfect happiness on any of the northern rivers, and especially among the scrub and bluffs of the Saskatchewan, is doomed to disappointment. The summer heat is intense, and there is a disheartening sameness in the scenery and sand flies. If a mouthful of salt air is required, Canadians need not go far for it in the big boarding houses at the Atlantic watering places; it blows free on the Lower St. Lawrence. A trip from Quebec along the north shore to Tadoussac and the Saguenay is well worth the money; while those who do not care to move about in the good accommodation at any of the little settlements on the south shore. It is not necessary that the family of small means should pay fancy prices at Cacoma, for there are hundreds of pretty far houses along that coast all the way from Beauséjour, past St. Thomas, Cape St. Ignace, Islet, St. Jean, Port Joly, Rivière Ouelle, Kamouraska, and Rivière du Loup, to the open sea. Ignorance of the French language need not hamper the visitor from Upper Canada; most of the natives speak a little English, and they are all extremely kind and obliging. This south shore affords both fresh water and sea fishing, and is within easy reach of Quebec. Halifax and St. John, should the visitor desire to round up his wanderings with a visit to those cities. Altogether, Canada contains an unequalled variety of summer resorts, though it is somewhat difficult to make people believe that the home article is as good as the foreign one.—Toronto Mail.

Beethoven's Eccentricities.
In 1816 Beethoven began to keep house, and a sad kind of home he had. He was like a child to the hands of servants and landladies, and rarely found himself at peace with either. He constantly changed his lodgings, and seldom had time to get things settled in a house before it was necessary to move again. It was seldom that a servant staid more than a few weeks, and the house frequently took care of itself. His room was generally a model of confusion. Letters strewed the floor, and the remains of his last meal, sketches of his music, books and pictures covered the chairs and tables. Sometimes it would be weeks before he would discover a manuscript which he sorely needed. He broke nearly everything he touched, and sometimes upset the ink in the piano. He loved to bathe, and frequently would stand pouring water over his hands, shouting his music. If any musical idea occurred, he would rush to the table and note it down, splashing the water over everything in the room. Every day, whatever the weather, Beethoven took a long walk; he had a favorite haunts around the city, and he would all his musical ideas come to him in the woods or meadows, amid the trees, the rocks and the flowers. He was never without a little book in which he wrote down any thought which seized him; and then at home he thought would grow into a song or symphony. He was quiet and rapt when at the piano; but we are told that when conducting an orchestra, his movements were violent. At the disbanding he would gradually crouch lower and lower, till he dropped entirely out of sight, rising slowly during the crescendo, when he would almost jump into the air. With his pupils he had the sweetest patience, repeating a correction over and over again; he would always forgive a wrong note, but was to the unlucky pupil who failed to give the right expression to a phrase or bar, for this the master thought indicated a lack of soul, and he would not forgive.

Foundsmaker.
Our "Intimate enemy" used to watch silently our great meetings with the Indians, never taking part himself in the speaking. Riding ahead of the wagons and accompanied by a half breed, he used to find the way across the trackless prairie by an instinct that seemed extraordinary, for much of the country and not been actually traversed by him before; but he always found us water and camping ground close to the true line of march. Then, when the moon had been pitched, and darkness and the cold of autumnal night had closed over the yellow prairie, he was summoned to consult on our position, or to tell us in solemn, half reluctant manner when closely questioned, of some legend of a monster snake, or wolf, or deer, or of some famous buffalo hunt. How soon his eyes would close, and he would be over some ill-defined footprints seen one morning on the frosty ground! A guttural sound was all he would vouchsafe, until at last he murmured that there had been thirteen buffaloes passing that spot, and all of them he would kill, and was found and some of them killed. Foundsmaker showing that he could move fast enough when it suited the dignity, and then relapsing over the dead, shaggy carcasses into his slumber. His band cannot number 200, but he may induce others to him in that northern region. But as the largest of these scattered camps on this line can only muster about 600 all told an Indian rising may play havoc with the confidence of settlers and prevent colonization in outlying districts, but cannot effect country near railway lands or continue for a long time to give trouble.—Marquis of Lorne, in the Fortnightly Review.

She Didn't Want to Die.
She was a Brooklyn girl. He was a young man from Boston visiting at her home. In honor of her coming she had made a custard pie with her own fair hands. "Do take some," she had urged, at the supper table. "I made it for you myself, you know." "No," said he reluctantly, after an evident inward struggle, "I can't. If I were at home in Boston I would, but here I dare not." "And why?" she urged. "Why, dearest, can you not eat it here?" "Because," he answered, with a deep drawn sigh, "because we are in New York, you know, and an attempt at suicide is a crime under the New York laws."—Somerville Journal.

PANTS!

How often does it happen that the general comfort and happiness of man depends on a good fitting pair of pants. Nothing will ruffle a man's temper more than to find when he tries on his latest new pair of pants that they are either too long or too short; that they pinch him so bad in one place that he dare not stoop, and are so large and baggy around the waist and knees that he is afraid he might be taken for the departed "Smith."

TUESDAY, AUGUST 4, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

See It.
 The matched game of baseball between Lindsay and Peterborough was postponed until tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. See it; each nine is exceptionally strong. No admission fee will be charged to ladies.

A Presentation.
 Before leaving for Peterborough Mr. and Mrs. Powell, of Jones, were entertained by their Smith's Falls friends and presented with a handsome set of silver worth $125.

Correction.
 By a typographical error in an editorial in yesterday's REVIEW, Col. Outmet was spoken of as the commander of the 57th battalion. This was an obvious error. It should have read the 65th.

For the Mounted Police.
 Private A. C. Rose, who was a member of Company G, Midland Battalion, while in the Northwest, left for Ottawa this morning, where he intends to offer his services as a Mounted Policeman to do service in the Northwest.

To the Seaside.
 A party of seven, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Innis, Mr. T. G. Hallist, Miss Dickson and Miss Davidson, left town on Monday for a three weeks visit to Old Orchard Beach.

Eye Works.
 Mr. J. S. Parker, proprietor of Parker's Steam Dye Works, has removed his show room from opposite St. John's Church to Campbell's old stand, opposite the Market Square. The show room is neatly fitted up and is convenient to the business part of the town.

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South west and west winds, fresh to strong during the day, clearing warm weather.

The Colonel Heard From.
 The committee in charge of the military ball received the following despatch from Lieut. Col. J. Z. Rogers, who is now attending the A. C. A. meet:—

"GARANQUE, Aug. 4th.
 "Yes, can use my name as patron of the assembly."
 "J. Z. ROGERS."
 "Lieut. Col."

Drowned.
 A young man about eighteen years of age named Graham, whose father lives in Ashburnham, was drowned at Lovesick on Monday. The young man and another went on Sunday above Lovesick Rapids and on the way back down the river the two attempted to run the rapids at Lovesick. The young man Graham was drowned and his friend had a narrow escape. The deceased was in the employ of Mr. George Hilliard, and was at work driving logs.

A Broken Arm.
 On Monday night, at about ten o'clock, James Cranley, of the Township of Doon, who was staying at the C. P. R. Hotel, slipped and fell on the stairway and broke his arm. He did not think at the time that he was much injured, and though his arm pained somewhat, he went to bed, thinking that it would be all right in the morning. This morning the pain was intense. Dr. Kincaid was sent for and it was found that the right arm was broken close to the shoulder. The necessary operations were performed.

Secure Them.

Don't fail to be present at the Chomong Lake regatta, to come off on Thursday, August 6th. Single canoe races, double canoe races, scull races, handicap races, a fine day's sport. A number from town have entered for the event.

Journalistic.

The Monetary Times has commenced its 15th volume and appears in a new dress and otherwise improved. It is an excellent journal, and its prosperity is deserved. Commencing its existence one year before confederation, the Monetary Times has grown with the growth of the Dominion and is a valuable publication.

A Garden Party.

Will be held in the beautiful grounds of Thos. Bradburn, Esq., on Tuesday evening next, the 4th instant, in aid of the organ fund of the George Street Methodist Church. All the fruits of the season, ice cream, lemonade, &c., will form part of the refreshments. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Admission 10 cents. This entertainment will be the continuation of that of a fortnight ago, which was unfortunately broken up by the rain storm.

Only the Best.

It seems as if Messrs. Porter Bros., the carriage makers, are bent on having the best materials to be had in the market for use in building the carriages and buggies turned out of their factory. They have recently purchased a large quantity of hickory and white ash lumber from Western Canada, and henceforth, as heretofore, only the best materials will be used. Since Messrs. Porter Bros. opened out in Peterborough, they have met with unequalled success, which has been due, in a large measure, to the elegantly finished and durable goods sent out.

Did Not Come Off.

The baseball match which was to have been played in the Riverside Park this afternoon between the Lindseys and Peterboroughs, did not come off. A telephone message was received from the Secretary of the Lindseys asking that the match be postponed for one day on account of their catcher being used up. The ground being in an unfit condition on which to play a first class match, it was decided to postpone it the desired length of time. We learn that the Lindseys have telegraphed to Toronto in the meantime, and have secured the services of Reid, one of the Toronto's battery. They come here with a strong team to-morrow.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.
 In anticipation of the increased poverty and suffering, which, owing to the late rebellion, must inevitably prevail amongst the Indian families of our Northwest, the executive committee of St. Paul's auxiliary of the above society have agreed to send a box of clothing suitable for the approaching winter season. They hereby notify the members of the W. F. M. S., the congregation worshipping in St. Paul's church and other friends, that contributions for this purpose will be most thankfully received in any of the following articles:—Cash of woollen clothing (not too much worn), woollen underwear of all sizes and both sexes, but specially for children, that they may go to school; jackets, coats, shirts, stockings, socks, yarn, cloths, mufflers and mitts. The box must leave Peterborough on August 15th. Contributions marked "For Indians of N. W." will be received by Mr. Stewart, sexton of St. Paul's Church, at his house, Murray Street.

Persecuted.

Mr. H. Dalton, formerly editor in Hall, Innis & Co's, is in town on a short visit.
 Mr. M. M. Hackett, one of Peterborough's pioneer lacrosse men, dropped up from Cornwall on a flying visit on Monday.

Mr. T. Diamond left for the Thousand Islands on Monday to spend his holidays.
 Mr. R. H. Lithgow, chief clerk in Messrs. T. Dolan & Co's clothing department, is away on a holiday trip.

Mr. R. W. Grabbe, teller in the Bank of Toronto, went to Crawford's grove with his son to day for a week's camping out.

Mr. Wm. Pratt, formerly of Peterborough, and one of those who made the memorable charge of Batoche, is in town.

Mrs. D. Balleghen and her two children left town to-day for a two week's outing at Hurriane Point, Stoney Lake.

Mr. John Burnham, M.P., has gone for a two week's camp out on the shore of Lake Superior.

Just received at Hamilton Hall, a fine lot of Miss Linen Cuts, just the thing for hot weather. A. McNEIL.

A. C. A. CAMP.

Continued Success—Excursions, Camp Fires and Songs—Scratch Races.
 From Our Own Correspondent.

A. C. A. CAMP, GRINDSTONE ISLAND, AUG. 1.—Additional members have continued to come in, during the last few days, being principally newcomers to clubs already represented, or unattached members of the Association. Among those this morning who were received with a hearty welcome was Mr. C. B. Vaux, of the N. Y. C. C.

EXCURSION.

On Wednesday evening many of the members and the ladies went on board the steamer Ontario for an excursion through the islands, stopping at the Thousand Island Park, Alexandria Bay, and other points of interest. The illuminations of the various hotels, private residences and camps were very beautiful, but after a time they were put into comparative insignificance by the beams of the nearly full moon.

CAMP FIRE.

On Thursday evening there was a grand camp fire on the summit of the hill overlooking the camp, and around it assembled most of the ladies and members. Some of the favorite old songs of former camps were welcomed, as well as newer ditties. The principal vocalists were Commodore Oliver, Rear Commodore Andrews, Major Fairbough, Messrs. Wilkin, Webster, Stevens, Sheld, Gibson, Baldwin, &c. Mr. Whately also played with remarkably good effect upon the mouth organ, having just arrived with Mr. Shaw after a long paddle from near Perth. By the bye, the name of the family from that town, left blank in my first communication, probably from the difficulty of reading "camp" writing, should have been "Drummond."

EXTRA RACE.

On Friday afternoon, there being a fine breeze, an extra sailing race was run for a double bladed paddle. There were ten entries for this race, and after a keen contest twice round the course the leading canoes were placed as follows:—

1. R. W. Bailey, Pittsburgh C. C., "Katrina."
 2. P. M. Wackerhagen, Mohican C. C., "Thetis."
 3. C. R. Vaux, N. Y. C. C., "Sea Lee."

The time of the winner was 49 minutes, the Thetis being one minute longer, and the Sea Lee a minute and ten seconds later.

It was a very pretty sight. The winner led from the start, and the Thetis and Sea Lee changed positions several times in their close contest for second place. Mr. Webster, Harvard C. C., in the Germania, was fourth, but Rear Commodore Andrews in the Sofronia would have headed but for being fouled by the steamer Deseronto.

POLICE COURT.

NON REPORT.

TUESDAY, AUG. 4.—The Shuter family were again before the court this morning on the same business as they have come on half a dozen times this year. Mrs. Shuter was there, Mary Ann and the younger daughter, and Mr. Shuter adorned the prisoner's box. Mrs. Shuter made another long complaint as to how she had not been sufficiently supported by her husband and Mr. Shuter rose to reply that he had taken food to the house, but had never been allowed to have a meal with the family and that she had not yet disposed of her $300 property in Toronto. In answer to the Magistrate he stated that he earned $3 a week and his board, and when asked why he was not more ambitious, he said that it was a hard thing to be ambitious when he had to live on bread and water.

The Magistrate dismissed the case and added that he would hear no more complaints from the family.

DRUNK.

Timothy Coughlin was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having been drunk. First offence—allowed to go.

WAGES CASE.

Another case was before the court regarding the non payment of wages. The amount involved was too great to allow the case to be disposed by this court.

A Chatham Man's Suicide.
 CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 3.—A man named Joseph Pearson, of Merlin, a small place 15 west of here, committed suicide by taking three ounces of iodoform. He drove to Chatham and purchased the poison. When driving home, accompanied by his wife, he told her he intended ending his life, and to keep it a secret. When he reached home he drove to the barn, while Mrs. Pearson went into the house. He took the poison in a haymow. When found he was insensible, though he was brought round and it was thought he would recover, but he died when the doctor left. Pearson had received news about the loss of property in England, which is said to be the cause of his suicide.

New Smallpox Spread.
 MONTREAL, August 3.—Dr. Laberge, medical health officer, has taken out a warrant against a grocer named Desève under the following circumstances: Some days ago a child died of smallpox in Desève's grocery store. Dr. Laberge ordered the place to be disinfected and the child buried at once, but both orders were disobeyed and the smallpox placard affixed outside was torn down. A few days later another child took smallpox at the same place, and another placard was put up, but was torn down immediately. Dr. Laberge had another placard posted a couple of days ago, but on visiting the place since he found that it had been torn down. He entered the store and remonstrated with the proprietor, but to no purpose, and was finally assaulted; hence the action.

The Grand Trunk Tunnel.

SARLIA, Ont., Aug. 3.—The testing of the river bed on the line of the proposed tunnel of the G.T.R. is going ahead under the charge of Mr. Hobson, jun. A depth of 26 feet in the soil at the river bottom shows that the tunnel is practicable. So far the tests have given excellent satisfaction.

Drowned in Lake Erie.

RODNEY, Aug. 3.—A man was drowned at Port Glasgow in Lake Erie, four and a half miles south of Rodney to-day. About 4 o'clock this afternoon Robert Clark of St. Thomas, a brickmason working at the McKee block, Rodney, went to the lake with several others to enjoy the lake bath. He jumped off the dock, and attempted to swim ashore, but the heavy sea proved too much for him and he was drawn under. His body was washed ashore soon after.

The Shaving Customs.

The custom of shaving, which is less than three centuries old, owes its introduction to a temporary fashion—the accidental state of the chin of a French King, Louis XIII. mounted the throne of his glorious ancestors, a mere youth without a beard, and his courtiers thinking that their faces would appear rough to him, shaved off their beards, that they may look young like their King. The people at first refused to follow the dangerous example, but at length began to imitate the nobility and the practice became almost universal.

Gold Medal Ale.

If you want a glass of Lubatt's prize medal fine ale (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Parlor Restaurant. This ale has received four gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 5, 1885.

EAST DURHAM.

Mr. Ward, of Port Hope, Nominated by the Conservative Convention.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 4.—At a meeting of the Conservative Association of East Durham, held at Millbrook to-day, Mr. H. A. Ward, Mayor of Port Hope, received the unanimous nomination as Conservative standard-bearer in the approaching contest in this constituency for the House of Commons.

The president of the Association, Mr. J.
Bentley, in his opening address referred in a very touching and feeling manner to the services rendered the riding, as well as the Province and the Dominion, by the late lamented member, Col. A. T. H. Williams. The following motion of condolence in reference thereto was passed by a standing vote:

THE LATE COL. WILLIAMS.

Moved by Mr. George Campbell, warden of the United Counties, seconded by Mr. Robert Toschburn, sr., and supported by Major Hughes, of the Midland Battalion: "That the Liberal-Conservative Association of East Durham at this its first meeting since the decease of our late lamented member, Col. A. T. H.
Williams, M.P., desire to place on record its deep regret and heartfelt sorrow at the untimely death of one who for many years occupied a distinguished position as the worthy representative of this constituency in the councils of the country, and whose death, in the moment of his triumph, after achieving a most brilliant record, not only as a statesman in the Local and Dominion Legislatures, but as a soldier in the service of his country and his Queen; has caused the deepest sorrow throughout this Province and the country generally. But in this Association particularly will his unflinching kindness, marked ability, inviolable courtesy, and wise counsel be sorely missed, and of him it may be truly said by us, 'We never shall look upon him again.' Ever ready to assist us, ever anxious to further the interests of East Durham and its people irrespective of party or creed, his death has caused a void in our midst which none other can ever fill, and the memory of the pure, upright, and noble life and the patriotic and heroic death of East Durham's noblest son will be ever cherished and revered in this association and constituency. To his bereaved mother and sorrowing children this association would tender its deepest sympathy and most earnest condolence in the irreparable loss they have sustained and in token thereof the secretary is hereby authorized to forward to them an expressed copy of this resolution."

Speeches full of spirit and enthusiasm were made by Mr. Ward, the candidate, and Mr.
Evans, Dr. Brewster, M. P. E. Dr. Wright, Mr.
Cuthbert, Mr. Barnes, Mr. Howden, and Mr.
White.

The meeting was very large and representative, nearly all the delegates being in their places.

LET US HAVE MUSIC.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In order that I may answer the communication of "Thoroughness" in the Daily Evening Review of Tuesday, I once more am compelled to ask for a few lines of your valuable space.
I have on more than one occasion intimated to the public through the columns of the press the willingness of the band to play one night in the week in public, providing, of course, that a suitable place was provided for such a purpose.
Nothing has been done in this direction, and as a consequence the band have as yet been unable to play for the benefit of the public at large.
This is to be regretted, as the members are all anxious to give pleasure to their fellow-citizens whenever they can. If the band turn out and play any place on the street where they can get sufficient light to read music, there is invariably a jam, the streets are blocked, the police complain, and it is somewhat of a grievance to pedestrians as well as to the band that such is the case. However, it is the intention of the members to turn out on Friday evening (weather permitting) and play a programme of choice music on George street.

Yours truly,
F. W. MILLAR,
Bandmaster F. B. B.

THE REBELS ON TRIAL.

TWENTY-SIX INDICTED AND TWENTY-TWO ACKNOWLEDGE THEIR GUILT.

Sentence not Yet Pronounced—Wandering Spirit will Probably Die—The Indian Chiefs to be Tried in 10 Days.

REIMS, N.W.T., August 4.—Twenty six prisoners, including some of Riel's council, were arraigned this afternoon before Judge Richardson and Col. McLeod on a charge of treason-felony.

The names of the prisoners are: Pierre Partean, Pierre Gampy, Pierre Henry, C. Champagne, M. Lapine, Albert Monkhous, Joseph Delorme, Philip Gampy, Joseph Amond,
Francis Fourard, Daniel Paranteau, Andre
Nielsen, M. Dulac, E. Swain, Frederick
Fidler, P. Lanoir, Jim Short, Alexander
Fisher, B. Vadi, Ignace Portier, sr., Ignace
Portier, jr., Pierre Vandal, Joseph Filipe, Baptiste Rochelle, Moise Paranteau, Koo-Too-Way-Him.

Messrs. Burbridge, Robinson, Oles and Cassan appeared for the crown, while the prisoners were represented by Daniel Carey, Winnipeg; W. McLeod, Prince Albert; J. A.
Benson, Regina, and Jas. Pondergast.

The charge, which was first read in English, was afterwards translated into French, and then into Cree. The indictment goes on to say that:
"Not regarding the duty of allegiance, but wholly withdrawing the love, obedience, fidelity and allegiance which every true and faithful subject of our Lady the Queen owes, and of right ought to bear towards our Lady the Queen, did on the 26th day of March, and on divers other times, feloniously and wickedly compass, imagine, invent, devise and intend to levy war against our said Lady the Queen, within Canada, with the object to compel her to change her measures and course." Also with intent rebellion at Batouche and other places.

The counsel for the defence requested permission to put in affidavits to show extenuating circumstances, and Colonel Richardson consented.

Paranteau, Nolin, Swain and Fidler were discharged on their own recognizances to appear for sentence when called upon. The remainder pleaded "guilty" and were remanded for sentence.

The prisoners remanded to be tried are:—
Quillet, who was one of Riel's council; Poundmaker, Bis Bear, and ten of his band, One Arrow, a Battelford half-breed, and the Indian messengers.

The court adjourned at five o'clock, and nothing important will probably be done for ten days.

Wandering Spirit is very low since he stabbed himself. He will probably die.

FUTILE EFFORTS.

The efforts of the Reform press to make political capital out of the form of the verdict of the jury in the Riel case show to what straits they are driven to find a way out of which to get their charges against the Government. The one idea of the Opposition with regard to the rebellion, from the time the news of the rising was first received, has been to turn it to political account and to make it a stepping stone to assist them into office. They harassed the Government at the commencement, asking for information which, if given, would be of benefit to those in arms against the country. Their press has endeavored to belittle the General in command of the troops and has slandered the volunteers. Even when the leader of the rebellion was about to be tried for his crimes, the leader of the Opposition made a long speech which was as much a defence of the prisoner as an arraignment of the Government, and the trial of Riel has been used as a political weapon.

When the trial was set down for the middle of July the Globe cried out against what it professed to believe a long postponement intended to benefit the prisoner, and when an adjournment of a month was not granted it was equally loud in its railings against what it was pleased to consider an attempt to not allow the prisoner fair play. Its inconsistency was nothing to it, if it could only arouse a feeling against the Government either among those who felt that nothing should stand in the way of the course of justice, or among those whom it hoped would sympathize with Riel. Its efforts only rendered itself ridiculous, and its endeavor to convey the impression that the recommendation to mercy which the jury coupled with their verdict was caused by allegations regarding which no evidence was placed before them, is so foolish that it can have no other effect than to cause a smile of derision. The juryman have themselves explained that they were influenced in making the recommendation by the evidence regarding Riel's mental condition.

The Mackenzie Country.

The rebellion in the North-West has been of some benefit to Canada in directing public attention to that great northern country, on the southern skirt of which military operations were carried on. It must not be supposed that the region of mystery and scrub through which General Middleton chased Big Bear is a fair specimen of the vast tract that lies beyond the North Saskatchewan. At Athabasca Landing, only ninety miles north of Edmonton, the navigable waters of the Mackenzie are reached, and from there to Fort Simpson, in North Latitude 60, the traveller passes through a rich timber district, while between Simpson and the Arctic circle, four degrees further north, the enormous forests which were some day to be turned to good account. At Simpson the spruce grows to a diameter of two feet. The Hudson's Bay officers raise potatoes, barley, and even a little wheat; but it is much too far north to admit of profitable farming, and the future of the region rests upon its timber and mineral resources, which are very great. Petroleum, gypsum, coal and salt are found in abundance. The Mackenzie with its tributaries, the Slave and Great Bear lakes swarm with fish, and here and there alluvial gold occurs. As yet, however, little is known of this country. It is in the hands of the Slave, Lakhania, Dog-Rib, Loucheux, and Montagnais Indians, who trade with the Hudson's Bay people; but the company's officers, who are never over anxious in such matters, say that the watershed of the Mackenzie covers by far the richest gold field in Canadian territory.—Toronto Mail.

The Youngest Volunteer.

Winnipeg can still claim the honor of having placed the youngest volunteer in the field during the rebellion in the person of William Trimble, who joined Col. Smith's battalion on its organization, being then only thirteen years and ten months old. On presenting himself for enlistment, Dr. Orton at first refused to accept him, but finding him to be well drilled, having been trained in the Dufferin school, Toronto, and of good physique, he finally passed him. Trimble accompanied the battalion as bugler to No. 4 Company, under Captain Carruthers, through out the terrible severe marching, doing 100 miles in six days, marching along like the rest of the men, swimming streams, and plunging through brush and muskeg with all the endurance of a veteran. The young soldier is the grandson of William Trimble, proprietor of the Peterborough Reporter, Kinsmill, Ireland, and a relative by marriage of Capt. Graham, Dominion immigration agent in this city. He was born in Montreal, on May 1st, 1871, and is now 14 years and 2 months old, and is a credit to his Irish lineage.—The Manitoulin.

The Barley Crop.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 3.—A large portion of the barley crop has been coloured by to-day's rain. The extent of the damage cannot yet be estimated, but it will probably be serious, as the storm covers a large section of country.

A flat denial has been given to the scandalous charges against Sir Charles Dillk.

A TERRIBLE STORM.

Great Destruction in the United States—People Killed and Injured.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 3.—A heavy rainstorm has prevailed throughout this State since last night. Many bridges have been swept away, and a train on the Hanover branch had a narrow escape from destruction. Carroll Creek, which flows into the Catohin at Frederick City, overflowed its banks to-day, and all the people living in the depressed part of the city have been driven from their homes. The destruction is considerable.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3.—The great rainstorm stopped at midnight. The total rainfall in the preceding twelve hours was 5½ inches, an inch more than the entire rainfall during the month of August in either of the last three years, and the greatest fall, within the time specified, on record. The fall was so great and so rapid that the sewers were unable to carry off the volume of water. The 420 miles of sewer pipes are constructed on the basis of allowing an inch of rainfall an hour, but yesterday it exceeded two inches. Early in the afternoon basements and cellars that were more than 10 feet in depth contained between 2 and 3 feet of water. Thousands of rats poured from the sewers and basements as the water began to fill the conduits. The rats ran around the streets scurrying higher and thither in search of places of safety. Numerous families were forced to leave the basements in which they lived and seek for temporary apartments above the level of the streets. The basements and cellars throughout the portion of the south side where the whole of the houses are situated were filled with water to the depth of several feet. At Temple, in this district is a very heavy, though no estimate of the damage can be made at present. The first business firm to ask for assistance from the city was Lyon & Healey, dealers in musical instruments, at the corner of Monroe and State streets, where the fire engine was compelled to abandon the job of pumping out water after two hours of fruitless labor.

RAIDERS, Pa., Aug. 3.—This morning's rain was very heavy and appeared more like a cloud burst. Many of the streets were filled with water from curb to curb, and the first floors of many houses were flooded. The Schuylkill river rose one foot. The moulders in several foundries were driven out by the floods. At Temple, in this county, this morning a hurricane uprooted the Temple Iron Co.'s entire orchard, blew over the company's stable and toolhouse, and created general havoc in this village.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 3.—The storm on Saturday and Sunday was the most destructive for many years. Hundreds of acres of growing tobacco were ruined, nothing remaining but the bare stalks. All traffic on the Columbia & Port Deposit Railway is suspended, owing to wash-outs.

SENECA, Del., Aug. 3.—A terrible cyclone visited this section this afternoon, totally destroying property for miles in a swath 300 feet wide. Sixteen people were killed, orchards, cornfields, &c., destroyed, but no lives are known to be lost.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 3.—A terrific cyclone this afternoon demolished a portion of the works of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company, and injuring several employees. It wrecked the river steamer Major Reynolds and ferryboat Perle, drowning the pilot of the former, and painfully injuring the captain of the latter. The storm then moved on to the Jersey side, striking John Dillig's shipyard, destroying the buildings of the establishment. It demolished all the buildings along one bank of the river to Avenue Camden, when it took an easterly course to Richmond. In its ravages scores of dwellings were unroofed, and some of them thrown down. The damage to business property along the river front is enormous; hundreds of families were rendered homeless, and one victim, Chas. Delany, was killed outright and many others injured. It is feared some passengers on the steamer Ryebold were washed off and lost. The pilot was lost. The body of a woman was seen floating in the river near the spot where the cyclone struck the steamer. Little McKnight, aged ten, was killed at her home. It is impossible as yet to estimate the damage done.

AN AWFUL PREDICAMENT.

A Swarm of Bees on a Man's Back—How He Got Them Off.

Great excitement was caused in Oxford Circus, Regent street, and some of the principal West End thoroughfares of London about 11 o'clock on Saturday morning by the appearance of a tall man, whose back, from his collar to his waist, was literally covered with bees, while hundreds hovered about his head. The man walked in a state of extreme trepidation and in evident fear. As may be imagined, this strange sight in the midst of the crowded streets led to his being followed by a crowd numbering many hundreds of persons. In fact at one time the crowd became so dense that traffic was stopped and the greatest consternation prevailed. It appeared that the man is in the employment of Messrs. Mappin & Webb, and was ordered to convey a swarm of bees which were housed in a basket, to a railway station. Whilst in the act of placing the basket in a van the bee came off, and the queen bee and her followers, numbering many thousands, swarmed upon the man's back, shoulders and head. Terribly frightened, he made an attempt to run away, but the bees maintained their hold, and the man walked on, not knowing what to do, in the hope that his little friends might take their departure, frightened by the noise of the traffic in these central thoroughfares. Ultimately, when he was passing through Oxford Market, a bystander advised him to throw off his coat, and taking the hint, he took off his garment, and then the host of bees took to flight, and the man shook off as best he could, and so did the hundreds of persons that were following him. Strange to say, the man was only slightly stung on the neck. Messrs. Mappin & Webb gave the following version of this singular incident: "Much consternation was caused in this establishment this (Saturday) morning by one of our assistants making his appearance with a large swarm of bees which had settled on him from the head down to the waist, and caused much excitement to a number of ladies and gentlemen in the shop. Fortunately our assistant showed great presence of mind, or the consequences might have been very serious. After walking up and down Oxford street (the great surprise of a large crowd) in hopes that they would fly away, a man eventually assisted him in removing his hat and coat, when these unwelcome visitors took to flight. We are pleased to say our assistant had only a few stings on the head and neck. We think this is almost the first time such a remarkable occurrence has been witnessed in the very heart of London."—The Scotsman.

A Wonderful Freak of Nature is sometimes exhibited in our public exhibitions. When we gaze upon some of the peculiar freaks of nature occasionally exhibited in our minds revert back to the creation of man, who is so fearfully and wonderfully made. The mysteries of his nature have been unraveled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, and through his knowledge of these mysteries he has been able to prepare his "Hidden Medical Discovery," which is a specific for all blood taints, poisons and humors, such as scrofula, eruptions, ulcers, swellings, tumors, and kindred affections. A Giant Oak.

A very long peculiarly strange shaped boat lately passed through the River Mass, attracting the attention of everyone on the water-side. On the boat could be read the following inscription in large letters:—"This oak, which weighs 55,000 kilograms, was in existence before the Flood." The boat really contained this giant oak, of which so much has been talked, and which was found in the bed of the River Rhone, close to the pass which leads to the fortress, Pierre Châtel. This tree, which is in a remarkable state of preservation, although it springs from a prehistoric period, causes general surprise by its enormous dimensions, which are 31 metres in length, 6 metres in circumference at the root, and three metres round the middle; it contains 35 cubic metres of wood. Its weight reaches 55,000 kilograms.

Owing to loss of the bark and sapwood about a quarter of the size has been lost. The wood of this giant oak resembles stone, and people estimate its age at 500 years, not counting the hundreds of years it has lain in the bed of the Rhone. The tree during its period of growth has certainly been a contemptible ornament to the world's first inhabitants, and must then have attained a height of 50 metres. The giant oak is conveyed in a model boat, quite a specimen in its way, and the intention is to let this wonder of nature come to a landing ground by making a journey round the world.—Special Treasury Tidings.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the bands off our Cables, and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a few cents each, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, passing them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the bands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigars, and place them (the El Padre cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (10c.) fifteen cent imported cigars, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a cheap, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine.

We do not object to the consumers paying (10c.) ten cents for our (10c.) "Cable" cigars, (10c.) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c.) cigars; as they are worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Mojito" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

PANTS!

How often does it happen that the general comfort and happiness of man depends on a good fitting pair of pants? Nothing will ruffle a man's temper more than to find when he tries on his latest new pair of pants that they are either too long or too short; that they pinch him so bad in one place that he dare not stoop, and are so large and baggy around the waist and knees that he is afraid he might be taken for the departed "Smith."

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Personal.
Mr. J. E. Hawkins, of Toronto, was in town on Tuesday. He was accompanied by Mr. Harry Yeomans, formerly of Peterborough.

Mr. H. Deane, jr., has returned from the back lakes after a week's sojourn. He reports Mr. Gus. Savers as being the champion canoeist of Stony Lake.

To Commence.
It is probable that Mr. John Kelly and a staff of men will shortly commence work in clearing up and laying out the new grounds recently added to the Little Lake Cemetery. It is expected that most of the rough work will be done this fall and that next spring it will be laid out in flower beds, etc.

Improvements.
Mr. Butcher, the sexton of St. John's Church, has by his good care greatly improved the appearance of the lawn in front of the church. The grass looks fresh and green, and the roadways are kept scrupulously neat. During the past few weeks a number of small evergreens have been planted along the edges of the grounds, and when grown up will make the lawn a beautiful one indeed.

For the Cheapest and Best Boots and Shoes go to the Bon Marche.

Only the Best.
It seems as if Messrs. Porter Bros., the carriage makers, are bent on having the best materials to be had in the market for use in building the carriages and buggies turned out of their factory. They have recently purchased a large quantity of hickory and white ash lumber from Western Canada, and henceforth, as heretofore, only the best materials will be used. Since Messrs. Porter Bros. opened out in Peterborough, they have met with unequalled success, which has been due, in a large measure, to the elegantly finished and durable goods sent out.

The System Completed.
The Brodie Mills system of waterworks has been completed, and it works satisfactorily in every respect. The water is forced up to the top of the tower, where there is situated a reservoir with a capacity of 80 barrels. From this reservoir leads a main pipe, which supplies the hydrants on each flat. On Mill street, in front of the mill, there is a 1 1/2 inch hydrant, and there is also another in front of Mr. Brodie's residence. The system is so constructed that the force may be obtained from either the pump house or the reservoir. A few evenings ago the system was tested, and found to be complete. A good stream may be thrown from the Mill street hydrant over the main building of the mill. To this hydrant is attached 200 feet of Maltese cross 2 1/2 inch hose, and 400 feet of the best 2-inch cotton hose attached to the hydrants of the various flats. The rotary pump was made at the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's Works.

For the Cheapest and Best Tea, Sugars, and General Groceries, try the Bon Marche.

The Lindsay Show.
We have received from the office of the Lindsay Agricultural show, to be held on September 22nd, 23rd and 24th. The principal officers for 1886 are: John Connolly, President; Col. J. Deacon, Vice President; W. E. Swain, 2nd Vice President; James Keith, Sec. Treasurer; and Geo. McHugh and A. McQuade, Superintendents. In the classification of the prize list a large number of industries are grouped, and there is offered a good field for competition. The printer has arranged the matter in book form in a workmanlike manner, printed it in good clear type and adorned it with an attractive and appropriate cover in colored work and tinted paper. We hope our neighbors will have a successful show. We might in this connection remind our readers that the Grand Central Exhibition, open to the Province, will be held at Peterborough on Sept. 25th and 30th and Oct. 1st.

For a Nobby Summer Soir, try Andrew McNeil.

Conspicuous by Their Absence.

The base ball match, Lindsay vs. Peterborough, was to have been played this afternoon, but imagine the surprise of the deputation from the home club, which went to meet the Lindsays and to escort them to their hotel, when the noon train arrived from Lindsay, to find that not a solitary baseballer was on board. They were greatly disappointed, as the match had been already postponed at the request of the visiting nine. The club has been put to considerable expense, and naturally feel that the action of the Lindsays has not been what it should be. Manager Reeves wishes to apologise to the public for the trouble they may have been put to to see the match, and states that he will make an explanation in to-morrow's issue.

New Business Block.

Hunter street, as a business thoroughfare, has gone ahead considerably these last few years. Last summer Messrs. Kingston & Co. erected a handsome double store of a most substantial character, and next to it this season Mr. J. Lynch has been building a block, consisting of three stores. The block is now almost completed, and it presents a good appearance. The front of the ground flat is of iron framework and plate glass, and the upper flat fronts are appropriately ornamented. The block complete cost about $6,000. One of the stores, the one next Kingston & Co.'s, has been let to Mr. J. Griffin, and tenants for the other two will be chosen next week from among a number of applications.

Lindsay Comedy Company.

The Lindsay Comedy Company will open a three nights' engagement at Bradburn's Opera House on August 10th. The Hamilton Times says of their performance in that city:—
"Last evening was evidently a ladies' night at the opera house, the house being filled with the fair sex, who had evidently come to learn something of the horrors of divorce. The rustling of profound handkerchiefs and the shrieking of unmitigated tears bore testimony to the emotional character of the drama, whilst applause throughout was not wanting. The two leading ladies in the play were more than excellent, their acting being vigorous and their dialogue elegant, whilst every part was done full justice to. It is a better play than East Lyns."

Mr. Henry Lindsay is in town to-day making arrangements for the appearance of the company here on August 10th, 11th and 12th.

Laws Social.

The lawn social given at the residence of Mrs. T. Bradburn on Tuesday, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church, was very successful, indeed, considering the short notice that was given. The ladies in charge decided to have the social held at about five o'clock, and the committee in charge of illuminating the grounds were informed at six o'clock that they might go on with their work. At eight o'clock the grounds looked very pretty, and the stands of various kinds were well laden with refreshments. The Fire Brigade Band marched to the grounds at eight o'clock, and half an hour later there was quite a large attendance. The proceeds in all amounted to more than $50, $20 of which was taken at the first stand. The ladies wish to thank the Fire Brigade Band for contributing so largely to the success of the evening's entertainment.

A. C. A. ANNUAL CAMP

A Sunday in Camp—Preparing for the Race—An Excursion.
From Our Own Correspondent.

A. C. A. CAMP, GRIMSTONE ISLAND, AUG. 3rd, 9 a.m.—On Saturday evening there was an excursion on the steamer Magic to Round Island, where there were fireworks, slaying by a bonfire and dancing.

SUNDAY IN CAMP.

On Saturday the wind began to freshen, and on Sunday there was a fresh breeze, trying the tent pegs and the stability of the few canoes that were out.

By the early steamer there arrived some new members. Among them were Mr. F. A. Nickerson, of the Springfield C.C., the Commodore of last year, and Mr. Tyson, of the Toronto C.C.

At eleven o'clock there was divine service, the prayers being read by the Rev. Mr. Lacom, of Conn., and the hymns being sung by a very good improvised choir.

The afternoon was generally spent in social chats, though one party from "Squaw Point" took a drive to the end of the island and back, a distance of 10 miles. There are some good farms on the island, and a little village at the quays at the southern extremity.

In the evening there was a camp fire on a rock behind the ladies' camp, where a large party assembled and by camp and conversation passed away the time.

Today is the day of the race. There is a good fresh breeze, rather stronger than some will like, and unfortunately rain threatens.

A Queer Superstition.

Abram Reed, a farmer living in Beaver township, Pennsylvania, cut down a large oak tree on his farm, and in cutting it up he found embedded in the trunk, seven or eight feet from the ground, a small glass bottle and what had the appearance of a lock of hair. The bottle had been inserted in a hole in the tree made by an auger, then a plug was driven into the hole over the bottle, the hair also being held in the hole by the plug. The bottle was corked, and contained a colorless liquid. Over the plug had grown six solid rings of wood, besides a thick bark. There was a superstition among the early settlers, and it is held by many of their descendants, that asthma and other affections could be cured by the victim standing against the tree and having a lock of his hair plugged in it while the hair was still attached to his head. It must then be cut off close to his head, and the afflicted person walk away without looking at it or ever passing by the tree again. While the use of a bottle was not included in this treatment, it is believed that the one with the hair discovered in the heart of the oak tree was put there in the early days of the settlement by some believer in the superstition to cure an ailment of some kind.—Lancaster World.

Keep the Machine Clean.

Keep the machinery clean—free from all dirt, oil, sawdust, shavings, etc. It will be money in your pockets to see that it is done. Of course we understand that a machine hand cannot keep his machine perfectly clean and run it at the same time. What we refer to is the accumulated dirt, oil and dust which are to be seen in so many mills. (We cannot help thinking, sometimes, but that the man who has not ambition enough to keep his machine looking neat and nice, hasn't ambition enough to be a good workman. That is just the way it sticks, and we don't believe we are far out of the way. If you have your machinery kept clean you can always tell what shape it is in; if it is covered with dust and dirt you can only guess what shape it is in. We will not ask you to wash through a long, heavy article on this subject this hot weather. Only just think the matter over, and see if you won't be better satisfied with yourself if your machine and mill were always kept in apple pie order. We believe you would.—E.E.

THE MURRAY CANAL.

The work on this piece of public work is progressing as rapidly as such tedious undertakings can. The section of the canal affording the most interest at the present time, is that at which the piers are being built upon which to rest the swing bridge for the Central Ontario Railway. On the east side of the work is a wide dyke, which holds the water of the canal back and affords a roadway over to Chesebrough. About three hundred yards west of this dyke is another which, also, is a barrier against the water. This embankment supports the track on the Central Ontario Railway. Between these two huge sand dams is an excavation, in some places over 18 feet deep, and the width of the canal. It is in this space that the railway bridge is being constructed. The dams or dykes referred to are to keep the water back that the men may prepare the foundation for and construct the solid stone biers. Men watch these dykes unceasingly for fear of their springing a leak and being washed out. Being of sand, a small stream would soon grow to a torrent unless promptly checked. In this ravine, which will soon form a part of the canal, are innumerable channels for the flow of water. The banks on all sides leak more or less and would supply a sufficient volume of water in twenty-four hours to inundate the place where men not constantly employed day and night in keeping these waters courses open for a free flow of the water, and in working the large steam pumps which draw the water up into an elevated trough, through which it passes over the embankment into the canal. One pier of the railway bridge is already built, the foundation for the second is ready and piles are being driven to support the foundation for the third. Five viers in all will be necessary for the bridge. This work will be finished this fall, will be let in. West of the railway track is a long channel, which has been dug out by the dredges. Still there is much to be done before the work is completed.—Belleville Intelligencer.

THE NEW MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR

The announcement that Mr. Thomas White, M. P., has been offered and accepted a portfolio in the Dominion Cabinet will be received with pleasure by his many personal friends, by the people of this Province and by the country at large.

The department of which Mr. White will have charge as Minister of the Interior is an important one and is especially important at the present time. A vast domain will be subject to his administration and upon the good judgment of the Minister of the Interior the future of the Northwest largely depends. He will, doubtless, have a task of no small magnitude in settling the claims arising out of the rebellion and in deciding other questions to which it has given rise. When these things are considered it is a matter for congratulation that a man of ability and experience, such as Mr. White is, has been given charge of the department.

The administration of which Sir John Macdonald is the head has administered the affairs of the Dominion in such a satisfactory manner that they now, after seven years of office, find themselves as popular in the country as when they were followed to power, and they have as strong a following in the House, despite the strenuous efforts of the Opposition, as when the people decided at the last general election that they were still entitled to the full confidence of the country. Mr. White's presence in the Cabinet will add strength to a strong administration and increase the popularity of a popular government. We tender congratulations to Mr. White.

A HAMILTON paper says that the volunteers went to the Northwest "simply to act as bum-bullies," and the Globe says that it is "not so very far from the mark." According to the Globe and other extreme Reform journals the volunteers were "bum-bullies," "looters," &c., Gen. Middleton is a concocted incompetent, and the rebels were brave fellows who were "killed for resisting robbery." But the people hold a different opinion.

The Globe announces that there is "a new rebellion in the stocks" and is again endeavoring to persuade the people of the Northwest that they are oppressed. Such newspaper articles had a good deal to do with causing the rising just suppressed. They greatly assisted the agitators. The Government would do well to watch those who would likely be influenced by such articles.

SPEAKING of the rumour that Mr. Thomas White, M. P., would enter the Cabinet, the independent Montreal Star said: "We hope that the rumour is true and in that belief congratulate our esteemed confrere and the country on his appointment. Without pretending to estimate Mr. White's views we regard his entry into the Cabinet as a decided improvement to that body and an advantage to the country."

AN INSURANCE DECISION.

The Liability of Companies to Local Assessment in Ontario.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 5.—Judge Davis yesterday gave his judgment in the insurance appeals. He said in his decision he had been governed in the three classes, foreign companies with head offices out of Ontario, and companies assessed at their head quarters elsewhere in Ontario, by the case of the Phoenix Insurance Company against Kingston, also by a decision of his own rendered three weeks ago and by a decision of Mr. Justice Ferguson. He held that foreign companies having their head offices out of Ontario were assessable at the local agencies; that foreign companies having their head offices in Ontario and assessed there for their whole net income in the province were not assessable at their local agencies; that all companies were liable to assessment; that companies paying their assessment on their whole net income at their head office in the province could not be assessed here; that all personal property in the hands of a company at the time the assessment was made was liable to assessment. Judge Davis also stated that the sections of the act relating to the assessment of companies were very indefinite and obscure, and he hoped at the next session something would be done to remedy this.

ENRIGMORE

VERY CREDITABLE.—The two youngest pupils in attendance at the entrance examinations were Ellie O'Donohue and Annie Crough, of Ennismore, the one only ten and the other barely seven years old. They both passed with flying colours. We congratulate their parents, Mr. John O'Donohue and Mr. Michael Crough. We also congratulate Miss McCann, the efficient and painstaking teacher of No. 1. Only a short time ago we noticed the fact that a young gentleman from this same township, Mr. D. Scotland, swept everything before him in St. Michael's College, Toronto. Our readers are already aware of the fact that in this Township of Ennismore no liquor is allowed to be sold.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

THE REFORM PRESS AND RIEL.

The criminal responsibility of "Riel" is a delicate question to deal with and has puzzled some of the ablest lawyers. Whatever is the result of the trial, it is a foregone conclusion that on immense number of people will be displeased by it, and whatever the result may be, the Grit organs will make political capital of that result. If Riel is hanged the Government will be accused of making him a scapegoat, and if he is acquitted the Government will be accused of arranging a mock trial. Montreal Star (Indep.).

A LEADER WITHOUT VIEWS.

It is undoubtedly true that the Grit leaders have paltered with the trade question in a double sense. They have ruled against free trade, but they have claimed not to be free traders, because free trade is a practical impossibility. They have flirted with the revenue tariff idea, and conspired with incidental protection, at the same time telling the farmers that their interests are injured by protection in any form. Mr. Blake has never grappled with the trade question in a manly way, and is to all appearances content with passive views upon the subject. Toronto World (Indep.).

CARRIED TOO FAR.

Is it an admitted fact that party politics can be carried too far? The question has been and is at the present day being discussed against the men of undoubted ability. It seems to the ordinary mind that common sense ought to settle the matter in a very few words and with very little discussion. At any rate, there can be no doubt that the attempts of Mr. Blake, Mr. Mills and some other members of the Opposition in the Commons of Canada to discredit the Government of the day, and more particularly their "nightmare" Sir John, has been productive of great injury to the best interests of the Northwest. Their constant attempts to hamper the movements of the Government in putting down the insurrection in the Northwest is an absolute injury to our prospects of immigration, on which the future of this portion of the Empire depends. Not only have they been the means of circulating throughout the length and breadth of Canada the most absurd reports, but their speeches have been and are being seized upon by our powerful net labour across the line, translated into various languages and circulated broadcast among the populations of the various countries of Europe. Calgary Herald.

LARGE STRUCTURE, SMALL FOUNDATION.

The Globe, with that ingenuity for which it has become notorious, twists the verdict into a "speezy and distinct condemnation of the Government," and parades this view of the case in its double headed editorial. It bases its interpretation of the verdict on the recommendation to mercy made by the jury. By so doing it says the six men are guilty, but that they are not to be hanged, and that the years of Ottawa misrule not only were the cause, but also the justification as well of Riel's crime. All of which goes to show that the Globe is an adept at building very large structures on very slender foundations. Montreal Star (Indep.).

CHEESE AS A FOOD.

During the present low price of cheese it will be well to bear in mind the fact that one pound of cheese and one-half pound of bread contain as much nutriment as two pounds of beef, whilst the cost of the former is only one-third that of meat. Good cheese is a very nutritious, even more so than eggs. It contains about one-third albuminous material—casein—no fourth part, one-third water, and five per cent of mineral matter. There is no other food, if we except milk, in which the carbohydrates and albuminoids are combined in such a ratio as to produce the best results. Cheese at the present time is producing the best quality of diet in the world, and yet as an article of diet it holds no great place in the country. The present low price of cheese should be the means of introducing it more as an article of diet into Canadian families, and then they need not depend so much upon foreign consumption. Cheese is merely used here as a relish and a luxury instead of as one of the cheapest articles of nourishment. We are fully persuaded that the average families in Ontario use too much meat, and those who wish for a substitute will find it in good, well ripened cheese, eggs and fruit. With these foods people need rarely or never use meat at all. London Free Press.

IT DOES NOT PAY.

Our esteemed Toronto contemporary the Telegraph accuses Sir John Macdonald of craft and subtlety; but really it would do well to try to put a somewhat fiercer point upon its own manoeuvres. It is too open in its endeavors to convert the Riel trial into a means of discrediting the Government. That kind of thing does not pay, even in a political sense. The Globe has been trying it, year in and year out, for the last generation, and what has it achieved by it? Montreal Star (Indep.).

NOT AFRAID NOW.

The Ontario Government is no longer afraid of French domination. At least such is the belief of the Government. That kind of thing does not pay, even in a political sense. The Globe has been trying it, year in and year out, for the last generation, and what has it achieved by it? Montreal Star (Indep.).

THE MINISTER OF MILITIA.

We say it squarely if the general commanding is worthy of marked reward so also is the head of the militia department. Though not a soldier by profession, Mr. Carson did show one of a soldier's first qualities. The ability to act on the instant. Napoleon used to say that the kind of courage he most valued was what he called "two o'clock in the morning courage"—the capacity of acting on the instant of alarm, even at the most unexpected hour. Just this kind of capacity has Mr. Carson displayed on his department, although not on the field. We can scarcely imagine that the special good service he has rendered will be allowed to pass without fitting acknowledgment and reward from the highest quarter. Toronto World (Indep.).

A BAFLED SLANDERER.

The Globe's assertion that the rebellion had been caused by the prince Albert Bordenization Company's issue of notices or verbal threats of eviction to the halfbreeds who had settled on the lands which they had acquired, has been put to rest in the trial of the leader of the rebellion, and the result has been to show that the allegation was one of the most villainous slanders that baffled malignity ever invented. If there had been any evidence to that effect, the eminent counsel who so ably defended Riel would have used it as a strong link in their chain of defence—so justification of the outbreak which their client headed if they had neglected their duty in failing to do so. Riel would have incorporated it in his despairing appeal to the jury. But neither in the sworn testimony, in the powerful address of the prisoner's counsel, or in the speech of the man fighting with all his wits for his life, was there one word to bear out the villainous assertion of the Globe, which thus convicted itself of a base and malicious lie, in overhauling the Minister of Customs, who had nothing whatever to do with the company, invented charges of the most revolting character. Bellefleur Intelligence.

FREDDY WILLIAMS, the English painter, is dead.

BATOCHÉ SUFFERERS.

Their Hatred of their Former Leader—Magnanimity of the Troops Admitted.

All reports from Batoche and the country generally that was the centre of the trouble in the spring agree that the deluded men who took up arms in rebellion at the instigation of Riel and his associates have completely changed their views since the date of the fight. Up to that time they firmly believed that Riel was divinely inspired, and that all the benefits he promised would surely follow their obeying his commands. The result of the conflict—the knowledge that troops were massed on every side of them—the abject terror that Riel displayed when he found power slipping from his hands—the helpless condition in which they found themselves when driven out of their rifle pits and upon the more, combined to force upon them the conviction that they had been deceived, and that in taking up arms they had forfeited their lives and property without securing anything in return. At his bidding they had neglected their work during most of the winter, relying on the assurance that the Government was going to inaugurate on the Saskatchewan would supply all their wants, but when spring came, and with it a deluge of rain, the situation that had kept them up, they found themselves without the means of putting in even such crops as the lateness of the season would yet permit of being planted with a reasonable hope of reaching maturity. The desperate straits to which they were reduced at their thinking, and their esteem and admiration for Riel as the patriot who was to make them all wealthy, was changed to hatred and condemnation of the mountebank who had deluded them, accompanied by the keenest regret that they had given ear to his teachings. They can scarcely realize the irony that led them to believe in his hummeries and absurd pretensions, and are to-day as eager to see him hanged as were the troops on the field of Batoche to see him shot. So high is this feeling amongst those who were his most devoted followers, that it would be safer to set Riel free amongst the men who fought against him than to send him back to his seat of Government on the South Branch amongst those whom he deceived. How far the expression of feeling is true, and how much prompted by the ever prevalent desire to kick a man when he is down, we shall not attempt to decide. Instead of siding their condition better they see when too late that in their mad quest they destroyed the very sources out of which they hoped to bring. They paralyzed trade, so that there is no freighting; they impoverished their country that none are able to leave their employment. In their extremity they are leaving the country, some going to the Appelle and other districts in which they have friends, others crossing the line in the hope that amidst new surroundings that may be able to make the living they deprived themselves of at home.

They all bear testimony to the magnanimity and forbearance of the troops, who spared their lives when they might easily have taken them. So long as they had arms in their hands they had to take the chances of war, but when they were taken and forced to surrender they looked upon it as a matter of course that they would be killed. Riel had told them so, and such had been the custom in all the wars on the plains in which they had previously been engaged. That was far otherwise; Riel proved a false prophet; the white soldier was more merciful than the rebel would have been had the victory been on their side. It is better for all parties that it should be as it is; and had it not been that they instigated the Indians to his devilry, their own crimes and folly would have been the more easily overlooked. Saskatchewan Herald.

What Her Bank Was.

A certain widow who flourished in the city of Cork, and who did a little banking business on her own account, cashing bills for gentlemen in distress, made her appearance at Bath in the height of the season, and her stylish dress and impressive manners made her an object of interest. "She must be a lady of quality," said one gentleman, "A duchess," said another. "A duchess," said a third. "Bath is all wrong," said an Irish officer. "I know the lady well—she is not even a countess." "What is she, then?" was the simultaneous question. "Why, gentlemen, the fact is she is a discountess."

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the brands of Cable Co., and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a cent cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, palming them off as the genuine. We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the brands of the "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (10c) fifteen cent imported cigar, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a musty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine. We do not object to the consumer paying (10c) ten cents for our (10c) "Cable" cigars, and (15c) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c), as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us. Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavoured, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported. The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them. How the Duties Were Devoted.

One day a very pious clerical friend, who had consumed an hour of his valuable time in small talk with Mr. James Harper, the publisher, said to Mr. James Harper, I am curious to know how you four men distribute the duties of your establishment between you. "John," said Mr. Harper, good humouredly, "attempts to do the finances, Wesley in the correspondence, Fletcher to the general bargaining with the printers and others, and don't tell anybody," he said, drawing his chair still closer and lowering the tone of his voice. "I entertain the boys." Brooklyn Magazine.

A REPLY TO SOUTH MORGAN.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR.—Having noticed in your paper of July 24th, a letter written by a person signing himself "South Morgan," who tries, or rather pretends to give, very elegantly, and in elaborate terms, but at the same time very falsely, an explanation of the shooting affair in which Messrs. Mann and Thompson were concerned, I can only say that had these parties come before the court and been made an example of, a thing which they justly deserved, the court would then have published the facts of the case, and saved "South Morgan" the trouble of writing such a quibbling letter as he did of this disgraceful thing. Yes, he might well have kept that his false statements to himself, for false they were, which would have been easily proven had they not got a respectable and responsible man, men who have a dread of seeing anyone sent down for a term, men whom they thought had some influence, and particular friends of mine, to intercede in their behalf and to try and get the affair settled for them.

Allow me now, Mr. Editor, to give you and your numerous readers the true facts concerning the case. I was driving, accompanied by my wife, and a lady and gentleman in another rig just closely ahead, through the township of North Morgan about half past ten o'clock in the evening, and in a homeward direction, when just after passing the hall we observed a trolley either advancing or moving very slowly, on the right hand side of the road, with two persons in it. We went to pass on the other side. One of us got past safely, but when I, being last, came forward, and just as the horse was driving close opposite their rig, a horse went three or four rods right over my horse and in front of where we were sitting on the seat, and so close as for both of us to observe every flash and hear the bells whistling through the air.

Now, sir, I will leave you and your readers to take in the situation—a man with his wife in the buggy and a horse running away breaking the rig to pieces—and I ask every sensible man what he would do, and to say in his own mind how he would act were he placed in my position, and to imagine if such conduct should go unpunished. Now, when I got my horse run up to the fence and quieted down, I was running a considerable distance in the ditch, in which the shafts were broken and my horse otherwise considerably damaged. I got the driver of the rig to hold both horses while I went back on foot and alone to see who the parties were and what their intentions were, but sooner than be known they turned their horse and went back towards Peterborough, something like a dog would do when they have snarled at you and then run away with their tails between their legs. But while I was firing up my buggy a neighbor came along who had heard the firing of the revolver and who said they had not gone in that direction, but had taken the side road and were in line leading into the village of Springfield. I followed along the gravel road, in a homeward direction, bound to find out who they were and to punish them, if possible, and as I came into the village I saw the same party coming from the east on to the main road, a little way ahead of me. They were driving very fast, I followed about a mile and succeeded in passing them, when I told them to pull up, as I wanted to talk to them, but they would neither pull in or speak to me, but whipped their horse and ran past me. They imagined now they had got the wrong boy to play with, and drove at a furious pace to get away, yet I was determined to head them, which I did before driving much further, and securing my horse managed to keep them at bay until I found out who they were, which was all I wanted to do, as I told them.

Now, sir, they offered several excuses, one being calling me by name. "We did not think it was you," we thought it was another person, whose name I will withhold at present, yet this other party has just as good a right to travel the highway unmolested as I have.

"South Morgan" may think I did very wrong in following and finding out who those persons were, but he cannot delude and cheat the public in such a manner. I will simply set him if much writing is in harmony with the view the people take of it, especially in a highly civilized part of the country like this. We think not. I followed them, and would have been following them yet had I not succeeded in finding out who they were, and made them tell their names while I held their horse by the head.

He says also that I acted very wisely in not following them into the village of Springfield, as there were many of Mann and Thompson's friends, "including himself," who would have handled me very roughly, waiting on them there. Now, sir, this is the first time they ever knew there were any such people living in that vicinity who would take such a lawless act as this was, but yet it does seem as though it was, judging from the tone of his explanation, the writer of that part is ever ready to excuse in such work as this, to add a little more to his already too ample portion. Now, sir, the reason of me replying to his letter is not because I consider it worthy of notice, but simply to inform your many readers that I have no dealings whatever with "South Morgan" or his friends, with whom he has taken up the outside, and tried so ably to defend, but at the same time I am one of those that is not afraid to come face to face with him or any of his many befuddled friends in the right, "and to defend my own cause." I go along the road, mind my own business, molest no person, insult no person, and yet I want "South Morgan" to understand that I intend to make them do the same, and be better off for it, and to defend my own cause, as he makes me correct before he gives them for publication. It strikes me very forcibly that he is like the ring leader of a certain gang, who said, let the wind blow east or west, "boys I am with you," and also of a man who was travelling along the highway one day when he was met by another man, who said, "Why, where are you going?" "I am going, sir," the former said, very excitedly, "to look for a man." "What kind of a man you want?" the other inquired. "A man that will mind his own business and let mine alone."

So thanking you, dear editor, for the space in your paper, I remain,

Yours, etc.,

J. E. HOOTEN.

DURHAM, Ont., Aug. 3.—This morning the body of Jennie Edwards, who has been missing from her home on Spilman street here since last Friday evening, was found floating in the canal by Mr. Norton. The deceased was only 17 years of age, and worked in Leonard's knitting mill. On Friday night she received her week's wages and said she desired to keep part for her private use. This the family sternly objected to. Jennie threatened to drown herself. As she didn't turn up on Saturday morning her friends, fearing that she had fulfilled her rash threat, went to the canal and discovered her body floating. Even then they fancied this was but a ruse. The finding of the body this morning by Mr. Norton put an end to doubts as to the unfortunate girl's end.

KEEP YOUR HOUSE GUARDED.—Keep your house guarded against sudden attacks of Cholera, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and Cholera infantum. They are liable to come when least expected. The safest, best and reliable remedy is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

A HEARTLESS case of filial ingratitude has occurred at Millie Lake, Quebec. A mother who had devoted a farm by her father on condition of supporting his parents, aged 88 and 86 years, for the brief remainder of their lives, having sold the property on obtaining possession and inhumanly refused to perform his part of the contract.

A WANT OF ACTIVITY.—Much of the ill condition of chronic invalids is due to want of activity in a slovenly liver. Burdock Blood Bitters arouses a healthy action of the liver to secrete pure bile, and thus make pure blood which gives perfect health.

A RECENT discovery of mica, at Tallahassee, Fla., is reckoned the richest in the world. It is said that block a foot square can be taken out, and that the supply is declared inexhaustible. There is such a demand for the mineral in stove making that it has been growing scarce and dear for several years.

SHOULD BE ATTENDED TO.—Much suffering is the result of neglected constipation. There is no better regulator of the bowels than Burdock Blood Bitters by its prompt attention to the liver and its tendency to irregularity is removed and one chief source of ill-health prevented.

PROF. HUXLEY has ascertained by laborious experiments that a full-grown man's heart should beat seventy-five times a minute, and his lungs breathe fifteen times a minute; that his skin should throw off eighteen ounces of water, 300 grains of solid matter, and 400 grains of carbonic acid every 24 hours, and that his weight should be 154 pounds.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

SINCE the formation of the Tory Cabinet it has been a prevailing fad in London to form anagrams from the names and titles of the Ministers. A special to the Mail quotes one. The letters of the words Lord Randolph Henry Spencer Churchill, Secretary of State for India, may be rearranged so as to read—"I rely upon harsh, eccentric, slap dash rhetoric and drill efficiency."

WE BELIEVE the cause of the wonderful success of our Murray & Leman Florida Water may be found in the fact that the principal aim in its preparation has always been to give the simple natural perfume of flowers, without any chemical addition whatever, and to avoid, by all means, the great error of making a heavy, sticky, sweet perfume.

EVERYBODY knows that temperature as indicated by thermometers has not much to do with personal comfort. The weather is sometimes "hotter" with the thermometer at 80° than at other times when it is 90°. The humidity of the atmosphere is the measure of comfort, and there are a good many humid "sticky" days this summer. For these we cannot escape responsibility as the weather bureau does, by calling the temperature stationary. Waterbury, Conn., American.

A STRANGE DISEASE.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to chronic complaints but that is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

A HOLLANDER in Michigan, who was a poor gardener, working on marshy land near Kalamazoo, 15 years ago, tried celery after everything else had failed, and "stock it." There are now 3000 acres in the vicinity working at the culture of the plant, and what was a worthless swamp is an immense celery field. The crop this last season amounts to 5000 tons, and 80 tons a day are being shipped.

MR. WALLACE, Druggist, of Hastings, Ontario, says:—"I recommend Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters far ahead of all other stomach medicines. It is just the right thing for Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Headache, and Dyspepsia. Large Bottles 50 cents."

IT is reported that the Dominion Government has decided in the case of the patent medicine imported by Ayer & Co., seized by the Montreal Customs officers for undervaluation, to claim the deficiencies of duty for the full three years allowed by the Tariff Act, and to impose in addition a fine of fifty per cent on the full duty.

A CURIOUS COINCIDENCE.—HALIFAX, N. S., August 3.—Mrs. Leitch, of Parramatta, while doing her regular work on Saturday in apparent good health, was stricken with paralysis and died in a few hours. Yesterday John Kirkpatrick her cousin, came to attend the funeral. In the evening he was stricken with the same disease and died almost immediately. Both are now lying in the same room.

CAMPING OUT.—Camping parties still continue to arrive here and depart in boats for Stony Lake. On Monday four members of the "Syndicate Camp," left for Syndicate Island, but they may have had something but a pleasant time pitching tents during the heavy wind and rain that prevailed on that day.

DROWNED.—On Monday evening a young man named Samuel Graham left Hilliard's drive, to paddle with a friend, up to Strickland's drive, at Buckhorn, to see his brother. In returning they ran Lovelock Rapids, but upset in the eddy, where Graham was drowned, his friend reaching the shore in a very exhausted condition. Up to the time of writing the body has not been recovered.

THE STORM.—The wind and rain on Monday did some damage to the standing crops, but on the whole the rain was very much needed.

If the sore is out of order, take with it a few doses of Medcure's Speedy Cure from John McKee's Drug Store.

Merits Proven.—Dollar upon dollar is frequently spent on the faith of recommendations for articles entirely worthless. Not so with Medcure's Speedy Cure; you are not asked to purchase until its merits are proven. Call at John McKee's drug store and get a free trial bottle, and if not convinced it will cure you of any worst form of Catarrh of the Liver, Complaint, etc., no matter how long standing, it costs you nothing. Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Stock Shipment.

On Tuesday Mr. Wm. Deacon shipped over the Grand Trunk Railway to Montreal one car load of stock, consisting of 14 cattle and 6 hogs.

The Civic Holiday.

The Mayor has issued proclamations appointing Tuesday, August 11th, the Civic Holiday for Peterborough this year.

Volunteers Wanted.

The Auburn Sunday School is badly in need of four or five teachers and a librarian. Will some self-denying Christians fill the gap? Any information desired can be given by applying to Francis Mason, Post-office block.

Pensions Granted.

It is stated by the Canadian Gazette that the War Office has granted a pension of £50 a year to the widow of the late Col. Kennedy, of Winnipeg, who died on his way home from the Nile, and an allowance of £12 per annum to each of the deceased officer's children.

Buried.

The body of George R. Newbold arrived at the Bethune street station at noon to day. It came from Columbus to Toronto on Wednesday, and was forwarded on to day. The funeral took place at four o'clock this afternoon from the railway station to the Little Lake Cemetery.

The Prohibition.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly westerly, fine weather, slightly higher temperatures.

For the Cheapest and Best Boots and Shoes go to the Bon Marche.

New Song.

Mr. Julia A. Doucet, of this town, has set to music the very pretty sonnet by Mr. W. Wilder, "Don't Forget Me, Laura Dear." The theme of the production is in harmony with the words, and the accompaniment is appropriately sympathetic. The song has been specially arranged for one of our local vocalists, who is it is thought will shortly make his debut.

A Spill.

While a cart named Shannon was loading empty egg cases on his cart at the Grand Trunk freight sheds on Wednesday evening, one of them happened to fall down and strike his horse's heels. The usually stolid equine did not seem to take well to the treatment, and straightaway bolted, scattering the cases all over the street. He was caught before going far, with no other damage having been done than the breaking of the shafts.

Obituary.

On Wednesday Mr. John Johnston, and old resident of North Monaghan, died suddenly at his residence. Mr. Johnston came to Peterborough 38 years ago, and settled on lot 11, con. 10, North Monaghan, about three miles from town, where he resided until the time of his death. On Tuesday he was walking around and on Wednesday he passed away. He was 84 years of age. A family of six girls and three boys survive him.

New Drug Store.

Another handsome place of business is to be added to Hunter street. Mr. James R. McRae, son of Dr. McRae, of Keene, will open a drug store in the old Darcy House block at an early date. The premises to be occupied are central and commodious, and the store is to be elegantly furnished in Bellegarde's best style. Mr. McRae has had a good training in the business, being for a term of years with Mr. John McKee, and he has had experience, also, in the wholesale trade, being employed in Kenneth Campbell & Co.'s establishment, Montreal. We wish Mr. McRae prosperity and success in his undertaking.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

LACROSSE.

THE COMING TOURNAMENT.

Mr. H. LeBrun, when he offered a trophy for competition between the Shamrocks and Ontarios, left the matter as to what shape the trophy should take to the clubs interested. To-day he received a letter from the Ontarios stating that they were agreeable that the trophy should be twelve breastpins, and in the letter was a rough draft of the style of pin desired. If manufactured in accordance with this draft they will be very handsome, and the set completed will cost $50. Mr. LeBrun telegraphed the order to a first class jewellery establishment to have the pins made at once, and he expects to have them on exhibition at the City Clothing Store on Saturday night. Everything is satisfactorily progressing in regard to the grand lacrosse tournament which is to be held on Monday next. In addition to the prizes offered for the matches, the LeBrun trophy and the Brown cup, the local lacrosse club has offered a beautiful silver cup for the longest throw. Half mile and quarter mile races will be contested (open to lacrosse players) for which handsome medals are offered. The committee in charge of the evening concert are exerting themselves to make it the best of the season. The grounds will be brilliantly illuminated by electricity and every detail will be looked after.

CRICKET.

MATCHES IN PROSPECT.

Mr. J. E. Hammond has received a communication from the secretary of the Out Door Amusement Club of Syracuse, N.Y., asking that the Peterborough cricketers pay a visit to Syracuse. Last year a good match was played between the Peterborough and Syracuse eleven on the Ashburnham grounds, and if a suitable eleven can be got together it is altogether likely that the home club will play a return match. An effort is being made to bring the English eleven, now coming to Canada, to Peterborough.

THE BALL GAME.

MORE ABOUT THE LINDSAYS.

When it was found that the Lindseys had not arrived on the noon train on Wednesday, and that there was a probability of their coming on the four o'clock mixed, the local nine, who were all in readiness, went to the Riverside Park with the intention of giving a scratch match until the visitors arrived. Sides were chosen and five innings were played. The old Peterborough battery, Cameron and Billings, worked together for a while, and for a time Billings caught for Sullivan. Several of the old Pine Groves took positions on each nine, and showed by their play that they had by no means forgotten how to field or bat. After playing until after four o'clock, to about two or three hundred spectators, the two nines left the grounds.

MATCH WITH UXBIDGE.

The following telegram has been received:—
Mr. R. J. Sullivan:
Will be up on Monday sure. JAS. GROVER.
(Signed) Secy Uxbridge R.C.C.
As the Uxbridge boys are to be relied upon there will be no danger of a disappointment.

LINDSAY VS. PETERBOROUGH.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I feel that I owe an apology to the public for the Lindsay vs. Peterborough baseball match, which was to have been played in the Riverside Park on Wednesday afternoon, but I wish, before going further, to say that the failure of the two nines coming together was no fault of the Peterboroughs. In order to show how the Lindseys have acted with our club, I desire to give the following particulars: On June 30 I received a telephone message from the captain of the Lindseys, stating that Uxbridge and Cobourg nines had disappointed them, and asking me to try to bring a team up on the following morning, as a match had been advertised. In an hour's time I answered that I would be there with a team. The match was played with a King-t in battery on the Lindsay side, and the Peterboroughs, four of whom never played in a match before, were defeated by 17 runs, the score standing 18 to 1. After the match the captain of the Lindseys came to me, and thanked me with seeming sincerity for obliging him, and told me that any time the Peterboroughs wanted a match, all that would have to be done would be to give him a day's notice, and that the Lindseys would be only too happy to accommodate us.

On Thursday evening last I sent a telephone message asking the Lindseys to come here on the following Tuesday. Mr. Graham, the Secretary, assured me that they would be sure to come on the desired date. Considerable expense was gone to by the home club in printing, securing band, etc. On Monday night the Lindseys notified me that they could not play unless I allowed them to get a catcher from Toronto, as their regular catcher was laid up. This I agreed to do, and also offered to furnish a catcher provided they could not get one from Toronto. The match was postponed until Wednesday, but when a committee from the home team went to meet the visitors not a batter was to be seen.

The action of the Lindseys, in my opinion, both mean and cowardly, and they seem to be ignorant of the true principles of sport. The Lindsay telephone me that they don't want to be beaten. Do the Lindseys expect to win every match? Did I not know that the Peterboroughs would be defeated when they went up on July 1st? And yet I took up the nine to accommodate those whom I then thought to be gentlemen and to encourage the sport.

Thanking you for your valuable space, and hoping that the people of Peterborough will not blame the home club for the failure of the match, I remain, Sir, Yours truly,

RICHARD REEVES,
Manager P. B. C. C.

Parties desirous of getting a cheap and pretty site for building purposes can on reasonable terms be suited to purchasing the whole front lots on the bank of the river Ottonabee known as the "Hazelbank" property, Ashburnham. Full particulars will be given by applying to Miss Brown, Box 634, Peterborough.

More Attractions at the Golden Lion.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. are daily opening new fall goods. Their grand exhibit this season is well worth your inspection, as they will surpass their former efforts for quantity, variety, quality and cheapness. See their new Cretonnes with Fringes to match, Lace Curtains, Edemine and Embroidered Scrim Cloths, Boating Wraps, Fancy Dark English Prints, etc.

Facts to Remember.
As there will be a large attendance at the excursion to Toronto and Niagara Falls on Tuesday, the Civic Holiday, and the Fremont desire that good time be made in reaching the destination, the train will leave the C. P. R. station sharply at 6 a. m. Good coaches will be furnished, a pleasant sail will be had in a fine steamer and there will be plenty of time for the excursionists to visit thoroughly the wonderful falls.

A New Publication.
Dio Lewis' Nuggets is the name of a new magazine published by the Dio Lewis Publishing Co., New York. A great part of it is devoted to a collection of short and pithy paragraphs, maxims and anecdotes, relating chiefly to domestic and personal hygiene, in which the prevailing errors and vices of the day are dealt with a trenchant and unsparring hand by one of the most prominent sanitarians of the continent. The Nuggets is a valuable publication.

Our Central Exhibition Posters.
The mammoth posters for the Peterborough Central Exhibition have just been issued from the Review job department. They are six and a quarter feet long, three feet wide, and are printed in three different colors. The bill is enriched by a chain border, and illustrated with several cuts of live stock. Altogether, it may be safely said to be creditable to the society, and worthy of criticism as a specimen of printing by our contemporaries. The exhibition takes place on the two last days of September and on the first day of October.

Faucher's Point.
The yacht Pearl will leave Faucher's Park and Peterborough as follows:—
Leave Point, 7:00 a.m., arrive at Peterborough 8:00
" " 8:00 a.m., arrive at Peterborough 8:30
" " 9:00 a.m., arrive at Peterborough 9:30
" " 10:00 a.m., arrive at Peterborough 10:30
" " 11:00 a.m., arrive at Peterborough 11:30
Parties wishing to go to the Point can leave Peterborough at 9 o'clock in the morning, or 6:15 in the evening, and return at 10:30. The Pearl stops in Peterborough at English's wharf. Private parties wishing to engage the Pearl can do so on application by letter to D. Faucher at the Point.

Mark Twain at a Fire.
Rev. J. Hyatt Smith knows more stories about more people than ten average citizens. Among them he relates this: "When I was living with my brother in Buffalo, Mark Twain occupied a cottage across the street. We didn't see very much of him, but one morning as we were enjoying our cigars on the veranda after breakfast, we saw Mark come to his door in his dressing gown and slippers and look over at us. He stood at his door and smoked for a minute, as if making up his mind about something, and at last opened his gate and came lounging across the street. There was an unconscious knocking chair on the veranda, and when my brother offered it to him he dropped into it with a sigh of relief. He smoked for a few moments and said: "No morning."

"Yes, very pleasant."
"Shouldn't wonder if we had rain by and by."
"Well, we could stand a little."
"This is a nice home you have here?"
"Yes, we rather like it."
"How's your family?"
"Quite well—and yours?"
"O, we're all comfortable."
There was another impressive silence, and finally Mark Twain crossed his legs, blew a puff of smoke into the air, and in his lazy drawl, remarked: "I suppose you're a little surprised to see me over here so early. Fact is, I haven't been so neighborly, perhaps, as I ought to be. We must mend that state of things. But this morning I came over, because I thought you might be interested in knowing that your roof is on fire. It struck me that it would be a good idea if—"

But at the mention of fire the whole family dashed upstairs, trailing language all the way up. When we had put the fire out, and had returned to the veranda Mark wasn't there.—

Killed on the Grand Trunk.

Three tramps jumped on a Grand Trunk train on Wednesday near Brockton, for the purpose of sealing a ride. One of them missed his footing and fell between the cars on the track. The wheels passed over his body and neck, and he was instantly killed. The other two seeing what had happened to their comrade immediately fled. The body was picked up and taken to the Parkdale G.T.R. depot, from which place it was subsequently removed to the morgue. Nothing could be found on the clothes of the deceased to identify him. The body appears to be that of a young man.

AN EXCITING FISH STORY.

How a St. Lawrence Muskeel was caught by two New Yorkers.

Two gentlemen sat down yesterday to dinner in the leading hotel where the feature of the menu consisted of a muskeel weighing twenty pounds, caught by Mr. Powell, a merchant of this city, and a companion on the St. Lawrence River, five miles from Brookville, Ont. The fish was caught by trolling.

A strong line was used, and after circling about for a short time, a huge fish leaped out of the water, and diving down again, savagely grappled the spoon. The books suspended from it took hold firmly in the lower jaw of the fish, and then began a struggle between the monster and his captors. The game fish went down the river like a race-horse for a hundred yards, or more, and then, describing a semi circle, sped in the opposite direction. Plenty of line was given for a time, and then the fishermen began to haul in carefully until they got the fish near the shore, but the fish would not let them near it without upsetting the craft.

Meantime a throng of picnickers on the islands hard by had come to the shore, and were excitedly yelling to the sportsmen to be cautious and not attempt to draw the savage monster into the boat. A river steamer loaded with passengers blew her whistle, while the people on board cheered lustily at the furious lashing of the fish.

A little more line was given to the big fish, and then, while one man held on to the line,

the other pulled for dear life toward the American shore. The fish resented this by frequent plunges out of water, but the strong hooks kept hold, and his efforts only served to mangle his body, and the water which he lashed into foam.

The boat was at last run high up on to the shore, and at the same moment Mr. Powell, grasping the line firmly with both hands, drew the fish on land amid the cheers and yells of the picnickers and the people on the steamer.

But the struggle was not ended. The fish struggled about it, while its captors danced about it, and the water was lashed into foam.

Mr. Powell finally got in a blow on the head with the foot rest of the boat, and the game fellow slipped once more, was struck again, and then lay still.

The men were almost exhausted, and having fought for their prize for an hour and a half, the fish was carefully lashed in and shipped to this city. There was not a fish larger enough at the hotel to hold the big fellow and the boat was covered with the fish, and the fish was in that shape it was served and greatly relished by the dinner party. —Montreal Herald.

YOUNG MEN AND POLITICS.

It has been announced that a young men's Liberal convention will be held in Toronto during the time the exhibition is open. It is correct for young men to take an active part in the political affairs of our country, and it is especially so now, as the operation of the new Franchise Bill (which the Reformers so bitterly opposed) will place on the voters' lists the names of many young men who have heretofore not possessed votes. Young men can hardly begin too early to study political questions in order to intelligently exercise the privilege of the franchise, to which so many have now been admitted. There is nothing in the proposed convention or demonstration that causes the Conservatives any uneasiness. If the convention is left entirely in the hands of the young men it may do good, and if it is controlled by the party leaders and managers, as we fear it will be, it will simply be an exhibition, and the speeches or resolutions will be only incidents connected with the show.

The great majority of the young men of Ontario are loyal and patriotic. They desire to see Canada progress and prosper, and become a strong portion of the great British Empire. They are aware that this can only be accomplished by the Dominion being solidly united, and by all parties working for the advancement of the Dominion as a whole, and discountenancing all attempts to introduce discord by unnecessarily arousing sectional or provincial jealousies. A large proportion of those who call themselves Liberals agree with the majority, and if the proposed convention does prove to be a meeting of the young Liberals, and the convention is left in their hands, we feel satisfied that a free expression of their opinions will have a good effect in changing the attitude of the leaders of the party, and of causing them to drop the habit of doing things which injure the country in the hope of discrediting the Administration. Whether it would, while taking from the leaders the chief subjects upon which they delight to talk, furnish them also with a policy, the sequel alone could tell.

We have little hope, however, that it will, in the proper sense of the term, be a young men's convention. The call has been issued by the party managers, and they will most probably hold the strings throughout. Then the convention may afford the delegates some amusement and give the organs an opportunity to use display type in the headlines, but it will not voice the opinions of the young men of the Province. It will not be a young men's convention, and will be so much labor in vain.

The Conservative party is the one to which young men naturally attach themselves. It has shown itself to be the party of progress, the party which endeavors to advance the interests of the Dominion, to build up the country by encouraging manufacturing and giving the farmers a larger home market, to draw the people of the Province closer together as one people, and they have in a great measure succeeded in their endeavors. The young men recognize this, and naturally ally themselves with the Conservative party—the party of the present and the future.

GOLD EXCITEMENT.

A Rush to the Big Bend—Some Profitable Prospecting.

Reports from the mountains are to the effect that the excitement in regard to the gold fields at the Big Bend of the Columbia, a day's march from the second crossing, is on the increase. The railway navies are throwing down their shovels, and shopkeepers closing their stores, all along the line from Laggan to the Belkirk in order to reach the fields.

These are the same fields which caused the excitement in Victoria thirty years ago. They were to have been rediscovered by a party sent out by Dan Mann, the contractor, and the report is that they found the fields by noticing an old mining camp which stood close by. A couple of old billiard tables and a few ruined shacks were all that remained of the mining camp of thirty years ago. It was hard to get grub to the place in those days. A steamer once ascended the Columbia to the Big Bend with provisions for the camp, but it never returned, and the miners got starved out. Dan Mann's party reached the place this summer and began prospecting. They located four claims and $200,000 was offered for one of them the other day. Both quartz and placer have been discovered. The quartz has reached in the assay, 30 per cent, and runs up from $200 to the ton in several thousand. The placer is paying $30 a day per man. Mr. Gordon, postmaster at the end of the track, paid $500 the other day for one 10th share in an undeveloped claim. Several Calgaryites, notably the returned scouts and teamsters, expect to go to the fields as soon as they draw their pay. —Calgary Herald.

A HISTORICAL SECRET.

New the Franco-German War Might Have Been Prevented.

The Paris Figaro has commenced a series of recollections of the last years of Napoleon III., under the signature of "Fidus." They include the following version of what passed on the eve of the declaration of war, which is said to have been obtained from M. Luvet, who was Minister in 1870:—

"The Emperor now believed he was sure, from what was told him, that all was ready, and as regards material this was true. If a war had to be made, there was no man capable of directing it. In this state of affairs the Council of Ministers met. A decision had to be come to. It was no longer possible to delay, and every one was perplexed, not seeing how to escape from this fatal necessity. Suddenly, at an hour already late—5 or 6 o'clock—the Duc de Gramont said:—

"Here is what I propose. Call a Congress of the Great Powers, which will settle the dispute and enforce its decision. Whatever it is, we shall be protected and we will be aided. If the Congress wishes the Prince of Hohenzollern to reign in Spain we have nothing to fear from it. What the Spanish people are in known. They will not support him. His reign will be short, and we shall have no ground for self-reproach. Let us, then, hand over the decision of this great affair to a congress. That means no longer war but peace."

"No sooner was the proposal made than the expression on the faces of the Ministers changed. All were enthusiastic.

"It is deliverance," said the Emperor. "It is unanimously approved of. There is no one in my army further ready until we have the congress. M. Olivier, added the Emperor, 'this resolution must be at once communicated to the Chambers. They are still sitting, and you have time to go to the Chamber of Deputies. Go into the room at the side and draw up a short declaration, which you will read to us and then communicate to the Chamber. I will tell the President to continue the sitting.'"

"M. Olivier entered the side room and remained there a long time, and whether through fatigue or unwillingness, he, who was such a able writer, came back with an utterly unsatisfactory declaration, which met with approval from no one, and which he himself confessed was insufficient. In consequence it was decided that the matter should be delayed until the next day, that M. Olivier should prepare at leisure what was required, and that the document should be read next day in the Chamber. A message was sent to the President that he might close the sitting, and the Council adjourned after agreeing to meet next day at nine o'clock.

"The Emperor, on leaving the Tuilleries to go to St. Cloud, was cheered by the crowd collected in the square and on the quay. The crowd called for war, without understanding what it meant. On arriving at St. Cloud the Emperor was surrounded by several persons who had brought the news of the famous article inserted in the German newspapers, in which it was stated that the King of Prussia had dismissed M. Benedetti, telling him that he had nothing further to add. Count Bismarck had circulated and published this false statement throughout all Germany in order to compromise and bring to force the hand of France, and to trying on war. And he attained his object.

"The deputies and senators who surrounded the emperor, and who had been invited to stay to dinner, were indignant. They tried with each other in expressing most forcibly the necessity for replying to this insolence by a declaration of war. They said, 'It is impossible to draw back; to hesitate would be shameful. The Emperor received the ardent words as accorded with her warm temperament and Spanish pride. Nothing but the 'Marselles' was wanting in the drawing room at St. Cloud. This was the news received on his arrival by the unfortunate Emperor, who had left the Tuilleries reassured, and so full of confidence and hope.

"He saw at once the consequences of this new incident. The congress had become impossible. The declaration could not be made. Other resolutions should be taken; other means sought for. Could war be avoided? There had been the closest approach to an escape. If the declaration had been made at 6 o'clock in the Chamber, there would have been an end to the difficulty; now all had to be begun again."

A Wonderful Frank of Nature

is sometimes exhibited in our public exhibitions. When we gaze upon some of the peculiar freaks of nature occasionally indulged in, our minds revert back to the creation of man. "Who is so fearfully and wonderfully made?" is a question that arises in the mind. The mystery of his nature has been unraveled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, and through his knowledge of these mysteries he has been able to prepare his "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a specific for all blood taints, poisons and humors, eruptions, skin diseases, itching swellings, tumors, and kindred affections. By its use.

HORWOOD.

FIRE AT STONEY LAKE.—On Sunday evening, July 26, the house of Mr. Joseph Hamilton, on lot 31, in the 5th concession of Dumfries, caught fire when the family was out, and was consumed with all the contents. The origin of the fire is a mystery. As there is no insurance Mr. Hamilton's loss is very heavy.

POSTMASTER APPOINTED.—Last week Mr. J. B. Pearce was appointed postmaster for this village. He entered upon the duties of the office on Friday. A man better qualified for the position it would be hard to find. The appointment gives general satisfaction.

THE HAY CROP.—The hay crop in this section has turned out a great deal better than was at first anticipated. The weather for the past two or three weeks has been all that could be desired for saving the crop and there should be an abundance of hay this winter. —Register.

CAMPBELLFORD.

AN HEROIC DEED.—While a woman and a boy were driving along Sebastopol street, a few evenings ago, the horse became frightened at a moving locomotive, and reared and plunged and was about to gallop off. The boy who held the lines was unable to control the animal, and in turning too quickly the buggy was overturned upon the occupants. Just at that moment, Mr. J. T. Vosper ran and grabbed the horse by the head, and the check given the animal kept the buggy poised long enough to allow the woman to get out. The buggy was not broken, and the horse after a short time became quiet and resumed its journey.

FAOON.—The trade in exportation of frog meat from Campbellford is not so lively as it was last year, and the price has declined about one-half. There are only a few catchers in this locality who have hunted the frog this season, and their harvest so far has been light, only a few barrels having been shipped. This is not owing to any blight in the fertility of the frog family, as there are scores of old farmers who are fast friends to be seen upon the Trent and in the bays, as they approach and so easily captured as ever, but doubtless to the fall in price, as the Americans export not caring to invest more than 50 cents per pound for choice hams of the frog. Last year 40 and 50 cents per pound was paid for meat of this description, and dealers across the line snapped at any quantity offered them at this figure. The demand probably was great, now as it was then, but so many frog catchers have entered the rivers and streams in different parts of the country, plying their business, of late, that the supply has extended to a great extent any previous year. Prices may advance with the fall trade, but will hardly ever rise to the fancy figures paid during the past few years. —Herald.

Lying in State.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The line of people to view General Grant's remains at 10.30 a. m., stretched down the west side of Centre street to Chambers street. There it turned the corner and extended to Broadway where another band carried the solid ranks down to Canal street, where the people were dropping into line. At 11 o'clock solid ranks completely encircled City Hall Square. At that hour between 30,000 and 35,000 persons had passed the caisson. The floral offerings of the Board of Aldermen was set up during the morning. The central column rose ten feet and was flanked by stands of colors while the base was a bed of roses, ferns and palms, among which was placed huge rows of white bouquets.

The report that Crown Prince Frederick William had been injured by an accident at Zarnow was without foundation, and the traveller who started the story has been arrested.

Nothing will ruffle a man's temper more than to find when he tries on his latest new pair of pants that they are either too long or too short; that they pinch him so bad in one place that he dare not stoop, and are so large and baggy around the waist and knees that he is afraid he might be taken for the departed "Smith."

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

Honey bees are said to be irritable when a storm is approaching. To utilize this constitutional peculiarity as a barometer, the expert beekeeper is advised to stand around the hive the more he gets stung the better it will be likely to storm.

Reports from all parts of the country except California indicate a good honey crop. The failure comparatively in California, and the lack of bees in the Northwest, will be almost sure to bring good prices for all the honey that will be produced.

Nest of long-winged sheepshead some eight inches wide along the entire length of a cribber's manger and sprinkled with cayenne pepper. The horse will be broken of this habit if the pepper is occasionally renewed, says an English authority.

The stallion "Lumber" is now 31 years old, and yet his health is so good that he bids fair to last some time yet. Twenty three of his get are in the 230 list, five of them having a record better than 2.30. These five are: St. Julien, Glister, Alloy, Bodine and Driver.

It is a good thing to have plenty of help in drawing in grain or hay. An advantage may often be secured by drawing in grain with two wagons and if possible with two teams. This is especially important where grain is stacked, as it is unprotected until the stack is completed.

In a good crop of wheat the grain gives nearly or quite as much weight as the straw. With care and barley the grain is usually in excess of the straw so far as weight is concerned. In the ripe straw usually weighs more than grain, and near a good market is often worth more.

The great difficulty with the bean crop is that the ground should never be cultivated while either soil or plant is wet. Neither should dry soil be turned up against the rows, as it will ruin the leaves when rain comes. We in the hill must be removed by the hoe, and neither cultivation or hoeing should be done after beans are in blossom.

Many horses have the habit of sleeping standing up. It is a very injurious habit and the horse should be broken of it if possible. The narrow stalls in which horses are often placed make a recumbent position very difficult. It is cruel to the animal to place him in such a stall after doing a hard day's work.

As soon as a horse's colic can be distinguished from the colic those not needed to keep over for another year as breeders should be sold for whatever they will bring. A yearling increases in weight so slowly that it is generally worth more as a broiler in one year than it is at any other period of its life.

The city market for straw invariably calls for that having a hard, firm texture. This does not soil readily, and one bundle can be used many times in succession. But most grain farmers wish to use up as large a quantity of straw for bedding as they can, and for their use oak or barley straw is better than wheat or rye.

In case of high prices Eastern farmers are tempted to bring rough land ready for cultivation under the plough. Now the competition in grain growing is so severe that all such pieces should be put into grass as quickly as possible and kept as pasture land. The profit will be small, but it is better than cultivating a loss.

The sugar industry of the United States, by Harvey W. Wiley, chemist, issue of the latest pamphlet of the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Its 225 pages contain information in relation to cane, beet, sorghum, and maple sugar, besides elaborate drawings of machinery and processes, engravings, and a colored map of California.

In England rock elm is considered so valuable that it brings $2000 per 1,000 cubic feet. Farmers in the Grand Marais region of Michigan are making a good thing from cutting rock elm and selling it for shipment to England. The price they get is comparatively small, but large for a wood that they had not before considered especially valuable.

WATERING PLANTS.

Watering plants in dry weather needs to be done with care, or it may do more harm than good. Simply pouring a little water upon the warm and scorched surface soil about the plant is of doubtful benefit, if it does not do positive injury. If the soil is light, so that the water does not puddle the surface, and cause it to bake, it may do no harm; but with heavy clay soils, we much prefer a finely pulverized surface to the baked crust that is sure to follow copious watering. Pulverizing and mulching are perhaps the best preventative of injury by drought.

But it may be asked why does not the application of water work profit, when we know that rain is so beneficial? The conditions are quite different. A shower of rain usually extends over a whole township or county. The refreshing water is distributed alike over forest, field and garden, cooling both the atmosphere and the soil. It usually falls so slowly that the parched earth has time to drink it in for the benefit of the thirsty vegetation. Have you ever noticed what a copious shower it takes to wet a drought-parched soil to the depth of 3 inches?

What takes place when the gardener pours a pint of water at his favorite plant, at the close of a hot midsummer day? The soil is so heated that the water is quickly dissipated. Every particle of soil that it comes in contact with changes a portion of it to vapor, while the thirsty air quickly inhales all that comes in contact with it. The roots have little opportunity to profit by it, so short is its duration, and the baked surface that is sure to follow copious watering promotes evaporation from the soil, while it retards the absorption of dew.

If water is to be given in dry weather, we think it better to make holes about the plant with the dipper or a can, fill them with water, and then cover the tops of the holes with loose earth. This will prevent the baking, while the water is deposited where it will come in immediate contact with the roots.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward. We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the bands off our 50. Cable Co., and sell them the "Cable" cigars in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, passing them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the bands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, passing them off as the genuine "Cable."

We do not object to the consumers paying (10c.) for our (the "Cable" cigars, and (15c.) for our "El Padre" (10c.) cigars as they are well known to the public, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Don't be misled, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

Enslavement of Root Crops.

In England much controversy has ensued upon the question of the economy of ensilage as against root crops. The English Ensilage Commission is expected to settle this question. The testimony of Sir John Lubbock before the commission was adverse to ensilage, as have been his writings generally. Mangels (field beets) are one of the great cleaning crops of England, just as Indian corn is in the United States—may be in fact called, in connection with rutabagas and white turnips, the great fallow crop of British agriculture. Their advantage is that the also cultivation required, entirely free the soil of weeds, and furnishes heavy crops for cattle feeding, and which the mild winter climate of England allows to be fed at a minimum cost. They are, however, exhausting to the soil, and great crops are secured only at the expenditure of a correspondingly large dressing of manure. Yet as excellent food for the winter they value cannot be overestimated.

In the United States, and especially in the West, the cultivation of roots for winter fattening of cattle will never be economically practiced. Whatever may be the increase in their cultivation as a special food for use in special classes of stock—as in valuable breeding animals, for instance, it may be policy for such breeders to raise field beets to a limited extent. It never will be profitable to raise rutabagas in the far north. The climate is not suited to turnips, which require a cool, moist climate. Beets may be grown successfully, if they get a fair start before our hot, dry weather comes. No root crops, however, may serve the double purpose of a cleaning and a feeding crop until the relative value of labor and crops are largely changed. Hence Indian corn must continue to be the great fallow and fattening crop of the West.

Remedy for the Headache. We desire to call attention to a simple, and at the same time wonderfully efficient, treatment for headache. We lay no claim to originality, nor do we know who the originator was, but having used it for a year or more, and in many cases with remarkable results, we feel disposed to give our endorsement, and desire to make it more generally known. The remedy is nothing more or less than a solution of the bi-sulphide of carbon. A wide-mouthed glass tumbler half filled with cotton or fine sponge, and upon this two or three drams of the solution are poured. When occasion for its use occurs the mouth of the bottle is to be applied to the temple or as near as possible to the seat of pain, so closely that none of the volatile vapor may escape; and retained there four or five minutes or longer. For a minute or so nothing is felt, then comes a sense of tingling, which in a few minutes—three or four usually—becomes rather severe, but which subsides almost immediately if the bottle be moved, and any redness of the skin that may occur will also quickly subside. It may be repeated, if necessary, several times in the day, and it generally acts like magic, giving immediate relief. We believe this to be the basis of a once popular nostrum. The class of headaches to which it seems especially adapted is that which may be grouped under the broad term of "nervous." Thus, migrainic, periodic and hysterical headaches, and even many kinds of dyspeptic headaches, are almost invariably relieved by it. True, the relief of a mere symptom is quite another thing from the removal of the cause, yet no one who has had the distress, and even agony, caused by severe and frequent recurring headaches (and who has not seen it?) but will rejoice to be able to afford relief in so prompt and simple a manner; besides, it is sure to secure the hearty gratitude of the patient if he has suffered long.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Amateur Match.
The junior lacrosse club will play a Norwood team on Riverside Park, Tuesday, 11th. Ball to be faced at 2 o'clock.

Recreation Park.
This celebrated picnic ground is only four miles from Belleville. Parties who desire it can take a sail there on Monday next, when an excursion will be run from Peterborough to Belleville. Return tickets only $1.

The Camp.
The third military brigade has been ordered into camp on September 8th. If suitable grounds can be obtained the camp will be in or near Peterborough. Steps have been taken to secure proper grounds, and it is altogether likely that those in charge will be successful.

Recovered.
The body of the young man Jos. Graham, who was drowned in Lovessie rapid a few days ago, was recovered on Thursday forenoon. It was brought to the house of the father of the deceased, and the funeral took place this afternoon.

Personal.
The Rev. I. Towell, pastor of the George street Methodist Church, left town on Thursday to spend a week's holiday in the Muskoka district. During his absence the pulpit of the church will be occupied by the Rev. Chas. Davis.

The Weather.
The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock.....	63	29.35
1 o'clock.....	73	29.22
3 o'clock.....	74	29.27

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly east and south east, cloudy weather with rain, slightly higher temperature.

The First Load.
The first load of this year's barley arrived in town today. It was taken to H. Calcutt's brewery where the grower, Mr. Robt. Robertson, of Smith, received 80 cents per bushel for the load. The grain was bright, plump and of a good quality in every way.

Bill of Fare.
At the Rochester Fruit Store. Black Raspberries, Cherries, Watermelons, Muskmelons, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Apples, Black Currants, Red Currants, Plums, Pears, Green Corn and Garden Vegetables of all kinds. E. G. Stone, Proprietor.

To the Point.
The Sons of England of this town have decided to run an excursion to Sturgeon Point on Tuesday, August 11. The excursion party will leave by the Grand Trunk Railway and go by rail as far as Lindsay, when they will take the boat and sail down to the Point. The trip will not be too long and no doubt will prove to be a pleasant one.

Shipments of Bridges.
The Central Bridge Works seem to be doing a thriving business this summer, and it is probable that with the increased facilities to be afforded in a few months these works will be able to compete with the largest factories of the kind in Canada. As it is, however, the Peterborough factory seems to be holding its own, for Mr. Law has recently shipped a girder bridge to Toronto. This bridge will span twenty hollow, Yonge street. A few days ago two more bridges were shipped by the same manufacturer to Stratford. One will span the river and the other will span a creek running between two townships in the County of Perth.

For a Good Pair of Tweed Pants, or a Good Suit at Half Price, see what they have at the Bon Marche before purchasing.

For a Nobby Summer Suit, try ANDREW McNEIL.

THE MILITARY BALL.

The Northwest Veterans Spend a Pleasant Evening at the Lansdowne Rink.

The Military Ball given at the Lansdowne Rink on Thursday evening, under the auspices of Company G of the Midland Battalion, may be considered a success, though it was not so well attended as it should have been. The committee in charge spared no expense and time in making complete arrangements. The rink was beautifully decorated with flags and mottoes and long loops and festoons of different colored bunting hung overhead from gallery to gallery. At eight o'clock the Fire Brigade Band, twenty strong, marched to the rink. The entrance had been very tastefully arrayed with Chinese lanterns and evergreens, and before nine o'clock several hundred of dancers and spectators passed under these decorations. The spectators were conducted to the gallery, which during the evening was the scene of a constant promenade.

At about nine o'clock the dancing commenced and was continued, with the exception of a half hour's intermission for lunch, until after three o'clock. The 57th Band orchestra furnished music of an excellent character.

The dark uniforms of the battery men were quite conspicuous among the majority of red coats, and among those on the floor were representatives of the 42nd, 46th, 57th and 49th battalions.

Captains Rogers and Langford, of Nos. 3 and 2 companies respectively, Surgeon Kincaid and Lieut. Hammond were present.

There were about seventy-five couples on the floor, and for these the large floor of the Lansdowne furnished abundance of room to dance.

POLICE COURT.

LARCENY.

FRIDAY, AUG. 7.—Peter Hanson was charged by C. B. Routley with having stolen from his fancy goods store a metal chain.

The prisoner pleaded guilty. The Magistrate said that though the value of the article was small, yet the merchandise must be protected against such light fingered gentry. He sentenced the prisoner to three months in goal at hard labor.

INTERFERING WITH THE POLICE.
John Bell was charged with having interfered with a police officer when in the discharge of duty. He pleaded not guilty.

P. C. ADAMS was sworn and testified that he had been interfered with by the defendant when taking the defendant's cow to the pound.

The Magistrate, in fineing the defendant $5, said that he wished the public to distinctly understand that the police officers were not to be interfered with in the discharge of their duty.

The defendant was given three days in which to pay the fine.

Patrick Camarvas was up on a similar charge. He had come up to P. C. McGinty and, although not striking the officer, yet had threatened to do so. The prisoner pleaded guilty, but stated that he had just come to this country and did not as yet know the rules of the town. He was fined $3 or ten days in goal.

D. AND D.

Michael Murray was charged by P. C. McGinty with having been drunk and disorderly on August 6th.

Michael pleaded guilty, saying he had not been up for three years. He was just going to leave town and himself and a few chums had decided to have a bit of a spree. The Magistrate decided to have Michael contribute $2 to the town coffers, or postpone his exit from town for a space of ten days.

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables. Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, hams and bacon.

Civic Holiday.

The steamer Golden-Eye will run an excursion to Idyl Wild and Harwood on Monday, the Lacrosse Civic Holiday, and on Tuesday, the Firemen's Civic Holiday, to enable all parties to enjoy a pleasant sail on the River and Rice Lake. She will leave the wharf at 7.30 a.m., and return at 7.30 p.m. Round tickets, 50 cts.; to Fancher's, 25 cts. R. W. Carson, Master.

More Attractions at the Golden Lion.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. are daily opening new fall goods. Their grand exhibit this season is well worth your inspection, as they will supply their former efforts for quantity, variety, quality and cheapness. See their new Ornaments with Fringes to match, Lace Curtains, Edrains and Embroidered Scrims (Cloth, Bunting Wraps, Fancy Dark English Prints, etc.

For Shirt Collars and Ties, try the Bon Marche.

Fancher's Point.

The yacht Pearl will leave Fancher's Park and Peterborough as follows:—

Leave Point, 7.00 a.m., arrive at Point 10.30
" Peterboro' 8.00 a.m., arrive at Point 10.30
" Point, 4.00 p.m., arrive at Peterboro' 6.30

Parties wishing to go to the Point can leave Peterboro' at 9 o'clock in the morning, or 6.15 in the evening, and return at 10.30. The Pearl stops in Peterboro' at English's wharf. Private parties wishing to engage the Pearl can do so on application by letter to D. Fancher at the Point.

Fall Exhibitions.

The dates of the following fall fairs have been announced:—

Peterborough, Central Exhibition, Sept. 23th, 24th and Oct. 1st.

Industrial Fair, Toronto, Sept. 7th to 19th.

Provincial Exhibition, London, Sept. 7th to 12th.

Lindsay Central Exhibition, Sept. 22nd, 23rd and 24th.

SPORTING EVENTS.

LACROSSE.

THE CHALLENGING TEAMS.

Mr. G. H. Giroux, Secretary of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, has received from both the Shamrock and Ontario Lacrosse Clubs the list of the names of those who will comprise the teams to compete for the LeBrun trophy on Monday. They are as follows:—

SHAMROCK.

Prior, McKay, Daly, McGuire, Butler, Hart, Tithy, Hamilton, Adams, Devine, Green, O'Neill, Martin, Cheyne.

Mr. M. Polan, the old captain of the Shamrocks, will captain the champions, and Mr. Dan. A. Ross will captain the Ontario. It will be seen that both sides have strong teams and considering the value of the trophy offered, it is not likely that the match will be merely an exhibition game.

NOTES.

Mr. LeBrun has received the evidence in full in the matter of the Orilla vs. Beaverton championship match. The claims of both complainants and respondents are fully set forth. Each member of the Council has received these volumes, and it is expected that the final decision will be given in a few days.

The medals to be competed for on Monday are on exhibition at Mr. LeBrun's store.

The Evening Wisconsin of July 31st gives a list of the names of the local team who will play against the U. S. champions, the St. Paul's. No fewer than three Peterborough boys take part in this contest. Mr. P. J. Walsh plays goal, Mr. J. D. Moscrip cover point, and Mr. B. G. Wright, centre. The match is to be played on the 17th.

THE TUNE.

TRIAL OF SPEED.
This evening in the Driving Park there will be a trial of speed of Mr. J. E. McIntyre's two running horses, Greybird and Nancy Lee. The track is in good condition and good time is probable. There will be no admission fee charged. Three mile heats will be run.

CRICKET.

BANKERS AND MURLEY VS. FINEED SLAVES.

A game of cricket will be played on the Association grounds to-morrow between the Bankers and Murley vs. Fined Slaves. A victory of the scientific game, also a close observer, delineates the play of the bankers eleven as follows and bespeaks for them a victory:—

BANK OF MONTREAL.—R. M. Hamilton: A good all round man, specially good behind the wickets. Beware of stumps! G. A. Lawford: A magnificent field, especially in the slips, has improved very much in batting.

ONTARIO BANK.—C. McGill: A steady bat, a good long stop or long felder. A. E. Ames: A stirring cricketer in every way; very pretty bat, good felder. Jas. Morris: A very strong bat, a first class felder and a bowler who some times takes wickets. E. Fort: Medium pale bowler with tremendous break; fair average in betting this season.

BANK OF TORONTO.—A. St. A. Smith: A solid bat, scoring fast when well set; particularly fond of leg hits; first class field; fair change bowler; should have played on the International. C. H. Geale: Good field, fair change bowler, needs more practice. P. K. S. Cooper: First rate bat; good man to break bowling; splendid field and fair bowler. G. A. Hamilton: One of Peterborough's coming cricketers.

BANK OF COMMERCE.—G. F. Orde: Pretty bat; good free hitter; certain on the field. Grey: One of the best bats on the team; fair change bowler; good felder.

Since the good qualities of the preceding players have been brought out, an admirer of the eleven gives his opinion as follows:—H. T. Strickland, good reliable bat, fast bowler; T. Bathford, very hard hitter, good wicket-keeper; Dr. Geo. Burnham, the most reliable man on the field; C. J. Logan, magnificent bowler and a good all round man; J. E. Hammond, good field and a hard hitter; E. A. Peck, graceful at bat, plays in good form and scores well; W. Starchy, one of the best bowlers in the team and a curd bat; M. Sanderson, a cricketer that can be depended upon; R. B. Rogers, safe for 80 runs, good field; W. Babine, bowler with his hand, a sure bat; Max Hamilton, bowler, batsman, felder—all good; Jas. Irwin, plays a good point.

THE BALL GAME.

THE LINDSEY EXCURSION.
Referring to the disappointment caused by the Lindsay club not keeping their appointment here, the Post says:—

"The Lindsay club regret very much indeed that they could not get to Peterborough in the form they would like to be in to play that club. Although arrangements for the match were made somewhat hurriedly, the Lindsay men would have been able to have been able to do a satisfactory work all round. Mr. Bates has been laid up for a week with a broken finger, and Lovett refuses in having a large and rebellious ball under his right arm. An effort was made by the Lindsay men to get a man from Toronto as supply, but was not successful at such short notice. The match will be arranged for again, when it is to be hoped all things will be propitious. The Lindsay men appreciate the trouble the Peterboroughs have taken to have things in good shape and to work up a good feeling in favor of the match, and will try and ensure that another disappointment shall not occur."

From this, the best excuse the Lindsay club can offer, it will be seen that they could have come to Peterborough, but could not come "in the form they would like to be in." They were afraid of being beaten, and feared to come on that account, although it was to have been only a friendly match. Most people will say that they should have manfully kept their engagement, and if they had been defeated allowance would have been made for the absence of the outsider, if the Toronto man had not come. Especially should they have done so on account of the action of the Peterboroughs on July 1st. At the same time we hope to see the feeling aroused pass away and a good understanding again arrived at.

AQUATIC.

THE CHEMONG LAKE REGATTA.

The Chemong Lake regatta was held on Thursday. The weather was fairly favorable, but the attendance was by no means what it should have been.

The first race was the one mile single sculls contest. There were two entries, Messrs. K. G. Leach and Geo. Stevenson. Leach won, with Stevenson a length and a half behind. There were five entries for the double canoe race, namely, J. and F. Taylor (Indians), Geo. Ritchie and Geo. Brunwell, Joe. Tabler and W. Nicholls, J. Daly and R. Montgomery, and J. Carr and G. Coons. The Indians pulled out from the first and won easily, with Ritchie and Brunwell second, and Tabler and Nicholls a close third. Daly and Montgomery paddled half way up the course and rested themselves until the others came back and then joined in the race. They were too heavy, however, and were again left behind.

The boys' paddling race was won by W. Wheaton, an Indian boy, with C. Dunbar second. A silver cup was offered for the last mentioned event, and handsome engraved gold medals for the other races.

Just to close out about 2000 yards of Chas. Prints at 8 cts. See them at the Bon Marche. Best value in Peterborough.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

THE RAVAGES OF CHOLERA.

MADRID, Aug. 7.—Incomplete returns show 2,378 new cases of cholera throughout Spain yesterday, and 910 deaths. The academy of artillery at Sagovia has been closed because of the prevalence of cholera among the students. At Lagrava riots have taken place, the poor people resisting the measures attempted by the sanitary authorities.

A WAR FEELING.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Despatches from St. Petersburg say that there is a strong war feeling in Russia and that military preparations are in progress in Finland.

ARBITRATION DROPPED.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The British Government regards the arbitration of the Penjdeh disputes as dropped by the tacit consent of each Government.

A RIOT IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Aug. 7.—While a number of Orangemen were to-day returning from a farm in County Monaghan, where they had been cutting hay as substitutes for evicted tenants, they were met by a party of the latter in company with sympathizing friends, and a serious attack from them they fired on the crowd, wounding the chief man. Great excitement then ensued. The police had to be called out in force to preserve order and several arrests were made. Further trouble is feared.

MEETING OF STEAMSHIP AGENTS.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 7.—A meeting of agents of steamship lines was held here yesterday with a view of calling a conference of agents of all the steamship lines in the Kingdom. The meeting resolved to propose an increase in the storage rate to America of £1, and to arrange a minimum rate for freight.

LORD RANDOLPH CENSURED.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Lord Randolph Churchill is censured by the Standard and all the Liberal papers for discussing, in his remarks on the Indian budget, a purely financial question in a polemical manner.

A NEW TRIAL REFUSED.

DUBLIN, Aug. 7.—The Court of Appeal have unanimously refused to grant a new trial in the action of Hibel brought against Mr. Wm. O'Brien by Mr. Bolton.

THE GERMANS IN ZANZIBAR.

CHOLERA IN FRANCE.

PARIS, August 7.—The Government will grant a credit of 600,000 francs for cleaning the sewers. Spanish refugees crossing the Pyrenees are not back to Spain. Travellers on the border are generally maltreated. Two cases of cholera are reported at Lyons. The epidemic began this year in houses which were infected last year, and is due to uncleanness.

THE AMER PREPARING.

LONDON, August 7.—Advices from Cabel say that the Amer has laid aside large sums which he intends to devote to the enlargement of his palace one of the barracks and forts at Herat and elsewhere. War councils are held weekly, and after each council a courier is despatched to Earl Dufferin. The rumors of a conflict between the Afghans and Russians at Maruchak are untrue.

A COLLISION EXPECTED.

RUSSIAN DISTRICT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 7.—The majority of the Russian newspapers profess to have no confidence in the apparently pacific declarations of Prime Minister Salisbury. They base their distrust on the perceptible and constant increase of England's military preparations.

THE A. C. A. MEETING.

The Association meets—A Wet Day in Camp—Some Close Contests.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A. C. A. CAMP, Grindstone Island, Aug. 5, 9 a.m.—On Monday, as was anticipated, the weather was very unfavorable for the first day of the A. C. A. race. There was a strong breeze, with showers of rain from the early morning.

The first race, however, a mile paddle for class III., was started with three entries. The competitors were placed as follows:—

1. M. F. Johnston, T. C. O.

2. T. Dunham, Harvard C. C.

Gould, of the Kickerbocker C. C., captured soon after the start. Johnston won with ease in 15 min. 30 sec., Dunham being 2 1/2 minutes slower.

The weather now became so bad that the remainder of the programme was postponed. The wind increased to a gale, several canoes of those who ventured out were upset, a number of tents were blown down, and Mr. Cartwright's yacht dragged its anchor.

At Squaw Point, sheltered by a grove of trees, there was comparative quiet, and some of the larger tents became reception rooms, in which the time passed away very pleasantly.

On Tuesday, as the weather was finer, though the breeze was still rather more than sufficient, the programme of the previous day was resumed.

THE SECOND RACE.

A one mile paddle for class II., brought out three starters, who were placed by the judges as follows:—1st W. A. Lyle, Toronto C. C.; 2nd, G. E. Edgar, Jr., Newburgh C. C.

The winner's time was 12 min., 50 sec., and Edgar's time 14 min., 30 sec. R. W. Baldwin, Ottawa C. C., was a good third.

THE THIRD RACE.

A one and a half mile sail for novices not having sailed before this year, had four starters, the result at the winning buoy being as follows:—1st H. Stanton, K. C. C., 2nd, Mr. Stanton handled his canoe remarkably well and was "chased" by the Kickerbocker on landing. Durham unshipped his rudder before reaching the first buoy. Mr. Turner, soon after turning the buoy, also unshipped his rudder, when he got out on the beach and re-shipped it. Immediately after getting under sail again he captured and was towed in. Stanton's time was 19 minutes, the best sailing time of the meet.

FOURTH RACE.

Paddling, class IV., one mile, was postponed till next day as was the FIFTH RACE.

GEN. GRANT'S FUNERAL.

An Immense Funeral Procession—Impressive Service at the Grave.

New York, Aug. 9.—The funeral of General Grant yesterday was the most imposing sight ever witnessed in America. This city and Brooklyn were completely in mourning. It is estimated that the funeral cortege was over five miles long and contained 70,000 men. All the regular troops, sailors and marines, every regiment of the National Guard and all the posts of the Grand Army of the Republic in this vicinity were in line. The President and the members of the cabinet, all the foreign ministers and the governors and other representatives of every state in the union occupied carriages. The streets along the line of march were impassable for hours and traffic was entirely suspended until the cortege had passed. The whole city was out and tens of thousands of strangers were present. Those who witnessed it will never forget it. The services at the grave were very impressive and were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Newman. The naval procession which moved up to the park at the same time as the funeral was one of the largest ever seen here. Everything passed off in the most satisfactory manner. The mourning decorations were unparalleled in the history of America. A very large number of Canadians, including the members of the Press Association, were present.

A FRESH supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HABILLMENT HALL.

YOUNG MEN FOR CANADA.

Mr. Geo. E. Williams, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., has handed in the following for publication:—"Mr. W. H. Newitt, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. of Manchester, Eng., is enjoying a trip through Ontario and the Northwest, and is especially interested in promoting the emigration to Canada of young Englishmen of the better class, who may obtain employment on farms and improve their condition. His objects are briefly stated as follows: 'My life has been spent among thousands of young men in Liverpool and Manchester, and I have found that many of them prefer, and are more fitted for a farming than a commercial life. It is time wasted for such young men to work five years as apprentices in offices, if they are eventually to become farmers in Canada, for they are only increasing the greatly overstocked clerk market at home, and not getting the right kind of experience for their after life. In the interests of such young men, I have several times visited Canada, collecting the necessary information as to locality, demand for farm labor, &c., and arranged with reliable correspondents, who, like myself, have no self-interest in the matter, and who have previously found out by correspondence the farmers in their neighborhood desiring help, are ready to receive and place out with these farmers the young men I send. Then there are many young men who, failing as clerks at home, wish to emigrate to find similar situations in Canada, and others whose idea of farming there is interesting and shooting. To all young men, and in my letters to the papers on this subject, I have been careful to point out that in Canada clerks are not wanted, no inexperienced, lazy young men, but that had being the one thing of which the supply greatly exceeds the demand, there are very few prospects for young men of good character, hard working and ambitious, who wish to do the work of farm life (as compared with their previous social state), to do what they are told, to learn what they can, in order that by serving a farmer for a couple of years, they may gain the necessary experience for working their own land. Not being a land or emigration agent, having only future interests of young men at heart, and being thus careful to explain to suitable intending emigrants, young men brought up in comfortable homes, that farm life really is, and to keep unimpaired intending emigrants from going, I am pleased to say I have only known one to return dissatisfied, of all the young men to whom I have given letters of introduction during the last three years, and his father and I both strongly tried to persuade him not to go. Many have, and are doing well, and the last letter I received in a young man I sent out to Winnipeg two years ago, when he was twenty years of age, earning eight shillings per week in an office here, and who after getting the necessary experience with farmers for two years, told me he has just taken his own farm of 500 acres."

The Brampton Excursion.

"The Grand Excursion to Peterborough on the Ontario Railway, Thursday August 13th, under auspices of Court Union No. 10, Independent Order of Foresters of Brampton, promises to be successful. Everybody is anxious to see Peterborough and enjoy a ride on the C.P.R. new line east of Toronto. We hope the farmers will have the chief part of their grain in the barn and be enabled to go along for a holiday trip. It will repay everyone to go and see the pretty and busy town on the Ontario river. Belleville is reading a large excursion party to Peterborough on the same day, Thursday 13th. Our lacrosse club goes with the excursion to play a match with the Peterborough club. Street-vendors also go along to furnish music."

A NORTHWEST CANARD.

AFTER the carnival of seasons in which the Northwest revealed for four months it cannot rest in its comparative quietude now, and sometimes whose imagination overcame his good sense manufactured a yarn a few days ago about the murder of eight persons by Indians near Maple Creek. The story was telegraphed to the east and published throughout the country, and is probably still floating around the world, carried on by the telegraph and the newspapers. At the time of the rebellion, when affairs in the camps of the different columns were not stirring enough, a "canard" was put up in some place near the border, at Qu'Appelle, or at some other point, to satisfy the desire of the sensation manufacturers for reading startling news to the east. Now that the rebellion is over they do not seem to be able to drop the evil habit, and we may look for such reports once in a while.
There will be enough news to send from the Northwest for some time to keep it before the Country, and it would be well if the Hearstian fabricators could be discovered and punished.

THE people of Canada learned with regret of the illness of Sir Leonard Tilley, and the hope will be general that he may soon be restored to good health. Sir Leonard is an able Minister of Finance, and he has done good service in that capacity. It was he who formulated the National Policy, after its adoption by the Conservative party and the people, and his operations on the money market of London, assisted by the increased confidence in Canadian credit caused by the sound policy of the Government of which he is a member, were brilliant in their outcome.

THE Government has prohibited reprints of the exposures published in the Pall Mall Gazette which caused such a sensation in England, from being brought into Canada. Right thinking people, who do not desire to see demoralizing literature scattered through the country, will say that the Government has done right. Whatever excuse the Gazette may have had for publishing such matter in London, no good purpose could be served by having it placed within the reach of everyone in Canada.

FEMALE FORESTERS.

A new movement, in the shape of a special benefit society for their lady relatives and friends was inaugurated in this city last evening by the members of the Ancient Order of Foresters.
For some time correspondence about this movement—commenced on the Pacific Coast a year or two since—has been in progress, and last evening, Bro. J. Falconer, of San Francisco, having arrived for the purpose, instituted a "Circle of Companions of the Forest," with the following officers:
Companion F. G. Pollard, Chief Companion;
Companion Mrs. W. Murdoch, Sub-Chief
Companion; Companion John Croston, Secretary; Companion Mrs. A. Edwards, Treasurer;
Companion Mrs. A. Edwards, Right Guide;
Companion Mrs. Croston, Left Guide; Companion
Mrs. Elliott, Inner Guard; Companion Walter
Murdoch, Outer Guard; and Surgeon Dr. A. H. H.
Considerable enthusiasm was displayed at the meeting, and the new circle promises to become an excellent auxiliary to the "Ancient Order" by bringing in the wives, sisters and daughters of members. About seventeen ladies' names were enrolled. The sick and funeral benefits of lady members will be $3 per week with medical attendance in case of sickness, $10 to married lady members on the birth of each infant, and $50 to members' widows in case of death. It was decided to hold an adjourned meeting for the installation of officers, initiation of new members, and other business at St. Mark's school room on Friday evening next.
The Circle of San Francisco, instituted two years ago, has already 250 members, with the sums in a flourishing condition. The movement is expected to spread among the Courts
here.—Montreal Witness.

REJOICING IN LIMERICK.

LIMERICK, August 6.—There is great rejoicing here over Lord Carnarvon's withdrawal of the proclamation against Limerick because of the city's refusal to pay the extra tax levied against it on account of the extra police put on duty during the political excitement under Earl Spencer's government. The municipal council, the same body that refused to pay the tax, met to-day and unanimously appointed a deputation to go to Dublin next Saturday and confer with the Earl of Carnarvon about the tax dispute in accordance with his invitation.
There is now every prospect that the dispute will be amicably settled.

THE A. C. A. MEETING.

Home Capital Races—An Exciting Home-
Camp Fire at Headquarters.
From Our Own Correspondent.

GRINDSTONE ISLAND, Aug. 6, 9 a. m.—On Wednesday the second day's racing programme was the order of the day. The weather, though gloomy at an early hour, soon brightened, and there was at least sufficient wind.

TWELFTH RACE.
Paddling class IV, in cruising trim, not less than 200 pounds weight, one mile.
1. W. F. Kipp, St. Lawrence C. C.
2. R. W. Gibson, M. C. C.
3. R. Martin, Hamilton, Ont.

There were four starters, the competitors soon singling themselves out as placed, and increasing the distance between them. The winner's time was 11.30 and Gibson's was 12.55, Martin's 13.45.

No. 13 was accidentally omitted in making up the programme.

FOURTEENTH RACE.

Three mile sail for class B, no ballast.

1. P. M. Wackerhagan, Mohican C. C.
2. F. F. Andrews, R. C. C., Montreal.
3. C. B. Vaux, N. Y. C. C., New York.
4. R. W. Richards, Brockville C. C., Greba.
5. R. B. Edwards, Peterborough C. C., Varina.
6. R. W. Gibson, M. C. C., Snake.
7. R. S. Oliver, M. C. C., Marion R.
8. F. H. Rathbun, Deseronto C. C., Mar.
9. R. W. Bailey, Pittsburgh C. C., Katrina.
10. C. F. Holskip, Peterborough C. C., Freya.

This was a very pretty race from the great number of starters, thirteen, the closeness with which the majority of them kept together, and the near contest for places between several of the canoes. The time of the winner was 51 m.
and 40 sec.; of Andrews, 56.40, and Vaux, 58.55.

FIFTEENTH RACE.

A 3 mile sail for class A, no ballast.

1. A. K. Nimick, Pittsburgh C. C., Nirvana.
2. Ford Jones, Brockville C. C., Ilex.
3. G. E. Edgar, Newburgh C. C., Day Dream.
4. H. W. Shaler, Essex C. C., Nereid.
There were seven starters and a very good race.

The time of the winner was 58 min. 30 sec.; of Jones, 64.45, and of Edgar, 71.10.

SIXTEENTH RACE.

A one mile paddle for class II, in cruising trim, weight at least 120 pounds, was postponed.

SEVENTEENTH RACE.

A mile and a half sail for class B, cruising

rig:—

1. R. W. Gibson, M. C. C., Snake.
2. R. W. Bailey, Pittsburgh C. C., Katrina.
3. P. M. Wackerhagan, M. C. C., Ilex.
4. R. W. Richards, Brockville C. C., Greba.
5. C. B. Vaux, N. Y. C. C., Sea Bee.
6. R. B. Edwards, Peterborough C. C., Varina.
7. F. F. Andrews, R. C. C., Montreal.
8. E. R. Edwards, Peterborough C. C., Varina.

It was a very pretty sight, as the 18 canoes started. Vaux, in the Sea Bee, soon drew ahead, closely followed by Gibson in the Snake.

This was the position as they rounded the first bump, with most of the others following in a very short string. On turning the second buoy the Snake had gained the lead, while the Sea Bee had fallen back to fifth place, Wackerhagan, Richards and Bailey having passed Vaux. The time of the winning canoe was 25 min. 25 sec., Bailey's was 26 min. 10 sec., and Wackerhagan's 26 min. 15 sec.

EIGHTEENTH RACE.

A mile and a half sail for class B, cruising

rig:—

1. A. K. Nimick, Pittsburgh C. C., Nirvana.
2. R. W. Shaler, Essex C. C., Nereid.
3. H. W. Shaler, Essex C. C., Nereid.
4. G. E. Edgar, Newburgh C. C., Day Dream.
5. H. O. Bakewell, Pittsburgh C. C., Lady Jane.

The smaller canoes were started a quarter of an hour after the larger class. There were five starters. The time of the winner was 34.10, of the second canoe 38.30, and of the third 31 min.

THE FOURTH RACE.

was now taken up and resulted as follows:—

1. W. F. Kipp, St. L. C. C.
2. J. L. Jackson, St. L. C. C.
3. R. W. Gibson, M. C. C.

NINETEENTH RACE.

A one mile paddle for class III, in cruising trim, weight at least 100 lbs.:

1. M. F. Johnston, T. C. C.
2. E. Gould, K. C. C.
Johnston's time was 11 min. 25 sec., and Gould's 11 min. 32 sec., it being a very closely contested race from start to finish.

TWENTIETH RACE.

A mile and a half sail for unclassified canoes,

no limits of ballast or rig, was postponed.

A BERRY SCRAP.

1st G. B. Wilkinson, B. C. C.,

2nd, M. F. Johnston, T. C. C.

This was a very amusing race. The six competitors had to run down the hill and along the pier to their boats, where they plunged into water and swam to their canoes moored 50 feet from shore. After getting into their canoes they tried to paddle 300 yards around a buoy in the winning point. Wilkinson's excellent swimming and activity in getting into his canoe secured him the victory.

TWENTY-SECOND.

Canoe gymnastics was postponed.

LADIES OVERBOARD!

In the course of the afternoon great excitement was created by a large paddling canoe upsetting just opposite the pier, where a cry arose that there were two ladies on board.

More than a dozen canoes dashed at once to the rescue, apprehensions being allayed when it was seen that the occupants of the canoe were clinging to it with help close at hand. On the party being landed much laughter was caused by the fact that the ladies were in a very harmless and in very masculine style. Some lads had dressed themselves up in feminine attire to enact this little scene.

CAMP FIRE.

In the evening there was a general assemblage round a camp fire at headquarters, where the commanders and officers entertained the ladies and members as their guests. Songs were sung, refreshments were handed around, fireworks were set off, and colored lights at intervals illuminated the scene.

The statue of Liberty enlightening the world was (at length) mounted on a pedestal, the effect being very good as the flaming uplifted torch and auxiliary lights displayed the classic drapery and towering form.

Another episode was a comic serenade under bandmaster Shedd, the musicians having Chinese lanterns attached to their huge instruments. They were followed by men bearing long lines of Chinese lanterns, so that the effect was very good as they manoeuvred on the hill side, and at length disappeared like a fiery dragon over the brow.

This morning the weather is very fine and promises well for the remaining race, though it is blowing rather fresh for the review to take place.

B. SHORTLY

EATING THEMSELVES.

Terrible sufferings of a shipwrecked crew at sea.

The barque Copeland was lost off the west coast of India in June, and the sufferings of the crew, which consisted of Capt. Ferguson, two European mates and a number of Chinese, have been terrible. On June 10 the vessel leaked so badly during a terrible storm that her abandonment was forced. They started in the evening for the Carver coast, about 100 miles distant. Had the violence of the storm abated, this journey might have been accomplished without exceptional suffering, but the unfortunate men met with a continuance of the gales they had endured for nearly two months, and a half, and were obliged to keep continually heaving to keep their frail craft afloat. For three days and nights they were tossed about fearing each moment to be scuttled, and with no other sustenance than could be derived from some cigars and tobacco—which by an odd change had been placed in the boat—and from the little water they managed to catch in the black tin that served them as a sail. Their physical sufferings during these three days were intense, the constant exposure to the sea and the bad weather causing their legs to swell, their eyes to become inflamed, and their bodies to break out all over their bodies. But now came the most horrible part of the story. One other effect of the exposure was to cause the feet of several of the men to become so hardened and swollen that those who were unable to chew the tobacco used to have it placed in their mouths and eat it. Occasionally, too, the starving wretches are said to have greedily devoured their own shoes. Meanwhile, Captain Ferguson—who was to have obtained little or no rest—was obliged to keep the boat more than once refused to bale out the boat, on the philosophical ground that, as they had to die, they might as well do so without working—here bravely on his way, and kept the boat headed for the Carver coast, which he was rewarded by seeing on the night of the 30th June, the whole of the crew being safely landed on the following day.—Sunday Gazette.

GEN. GRANT'S FAMILY.

Mrs. Grant, the Grant boys and girls, who married barons.

Gen. Grant's family is one of peculiar interest, the more so since the "Grant boys" have become known to almost every newspaper reader since the great tidal wave swept over them, and because of Mrs. Grant's emphasis "so" to the precisely proportioned of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, when he offered to remit her husband's debt. Mrs. Grant met her husband in St. Louis in 1847. She was the daughter of a merchant, Frederick Dent, and sister of one of his West Point classmates, and in August, 1848, was married to General, then Lieutenant Grant, who almost immediately joined his regiment at Detroit. Mrs. Grant is a comely, but by no means beautiful woman, who achieved unusual prominence as mistress of the White House. She was retained by all who enjoyed her unassuming hospitality. As the wife of an unfortunate veteran she appears even more amiable as a woman, doing to comfort with her independently and with dignity, the financial storm which overtook him. Her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Grant Barlow, has something of her mother's amiability, coupled with the love of society, which characterized the wife of the general. Mrs. Barlow is 31 years of age, and was married seven years ago to Algonquin Barlow, the only son of an ex-member of the English Parliament, whose general reputation is more extensive than his financial resources. The "Grant boys" are Col. Frederick, Ulysses S. Jr., and James R. Fred. in Gen. Grant's eldest son. He is 25 years of age, graduated from West Point in 1870 and married a Miss Howe, of Chicago, whose sister married Potter Palmer, the hotel man. Col. Grant was on Gen. Sherman's staff after he left West Point, but secured leave of absence to accompany his father around the world. On his return he resigned his commission, became vice president of the Texas Narrow Gauge Road, and subsequently settled down in New York as a member of the firm of Grant & Ward. Ulysses S. Grant, Jr., is a Harvard graduate, has been married five years to ex-Senator Charles's daughter, receiving with her as a dowry an elegant home and $400,000 in money, all of which has been swallowed up in the failure of this famous family. Mrs. Grant is a lady of great refinement, having been educated at Parker Institute, Brooklyn, and in Heidelberg, Germany. She is an invalid. James R. Grant, the youngest of the General's sons, is a young man, a graduate of Cornell, and the son-in-law of Col. Chapman, the California business king. James is of a mechanical turn, has perfected a number of inventions, and is interested in an electric light system in New York city, where he resides on East 50th street, New York, with Mrs. Gen. Grant.

THE CAPTURE OF FORT HAMILTON.

How the Commander of H. M. S. Flying Fish made a dash on the land.

The following extract from a letter from an officer of H. M. S. Flying Fish giving an account of the holding of the flag on the latest British possession, will be interesting to many of our readers:—

"We returned to Manila for coal, etc., about April 2, and found two urgent telegrams from the Commander-in-Chief ordering us up to Hong Kong at full speed. The only incident worth mentioning on the passage up was sighting a Russian ironclad (the Mina) just outside Hong Kong. The captain sent for the first lieutenant and ordered him to clear for action, remarking: 'It's most unfortunate, but we must make a running fight of it.' You can imagine the 64-pounders (two in number) being loaded, sea-cocks, etc., moved out of the way, and the poor old fish trying to maintain a fighting ship. However, we were not molested, but got to our journey's end in peace and safety. On arrival at Hong Kong we found things had slumbered down a bit; however, in a day or two a fresh scare took place, and we got telegraphic orders from the Commander-in-Chief to hoist out our chart boxes, cook house, steam launch, etc., and replace our two 7 inch guns, which we accordingly did, working day and night and making life miserable. As soon as the job was over and we expected to get a rub of paint and settle down as part of the Hong Kong defense, we suddenly got orders to be ready for sea the next day. They lifted us up below and on deck with mines, electric cables and torpedo boats. During our retreat Cooper and Lyons had gone through a two days' whitewash course, remarking that they would have charge of some of the torpedo boats in case of war, but they were sent off all the same. The ship was provided with a tender in the shape of a big steam launch, purchased from the Hong Kong Government. Of course our orders were sealed, but it was an open secret that we were bound for Fort Hamilton, which we eventually reached, having only encountered one ray of wind on route, which compelled us to run ashore to secure our tender. At Fort Hamilton we found four or five small craft and a lot of timber sent over from Nagasaki for the defense of the port. The flagship was at Nagasaki, so we found ourselves under orders, and at once set to work to lay down the mines and build the boom wherewith to block the smaller entrance. I was told off with the captain of the Merlin and an engineer to fit and lay the mines; and thanks to the first rate tender and our torpedo boat we got on first rate. Guns made on a plan and scale, and we had a Korean junk refuge, with commodious sail-rigged boats to shelter our mines and cables all conveniently situated on a small island handy by the main entrance. One night we had a grand scare. A steamer was seen coming in about 9 p.m., and on being boarded proved to be a Russian transport, with in the captain, a naval officer, and on account of a leaky boiler. He (the captain) also wanted to land and look round; but as he might have had a Russian ensign in his pocket was advised not to until he had called on the senior officer. Meanwhile, all the small five craft and our own powerful vessel had been cleared for action in accordance with private signals which we had made, and in the dead of night three parties were landed to block Union Jacks, so that in the evening the summit of the three islands were decorated with our glorious flag, and a sentry looking after each of them. The Russian came on board in the morning and congratulated our captain on the latest British possession, and not getting much change out of him, he and a Japanese man-of-war cleared out to inform their respective Governments, and we were left to continue our operations in peace for a day or two. Another transport arrived the day after with more mines and cables; so all hands had plenty to do, what with the booms, sailing, loading stores, etc. But our proud position was not of very long continuance, for one morning the Champion arrived with the flag of King Harman, the flag ship's torpedo lieutenant, so I was kicked out of my billet more quick. However, I had the satisfaction that he approved of and adopted our plan of laying the mines, and extended it with the new gear brought up from Hong Kong. We sailed for Nagasaki next morning in company with two Chinese Armstrong gunboats, with an admiral and a Chinese admiral on board. The admiral had depended on us to object to the annexation of the Korean king's domains. Would you be surprised to learn that the gunboats ran us ashore in about five minutes, in spite of a strong fast mine laid full across the entrance? However, we managed to get in, as John Chinaman "no care" to go into the harbor in the dark. The admiral didn't give us much time to enjoy the delights of Nagasaki, as he shoved us off for Hong Kong the second day; and a nice old time we had of it, digging out against the moon, with lower yards and topmasts down, the temperature going up daily, till now it is only ten degrees lower than Hades. We are as present in Kowloon dock, undergoing a spell of purgatory. The small boat, no question, and the hammering of 1,000 Chinamen combined is enough to drive one to drink or a lunatic asylum. The guns have disappeared, and the deck-houses come just to the upper deck. Of our future movements we know nothing; but now peace seems secured, the plan of our commissioning the Glen Ogle, an armed cruiser here, is abandoned."

BETTER MILK—Cause and Prevention.

There are several causes for bitter milk. The most prevalent is the presence of ragweed or other bitter weeds in the hay. This is almost always the case when (yours or another's) hay is fed, and at times when corn fodder from a nearby field is used. The flavor of ragweed is so persistent that it appears in the cream and butter and spoils the latter for use. This is to be expected, because the flavor of ragweed and other plants added to it is due to an essential oil, which will naturally combine with the cream and remain in the butter. The flavor of it also affects the butter in the fall from cows pasturing in meadows. The only remedy for this defect is to avoid the cause. Another cause in which all seem to agree is that in certain conditions the milk of farrow cows will be bitter. This peculiar flavor is perhaps caused by some change in the character of the milk which indicates that the secretion is not pure, and that milking should cease. Other opinions are to the effect that the cow is not in good health and the products of some disorder are being discharged in the milk; an occurrence which frequently happens, and which shows how necessary it is to guard against any injurious use of the milk of diseased cows. Cows suffering from tuberculosis, or consumption of the lungs, will continue to give milk copiously, but its flavor is exceedingly disagreeable, and nauseous at times, being mawkish and bitter, and quite unfit for use.

It is certain that milk is made bitter by premature decomposition produced by the remains of stale milk in the udder of the cow, and in all these cases the remedy or the means of prevention are obvious. No wooden stall should be used in milking or in setting milk. Wood absorbs the milk into its pores, and when the stall is used the milk becomes contaminated, fermented and decomposed and will surely injure the milk by infecting it with a leaves of putridity. The pails and pans should first be washed with cold water, then with hot water and soap to remove the grease, then rinsed, and finally scalded with boiling hot water, wiped with clean dry towels, and afterwards placed out of doors to air in the sunshine.—American Agriculturist.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party of parties who take the bands off our Cable Co., and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in their homes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also sell one brand cheap, saying cigars, palming them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the bands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigars, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (15c) fifteen cent imported cigar, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a trashy, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine.

We do not object to the consumers paying (10c) ten cents for our "Cable" cigars, and (15c) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c) cigars; as they are well known, and especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us. Do not be deceived, cheap cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

GEN. MIDDLTON was entertained to dinner at the Toronto Club on Friday night by the officers of the Royal Grenadiers.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

An abnormally low temperature was recorded in Santiago de Chili, the capital of the Chilean republic, on Thursday, the morning on the ponds and waterpiped being frozen for some hours.

A STRANGE DISEASE.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to cholera complaints but that is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Cholera Dyspepsia.

BOTH the Marquis of Salisbury and Karl Carnarvon deny the charge made by Radical journals that they refused to let portions of their estates for the erection of dissenting places of worship.

MR. WALLACE, Druggist, of Hastings, Ontario, says: "I recommend Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters for all other stomach medicines. It is just the right thing for Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Headache, and Dyspepsia. Large bottles 50 cents."

"A LIFE POLICY" says Benjamin Franklin:—It is the CHEAPEST and SAFEST mode of making a certain provision for one's family. It is a strange anomaly that men should be careful to insure their houses, their furniture, their ships, their merchandise, and yet neglect to insure their lives—surely the most important of all to their families, and far more subject to loss. Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Abide With Me.
The St. Paul's Church choir sang, on Sunday evening, that beautiful hymn, Abide With Me, as set to music by Mr. J. B. Parker.

Peter Connell.
A special meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock. The business of the meeting is the amending of by-law No. 407.

No Issue.
In accordance with the Mayor's proclamation, setting apart Tuesday, August 11th, as the Civic Holiday, the day will be observed by the Review, and no issue of the EVENING REVIEW will be made.

Remember.
Remember the excursion to Belleville. Return tickets good for the civic holiday, to-morrow, August 11th, only cost one dollar. To be had at the bookstores. Train leaves to-morrow at 7.30 a.m.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—North-east and north-west winds, fine warm weather.

A Fine Feast.
We have received from the REVIEW office one of the large posters announcing the Peterborough Central Exhibition. It is without doubt the best job ever got out in this district, and would be a credit to any office in the Dominion.—Peterborough Times.

For heavy Factory Cotton at 5 cents per yard, go to Turnbull's.

Camp Minerva.
The members of Camp Minerva have returned to town, and, after a pleasant two week's sojourn at Stony Lake, have settled down again to business. To judge from their rich brown countenances, the boys seem to have subjected themselves in a liberal manner to old Sol's influence.

The Wreck Cleared.
On Sunday afternoon engine No. 612 left Peterborough for the scene of the recent wreck on the Grand Junction branch. Another engine from Belleville assisted in pulling on the cars and dragging the imbedded engine from the track. The Belleville train took the shattered remains of the cars and also the injured engine to the city of the Bay.

Big Camping Party.
The luggage belonging to a big camping party, thirty-seven in all, from Port Hope, passed through on the Grand Trunk Railway this morning en route for Stony Lake. Messrs. Popple and Hawkins, the advance agents, passed through here a few days ago to make preparations for the reception of the party at the Lake.

Riverside Park.
Arrangements have been made for a big day on Tuesday. The Riverside Lacrosse Club will meet the Norwood Lacrosse Club in the Park. Prizes will be given for running, jumping, etc. The Norwood club will be accompanied by their splendid band, led by our old townsmen, Mr. A. Friesen. There will also be on the grounds the celebrated bagpipers and the Italian harpers. Entrance, 15 cents.

For a Good Pair of Tread Pants, or a Good Suit at Half Price, see what they have at the Bon Marche before purchasing.

The Falls of Niagara.
Remember that the Fireman's excursion to Toronto and Niagara Falls will be run to-morrow. Remember that the train will leave the C.P.R. station at 6 o'clock a.m., sharp. Remember that one ticket will take you right to the famous falls. Remember that by attending you will have a pleasant ride, a beautiful sail in a palace steamer, and a view of grand scenery, and will visit one of the greatest wonders of the world. Remember that the Fire Brigade Band will attend. Remember that you and your friends should go. The firemen will be called out by an alarm which will be sounded at 4.30 o'clock. Don't forget!

The Vote.
The vote on the Town Buildings by-law and the Waterworks By-law is being taken to-day.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Room.
Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served at all hours.

Lansdowne Roller Rink.
There will be races and a grand march at the Lansdowne Rink this evening. Five Brigades Band in attendance.

Lost and Found.
A newspaper man belonging to some Press telegraphed from Havelock this morning that he had lost a "Mackintosh." It was found and is at the C.P.R. station.

25,000 for 25 Cents.
Wilson & Morrison will accompany the Fireman's excursion to the Falls to-morrow, and will supply tickets on the train at the above rates. People's Insurance Office.

Grand Evening Social.
The grand evening social under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club takes place this evening. An excellent programme has been prepared by the committee in charge and the affair promises to be a complete success.

Smith's Market.
Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables, Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, game and bacon.

Turnbull is now showing new striped Dress Goods with plain to match in all prevailing shades.

Artistic Painting.
Mr. H. W. Wilson has just finished a piece of ornamental painting on one of the plate glass windows of Mr. J. McClelland's jewellery store. The design is very handsome and the work is accurately executed.

The Weather.
The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock.....86 75	29.2
1 o'clock.....78 81	29.3
3 o'clock.....75 83	29.3

Look! Look!
The Yacht "Pearl" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Fancher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

Civic Holiday.
The steamer Golden-Eye will run an excursion to Lily Wild and Harwood on Monday, the Lacrosse Civic Holiday, and on Tuesday, the Fireman's Civic Holiday, to enable all parties to enjoy a pleasant sail on the River and Rice Lake. She will leave the wharf at 7.30 a.m., and return at 7.30 p.m. Round tickets, 50 cts.; to Fancher's, 25 cts. R. W. Carson, Master.

A Nobby Summer Suit, try ANDREW McNEL.

An Accident.
Mr. W. Kelly, a laborer on the Canadian Pacific railway gravel pit at Pontypool, climbed up into the steam shovel on Saturday afternoon to make some repairs. The ropes gave way and let himself and the large dipper to the ground. The dipper struck the ground first and Kelly fell on it cutting his legs badly and receiving a wound on the head.

The very best Bumble and Twisted Cottenseed for harvesting, to be found at Turnbull's.

More Attractions at the Golden Lion.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. are daily opening new fall goods. Their grand exhibit this season is well worth your inspection, as they will surpass their former efforts for quantity, variety, quality and cheapness. See their new Outcomes with Fringes to match, Lace Curtains, Edgings and Embroidered Border Cloths, Boston Wraps, Fancy Dark English Prints, etc.

For Shirt Collars and Ties, try the Bon Marche.

To Men Only, Free.
"Secret Sin and the Pall Mall Gazette." Mr. W. H. Newell, Secretary of the Manchester, England, Y.M.C.A., will give a lecture on this subject on Monday evening, 11th August, at 6 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. Mr. Newell has had long experience with the subject of his lecture, and there is no doubt that what he says will be useful, especially to young men. All men are invited. Boys under 14 will not be admitted. No charge will be made for admittance, but a silver collection is requested.

The Theatre To-night.
Harry Lindley and his talented company will make their bow to-night at a Peterborough audience, and we bespeak for them a large patronage. As will be observed by advertisement in another column the company remains for three nights in Peterborough with an attractive bill for each night. This evening the favorite piece entitled "Hazel Kirks" will be presented, and from all we can learn those attending will be delighted. An exchange says:—

"To Harry Lindley and his Company there are few faults to be found; but there is room for much commendation. Some persons the part assigned them in one play better than in others. Of Harry Lindley himself we are not called on to say anything. He has long had a reputation which is growing brighter and better every year. His side spinning wit and droll humor combined with his inimitable acting bring down the house every time. Miss Laura Burton, whose really name is famous in theatrical circles for a generation—she is related to the great actress, Mrs. Siddons—is connected to the great party. Her bearing, voice and action throughout indicate her to be destined for a brighter future than falls to the lot of many. Hurries it to say that her parts were well performed in every play."

For Lace, Collars, Ties, Gloves, Stockings, Frillings, Handkerchiefs in Sany Silk and Cottons, try the Bon Marche. The Best House for Bargains in Peterborough.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

CRICKET.

BANKERS AND MOLLIES VS. CHOSEN TEAM.
The cricket match between the bankers and Mollies and the chosen team came off on Saturday afternoon in the Athletic Association grounds. The result proved to be exactly opposite to what the admirers of the bankers' cricketing had predicted, for the victory was won by the chosen team sweeping, their score standing nearly double that of their opponents. Logan with 14, and Max Hamilton with 19, did considerable to swell the score of the chosen, while Strickland, playing in splendid form, retired and lead applause with 23 to his credit, and had not been run out his chances were good for double that number. For the bankers Cooper and Lawford put in the most effective work, the former making 18 and the latter 14. The following is the score:—

BASE BALL.
MR. DOLAN'S REPLY.

To the Editor of the Review.
Sir,—Mr. Frank Dobbin, in a letter to the REVIEW of Saturday, says in regard to the Lindsay-Peterborough baseball match, that the Lindsay side of the match was to be a friendly one, and that subsequently they learned, to their surprise, that it was to be for the championship of the Midland district. Whoever heard of a baseball championship being decided by one match? Any little school boy can tell you that it takes a season to decide a championship. I admit, owing to a misunderstanding in getting out the printing, that the Lindsay side of the match would be for the championship, instead of it being merely a match with the champions. But the Lindsay side was informed over the wire more than once, as Mr. Graham well knows, that the match was to be merely a friendly one. When Mr. Graham spoke of my wishing to rush so many matches as possible while the "imported talent" are under engagement, I might say that the Peterboroughs have played only two matches this season, and as far as "imported talent" is concerned, we it not the Lindsay side that first resorted to "importing talent"? And was it not on account of their "imported talent" being laid up by the Lindsay side that we resorted to it? Mr. Dobbin tells me that I must not forget that as honest statement of my arrangements is always expected of a manager and a gentleman. I have always striven to prove myself as such, and I would be very glad to see the Lindsay side to principle. The phrase referred to by Mr. Dobbin as being unbecoming for me, in his opinion, somewhat strong, but I am sure if he were in my place, knowing the trouble I went to on Monday night to accommodate the Lindsay, and the expense the home team were put to in the recent match arrangements, he would himself say that the action of the Lindsay was not as it should have been. With regard to the Lindsay's accommodation as with a friendly game, I will give them the privilege to name a date to come here and play each match. They will then have the opportunity of carrying out their plan.
Thanking you for your space, Mr. Editor, I remain,
Yours very truly,
RICHARD REEVER,
Manager F.B.B.C.

HALF-BRED CLAIMS.

PREVIOUS to the trial of Louis Riel it was stated that at that trial facts regarding the wrongs which the half-breeds had suffered would be brought to light, and they would show that the Government was responsible for the rebellion. It was even stated by the Globe that it was the fear of such disclosures that prevented the Government from bringing on the trial sooner than it did, but as the Globe afterwards declared for a longer delay it could not have been serious in the first instance, or else it made a mistake. However, the Government showed no signs of fear. A Reformer was chosen as one of the counsel for the crown, and three "ardent Liberals," as the Globe described them, defended the prisoner, yet so little did the Government fear the damaging evidence that was furnished that they omitted the defence in preparing witnesses. And what was the result? That the defence abandoned all hope of showing that the rebellion was justifiable, or that the circumstances were such as would "exonerate justice," and rested on the plea of insanity. Mr. Fitzpatrick, one of the counsel for the defence, in his eloquent address to the jury, referred to the events which led up to the rebellion. He spoke of one "grievance" of the half-breeds, and only one. On that head he is thus reported in the Globe:

"There were certain rights which the half-breeds possessed to the soil. They sought the official recognition of these rights through petitions to the Government and otherwise, but were unable to obtain it."

The half-breeds made other claims besides this one, but they were too ridiculous to be cited by the counsel. Yet this claim was not proven to be well founded: it was only alluded to in the address. The half-breeds themselves misunderstood the question to such an extent that they believed that the Canadian Government purchased the territory from the Hudson's Bay Company, and as a misconception founded their claim. The Mackenzie government declined to acknowledge that the half-breeds had rights in the soil different from other settlers, yet for not granting claims that the defence at the trial did not attempt to prove to be well founded, claims that were built upon a misconception of the transfer of the territory to the Dominion and which the Reform Government decided the half-breeds were not entitled to, the present Government is charged with being responsible for the rebellion! In place of any disclosure damaging to the Government being made at the trial, the attempt to injure the Government has resulted upon the heads of those who attacked it. The rebellion was not justifiable and Riel was found guilty of treason.

The London Advertiser feels so much for a man who, with his wife and family, was for weeks a prisoner in the hands of the Indians, that it gives expression to its sympathy by calling him a "dude."

Drowned Overboard and was Drowned
WEDNESDAY, August 6.—A private dispatch from Duluth announces the death of a Winnipeg man, name unknown, from Duluth on a Lake Superior steamer. Investigation showed that it was John H. Matthews, who had gone through the campaign. Drowned was on his way to the coast. He has been drinking heavily, and it is supposed that in a fit of temporary insanity he jumped overboard and was drowned.

THE A. C. A. MEETING.

A Grand Review of the Canoe Fleet—An Illuminated Parade.
From Our Own Correspondent.

A. C. A. CAMP, Grindstone Island, Aug. 7, 9 a.m.—Yesterday opened bright and clear, with a gentle breeze. In the morning a paddling tandem race was run, with three entries, resulting as follows:—
1. M. F. Johnston, T. C. C.
2. W. A. Lyle, T. C. C.
3. J. L. Jackson, M. L. C. C.
4. W. F. Kipp, M. L. C. C.
5. E. Phil, Brockville C. C.

An extra reaching race was the next event, with fifteen entries. Nimick, of the Pittsburgh C. C. was the winner, and only three others came in, the remainder taking to their paddles on account of the wind falling.

THE REVIEW.

At noon the grand review of the canoe fleet took place. The point of assembly was the landing pier, and the course to Squaw Point and back, passing Commodore Oliver, who was stationed about half way.

There were two squadrons of the decked canoes under double paddle, commanded by Vice Commodore Rathbun and Rear Commodore Andrews. The open canoes under single paddle followed, under the command of ex-Commodore E. B. Edwards.

In three lines they paddled to Squaw Point, where the paddling canoes were dismissed, and the sailing canoes holding their canoes returned to the starting point, thence proceeding round to the Delany farm.

There were about 80 canoes in the review and it was a very pretty sight when they returned under canvas, a gentle breeze having again arisen.

In the afternoon there was an upset race, which was won by Rear Commodore Andrews, with C. B. Vanx second.

Mr. Vanx then gave an exhibition of canoe gymnastics with his usual agility. Mr. Edwards and Mr. Gibson also joined in the performance. In the evening there was an illumination parade which was a lovely sight. The great majority of the canoes assembled decked with Chinese lanterns in profusion, each light being reflected in the mirror-like water. The main camp and Squaw Point were also illuminated with electric devices. From the canoes and from the shore rockets and Roman candles were constantly ascending, or colored lights threw their varied hues over the scene.

After a number of evolutions the canoes packed together and a number of favorite songs were called for and given with spirit.

The concluding scene was the burning of a bon-fire far out on the water, having been built upon a landing stage and towed out. As it flamed, rockets occasionally mounted from it.

The canoes then gradually dispersed, some still lingering on the water as if loath to terminate the last evening.

This morning the general meeting for the election of officers and other business will be held, after which most of the members will take their departure, though some will still remain for a day or two.

EXTRA RACE.

A. C. A. CAMP, Grindstone Island, Aug. 7.—This morning some extra races came off. The consolation race for sailing canoes that had not won a prize called out several starters. C. B. Schuyler, Brooklyn C. C., was the winner, with W. B. Richards, Brockville C. C., a close second.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

About 11 o'clock the general meeting of the members took place. Reports were read and routine business was transacted. The following officers were elected:—Commodore, F. S. Rathbun, Deseronto, Ont.; Vice Commodore, E. J. Wilkin, Brockville, N.Y.; Rear Commodore, D. Farnes, Hartford, Conn.; Secretary, Dr. Nettie, Schuylerville, N.Y.; Executive Committee, B. W. Richards, Brockville, Ont., G. Hager, Peterborough, Ont., W. B. Warkentin, Albany, N.Y.

A consultation from some western canoeists asking to have their organization recognized as a sister association was read and considered, as well as a report of an amendment of the constitution by the executive committee to form divisions of the association under one flag, and commodore with divisional vice and rear commodore. The executive committee was authorized to act when expedient. The annual subscription was raised to $2.

An adjournment was now made to meet the newly elected Commodore, Mr. F. S. Rathbun, to the steamer Deseronto, which was waiting for him, and he received a most hearty farewell. The report of the regatta committee was read and the prizes were distributed by the Commodore. Among the votes of thanks taken was one to the donors of the unusually handsome prizes.

Several extra races for special prizes took place subsequently. Mr. E. B. Edwards was first in an open canoe sailing race, and was a ruder beautifully painted with water lilies on one side and a landscape on the other. A portage race drew several starters, and was won by Mr. Gould, K. C. C.

In the afternoon Commodore Oliver left under sail for Clayton, N.Y. The success of the meeting was greatly due to his energy, geniality and powers of organization and administration. Other members dropped off by degrees, and though a few will remain for a day or two, the annual meet of the A. C. A. for 1886 came to an end.

A Young Lady's Strange Melancholy.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 8.—Miss Alice Lyle of North Dorchester, has been stricken down with a disease that the doctors do not understand. She has lain two weeks entirely helpless and without power to speak or open her eyes, yet she seems to be conscious. She lays as though she were dead, but when a stranger hands over her to one if she is alive the slightest whisper excites her terribly, but as soon as her mother puts her hand on her and speaks to her, she becomes passive at once. The doctor thinks she may come out of this strange desolately sickness, but her friends are without hope.

THREE LADIES NEARLY DROWNED.

Three Men Almost Perish in Rescuing Them—Two Ladies Faint in the Water.

The most sensational rescue ever made at Atlantic City occurred on Tuesday last during the bathing hour, about 12 o'clock. The Misses Hance, three daughters of R. A. Hance, the manufacturing chemist, of Philadelphia, who has a cottage here on Rhode Island avenue of Massachusetts avenue, near the pier of the iron pier. Being experienced swimmers, they ventured out into deep water and were carried out further by the tide, which is somewhat treacherous at this point on account of inlet current. Mr. J. O. Hoffman, of Wilmington, Del., observing their hopeless condition, went to the rescue of the ladies and did all he could to keep them afloat. Mr. A. A. Moore of the Francis Bridge Company, and Mr. W. C. Sherman, one of the sub-contractors, were standing on the pier talking, when Mr. Moore saw the young ladies struggling in the water. He at once pulled off his coat, threw a heavy plank into the water and followed and floated it out to the struggling ladies. He assisted Mr. Hoffman in placing on the plank, but he found the task so arduous that he became exhausted before he accomplished the work. Mr. Hoffman had already sunk of exhaustion, and was fast drowning when one of Mr. Moore's sons came to the rescue, and before he had taken him ashore was relieved by another gentleman. He then returned and found his father in a similar condition, and had much difficulty in bringing him to the shore. The young ladies meanwhile were clinging to the plank. The beach had become frantic, and a dozen planks were floated to the ladies, but on account of the roughness of the surf it was with difficulty that they were directed to do anything. Young Moore next became exhausted and had to be brought ashore. A rope was secured, and Mr. Charles Tyndall carried it out to the struggling ladies, who had lost all consciousness and were floating on the waves. James Haffey, of the crew of Hester Bros., ran half a mile along the beach and placed it once to the waves. He gathered the three drowning ladies together and placed them on several planks which formed

THE DROWNING GIRLS.

AN IMPROMPTU RAFT.

Mr. Tyndall then tied a rope around the planks and several hundred willing hands held the end of the rope and pulled in the surf with its almost lifeless freight. A shout of joy arose from the thousands that had gathered on the beach, and the girls, all bleeding at the nose and mouth, were laid on the sand.

Two unknown ladies who were in the water at the time became frightened by the shrieks of those on shore fainting and were fast being carried out by the tide when rescued by Mr. Charles Tyndall. Another lady, Miss Jane Leroy, who attempted swim out to the Hance sisters when in the most perilous condition, became exhausted and sank into the water, and was rescued with much difficulty. The eight people were stretched on the beach and a thousand gathered about them. The crew of the Hester Bros. assisted much in the work of resuscitation, but the crowd interfered and insisted on a change of position, which embarrassed the work somewhat. The Misses Hance are now lying in a precarious condition at their father's cottage and are attended by Dr. Collier. Mr. A. A. Moore is in a delicate condition and suffering with nervous prostration. One of the most noticeable facts developed by the excitement was that this most dangerous part of the beach is entirely unprotected, there being not even life preservers or lines.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the hands off our "Cable," and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other bars, for a ten cent cigar, and who put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, passing them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the hands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (15c) fifteen cent imported cigar, and on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a nasty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine.

We do not object to the consumers paying (1c) one cent for our (1c) "Cable" cigars, and (15c) fifteen cent for our (15c) "El Padre" cigars; as they are well worth that money, or possibly when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Heavy smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Contributions for the Northwest.
The ladies of St. John's Church are sending a box of clothing to the sufferers in the Northwest from the late rebellion. Contributions of new or second hand clothing will be most thankfully received, and may be sent to Mrs. Halliday, Water street, up to August 24th.

A Fraudulent Investment.
Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, have decided to purchase a lot in the Little Lake Cemetery with the surplus left over from the carnival and excursion funds. It will be a twenty grave lot, and will be selected by the committee appointed, at an early date.

Lecture to-night.
The lecture to be given to-night by Mr. W. H. Newett, of Manchester, on Secret Sin and the Fall of Man, will be of great interest, and we are sure that the Y. M. C. A. Hall will be filled to its utmost capacity. Mr. Newett is founder of the Y. M. C. A. Social Purity Society, and from his long experience he is eminently qualified to deal with his subject.

Stocks.
Mr. Stethem wishes it to be made known that he is only going to keep in stock the Peterborough manufacture of Locks in future, and that he is selling his stock of best American Rim and Mortise Locks at very low prices, to make room for a complete line of the new goods. From what we have seen of his stock, and the reductions he showed us he was making in prices, we can promise that while it lasts there will be a great diary value in the lock trade.

A FINE supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

An Excellent Officer.
The Winnipeg Manitoban of Aug. 5th. contains the following editorial note:—
"Of the various volunteer officers who participated in the recent Northwest campaign, none proved more efficient than Major Boulton, who is now on a visit to Winnipeg. At the commencement of the trouble, without any previous preparation or notice, he organized a company of mounted scouts in the little district, and hurried with them to the front where they proved of invaluable service throughout the campaign, being over to the front and in the thickest of the fight. Major Boulton has proved himself a courageous and discreet commander, and the country is under a deep debt of gratitude to him for his service."

For heavy factory Cotton at 5 cents per yard, go to Turnbull's.

Our Canoe in Muskoka.
A correspondent writing from Lake Joseph, Muskoka, to the Godefrich Huron Signal, says:—
"Last week I saw the prettiest canoe I ever set eyes upon. The canoeist hailed from Peterborough, and had spent a month rowing over the chain of lakes comprising the Muskoka group. The canoe was about 16 feet in length, and was neatly striped with cedar, 5-16th of an inch thick. It was very covered, and the solitary paddler carried 150 lbs. of baggage hidden somewhere about the dainty little craft. The canoeist was a man of about 30 years of age, and when the wind was blowing showed more canvas than any of the sailboats we have seen here. He carried two passengers during the earlier portion of the outing, but the canoeist had been playing it alone of late. We presented the wanderer with a couple of newspapers, and he left for a new camping ground."

A Gale Day at the Driving Park.
The President of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, only assisted by the members, is always on the go to keep lacrosse prominently before the public. To-morrow afternoon, August 13th, there will be two matches played in the Peterborough Driving Park Lacrosse Grounds, between the Excelsiors, of Brampton, (the champions of the northern district) and the Peterboroughs, and the Perth Lacrosse Club and the Peterborough Juniors. The above two matches should have been played on Monday, but owing to the change being made in the date of the drive holiday, they had to be postponed until to-morrow. A full meeting of the Lacrosse Club is called for this evening at the Little Windsor Hotel, when all should not fail to be present.

More Attractions at the Golden Lion.
Fair, VanKlyver & Co. are daily opening new fall goods. Their grand exhibit this season is well worth your inspection, as they will surpass their former efforts for quantity, variety, quality and cheapness. See their new Crotonas with Fringes to match, Lace Curtains, Edmundo and Embroidered Scrim Cloths, Boating Wraps, Fancy Dark Engleth Prints, etc.

For Shirt Collars and Ties, try the Bon Marche.

Another for Peterborough.
On Tuesday Miss O'Brien and John Watson, sons of Mr. J. W. Watson, left town for Hamilton to fill a two weeks' painting contract. Some time ago Mr. Watson received a communication from W. J. Meakins, of Hamilton, to send two of his men to do some artistic painting in his residence. On a visit to a friend in Peterborough Mr. Meakins had seen some of the Watsons' work, and decided to have his own residence similarly decorated. The Watsons are establishing more than a local reputation.

The very best Double and Twisted Cottonades for harvesting, to be found at Turnbull's.

The Theatre.
The Harry Lindley Company opened to a very good house on Monday night, all the reserved and back seats being filled. The play, "Hazel Kirk," was favorably received by the audience and the acting of Lindley and Miss Booth gave the greatest satisfaction. Miss Booth is very natural, and free from that excessive emotional style of acting which play-going people are fast getting tired of. Lindley kept his audience laughing all the time, being so comical in both his demeanor and speech that it was impossible to keep a straight face on while he was talking. Miss Flint played her role well, her sprightliness of manner and girlish buoyancy of spirit being well brought out and maintained throughout the whole piece. "Divorce" was presented on Tuesday night to a considerably larger house.

To-night, which will be the last appearance of the Lindley Comedy Company, the five act play, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," will be presented, when there should be a grand temperance rally. The following is an extract from a letter to Mr. Lindley, dated May 28d:—
"I hold that your performance of 'Ten Nights in a Bar Room' is as good as fifty total abstinence lectures, and believe you can make it an important factor in the temperance cause."
—Rev. T. J. Bawer.

Boris' Circus.
Is coming, and everybody knows this fact. All are aware that John B. Boris' New Monster Shows, Three Ring Circus, Mammoth Museum, Deep Sea Aquarium, Elevated Theatre Stage and Fifty-Cage Menagerie, is acknowledged to be the greatest conglomeration of startling and attractive wonders ever exhibited under canvas. It will positively be in Peterborough on Thursday, Aug. 13th. The following is a brief but correct synopsis of what you will see in John B. Boris' New Monster Moral Shows. First, and foremost of all, comes the ponderous and powerful "War Elephant, Betta," who has won over one hundred and fifty hard fought battles, and is one hundred and forty-one years old. She is a wonderful curiosity, and no person should fail to see "Betta," the oldest elephant in the world. The troupe of fourteen real, brave Turkish first appearance in America, most wonderful in their feats of strength, forming human pyramids, etc. French troop of bicycle riders, the best and acknowledged champions of the world. Moore family Siberian roller skaters, the most skillful lady and gentlemen skaters in the world. Rifle Bay, the dexterous knife thrower. Katsompa, queen of the reptile world, who handles the deadliest and most venomous serpents. You will see the best male riders, best female riders, more athletes, more acrobats, more leapers, more funny clowns, and more animals than were ever exhibited under one management. Remember, also that this is a three-ring circus, elevated theatre stage, and fifty cage menagerie; and with all these facts, we would suggest that you go early in order to get good seats.

Open Air Concert.
On Monday evening an open air concert was held in the Separate School grounds under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club. The Ontario and Shamrock, which had opposed each other in a match for the LaBran trophy during the afternoon, were present. The committee in charge of the concert carried out their part in a highly creditable manner. The grounds were very tastefully decorated with Chinese lanterns, while from above the soft and brilliant rays from several electric lamps were shed through the pine on the people below. A stage had been erected with an illuminated background. It looked both novel and pretty. The programme was a good one and so long that several numbers at the end had to be dispensed with owing to the lateness of the hour. The City Band orchestra presided during the evening and played satisfactorily. The opening song was by Miss Begley, followed by a quartette by the Misses Dunn, Elliott, Tierney and Dunn. The Misses Leach gave a pianoforte duet and Miss A. Dunn sang a solo. The last number on the first part was a violin solo by Prof. Donnet with piano accompaniment by Mr. J. B. Parker. In the second part Miss Dunn, Tierney and Dunn sang a trio, after which Mr. H. B. Calcutt, in a neat and appropriate speech, presented the captain of the Shamrock with the thirteen handsome pins that twelve had won. He also presented the other prizes that had been won. Miss A. Dunn sang another solo, which was liberally applauded. The Lacrosse Club are to be congratulated upon the success of the concert, and much success was well deserved for it is safe to say that every one was satisfied with the evening's programme.

RIVERIDE VS NORWOOD.

The Lacrosse Match Between the Norwood and Riverside Clubs.

A very good game of lacrosse was played in the Riverside Park grounds on Monday afternoon between the newly organized Ashburnham club and the Norwood team. A goodly number of spectators viewed the match from the grand stands, among whom were a large number of the fair sex. The visiting lacrosse clubs were accompanied by the Norwood Brass Band, of which Mr. A. Freeman is leader, and they accompanied music during the progress of the match. The Riverside club were successful in getting the first game, but, notwithstanding their united efforts in the other three games to secure goals the visitors scored three to one. The team play of either club was, of course, not first rate, but some very fair lacrosse was played by members of both clubs. Since the Riverside club had been organized, some two weeks ago, they have been putting in some pretty good work at practice, and, as a consequence, play in fair form. They are all young players, but with continued practice for a while will doubtless give a better account of themselves than they did in their match with Norwood on Tuesday. The visitors are all players of experience, being organized some five or six years ago, and having on more than one occasion successfully crossed sticks with clubs of far more loftier pretensions than that of the Riverside boys. Mr. Calcutt deserves credit for his action in the matter of putting the park in such a really good state in so short a time, and, although the grounds are not perhaps so large as the older ones, yet they are plenty large enough, and are in a much prettier situation. A great improvement would be the erecting of a covering over the grand stands, so that the sun's scorching rays would be warded off the faces of the spectators. After the conclusion of the lacrosse match, the usual cheers were given by both sides, and preparations were made for a hundred yard race. There were a good number of entries for this event, and the race was keenly contested. At the start there was a cry of "foul" from some one, but the flyers sped on their way nevertheless. James J. Sheehy won by about five yards, Richard Kelly coming in second. J. O'neill disputed the race on the ground that he had been fouled by being crowded at the start. Accordingly, Kelly stood out in the second heat and O'neill and Sheehy again took the mark. At the word "go" Sheehy jumped to the front and continued the lead until the finish, coming in about three yards ahead amid cheers. Mr. Calcutt then came forward and presented him with the prize, a beautiful silver bottle cooler. A running long jump was next on the list, and for this event there was a large number of entries. After each contestant had taken a long run at the mark, rose up and flew through the air three different times, the first place was given to Peckham. On the whole, the sports at the Riverside Park were enjoyed, and we hope Mr. Calcutt will have many such events come in there picturesque grounds.

OUR MINISTER.

An impromptu written on hearing that Mr. Thomas White had been sworn in as Minister of the Interior.

At last! The garden for long service done. Has come to him as comes the titling crown To those who toil from dawn to set of sun. Through miles of forest and of mountain's frown, Lead us upright! Ever to the front. When duty called for work or sacrifice; In darkest battle he has borne the brunt. As pleased to suffer as to win the prize. Printer! He raised the standard of the guild; Writer! His pen has taught the true and good. Speaker! His silver voice has e'er instilled The lesson of Canadian Brotherhood. While all his friends, from east and west, acclaim, While from all sides there comes approval's air, 'Tis we, his colleagues, proud of his name, Who greet him fondly as our Minister.

—Lacelle in Montreal Gazette.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

ENTITLED TO THE HONOR.

The appointment of Mr. Thomas White, M. P., to a position in the Dominion Cabinet, has given general satisfaction to all parties. His political opponents could not refuse to recognize his ability and the merits which entitle him to the honor. —Montreal Post (Indep.).

MR. BLAKE'S INVESTMENT.

Mr. Blake, in a fit of virtue, hands over his special indemnity of $500 to the West Durham Agricultural Association, thus converting it into political capital. We respectfully submit that by so doing Mr. Blake has not only sacrificed his personal use as if he had employed it in the purchase of a pair of horses for his carriage. The latter investment, or some other one, would indeed in our opinion have been the more proper of the two. For the indemnity is not a good thing to buy even with one's own money, not to speak of money which one does not feel like calling his own. If Mr. Blake thought this money should not have been paid to him, his proper course was to refuse it or else to pay it back into the Treasury. —Montreal Star (Indep.).

WHY THEY DESERVE CREDIT.

What the people of Manitoba really deserve credit for, is the self-denial which they stand the vile slanders and petty falsehoods which the Globe delights in circulating with regard to their country. —Winnipeg Manitoban.

MR. BLAKE MUST GO.

It can no longer be denied even by those who would willingly close their eyes to the actual state of the case, that there is widespread dissatisfaction with Mr. Blake's leadership among those whose standing as party men cannot be called in question. —Toronto News (Indep.).

RIEL'S TRIAL.

The trial of Riel was marked by a few sensational incidents. His counsel concluded that the plea of insanity was the only one likely to be of any service and they rested on it entirely. The prosecutor indignantly refused to shelter himself behind the plea of insanity, and he sought to show that he was really insane or that he was adopting a cunning method of impressing the jury with that belief. The evidence brought forward by the government was in the absence of rebuttal testimony, overwhelming, and the duty of the jury was clear. A verdict of guilty, as charged in the indictment, was returned after a brief consultation, but the emotion manifested by the foreman in announcing the verdict appeared to indicate the existence of doubt as to the prisoner's complete sanity, and this doubt took the form of a strong recommendation to mercy. —New York Tribune.

A PITIFUL EXHIBITION.

It is not a successful sight this of a great party—a party not devoid of ability and probably not devoid of patriotism, if they would not remember that and every other personal emotion under evanescent longings for that which they have not shown themselves worthy to possess—given over entirely to jealous bitterness? The Reformers have evidently made a clam and thoughtful study "how not to get there," and are making pitiful use of their inferiority. It can hardly be possible that blind chance has enabled them to discover their present perfect system of keeping themselves unpopular. —The Manitoban.

THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

A very large amount of obloquy has been thrown on the late Minister, Sir D. L. Macpherson, but the charges have been of the most vague character. We have as yet had no evidence that injustice has been done either to the Indians or to the Métis, who have put forward the most absurd and unfounded claims to the territory of the North-West. We believe that Mr. White will not only be prepared to recommend a policy of justice, but even of liberality to all those who are in the land, and in regard to the Indians, we have seen all his life before the country as a politician and a journalist. Few members of the Conservative party could have entered the Cabinet politically better understood. Personally, socially, as a Churchman and family man, Mr. White is without reproach. He will carry with him to the Cabinet the weight of ability and responsibility. The necessity of Cardwell may well be proud of that which Montreal itself is a brilliant Cabinet Minister. —Montreal Witness (Indep.).

EAST DURHAM.

If the indifference to Mr. Preston were confined to those Liberals with whom his personal relations have been unfriendly, it would not be very serious, but there is a general impression prevailing throughout the party that a mistake has been made by trying to capture a Conservative stronghold with a sort of peripatetic political speaker as a candidate. —Montreal Star (Indep.).

A BRILLIANT MINISTER.

Mr. Thomas White has been sworn Minister of the Interior. His knowledge of the country, its commercial, social, religious and political conditions, is great. His experience of legislation on every nearly as ordinary Minister, having been gleaned first from the position of the official onlooker in the press gallery, and afterward from the turmoil of active party strife. He has been all his life before the country as a politician and a journalist. Few members of the Conservative party could have entered the Cabinet politically better understood. Personally, socially, as a Churchman and family man, Mr. White is without reproach. He will carry with him to the Cabinet the weight of ability and responsibility. The necessity of Cardwell may well be proud of that which Montreal itself is a brilliant Cabinet Minister. —Montreal Witness (Indep.).

MR. SMITH'S PRAYER.

The Convention of Young Liberals, if guided by the advice of this journal, must make a speech in the political history of Canada if it is to do it. It will not rise above the level of a political pro-vow and be distinguished for nothing more than howling. Great Jupiter we pray then to no inspire the hearts of these Young Liberals of Canada, that they may be led towards the light and shaking off the clammy superstitions of the past may recognize that it is in the interests of the higher of all wisdom that they should be guided by a love of their country and common humanity. —Bellevue Independent.

Through Great Traffic.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has done such an immense business this season in conveying wheat from Manitoba to Montreal that it has decided on building a second elevator in the latter city of similar cost and dimensions to the one already constructed. Work will be commenced forthwith.

GARDEN OF EDEN.

Catharine Wolfe spending thousands in search of the Eden.

The religious ardor of Miss Catharine Wolfe, the wealthiest maiden lady in America, takes curious bent sometimes; but, as the dispensation charity with a liberal hand her contributions are really forgiven, says a New York letter. A year ago she made up her mind that the site of the Garden of Eden ought to be decided to a certainty. She believed that by excavating on the spot something or other ought to be dug up to settle all doubts of the Adam and Eve story. She was willing to devote $100,000 to this object, or more in case the early results warranted further effort. She talked with a number of clergymen, antiquarians and geographers, and for a while got little encouragement for her scheme. They told her that in all probability the Garden of Eden lay in what is now known as the Chaldean country, but they did not think that excavation would settle the question beyond dispute. At length she found in the Rev. Dr. Hayes Ward, a man capable and willing to carry out her project. I met him after his return from a ten months' visit to the Euphrates and Tigris. This has been a preliminary journey. The Turkish Government has granted him, and the few Babylonian bricks, cylinders and tablets which he may have brought back had to be smuggled from the country. A big expedition is now contemplated by Miss Wolfe. "I said, 'do you believe there is any prospect of discovering the Garden of Eden?' 'I have honest hope of throwing more or less new light on the subject,' he replied. 'I have on this tour made many important geographical discoveries in the region of Chaldea, south of Babylon. We settled authoritatively the sites of several ancient cities. The best encouragement, however, was in locating the original city of Sippore, on the bank of the Euphrates. It was here that, according to ancient Chaldean history, Noah was commanded to bury all the records of antiquity, before he embarked in the ark, in order that they might be preserved. We mean to dig up this ground thoroughly, and maybe we shall find something astonishing.'"

HINDOO TIME.

The Curious Chronology in Use in Hindoos.

The Hindoos also employed ages in the computation of time, and these, too, divided into periods of different durations. The present age is the Kali yuga, or the age of iron; 4,305 years of it have already passed, but its total duration is supposed to be 432,000 years. The previous age, counting back, is given as follows:—

Fourth age—Kali yuga, age of iron, or of war, (the present age), 432,000 years.

Third age—Dvapara yuga, 864,000 years.

Second age—Treta yuga, or age of silver, 1,296,000 years.

First age—Krita yuga, age of gold, or of innocence, 1,728,000 years.

The four ages form the Maha yuga, or great age, of 4,320,000 years. The length of a patriarchate is 71 Maha yugas, or 306,720,000 years, to which is added a twilight period of 1,728,000 years, making in all 308,448,000 years. Fourteen of these patriarchates, ascertained by a dawn of 1,728,000 years, give 4,320,000 years, which form a kalpa, or the moon of the Hindoo chronology.

A kalpa is only a day in the life of Brahma, whose right eye alone is the source of creation. Now Brahma lives 100 years of 365 days and 360 nights. The present epoch is the Kali yuga of the first man of the second half of the life of Brahma is only a little longer than a single wink of Brahma's eye. —Popular Science Monthly.

New Telegraph Poles.

Mr. F. N. Glendon, superintendent of the Government telegraph service, has invented a new telegraph pole, a practical test of which was made in Ottawa a few days ago. The new pole is constructed of tubular malleable galvanized iron, and is only 24 inches in diameter at the bottom end, and 14 inch at the top, weighs less than 50 lbs., and, as demonstrated in the test, is capable of standing a greater strain than the ordinary timber pole. The bottom of the pole sits in a clear plate about 6 inches square upon which the earth is packed to a height of 2 feet, when another clear plate, through the centre of which the pole runs, is put into place, and the earth packed upon it 1 foot, to a level with the ground. The clear plates tend to dry the ground and make the pole absolutely solid immediately, a result only accomplished with the old style poles after they had been in the ground for at least a year. For the best made yesterday heavy number six Government wire was strung upon the poles and subjected to extraordinary strain, but without moving them in the least. The proceedings were watched with interest, and Mr. Super, electrical engineer, who was present, pronounced the invention a great success and one of the utmost importance in telegraph construction. It is the intention to use the new telegraph poles in the construction of the Government lines in the Northwest where the cost of transporting wooden poles is very great, the conveying of fifty casks to such a two hundred and fifty of the new poles, while the latter being made of galvanized iron and non-corrode are calculated to remain good fifty years as against about ten years for the former. —Ottawa Citizen.

Another Fire at Midland.

MIDLAND, Aug. 11.—A fire broke out yesterday morning in the roof of Messrs. Chow & Weeks' grist mill. The top story was completely destroyed with machinery contained therein. The machinery, etc., in the other stories was removed while the fire was confined to the fire to the top story alone. The insurance on building and contents are as follows:—Ontario of Montreal, $1,000 on building and machinery, partial loss; Gore Mutual, $2,000 on building and machinery, partial loss; Royal Canadian, $500 on stock, slight damage; Fire Insurance Association, $1,000 on stock, partial loss. The fire originated from the smoke stack of the grist mill run in connection with the flour mill.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Corrections.

By inadvertence we attributed the railway accident at Merriton to the C.P.R., whereas it should obviously have been the Grand Trunk, as the C.P.R. does not pass within many miles of Merriton.

Trent Valley Canal.

We learn on good authority that Mr. Goodwin, the contractor for the Trent Valley navigation works at Burlington, has given instructions to put on a full force of men in that locality, so as to push the work as rapidly as possible.

Cheese Shipment.

Mr. Wm. Clouston shipped 522 boxes of cheese over the Grand Trunk Railway to Montreal on Tuesday. It was purchased at the last cheese market from the Warran, Normanhurst and Pine Grove factories, and is destined for the English market.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South to westerly winds, mostly fair, very warm weather, with light showers or thunderstorms.

A FINE supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

The Best Style.

The Ottawa Free Press says:—"The West Peterborough Agricultural Exhibition will be held in Peterborough, commencing on Tuesday, September 29th, and lasting for three days. The Peterborough Review office has issued large posters announcing the event, which are done in the best style of printing and coloring."

A Live Firm.

In addition to their large local trade Messrs. Porter Bros. are developing quite an outside trade in wagons and carriages, as well as buggy tops. This morning they shipped a strong, well made, platform gear express wagon to Mr. G. Bounell, of the Bowmanville Marble Works. It is well designed for the purpose for which it is intended, that of carrying heavy monuments and tomb stones.

The Circus.

The Doris Circus arrived over the Grand Junction branch on two special trains at an early hour this morning. The tents were pitched in the Riverside Park, and nearly the whole place is covered with canvas. The street parade took place in Ashburnham at ten o'clock. The streets were crowded. The parade was fully up to the average; the horses are in good order, the wagons attractive, and the music furnished by the bands of a pleasing kind. The circus was fairly well attended this afternoon.

Informal Presentation.

The Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, rector of St. Luke's, departed this morning on a holiday trip. Before going he was made the recipient of a very substantial present, for on Friday evening a number of the members of the congregation visited the rectory and handed him a purse containing a liberal amount of money. The presentation was of quite an informal character. No address was read, but the church members united in wishing that their rector would enjoy a pleasant holiday trip. Mr. Bradshaw accepted the gift and returned thanks to his parishioners.

Peterborough Looks.

Mr. J. Brooks, of the Peterborough Lock Company, has just returned from a trip to Montreal. He took with him samples of the various kinds of goods made at the works, and while in the city called on several wholesale hardware merchants. All whom he called on were much pleased with the quality of the goods and with the sales, and they expressed their intention to handle the Peterborough goods in reference to the American market. There is scarcely any doubt that the Peterborough factory will have the monopoly of the Canadian lock trade so far, at least, as the finer quality of goods is concerned.

She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

Visitors in Town.

A few minutes before twelve o'clock to-day an excursion under the auspices of the Oddfellows and Lacrosse Club of Brampton arrived in town over the Canadian Pacific Railway. There were about five hundred excursionists on board. The Stratford Band accompanied the excursionists and on their arrival played up George street as far as the Grand Central Hotel. At about one o'clock another excursion arrived in town over the Canadian Pacific Railway from Perth. This excursion was run under the auspices of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of Perth, and the train brought in about 400 from Perth. The Perth lacrosse team came with the excursion. The visitors were met at the station by members of the A. O. U. W. of Peterborough, together with the Fire Brigade Band. A procession was formed and marched to the drill shed, where dinner was served. This influx of people are busily engaged in doing the town.

The Theatre.

The Lindley Comedy Company closed a three night's engagement at Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday evening. The play presented was "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," an old, but to judge from the well filled house and the liberal applause, a still popular production. The manner in which the piece was produced by the Lindley Company was considerably out of the usual order, and Mr. Lindley has, without doubt, made an improvement in the mode of presentation. The characters were all satisfactorily taken, but that of Sample Switcheb impersonated by Mr. Lindley, was simply irresistible. He kept the audience in a continual titter, but the scene where he poked the question brought forth roars of laughter. In Act IV. Miss Addie Flint gave a recitation, and in response to an encore recited another piece. Mr. Sol. Walters, in this act, fairly brought down the house with his vocal imitations. An arrangement was made to the effect that the company would return at an early date.

Just received at Hamilton Hall, a fine lot of Men's Linen Coats, just the thing for hot weather. A. McNam.

Mr. Newett's Lecture.

On Wednesday evening Mr. W. H. Newett, Secretary of the Manchester Y.M.C.A., gave a lecture in the Y.M.C.A. Hall on "Secret Sin and the Fall of Man." Dr. Fife occupied the chair, and there was a large attendance of thoughtful young men. The lecturer explained why he had coupled the name of the Genesis with the title of the lecture. He stated that this newspaper was the leading authority on social questions in England, as the Times was on political matters. He instanced a number of cases in which violence had been offered to young girls and children, and others where the offenses of vicious women had been condoned with because of the influence they exerted. It was to focus public attention on such matters as these, that the Genesis had instigated its enquiry, and published the facts obtained by its agents. The facts published were laid before a very influential commission, who, in their report, stated that the paper had not published half the vile practices that existed. One result of this causing of public opinion was that the Commons have passed a bill, assented to by the Lords every year for some time past, raising the age of consent from 13 to 16. Other good results were following the uncovering of the horrible state of vice that existed. In conclusion Mr. Newett said that this great question of social evil had induced him some years ago to start a Social Purity Society in connection with the Y.M.C.A., in which the members signed a pledge to be pure themselves, and to advance the cause of purity among others. At the close of the lecture all present adopted this pledge by rising at the request of the lecturer. Mr. Val. Best moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer, seconded by Mr. Bannell Sawyer, who eulogized Mr. Newett for the delicate manner in which he had treated this subject. Dr. Fife in presenting the vote of thanks, stated as a physician, that the evil had not been exaggerated in the least, and was continually being thrust upon their attention. He also thanked the lecturer for the instruction and warning he had given, and the judicious way in which he managed his subject.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

THE BALL GAME.

A CHALLENGE.
 The legal fraternity of Peterborough are of the opinion that they possess a baseball nine of considerable merit. In order to make a test of the powers of their team they propose to arrange a match with the George street merchant. The lawyers think that they have a battery that will make it warm for the merchant batsmen. Perhaps the President of the old "Silver Stars" is of a different opinion.

CRICKET.

SLIPS.
 The Perth cricket team arrived in town on the morning express over the Canadian Pacific Railway. The match with the home eleven commenced at ten o'clock this afternoon. There is a probability of the English eleven now on a visit to America, paying a visit to Peterborough.

THE PATH.

RACES IN PROSPECT.
 There has been considerable talk of late regarding matched races between some of the local pedestrians and those of towns in the vicinity. The latest move is that of arranging a sweepstake mile race. Bird and McGregor, of Peterborough, are willing to enter into such a contest, and it is probable that several others will also come in. Bird is now putting in good practice and is getting into trim.

LACROSSE.

A FIELD DAY.
 To-day is a big day in lacrosse. The first twelve of the home club cross sticks with the Excelsors, of Brampton, the champions of the northern district, in the lacrosse grounds at the foot of George street. The Perth club play a match with Peterborough's second twelve at the same place. These matches were arranged to take place on the 13th of August at the time when it was thought that that day would be our civic holiday. The civic holidays were arranged in Brampton and Perth to permit the bringing together of all these teams so that all might see the Shamrock-Ontario match. An excursion was also arranged to be run from Orillia, but on account of the change of date of our civic holiday the excursion was abandoned.

THE RESCUE OF RIEL.

Desert and Damned Planning an Expedition to Regina to Release Riel.
 St. PAUL, Aug. 12.—A despatch from Fort Benton says: "There have been many queries regarding the continuous stay in this neighborhood of Dumont and Dumas, lately of Riel's force. It is understood they are trying to make arrangements with the authorities at Washington for a tract of land for their halfbreed brethren. Yesterday, however, it was rumored that Dumont's real mission here was to organize a force of dare devils to make a dash on Regina and release Riel."

ON THE WAR PATH.

Two Hundred Indians Stationed Near Battleford—Hunted Police Moving.
 BATTLEFORD, N.W.T., August 12.—S. B. Landyne reports that there are two hundred Indians on the warpath between this place and Swift Current. Matters are on the move. H. Reed and Agent Ross are off to Poundmaker's reserve with a Mounted Police force to take notes of the actual state of affairs.—Mail.

Drowned in Desjardins Canal.

DROWNED, Aug. 11.—Another has been added to the long list of casualties in the Desjardins canal. Yesterday morning John R. Clough, R. Dixon and Mr. Matlock hired a boat from Mr. Reynolds, who keeps the Dundas boat house, and rowed to Hamilton to take in the civic holiday sights. They left to return home about 9.30 p.m., and after proceeding two miles up the canal one of the party rose to change seats. In doing so he capsized the boat, launching all three into the waters of the canal. Matlock was fortunate enough to raise the side of the boat and relate his grip until assistance arrived. Dixon and Clough being both unable to swim sank at once. The bodies of the unfortunate men were recovered this morning. Clough is a native of Bradford, Eng., and has no relatives in this country. Dixon's mother, brother and sister reside in Toronto.

Natural Gas Discovered.

PORT COLBORNE, August 12.—Natural gas has been struck here at a depth of 420 feet, of sufficient force to light up the town. It is estimated there is gas enough under Port Colborne to a depth of 500 feet to supply fuel for a dozen large manufacturing plants. The well is now forcing gas through a pipe to the principal street and illuminates the square when lighted.

Boy Missing.

ASHLAND, Pa., August 12.—Over four thousand boys have been discharged from the collieries in the Schuylkill region since August 1, in pursuance of the new law prohibiting the employment of boys at the mine under 14 years of age. The boys are being filled with Hungarians and Poles.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1886.

A DIFFERENT RECORD.

The people of East Durham, in choosing the late Col. A. T. H. Williams as their representative in the House of Commons, and in mourning him as they did at the time of his death, showed what kind of men they delight to honor. It is only by condemning the principles which he upheld, and approving of a man who slandered a body of men with whom Col. Williams was identified and who have since done such good service for Canada, that they can vote for the Reform candidate who is now seeking to be elected as their representative.

Many will remember the attack that the Port Hope News made upon the volunteer system in 1882, and how the citizen soldiers were slandered by the News in that year when they went into camp at Cobourg for their annual drill. The News expressed the views that Mr. Preston then entertained, and the volunteers from East Durham who belonged to the 4th Battalion were among those slandered. They and their friends, as well as all who have seen the usefulness of our volunteer system demonstrated, will sorely feel like honoring the man who entertains such opinions.

Even at the time the halfbreeds and Indians were in arms against the Dominion, and the volunteers were in the Northwest fighting for the country, Mr. Preston gave expression to sentiments that the electors of East Durham cannot fail to rebuke. While others were sacrificing their lives to uphold the authority of Canada and to restore order and peace, Mr. Preston was breathing threatening, and sat on the same platform with others whose murmurings took a more outspoken form.

On the 6th of May, when Col. Williams and the men of the Midland Battalion were hurrying forward to engage the rebels in their stronghold, a meeting of Reformers was held in Belleville. Among the speakers were Mr. J. G. Frost and Mr. D. K. L. McKinnon, and Mr. Preston was present, according to the Ontario, the Reform organ of the city, as "the speaker of the evening." According to the report of the proceedings published in that paper, the speeches were not of such a character as would tend to dishonor persons rebelling against the authority of the Dominion. Mr. Frost was reported to have said in reference to the Franchise Bill that "there was no parallel case in history since Charles the First paid the penalty of disregarding the people's rights with his head," and, further, that "if mild measures failed, though he would regret the necessity, he was prepared to go the whole length in opposition to this infamous measure." Mr. McKinnon was equally outspoken. He said, according to the same report:—

"The men of 1837 had not as much cause to rebel as we would, should this measure become law, and statements in the old lead that said the woe was they did not rebel sooner. Since 1837 Confederation and our Constitution had got some pretty severe tests, but this last outrage would be more than it could stand."

Did Mr. Preston object to such utterances, even at a time when the country was engaged in putting down a rebellion? Not he. He had, as "the speaker of the evening," given the lesser lights the key to which they were to tune their remarks, by declaring that "St. John claims to be the father of confederation, but in ten years hence the history of this country will show that he was the destroyer of confederation, and that he would be sorry to advocate secession, but if the people of Ontario were made the football of confederation, he knew the people would rise and demand justice." Is this the man whom the electors of East Durham wish to have to succeed Col. Williams as their representative in Parliament? We think not. If Mr. Preston were elected, and wished to see his doleful prophecy fulfilled, he would have to lead his aid towards breaking up confederation, yet it was to uphold that confederation that the people have been fighting. Mr. Preston should be rejected by such a majority as would teach him and others that it pays in Canada to be more patriotic than he has shown himself to be.

GRANT'S GRIM SECRET.

An Old Secret Service Man Gives His Version of the Assassination Plot.

"Yes, I think I understand what Gen. Grant referred to in speaking to Mr. Depew of the imminence of a second revolution in this nation," said an old ex-secret service officer at the Continental hotel. "It is a secret that has been well kept, though it hovered for months over the Washington government. After Lincoln's assassination it would have divided the north on new and terrible lines. It would have brought England into the trouble beyond a doubt, because of Canadian complications. It would have been fatal to our government, and would have resulted in indiscriminate butchery."

"What is this secret?" "It relates to the assassination plot," was the reply. "That conspiracy was hatched before Lincoln was inaugurated the second time. It contemplated the abduction of Lincoln for the benefit of another man. I refer to Vice-President Johnson. He was to be made the great man of the war. Lincoln was to be got out of the way. Johnson was a Southern man; the struggle was then an admittedly hopeless one for the South, but it was desirable to have a man who could be depended on for satisfaction, as Lincoln, with Stanton behind him, could not be expected to be lenient. Remember, I do not say Johnson was a party to the conspiracy, but I ask you to read General Butler's arraignment of Johnson, during the impeachment trial. Read it carefully between the lines, and see what it means. I tell you only this, that the list of men privy to the abduction of Lincoln would, if printed, have been a list of names that would have made the nation to John Wilkes Booth asking him to meet him at the White House. Don't draw any inferences. I merely mean that they were on intimate terms."

"When and where was the conspiracy organized?" "It was the outgrowth of Seward's direct interposition in the case of Beal, the man who was convicted of the plot to liberate the prisoners at Johnson's Island, in Sandusky Bay. Lincoln was appealed to, and pronounced that Beal should not die. Seward personally interfered and secured Beal's execution. A meeting was held at St. Catharines, Canada, a few weeks afterward. The plot was hatched there. It was a plot of personal malice more than of southern sympathy. The Beal case and its accounts for the attack on Secretary Seward. But this malicious scheme of a small cabal of vindictive men grew into a widely ratified conspiracy. Most dreadful of all, it became known among large circles as well as in Washington. There were plenty of men in the capital on March 4 who went there to hear a different man from Lincoln make the inaugural address. It is terrible even now to think how rotten the heart of the political centre of this nation then was."

The surrender of Appomattox was a crushing blow. It came sooner than was expected. Lincoln's death had been expected upon the date fixed. But only a comparative few knew that this change had been made in the scheme. "I have often wondered if General Lee had not obtained an inkling of the terrible crime in contemplation, and hastened to the capital. He never would have sanctioned a dastardly act. After the shooting, the subject fear manifested by some people in Washington who had not been shocked in remembering it. Too many people were hanged or not enough. The most experienced men in the service were put on the case. But one by one they were withdrawn. I was detailed for special duty, but stuck to the conspiracy. I found I was shadowed by other people. I have always suspected there was a conference one very dark night between Stanton, Wade and myself. Most dreadful of all, I found out obtained about the conspiracy. I was not present, though I was in the house when it occurred. The archives of the house judiciary committee contain, or did contain, some of the most startling testimony imaginable. Gen. Butler and George S. Boutwell knew all this. Gen. Grant knew. If either man would tell what he knows, though it is not all the story, we might have the revelation yet. What I have merely hinted at shows how wise General Grant was to keep this awful secret so long, and how indiscreet he would have been to confide it to anybody."—New York Herald.

THE RAIN AND THE WIND.

New York State Badly Visited—Eight Persons Reported Killed.

THOR, N.Y., Aug. 12.—At 6 o'clock this afternoon a cloud burst eight miles from Amsterdam. The Central Hudson tracks for five hundred feet were washed into the river. Telegraph poles and fences were prostrated for miles. Traffic east and west were delayed, the passengers being transferred around the break. The rain fell in sheets, destroying the crops, etc. The loss is estimated at thousands of dollars.

WATERBURY, N.Y., Aug. 12.—A cyclone at Norwich, St. Lawrence county, this afternoon, destroyed several houses and buildings, and the O. and L.C. railway bridge. Several persons were killed. Telegraphic communication was interrupted.

It is reported eight persons were killed and several fatally wounded. Among the killed are John Martin, a mill owner, Mrs. David Fitzgibbon and Mrs. Armstrong. All the church steeples were blown down. One church was demolished. Railroads as large as a man's fist completely destroyed the growing crops. Five hundred excursionists from Plattsburgh had to stay over night in Ogdensburg, being unable to return.

A New War Story.

"The last day of the fight I was badly wounded. A ball shattered my left leg. I lay on the ground not far from Cemetery Ridge, and as General Lee ordered his last retreat he and his officers rode near me. As they came along I recognized him, and though faint from exposure and loss of blood, I raised upon my hands, looked General Lee in the face and shouted as loud as I could, 'Hurrah for the Union!' The General heard me, looked, stopped his horse, dismounted his hand to me, and grasping mine firmly and looking right into my eyes, he said:—

"My son, I hope you will soon be well." "If I live a thousand years I shall never forget the expression in General Lee's face. There he was, defeated, retiring from a field that cost him and his cause almost their last hope, and yet he stopped to say words like these to a wounded soldier of the opposition who had taunted him as he passed by. As soon as the General had left me I cried myself to sleep upon the bloody ground."—Exchange.

A TALE OF EL MAHDI.

Condemning Seven Christians to Death for Refusing to Turn Mohammedans.

Father Bononi, one of the band of missionaries who were captured by El Mahdi on the surrender of El Obeid, recently escaped from confinement. To a London Daily News correspondent he gives the following account of a thrilling incident which occurred immediately after his capture:—

There were seven of us, and we were led, as I before said, before Mohammed Achmet (El Mahdi). He informed us that it would be necessary for us immediately to embrace Islamism. We replied firmly, "We cannot do this thing nor forsake our holy religion. God forbid it; and even were we to do this and become Moslems in garb or outward form, our hearts would remain unchanged." This bold reply greatly irritated him. He cried, "Hark, ye accursed infidels! To-morrow is Friday! I give you time to reflect. If you have not embraced Islamism by the rising of to-morrow, behold you shall be led forth and executed as a punishment for your obstinacy and disobedience. So have care and repent while yet there is time." I have spoken. We were visited during the day by several dervishes, who adjured us to embrace Islamism, but we replied, "We give you, O dervishes, the same answer as we give to our master. We cannot do this thing." They were very wrath, and spat at us, and brandished their long swords at us. But we trusted in God. The next morning we were led forth from the hut built of dhora stalks and where we had been confined. There was a vast assemblage of horsemen. Thousands of spears and bright swords gleamed and glittered in the rays of the morning sun; and we looked upon it as if it were a gilded the edges of the few minims and rocks scattered around on that vast yellow, sandy plain—we looked upon it as we supposed for the last time. Never again were we to see a sun rise; our race, white men, was to die martyrs for the faith of our Lord. We had no fear. We rejoiced that we were thought worthy to die for His sake. As we were led along that line, marching with firm step and heads upright, the Arabs brandished their long two-edged swords over our heads, cursing us as we passed; and now we reached the spot where Mahomet Achmet, the so-called Mahdi, was; he was mounted on a magnificent dromedary. He cried aloud to us, "Oh, Christians! I see you prepared to embrace Islamism or to have your heads struck off from your shoulders! Then we have you in our power. You are obeyed; and you also have power over us to slay us, for God for some wise purpose has delivered us into your hands, but you have not borne over me for the same purpose. I solemnly swear to you that I will spare your lives. We prefer death to doing this thing." We one and all made this solemn assertion. There was silence all along those dusty ranks, and near us stood dervishes with long swords waiting and longing to their master's bidding and cut off our heads. But Mahomet Achmet gazed upward and eastward some time and spoke not. He then fixed his eagle eyes upon us with intensity, and presently we were steadfast in the faith, and you are obeyed; and you also have power over us to slay us, for God for some wise purpose has delivered us into your hands, but you have not borne over me for the same purpose. I solemnly swear to you that I will spare your lives. We prefer death to doing this thing." We one and all made this solemn assertion. Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Furrows for the Northwest.
 Mr. Henry Owens shipped a number of his patent pumps to Calgary, Manitoba, yesterday.

To-night.
 The Fire Brigade Band will be at the Lane-down Roller Rink to-night. There will be a Grand March.

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong winds, between west and north, fine cooler weather.

Contributions for the Northwest.
 The ladies of St. John's Church are sending a box of clothing to the sufferers in the Northwest from the late rebellion. Contributions of new or second hand clothing will be most thankfully received, and may be sent to Mrs. Halliday's, Water street, up to August 24th.

The Circus.
 Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, there was a large attendance at Doris' circus on Thursday evening. The performance was up to the average and the trapeze act of both sexes was decidedly above the average. Altogether the show is a good one, and worthy of patronage.

A Rare Opportunity.
 For our town and country people. Chas. Cluthe, 118 King Street west, Toronto, whose name is familiar with everyone as the best and most experienced man for relieving and curing rapture and deformity. Mr. Cluthe sells from his printed price list, serves all alike, rich and poor, except in case of charity, which (if so) has never been refused. See advertisement in another column.

A Fresh supply of Summer Underclothing just received at HAMILTON HALL.

A Live Firm.
 In addition to their large local trade Messrs. Porter Bros. are developing quite an outside trade in wagons and carriages, as well as buggy tops. This morning they shipped a strong, well made, platform grey express wagon to Mr. C. Bonnell, of the Bowmanville Marble Works. It is well designed for the purpose for which it is intended, that of carrying heavy monuments and tomb stones.

The Visiting Workmen.
 When the excursion from Perth arrived on Thursday, the members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen were met at the station by the Peterborough brethren and the Fire Brigade Band. They formed in procession and marched to the drill shed. At the drill shed Mr. J. R. Stratton, P. M. W., addressed the visitors and on behalf of the Peterborough Lodge welcomed them to the town. Dinner was then partaken of, and the visitors proceeded to see the sights and witness the sports going on that day. There were about 60 of the visiting brethren, and about 25 of the Peterborough members met them at the station.

Personal.
 Mr. Thos. Fortye, of Orillia, one of the many young men who yearly pay a visit to friends in Peterborough, is in town for a few days.
 Mr. Harry Rubidge, auditor and secretary of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad, is at present here on a visit. Harry is a brother of Mr. George Rubidge, the popular proprietor of the only tobacco and cigar store in Peterborough, and is favorably known among a large number of acquaintances.

The Kingston Whig of Aug. 11, says:—
 "Capt. Maggie McGregor, of Cobourg, took part in the Grand Army meeting last evening. She is an excellent singer. She remains in the city until after the ball and wedding."
 Mr. S. Hughes, the genial new proprietor of the Lindsay Warder, was in town yesterday, and favored us with a friendly call. Mr. Hughes seems to possess that requisite amount of energy and "go" which is so essential now-a-days in the building up of a live newspaper where competition exists to any extent. We believe Mr. Hughes will make his influence felt in the Victoria.

NOCTURNAL PROWLERS

AGAIN ON THE BEAT—ASHBURNHAM VISITED, BUT NO BOOTY OBTAINED.

Three successive attempts made to enter a house—One house entered, and the man of darkness unceremoniously thrust out.

For several months there has not been the sign of a burglary in Peterborough, owing, no doubt, to the vigilance exerted by the police. Those that deal in deeds of darkness, finding it of no avail to attempt to pursue their evil traffic on this side of the river, it seems that they have determined to attack Ashburnham.

On Thursday night and Friday morning there were no fewer than three attempts made to enter private residences in the village, but it is a satisfaction to know that no booty was made away with.

At about twelve o'clock the wife of Mr. John Wood, J. P., was sitting in a room downstairs, while all the rest of the family had retired. She heard the shutters being quietly opened, and turning she saw a man looking through the window. When he saw Mrs. Wood he made off as quickly as possible. Mr. Wood, who was sleeping at the time, was informed of the matter, but he thought that once away the burglar would not return. But he was mistaken, for at about two o'clock someone was heard scrambling up the roof of the kitchen. The same individual gently opened the shutters of the children's room, but upon the little people raising a cry of alarm, he descended more quickly than he came up. But Mr. Burglar was of the bold sort. After coming down from the roof he went around the house and bolted the pantry window. He came in, but finding all the exits from this apartment bolted, he went out again. Mr. Wood heard the footsteps down stairs and came down armed with a club. He stood listening for a few moments, and on looking out of the window observed the cool visitor deliberately shouldering a ladder, to all appearance with the intention of reaching another window or to assist in procuring entrance to some other residence. Mr. Wood ran to the window and gave a shout. The ladder was dropped in an instant, and when Mr. Wood reached the front door there was no one to be seen, but the gate was left wide open, and he heard the sound of hurried footsteps about a block away. But Mr. Wood was not the only one visited. At about one o'clock, likely between the first and second visits paid to Mr. Wood's residence, Mr. H. Calcutt's house was attempted to be entered. Here the would be burglar met with treatment that he little expected. A daughter of Mr. Calcutt's was in attendance upon a sick sister. The lamp was dimly burning and everything was quiet. The window of the room was slowly and noiselessly raised, and the bird of darkness had climbed up, and had his head and shoulders through the window. Miss Calcutt, who had dropped into a little sleep, awoke with a start. But she quickly took in the situation, for without the scream that would have usually been indulged in by the majority of her sex, she marched across the room, and unceremoniously thrust out the unwelcome visitor. After this cool reception he hastily left, and the next place he turned up at is in Mr. J. C. Sullivan's house. An old lady resides with Mr. Sullivan to take care of the children. Her room is in the back part of the house, and she is in the habit of leaving her window open at night up full light. The roof of the woodshed joins the wall of the house just below the window of her room. It seems that he had crept up this roof and had gained entrance to the room without being heard. But when he went to open the door leading from the bedroom to the hall the old lady awoke. She saw a figure standing between herself and the lamp which was burning on the hall table, and at first thought it was Mrs. Sullivan. "What is the matter?" she asked. No answer. Again she repeated her question, never dreaming of burglars. This time the figure crouched and attempted to answer in a disguised voice. The old lady was startled and sat up in bed. All at once the figure started up, and with one dash cleared through the window and was gone. A loud scream brought Mrs. and Mr. Sullivan to the nurse's room, when, after she had recovered from her fright, she related what had occurred. Mr. Sullivan made a thorough search of the premises, but no one was to be seen.

The nurse describes the person, as she saw him departing, to be of medium height, with a clean shaven face, while Mrs. Wood says that the man who came up to the window of her house at twelve o'clock wore a beard.

 OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—On Friday last two children of Mr. McVicar, who lives about six miles from Pakenham, went into the garden and picked some poppy blossoms. STABBED BY A LUNATIC.

The Superintendent of the Kingston Asylum Assailed.

On Thursday at about twelve o'clock a terrible affair occurred at the Kingston asylum. Dr. Metcalfe and Dr. Clarke were passing through the wards, when an inmate named Maloney rushed at the former with a knife in his hand and made several plunges at him. It appears that when the doctors were passing along, Maloney went at Dr. Metcalfe, and as quick as a flash stabbed him in the abdomen. Dr. Clarke, seeing that assault was intended, and not observing the knife, threw his arms about Maloney and plucked his arms behind him and held him. The wretch then attempted to get loose and assault Dr. Clarke also; but when the latter saw the Superintendent fall backwards, he let go of Maloney, when the inmate ran out into the yard, where Mr. Spotton, the butcher, endeavored to catch him. He made a dash at the butcher also with the knife; but when Guard Langan made his appearance, he threw the weapon away. After being captured, he said, "I wanted to kill the doctor for blood money; I hope he is finished." He was then placed in room No. 6. The knife was sharpened to a point for the occasion. It is a miracle that Dr. Clarke escaped. In the meantime Dr. Laval was sent for, and subsequently Dr. Garrett and Oliver. It was found that the knife had entered the abdominal cavity. A large portion of the bowels protruded, and the bleeding was very free. All that could be done for the wounded gentleman was done, and at three o'clock he was very low. He may recover, but it is very doubtful.

Patrick Maloney has been in the asylum for about eighteen months, and it will be remembered that he was arrested for setting fire to a saw mill out the K. & P. and two horns as well. He confessed, and while in goal was pronounced insane by Drs. Sullivan and Oliver. When at large he was looked upon as a sneak who was half-witted.

Dr. Metcalfe is about forty years of age and came here from London about two years ago. He is married to Dr. Clarke's sister. Mrs. Metcalfe and relatives have the sympathy of the general public.

Maloney was never tried for arson, being pronounced insane. One of the barns he burned was owned by Mr. Curran. When before the Magistrate Maloney said that someone was following him trying to poison him. That was his hallucination.—Kingston News.

NO REASON FOR ENVY OR PRIDE

The Port Arthur Sentinel, after quoting some remarks made by the REVIEW regarding the Algoma contest and commenting thereon, asks: "Does not the REVIEW envy the constituency with such a representative?" To be candid, friend Sentinel, we do not. Even if the forged letter had not been written, addressed to Mr. Connors and published, and even if the statements made by the Sentinel regarding the representative of the constituency were not true, we would still not envy it. We do not envy West Algoma its representative nor feel proud of the Government he is pledged to support.

We do not feel proud of a Government which has deprived the municipalities of a large part of their authority in order to centralize power and the control of patronage in itself. The Mowat Government has been steadily grasping such patronage and using it for the purpose of keeping itself in office. It has interfered with the municipal councils of cities, towns, villages and townships, and has, after taking the direction and administration of the educational affairs of the Province upon itself, manipulated even that authority in such a manner as to work together with all its other acts to keep itself in power. The interests of the Province are subordinated to the interests of the rulers.

A Government which is as extravagant as the Mowat Government, and which, while professing to have a surplus of cash, borrows money and disposes of the property of the Province to meet the expenditure, is not one to be proud of. It is unnecessarily hastening the time when direct taxation must be resorted to, but, while aware of that, it still pursues the same course, burdening the Province with debt and parting with the property which is its capital.

A Government which, for party purposes, endeavors to arouse provincial jealousies and ill-feeling between the people of the Dominion is not one that Canadians have reason to be proud of. And when this is done, as in the case of the Mowat Government, to the direct injury of our own Province, the reasons for resenting such action are augmented. If Mr. McWatt had taken the course in regard to the boundary dispute that the Conservatives urged him to take, and which at last he was forced to take, Ontario would have had possession of the territory sooner and the ill-feeling would not have been aroused. But in order to benefit the party the Dominion and the Province were injured. The people of Ontario were taught to look upon the people of Quebec as foreigners, but they have since seen it demonstrated that they are true Canadians, ready and willing to join in fighting for our common country.

We do not feel proud of a Government which holds office through trickery and the expenditure of the funds of the Province to assist its candidates. The records of the law courts, in which were exposed the doings of the "mysterious stranger" in Lennox, the bribery and other means resorted to in Muskoka and Algoma to carry the elections, and the "judicious" expenditure of the colonization roads money generally, show to what means the Ontario Government will descend to retain office.

We do not feel proud of such a government, and we do not envy the constituency which elects a representative to support it.

An actress has been censured for revamping an old joke in a Montreal theatre and applying it to Riel's impending doom, because the death of anyone is not a proper subject for a jest. But what do those papers who censure the actress think of the conduct of the Port Hope Reform organ in offering to make a bet on the same subject?

The Ottawa Free Press is ingenious. It published several articles to prove that Louis Riel should be released, and prints over them a non le plume. This gives it an opportunity of publishing a short note in another column expressing the opinion that he should be hung. To rebel-sympathizing readers of the Free Press are supplied to read only the articles which favor the release of the condemned prisoner.

THE RIEL TRIAL.

The Ability With Which It was Conducted—A Jury of Good Men and True.

A Regina correspondent, who had remarkable facilities for forming a correct opinion on the merits of the Riel trial, and on the men who conducted the same, wrote as follows to a friend in Montreal the day before the termination of the trial:—"I have had a most excellent opportunity to form an opinion of them (the jury). They are most eminently calculated to deliver an unbiased and impartial verdict on the evidence as laid before them. They appear to be men quite removed from any bias, either of race, religion or political views. So much for the jury. As for the whole trial, nothing could have been conducted with more decorum, impartiality and marked observance of fair play, and I must not forget to add ability, both on the part of the Crown and the gentlemen who have been acting in defense of the prisoner. When I contrast this trial and this court in its proceedings, with courts in the territories on the other side of the line, I cannot but feel a glow of national pride."—Witness.

SWANDERING SPIRIT.

The Attempted Suicide of the Frog Lake Butcher.

The Northcoote brings a report that Swandering Spirit, the principal murderer in the Frog Lake horror, was captured and brought to Pitt about the time the steamer passed down. When taken he was armed with a Winchester rifle, revolver, and knife, and had two belts full of cartridges. On being brought to camp he was disarmed and placed under close arrest. He behaved strangely all afternoon and evening. During the night he borrowed a knife from his brother-in-law, and going outside the tent commenced a somewhat theatrical harangue in Cree, the substance of which was that they (the Indians) were in a rather tight place, and their delivery therefrom would be facilitated if he passed his checks, in which, no doubt, he was right. As he was speaking he felt for a short while with his left hand, holding the knife, a short butcher knife, in his right, and as he finished speaking he drove it into his left breast, just below the heart, burying the blade and part of the handle. He was taken up, the knife removed, and the wound dressed. It is thought he will recover. —Edmonton Bulletin, July 25.

AN ECCENTRIC FUNERAL.

Paid Two Francs Per Head for Seven Thousand People to See Him Buried.

A curious funeral was witnessed a day or two ago in Paris. It was attended by the representatives of the Prefect of the Seine, and the procession consisted of upward of 7,000 indigent persons of both sexes and all ages. It might have been thought a philanthropic or beneficent funeral of the poor was being buried, but it was nothing of the kind, the funeral being that of an eccentric individual, and the people attending it doing so at the rate of two francs per head. The deceased—as has been said—was an eccentric character, grew tired of living and determined to hang himself. Before doing this, however, he revenged himself on his heirs for certain real or imaginary wrongs by bequeathing to the Prefect of the Seine all his property, amounting to some hundred thousand francs. A letter informing that gentleman of the circumstances was dispatched to the prefecture, after which the testator committed suicide. By a clause in his will he stipulated that the prefect should give the body a decent burial, that the prayers of the church should be said for his soul, and that it should be made known that every poor person of the district in which he resided who attended his funeral would receive a gratuity of two francs. The prefect, executed scrupulously these instructions, excepting the last, the church refusing them on the grounds that he had committed suicide. The family are intending to dispute the validity of the will, alleging the testator was not sane when he drew it up. —London Spectator.

NEW MEXICO.

A Traveller's Experience in a Sand Storm.

In Harper's Magazine, Mr. Birge Harrison describes an experience of his own while travelling through the country:—"The air was still as death and there was not a puff of wind nor a ray of light in the whole horizon. I observed, however, that the sky had undergone a curious change. There was no diminution of the blinding sunlight, but the deep blue had been superseded by a remarkably strange white glare that was nearly blinding, and the heat had increased rather than diminished. We added, hastily, and were threading our way through the hazy labyrinth of sand hills, and out on the broad mesa again. We had gone more than a mile or two in the direction of Espanola when Joe, who had been glancing about in all directions, suddenly remarked, 'There she comes!' and jumping on his horse, commenced tying him up behind an adjacent heap of boulders. We stared in the direction he pointed out, but could discover nothing save the white sky, the hills and the sandy plains. As we looked, however, we gradually became aware that far down the valley two or three of the hills had entirely disappeared, and stranger still, that more of them were being eaten up under our very eyes. A little brownish black cloud, no bigger than one's hand, was the monster that was thus devouring the landscape. We hastily secured the animals to the shelter of the rocks, and came back to have a look at the cloud. Everything had been washed away from the face of the earth, and a blur of gray dust was all that remained. I could hardly distinguish those nearest to me through the strange mist. The worst of it lasted about half an hour, I should think, but the air was still full of dust when we arrived at home about two hours later. Found a New Mexican sand storm. We found all our household goods covered with a mist of from half an inch to an inch of impalpable powder, which had sifted in from every crack and crevice. Nothing had escaped."

In an instant everything was obscured. I peered through my half-closed lids, and could not see a sage bush which I had noticed a moment before only a few feet distant. The air was full of the dull roar of the battling winds. We could hardly hear the sound of our voices when we shouted. Everything had been washed away from the face of the earth, and a blur of gray dust was all that remained. I could hardly distinguish those nearest to me through the strange mist. The worst of it lasted about half an hour, I should think, but the air was still full of dust when we arrived at home about two hours later. Found a New Mexican sand storm. We found all our household goods covered with a mist of from half an inch to an inch of impalpable powder, which had sifted in from every crack and crevice. Nothing had escaped."

With a Dangerous Breath.

It was in the smoking car of a train running west from Washington a few months ago. In one seat sat a red faced man, with his head tilted back upon his seat, his eyes closed, his mouth open, sleeping and snoring. In the seat in front of him was a man who pulled a bit of a lunch from his basket and after eating it with evident relish, proceeded to light a cigar. He had struck the match and was holding it a moment in the air, as a smoker delights to do when a stentorian voice shouted: "Blow out that match there, for goodness sake!"

The young man threw the match to the floor and turned for explanation. "Backside man," said he, with a great voice, "you tempt fate. Didn't you see that Chicago alderman sitting behind you with his mouth open and breathing furiously in your direction? Do you want to cause an explosion that will knock this train over into North Carolina?" —Chicago Herald.

The Heavens Above.

August comes richly laden with planetary events. Venus, the fairest of the stars, pays her moon to her brother Jupiter, to the swift footed Mercury, to the slow moving Uranus, while she fills out her portion of the planetary work by a close conjunction with Beta Virginis, and fulfill her monthly duty to the moon. Jupiter, the prince of planets, who can out run him in a race, if he can do nothing else. Saturn, the ring girdled planet, and Mars, the god of war, meet and change places on the celestial road, then planets pay then respects to the little star, New Gemmorium, the approach in the case of Saturn being almost as appaling, four minutes of arc, the distance between them being, incidentally mentioned, a small pace to intervene between two heavenly bodies. The light of Jupiter grows dim and fades away; Venus slowly advances to easy visibility, and will soon put on queenly apparel. Mercury designs to show his bright face to terrestrial observers; Saturn in respect with his wide open wings, and the day of Maritan importance near the dawn. The August moon fulfils on the 23rd, twenty-five minutes after midnight. The moon is in conjunction with Neptune on the 4th at three hours forty-nine minutes p.m., being two degrees forty-five minutes south. On the 9th, at nine hours forty-five minutes a.m., she is in conjunction with Saturn, being four degrees thirty-three minutes south. Also on the 7th, forty-three minutes later, at nine hours forty-eight minutes p.m., she is in conjunction with Mars, being five degrees thirty-three minutes south. The conjunction is invisible, but the waxing moon will be near the two planets on the morning of the 7th. —Providence Journal.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars for any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the hands off our Cables, and sell them (the "Cables" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, palming them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the brands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigars, and sell them for a (15c) fifteen cent imported cigar and refuse our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a rusty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine. We do not object to the consumers paying (10c) ten cents for our (15c) "Cable" cigars, and (15c) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c) cigars; as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking as imported. The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them. PANTS!

How often does it happen that the general comfort and happiness of man depends on a good fitting pair of pants? Nothing will ruffle a man's temper more than to find when he tries on his latest new pair of pants that they are either too long or too short; that they pinch him so bad in one place that he dare not stoop, and are so large and heavy around the waist and knees that he is afraid he might be taken for the departed "Smith."

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Progressing upward.

The brick work of the new building for the lock factory on Simcoe street is going up rapidly. Mr. Hartley has a good gang of men on the work, and the walls are fast getting into shape.

For a beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNeil's window.

Journalistic.

Mr. S. M. Newton, late of the Lindsay Warder, has purchased the Whitty Gazette, and is giving the people of Whitty and vicinity a good, lively local paper. We wish Mr. Newton and the Gazette success.

A Lull.

After a steady influx of excursionists to town for some weeks, things look as if there is going to be a lull in the business for a time. The only excursions billed are outward bound, one to Niagara on the 23rd of August, one to Stony Lake on the 19th of August and one to Lakefield on Sept. 1st.

Replaced.

The plate glass pane in the south window of Mr. W. J. Green's Clothing store, which so mysteriously cracked some time ago, was replaced on Friday. The Agent of the Hand in Hand Insurance company, which company held the policy, replaced the old light with a new one in a very business like manner, it taking him only two hours to complete the job. The old light was sold for $20.

McNeil's 25 cent Tie cannot be beat in the Dominion.

Personal.

Mr. George Fowler, formerly an employee of the Review, and now living in Toronto, is here on a visit to friends. He is corporal and instructor in a company of the Grenadiers, Toronto, and did service in the Northwest rebellion, taking part in the fight at Fish Creek and later on at Batoche.

Mr. Morley Campbell is home from Montreal on a short visit.

The Market.

The market was fairly well attended this morning. Butter and eggs were in abundant supply, the former selling at from 18 to 20 cents and the latter at 11 and 12. Chickens sold at from 40 cents to 50 cents per pair; ducks, at from 60 cents to 75 cents per pair; turkeys, from 70 cents to $1.00 each; lamb, at from 5 to 7 cents per pound; and mutton at from 80 cents per bag, and apples at 20 cents per peck.

Boys' Clothing to suit all ages, always in stock at Terabill's.

Barnum is here.

One of our local contemporaries lately observed that on account of the high license fee imposed by the Town Council on circuses, it is altogether likely that Barnum will shun the town. Such is not correct, for Barnum is at present within the corporation, and if anyone does not feel inclined to believe he can go to Messrs. Porter Bros. carriage factory, and be convinced. Barnum is there; the hands of the factory call him the lightning tack driver.

Look at McNeil's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty five cents.

Peterborough's Handsome Population.

Referring to the Sons of England's excursion on the civic holiday, the Lindsay Post says:—"A train full of jolly Englishmen from Peterborough rolled up to Lindsay over the link line on Tuesday morning and emptied the crowd out on the wharf, where the Extension took them on board for Strickland Point. The party numbered about three hundred, Sons of England lodge of Peterborough. If the throng had been carefully selected to pick out the stoutest and sturdiest men and the handsomest girls to be found in that town and ship them along the line as a sample of the community in general then the inspectors did their work well. If the party selected themselves at random then there must have been a very fine lot to select from."

Just to give you an idea about 2000 yards of Choice Prints at 6 cts. See them at the Bon Marche. Best value in Peterborough.

At the Lansdowne Rink.
 The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance at the above rink this evening. Go and enjoy a skate to their delightful music.

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fine cool weather.

The Weather.
 The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock.....50	29.25
1 o'clock.....75	29.25
3 o'clock.....75	29.25

Look! Look!
 The Yacht "Pearl" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Funcher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

Riverside Park.
 A grand base ball match will be played on August 19th, between the Clippers, of Hamilton, Champions of the Dominion of Canada, and the Peterborough Club. Game to commence at 2.30 p.m. All admirers of base ball should attend, as this will be one of the best games ever played in Peterborough. Tickets, gentlemen, 25c., ladies 15c.

A Narrow Escape.
 This forenoon at about a quarter to eleven o'clock the mail cart was being rapidly driven up to the post office. On turning the corner of George and Brock streets the horse nearly trampled on a little girl. The little thing was leisurely walking after her mamma, and before she or the driver of the cart knew it she was directly under the horse. A bystander extricated her from her rather perilous position and took her to a place of safety.

A Handsome Poster.
 The Lindsay Warder says:—"We have received from the REVIEW Office, Peterborough, a magnificent poster announcing their fall show, on September 29th and 30th and October 1st. We do not yet profess to be much of a job printer, but we have always been vain enough to consider ourselves a good judge of what is neat, elegant, beautiful and well done. The REVIEW poster exactly fills the bill. It is a triple sheet in four colors, red, green, brown and black produced with three impressions. Several who have seen the bill assert it far ahead of the one announcing the Toronto Exhibition, which one is usually considered to be the finest produced in Canada."

The Central Exhibition.
 The Lindsay Post thus refers to the Central Exhibition to be held in Peterborough:—

"Our friends at Peterborough are going in with eagerness to build up a successful fair. The dates are fixed for September 29th and 30th and October 1st, and the officers coming immediately in contact with the public at Messrs J. Carnegie, president; C. McGill, secretary; and W. H. Hill, treasurer. With the fine public spirit now working up at Peterborough in connection with the grand central exhibition and the new and spacious grounds there is every prospect that the fair will be very successful one, and we hope to see Lindsay men and county of Victoria members largely represented in many important classes."

Look for new Dress Goods at Terabill's, in Black and Colors. Dressmaking a specialty.

The Peterborough Central Fair.
 Mr. E. C. Hill has been busy all to-day placarding our town bill boards with the large coloured posters of the Peterborough Central Exhibition. He leaves next week for an extended trip along the lines of the C.P.R. and G.T.R., and will advertise our fare from Toronto to Ottawa, and through the whole of the Midland district.

(Clothing for Indians.)
 On Friday the St. Paul's auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, shipped over the Canadian Pacific Railway, a bundle of clothing, weighing three hundred and fifty pounds for the needy Indians in the Northwest. The clothing was addressed to the Rev. James Robertson, Superintendent of the Manitoba Missions, Winnipeg, whence it will be forwarded to the Rev. John McKay, M.S.-T.-W.-S. Reserve, Saskatchewan.

The Churches.
 The following is a list of to-morrow's services: St. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—First mass at 7 o'clock in the morning; second, at 8.30, and a high mass at 10.30. Vespers in the evening at 7 o'clock.

St. PAUL'S.—In the absence of the pastor, Mr. Torrance, the Rev. Mr. Ryger, of London, Ont., will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening.

St. LUKE'S.—Holy Communion at 8 a.m.; morning prayer with sermon at 11 a.m.; evening prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. JOHN'S.—Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; morning prayer with sermon at 11 a.m.; evening prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. ANDREW'S.—The usual service will be conducted.—In the morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES

HINKLETS.
A BOYS' RACE.

At the Lansdowne Rink on Friday evening there were to have been a number of races, but the boys were the only skaters who showed a disposition to toe the mark. At nine o'clock the floor was cleared and the boys' race was called. Courney and Johnston entered, and on the start Courney got a slight advantage. This he lost on the first turn and Johnston maintained the lead to the finish. Courney dropped out on the second last lap. For the first seven laps the race was very keen.

The free for all was called, but there being no entries the skaters resumed possession of the floor. The Fire Brigade Band was in attendance, and the number of spectators was fairly large.

LACROSSE.
POINTS.

The Creses, encouraged by the success recently obtained by the second twelve of the Peterboroughs, are trying to arrange a match with the Norwoods.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, held on Friday evening, it was decided to go again into practice with a will.

THE BALL GAME.
THE CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

The George street merchants, as was anticipated, hold a decidedly different opinion of the prowess of the legal fraternity's nine from that held by the lawyers themselves. They request us to state that they will play the lawyers a game of ball, provided that the legal men allow them to choose two players from Hunter street.

In recognition of this favour, if given, they will allow the lawyers to choose from among other professional men. They desire us to ask the lawyers if they will be ready by Tuesday afternoon.

SHORT STOPS.
 The Anaburites are in steady practice, and they intend soon to issue a challenge to the "Comets," a north and north recently organized.

The Lindsay Warder closes nearly a whole column in rather overdone criticism of Mr. Salisbury's letter to the Mail. We agree with the Post that this trouble has gone a little too far. The hatchet should be buried and a game arranged to decide which are the better ball players.

The bills are now out announcing the match between the Clippers of Hamilton and the home nine. This will be the first visit of the Clippers to this town, and no doubt there will be a large number of people out to see the celebrated ball tossers.

THE PATH.
ASSOCIATION SPORTS.

The fortnightly sports in connection with the Amateur Athletic Association was held on Friday evening in the grounds of the association. The spectators were very sparse, owing, no doubt, to the threatening condition of the weather.

Mr. R. B. Rogers and Dr. Geo. Burnham acted as judges and Mr. C. A. Lawford, as starter.

The first race called was the one hundred yard dash. There were three entries; G. F. Orde, A. Elliott, and P. E. S. Cooper. On the start all got fairly away and kept close up to the turn. Here Cooper fell slightly behind and the race was evidently between the other two. On coming to the line Orde was about three or four inches ahead. Time 1:13 seconds.

The bicycle race was the next on the programme. J. McNamara and G. Ames were the competitors. On the start McNamara took the lead, which he held for about 175 yards. Ames here took first place, to be repeated about 200 yards further on. Several times they changed places until they leave on the last lap. Ames drew ahead in splendid form and won by about half a lap.

There were two entries for the quarter mile race; Orde, of Peterborough, and Clarke, of Perth. The latter took first place on the start and held it until they came in on the home stretch. Here Orde took first place and won by about six yards. Time, 1:04 minutes.

The same two competitors entered for the mile race. Clark took first place in this race, and on the finish of the first lap Orde dropped out. Clark finished the mile, running very prettily. Several times he stopped to fix his shoe, but despite this he finished the mile in less than six minutes.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

The broom corn in the West bears a most promising look.

The shortage in the Australian wool clip is now reduced to 25,000 bales.

Horses may be saved from sunstroke by a wet sponge on the top of their heads.

Delaware expects to market 2,500,000 baskets of peaches this year, says the Dover Scenic.

English authorities say there is too much inferior and too little superior wool produced to satisfy the demand of trade.

The spores of smut found in smutty grain are so small that 7,500,000 can be placed side by side in the space of one square inch.

Take every needless strap from your harness in hot weather and invariably strip your horses at noon spell, and refresh them with a bath.

Reuben Jones, of Albany, Georgia, lately exhibited fifty mules which averaged fifty-one pounds each. The largest weighed sixty-six pounds.

The dairy stock, buildings and equipments of the United States are rated to be worth over $300,000,000.

The hay crop of Burlington county, N.J., will be but one-half of the normal tonnage. In the field hay is sold for $20 a ton, a figure hitherto unknown.

Syndicates of English capitalists and noblemen own 21,000,000 acres of grazing land in the Western plains, together with the stock thereon.

It is estimated that the falling off of the hay crop from that of last year in the States of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont will be 465,800 tons.

Frequent applications of a wash of carbolic soap will save horses from annoyance by flies, but the best protection is a full sized cover in the open air and a rather dark stable when at rest.

The number of eggs shipped from Europe to the United States each summer, principally from Antwerp and Hamburg, is reported at 20,000,000. What is the matter with the American hen?

POLICE COURT.

D. & D.

MONDAY, Aug. 17.—Thos. Ritchie was charged by P. O. McGinty with having been drunk and disorderly on the public streets on Saturday. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and $4.25 costs.

ADULTER LANGUAGE.

A. B. Downer was charged by his brother with having used insulting language toward him. The defendant pleaded guilty. The complainant stated that he did not wish to prosecute, but simply wished to be relieved from any further abuse from the defendant. A fine of $1 and $4.10 costs was imposed.

ASSAULT.

A. B. Downer was also charged by his wife with having committed an assault upon her. The complainant appeared to be much affected by having to come before the court on such an errand. She did not wish to prosecute to the full extent of the law, but desired to be given some means of self protection. Judgment was reserved.

NON PAYMENT OF WAGES.

J. Doonan charged A. D. Faucher with having failed to pay him his wages amounting to $24.38.

Mr. Geo. Edmonson appeared for the defendant and claimed that Mr. Faucher owed the complainant only $14.60. The case was adjourned until to-morrow. Mr. J. O'Meara appeared for the complainant.

For a short, neat fitting Jacket, made to order, call at Turnbull's. A nice assortment of Jersey Cloths to choose from.

SMALLPOX IN MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—The city is at present suffering from a severe epidemic of smallpox. The number of cases is estimated at 1,000 and the disease is spreading rapidly. It was imported here nearly five months ago from Chicago by two Pullman car conductors, who were treated in a hospital and nursed by the nuns. As soon, however, as the disease became pronounced, the hospital was shut up and the patients removed. They did not check the malarial spreading, slowly at first and later rapidly. The number of deaths recorded is 120. This month there are as many as forty-five. The great object in checking it is the opposition of the large majority of the French Canadian doctors to vaccination. They do not vaccinate their own children. The health authorities are doing all in their power to arrest the epidemic, but the French population will not heed instructions that are deemed for their benefit. The clergy are beginning to speak from the pulpits in favor of vaccination. The civic spirit is overfull, and new extensions are in progress.

FOUNDER'S TRIAL.
REXHA, Aug. 15.—Founder was arraigned before Col. Richardson this afternoon on the charge of treason-felony. The indictment was a lengthy document, which charged him with inciting and assisting in making war at Cut Knife, with robbing a wagon train, and with publishing a letter to Riel, in which he boasted of killing six whites at Cut Knife, and also told of Big Bear's success at Pitt, and wound up by asking for further instructions regarding "God's work." The prisoner pleaded not guilty and elected trial by jury, through his counsel, Mr. F. Beverley Robinson.

Thomas Scott, the alleged white rebel, of Prince Albert, was next arraigned. He too, elected trial by jury. As he was not ready to go on, it was arranged to postpone his trial till September. He was admitted to bail, himself in $4,000, and two sureties for $2,000 each. It is expected that Poundmaker's trial will be concluded on Monday.

Ladies will find Coloured Branded Jerseys to match all shades at Turnbull's.

A Minister Fired at.
TORONTO, August 16.—Rev. Mr. Pickering, Methodist minister, while conducting evening service at Richmond street church, narrowly escaped being shot, some evil disposed person firing a revolver through a window, the bullet grazing the minister's head.

Killed by Falling from a Swing.
CHATHAM, Ont. Aug. 15.—Besse, aged 8 years, daughter of W. G. McGeorge, surveyor and civil engineer, was instantly killed at noon to-day by falling from a swing, the rope in some manner getting round her neck and breaking it.

Expelled.
BURNED ATRES, August 15.—A number of nuns who were expelled from Montevideo, by President Santos, arrived here yesterday. The nun in charge of the party is a sister of President Santa Maria, of Chili. They will proceed to Chili by next steamer.

Death of Dr. Metcalfe.
KINGSTON, Ont. Aug. 16.—Dr. Metcalfe, superintendent of the Rockwood asylum, who was stricken by a lunatic on Thursday, died this (Sunday) afternoon.

WIT AND WISDOM.
You may speak as you will of pedigree generally, but in a sleeping-car it is a man's berth which raises him above his fellows.

Likely!—First Volunteer.—That is an officer just gone by; why didn't you salute him? "Second Volunteer"—What, mon! Salute our Jack?

"Will you pass the butter, Mr. Fogg?" asked Brown. "Every time," replied Fogg. The landlady says it was the way Fogg said it that made her mad.

"You don't mean to say that you wish your wife would turn into a pillar of salt?" "Not exactly, but," "But what?" "I wish she wasn't so peppery."

To the Sporting Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Having been informed that Mr. W. H. Clarke, of Perth, wishes to arrange a race with me, I hereby challenge him to run me a five or ten mile race for from $25 to $50 a side, the race to be run in Peterborough within three weeks from date.

LACROSSE.
ANNUAL PICNIC.
The Lacrosse Club will hold their annual picnic on Tuesday. Mr. H. Calcutt has very kindly placed the services of the Golden Eye at the disposal of the club, and the members of the club and their friends will take a trip down the river as far as Campbelltown. A palace scow will be attached for dancing and a fine quadrille band will be in attendance. A large number are expected to attend, and it is probable that this will be the picnic of the season. See posters for full particulars.

BASEBALL.
SHORT STOPS.
A few days ago the picnic of the clubs of Peonack and Midland came together in a friendly match at the latter place. At the end of the six innings the match ended, the Midlanders winning by 48 runs. The score stood 69 to 21. In the fifth inning the Midland are made 22 runs, and in the sixth they made 33. Those up north interested in the game state that the playing was "prodigious."

The lawyers, in reply to the George street merchants, say that it will be impossible for them to play a match to-morrow afternoon, but they agree to meet their mercantile opponents on Friday afternoon.

If the above is satisfactory to all, a most exciting match may be expected.

LOUIS RIEL IN GAOL.
In his cell at Regina, Riel has a little table and all the necessary writing materials, and thus he whiles away the weary hours jotting down leading incidents in connection with his life. As his career has been somewhat varied from that of ordinary beings, it will doubtless take him all his time to sum up his history between now and the 18th of September. It is astonishing, too, the number of people who linger about the barracks in order to secure the autograph of the rebel leader. He has a very nice signature for one who sported a private secretary and consequently did not have much to do in the line of penmanship. His penmanship generally, however, greatly resembles that of a school boy who makes fruitless attempts to outdo the headline.

In consequence of the "Riel autograph fever," as it is termed, having broken out among the good people of Regina, the stationery dealers have had a little boom and now an autograph album cannot be had in the Capital for love or money. As for Riel he is always too happy to accommodate his friends in this manner, and the being of a poetical nature, he generally adds a souvenir when he was flown to a happier sphere.

When sentence was passed he still had a firm belief that he would be acquitted, but gradually that opinion has vanished from his mind until now he can only say a faint ray of hope gleams from the Privy Council. When Mr. T. C. Johnston, one of his counsel, informed him the other day that the appeal in his case was being rapidly pushed forward, he said: "Well, I suppose it's no harm to be prepared to meet the end."

Mr. Johnston informed the Free Press correspondent that Messrs. Fitzpatrick, Lemieux, and himself would argue the appeal before the Court of Queen's Bench here about the beginning of September. If they failed to carry their point they would go in person to England to lay their plea before the Privy Council. The court was adjourned for recess on the last day of the trial. Riel was observed to linger in the box. The guards could not induce him to go to lunch. His action seemed mysterious, and consequently a close watch was kept on him. When the courtroom was cleared he suddenly whipped a small bottle from his pocket, and going to the jury stand he sprinkled a little of its contents on each chair, at which he knelt and said a prayer.

When asked his reason for such strange action he said the bottle contained holy water, and he wished to purify the hearts of the jurors in order that they might return a just and impartial verdict. —Manitoba Free Press.

THE CHOLERA.
LONDON, Aug. 15.—The fear of the importation of cholera has taken pre-eminence along the Mediterranean coast and the most rigorous quarantine precautions have been established at Gibraltar, on the island of Malta and at the ports of Egypt against all French and Spanish vessels. Marseilles steamers are not allowed to call at Malta, Suez or Port Said, and the most urgent measures are everywhere taken at other places to ward off the threatening pestilence.

Stringent measures are being taken to keep the cholera away from Paris. Travellers from the south are quarantined. The streets are cleaned every night.

The Paris National, the first journal to announce the appearance of cholera at Marseilles, insists that the number of deaths that have occurred there from the disease is still much underrated.

There were 4,819 new cases of cholera and 1,840 deaths from the disease reported on Friday throughout Spain.

Under Orders.
WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—The Winnipeg Light Infantry, which returned to the city last night, received a telegram from Gen. Middleton ordering them to go into camp and remain in active service till further orders. Col. Smith expects the battalion may be ordered to Ratsofod or Cyprus Hills.

Presidential Placemanship.
When President Cleveland was asked to appoint Judge Tree to a foreign mission, he replied:

"I'd just as lief as not."

This gracious answer to the application was received with a profound laugh.

"In making this appointment, however," continued the chief magistrate, "it was not to be considered by any branches of the Judge's family that they have only to apply for a position to be appointed."

"Certainly not," was the response.

"Then, I guess, you can tell Judge Tree to pack his trunk," said the President. "You expect me, of course, to appoint him," he added.

"We know you would," was the reply.

"Well," said the President, "I was aware that Judge Tree did not pine for the office, nevertheless in such a position I was anxious to see, as our English friends would say, a good man at the 'olm, and while I'm capable—"

"Checkmate!" exclaimed the delegation in a breath.

Then the President retired to his desk with a pleasant smile on his face, and the delegation departed, well pleased with the success of their mission. —Boston Courier.

THE TOMB OF WILLIAM.

VIEWED BY A WOUNDED MILITARY.
The sun's departing beams o'er the Colonel's grave
Shed a pale and pale; while midst the obscurity
A solemn silence reigned, as revering the brave,
A dusky shade o'erspread the hero's tomb.

Shrunk by constant pain and plainly old,
A wounded hero on his crutch leaning,
His full breast heaving and his visage sad,
A hallowed tear departed word enshrined.

"Oh, death!" he cried, "what has thy fury done?
Bereaved this Canada of a favorite son,
Laid low the form which shone so bright in arms,
The heart which feared not battle's dire alarms."

The mind whose power a comrade's mind outdid,
The arm whose strength the red man's vengeance hurled,
Swept from the earth as one distracting blow—
The Midland's pride—the daring rebel foe.

Hither O! Memory, fly on hawk wing,
The brightest time thy choicest picture bring,
Portray his form, in battle's dread array,
In scenes of blood, of slaughter and dismay.

Imparting fire to each despairing heart,
Facing undaunted death's promiscuous dart,
Fading him when presence in hopeless grief
Laid on each side and saw no kind relief.

When rebel bands swept our western land
And ruin hovered o'er our each loyal hand,
When poor "Babe's" blood was shed and forlorn,
Saw threatening clouds obscure her earliest morn.

Her soul seemed verging to the gloom of night,
No friendly star to greet her aching sight,
When lo, along with a trembling crowd,
The hero came and plucking gathered cloud,

Pressed battle on, his own stained ranks he led,
He nerved each heart and raised each drooping head,
Through thickening dangers bowed his rapid way,
And led his soldiers to a brighter day.

And O! portray him when in dire distress,
Oppressed with hunger, cold, fatigue and woe,
We feebly marched to meet the hidden foe.
His name revived the half extinguished flame.

And urged our country's awful claim;
By his example, by his courage taught,
Distress and want and "hard luck" we forgot;
Fired by his zeal, we fought the deadly fight.

We sought that victory so highly prized,
From trench to trench by him obedient led,
Our arms victorious o'er the region spread,
Till conquered foes could hold their pits no more.

And victory's banner waved on Babe's blood stained shore,
An O, methinks, his form I still see,
Where the Gull's and halting battle lines
Forming his ranks to meet his treacherous foe.

While all each word he speaks our bosoms glow
With ardent heat; with to the charge we fly,
For victory, to conquer or to die!

Alas! the dream is gone, the vision fled,
And all his laurels crown a lifeless head,
His grave, no more the conquering sword to wield,
No more in arms to grace the warlike field.

What time hath power to paint his form-felt grief?
Where shall his sorrowing soldiers find relief?
O, picture him when in a quietude,
The end of a great soldier's life.

Accept the tribute which, unfeigned, I give,
Which consecrates thy tomb, and bids thy memory live.

Thus by warm affection won,
Mourning fair Durham's wounded son,
Tears overflowed his manly eye,
While his bosom rose a fervent sigh.

For William, his leader, friend and guide,
Ontario's example and the "Midland's" pride.

When in a form in stable robes arrayed,
Advanced majestic, thro' the shade,
A gloomy arrow o'er her visage spread,
And wreaths of yew tree crowned her ruthless head.

Two victory, whose kind propitious hand
Strews her every path to bliss our happy land.

Yes, honored chief! she cried, thy laurels still Shall bloom, thy memory shall be still
When time's destroying hand in ruin lays thy tomb,
Thro' long succeeding years, thy memory shall survive.

In every heart exist, in every bosom live,
His deathless name shall sound as long as we have Sought to be free.

Who broke the rebel ranks and set their prisoners free.

—W. J. Hume, in the London Post.

Chinese Politicians.

The practice of politeness is made a more prominent feature in education and inculcated on higher grounds in China than in any other country of the East or of the West. It is, in fact, regarded as an integral part of the ethical system of the country. A decorous observance of the conventions is, if not the whole duty of man, as Confucius conceived it, one of its most important duties at all events. The "superior man," the ideal personage who figures in the Confucian writings as the type of human perfection, was essentially what the French describes as a person comme il faut, a well-bred man who supports himself with dignity and decorum on all occasions, and whose conduct aims to be in bringing his conduct into conformity with the "Rules of Propriety."

To speak slightly of oneself and flattering of the person one is addressing is a more or less recognized rule of politeness everywhere. The Chinese carry this self-depreciation and flattery further, and make it a more regular feature in their conversation than any other people. A man when speaking of himself, his family, his friends, his active place, etc., invariably couples them with some such epithets as "mean," "worthless," "contemptible," while he qualifies the person to whom he is speaking and all his belongings, as "honorable," "estimable," "precious." A man has a perfect right to speak of himself as a contemptible person; but to European ears it sounds hardly polite to talk of one's "contemptible family." A Chinese speaks of the "honorable illness" of an ailing friend, and the sick man himself inquires of it as his "contemptible malady."

The polite usage of a people who seem to make a point of acting differently from the Europeans on all occasions, are so might be expected, in many cases the opposite of what good breeding prescribes in Europe. It is polite to ask a man his age in China; indeed, it is the first question exchanged by persons introduced to each other, and it would be impolite to omit it. It would be the height of rudeness in China to remove one's hat on entering a room. It would also be considered a piece of shocking rudeness to wear one's glasses in paying a visit of ceremony. Considering how hopeless a short sighted person is without his accustomed aids to vision, it is evident that this requirement of Chinese politeness must entail a large amount of discomfort and inconvenience, but the rule is peremptory, and no one thinks of breaking it. More intelligible, but hardly less troublesome in its way, is the etiquette which compels a person on horseback to dismount when he meets a friend on foot. No European can hope to master the elaborate and complicated code of Chinese etiquette, or to avoid occasional violations of the "rules of propriety" in his social intercourse with the natives. The best rule, perhaps, to follow is this: it is to do the exact opposite of what one would have done at home under similar circumstances.—London Standard.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

Straw matting may be cleaned with a large coarse cloth dipped in salt and water, and then wiped dry.

Alumet cream is the latest name for the shade of white with a tint of pale yellow in it, so popular in summer woolen fabrics this season.

If you cannot obtain cream for use in salad dressing, a substitute which will answer is made by thickening sweet milk with a little arrowroot or corn starch.

White dresses are much worn for all summer seasons; pale blue, pink, mauve, ecru, prim rose, are all favorite colors for under dresses; but most of the white toilettes have very little color about them.

For a really cooling drink, if one will but wait for five minutes for the effect, hot tea is better than most things; and, as Anglo Indians know, the wrist held under a tap of running water cools more than any sort of drink.

To CAN PEACHES.—Cut them in halves and remove the stone; then peel each half. If sugar is used in putting them up, make a syrup of a pint of water and half a pound of sugar more or less; in this cook the peaches and can them. Two peaches in each can left with the stones in will give a delicious flavor of bitter almond. More than this would be unnecessary.

To CAN CORN.—Use glass cans. Cut the corn from the cob, press it into the cans with a potato masher till the milk runs over. Put on tops, screw down tight. Place them in a boiler with sticks on the bottom, pour in cold water enough to about two-thirds cover them. Boil about five hours. When about half cooked remove a can at a time, tighten the stops and replace.

A FRENCH physician announces that distressing or excessive palpitation of the heart can always be arrested by holding down the head down and the hands hanging, so as to produce a temporary congestion of the upper portion of the body. In nearly every instance of nervous or anemic palpitation the heart immediately resumes its natural function. If the movements of the respiration are arrested during this action, the effect is still more rapid.

BANANAS.—Before serving bananas put them on ice, so that they may become very cold, a little short of freezing; also have a pitcher of cream ready. Use a silver knife to cut them in two, lengthwise, and sprinkle powdered sugar over them. Whip the cream into a stiff froth, adding a little sugar, and pile it up on the bananas. Place them on a pretty circular dish with the ends of the bananas all meeting in the centre, and pile the whipped cream upon it.

CHEAP LEMON PUDDING.—Carefully boil four medium sized potatoes, dry them well, and mash them through a sieve, add one ounce of butter, the grated rind and juice of two lemons, three to four ounces sugar, one egg, and a tablespoonful or two of stale bread crumbs; the exact quantity must be determined by the consistency, which should be that of a thick batter. Bake in a dish with light, short crust, pour in the mixture, and bake in a moderate oven for about half an hour.

CRABAPPLE LOAF.—Wash and soak half a pound of currants; grate half a pound of loaf sugar; separate the yolks from the whites of six eggs, and beat up the yolks with the sugar; beat a quarter of a pound of butter, add it to the yolks, and beat them together; stir three quarters of a pound of flour amongst the yolks, add the whites of three eggs, beat to a snow, put in the currants, add a little volatile, mix, and then put all into a pan, and bake in a moderate oven for an hour and three quarters.

KEEP YOUR HOUSE GUARDED.—Keep your house guarded against sudden attacks of Cholera, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and Cholera Infantum. They are liable to come when least expected, and will thus make pure blood which gives perfect health.

A WANT OF ACTIVITY.—Much of the ill condition of chronic invalids is due to want of activity in a sluggish liver. Burdock Blood Bitters restores a healthy action of the liver to secure pure blood, and thus make pure blood which gives perfect health.

SHOULD BE ATTENDED TO.—Much suffering is the result of neglected constipation there is no better regulator of the bowels than Burdock Blood Bitters by its prompt action on the liver all tendency to irregularity is removed and one chief source of ill health prevented.

THE CHOLERA.—Possibly the Cholera may not reach our locality this season. Nevertheless, we should take every precaution against it. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a sure cure for Cholera Morbus, Colic, Cramp, Diarrhoea and Dysentery.

SEVEN Indians who took part in the assault on Rev. Mr. Baker last Sunday, when he was forcibly ejected from his church on the Mohawk reserve, near Deseronto, were fined on Friday at the Belleville Police Court. The defendants will also be tried on the charge of preventing public worship.

A STRANGE DISEASE.—There is scarcely a symptom belonging to chronic complaints but is common to the poor dyspeptic, and he often feels as if he had every disease in the catalogue. Burdock Blood Bitters cures the worst form of Chronic Dyspepsia.

MR. WALLACE, Druggist, of Hastings, Ontario, says: "I recommend Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters far ahead of all other stomach medicines. It is just the right thing for Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Headache, and Dyspepsia. Large Bottles 50 cents."

WE BELIEVE the cause of the wonderful success of our Murray & Leaman's Florida Water may be found in the fact that the principal aim in its preparation has always been to give the simple natural perfume of flowers without any chemical addition whatever, and to avoid, by all means, the great error of making a heavy, sickly, sweet perfume.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate east and south winds, fine warm weather.

The New Billiard Rooms.

Mr. Robert Kelly has opened the Billiard Rooms in the Town Hall block, next to Darcy's Hotel. There are four new tables, all the necessary appliances, and every convenience for billiard players, so he should secure patronage.

Volunteer Reception.

—If there are any ladies who miss dishes or other articles so kindly loaned for the banquet tendered to the Peterborough volunteers by the reception committee and citizens on their return from the North west (a number having been still unrecalled for) will call on Mrs. Kincaid they will be able to secure them.

Lacrosse Club Picnic.

On Tuesday, August 25th, the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will run a grand excursion on the steamer Golden Eye to Campbelltown. The friends of the Lacrosse Club and the public generally are cordially invited. There will be a series of matches played on the grounds, and other events will be arranged for.

Ordination Service.

An ordination service was held in St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday during High Mass, in which Mr. Peter Maguire was invested with the minor orders of priesthood. His Lordship Bishop Jamet officiated, assisted by the Rev. Father Conway, Parish Priest. Mr. McGuire came from the county of Longford, Ireland, eight years ago and has pursued his studies in Montreal, Berlin and Peterborough since that time.

There has been nothing introduced in Ladies Wear that is so neat and comfortable as Jerseys. Look for them at Turnbull's.

Steadily Improving.

The St. John's Church choir, since Professor Hamphreys has been appointed organist and choir master, shows unmistakable signs of steady improvement. Their rendition of several hymns, as well as that of the Magnificat and Mass Ditties on Sunday evening was excellent. The choir also sang with good taste and feeling the soul-inspiring hymn, "Abide With Me," the musical composition of which is Prof. Parker's. Of late there has been a number of good voices added to the already efficient corps of choirists, and the result is that the choir is once more in splendid shape.

Look at McNair's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

New Dry Goods Store.

Mr. Jas. J. Sheehy's many friends in Peterborough will be pleased to know that he does not intend to carry out his intention of some weeks ago, of leaving Peterborough, but that he has decided to remain here and go into business for himself. In a short time he will open out a fresh, crisp, well selected stock of dry goods in the stand lately occupied by Hugh Ross & Co., tailors. Mr. Sheehy has had ample sufficient experience in the trade to enable him to successfully carry on business for himself. He served his apprenticeship with Mr. J. Dolan, and with that gentleman learned to sell goods in a highly finished manner. In the dry goods establishment of Mr. J. Hackett he graduated, and during his three years experience in that place, gained the acquaintance of a large circle of residents of both town and county. We wish Mr. Sheehy success in his venture, and bespeak for him a good share of the public patronage.

Just to clear out about 8000 yards of Choice Prints at 8 cts. See them at the Bon Marche.

G. F. S. Picnic.
 A picnic will take place on Thursday, Aug. 20th, to Idyl Wild by the steamer Golden-Eye, under the auspices of the Girl's Friendly Society of St. John's Church, starting at 7.30 a.m. Return tickets 50 cents.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

The Yacht "Fool" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Fischer's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

New Heavy Weight Jerseys for Fall Wear, just received at Turnbull's.

Here Light.

Mr. James Stevenson has placed at his own expense a large gas lamp of the Lambeth style in the Horticultural Gardens. The lamp is situated east of the fountain, and sends forth rays of light equal to that of eleven hundred candles. In addition to this Mr. Stevenson has placed two gas jets in the band stand.

Don't Miss It

The people of Peterborough should take advantage of the rare opportunity which will be afforded on Wednesday afternoon and go to see the celebrated baseball nine, the Clippers, of Hamilton, contest in a match with the home club in the Riverside Park. This will be the first visit of the Clippers to Peterborough, and the Park should be packed to witness their wonderful feats in ball tossing.

McNair's 25 cent Ties cannot be beat in the Dominion.

Barnum is Here.

One of our local contemporaries lately observed that on account of the high license fee imposed by the Town Council on cruises, it is altogether likely that Barnum will shun the town. Such is not correct, for Barnum is at present within the corporation, and if anyone does not feel inclined to believe it he can go to Messrs. Foster Bros. carriage factory, and be convinced. Barnum is there; the hands of the factory call him the lightning tack driver.

The largest and best stock of Twenty-five Cent Ties ever brought to Peterborough. See A. McNair's window.

Excitement on George Street.

On Saturday evening P. C. McGinley undertook to arrest a young man who was acting in a disorderly manner on George street. He took the culprit on the corner of George and Hunter streets, but before he had gone a dozen yards he met with considerable difficulty. Two or three of the prisoner's friends made an attempt to release him. A crowd gathered, and it having been given out that the young man had done nothing worthy of being arrested, a dozen or so began to shout "Let him go, let him go." But the P. C. did not let him go. On the contrary, he held to his man. Meanwhile the crowd had filled the street and began to partake of the appearance of a mob. With the assistance of another officer, however, the prisoner was lodged in the lock-up, and McGinley, with a shake of his baton, bade the several hundreds that had followed, go about their business.

Ladies will find at Turnbull's Brand of Blank Jerseys in all the new designs.

Personal.

Major C. A. Boulton was entertained at a banquet at the Grand Union Hotel, Winnipeg, on Aug. 10th, previous to his departure for his home at Birtle.

Mr. A. E. Selder has just received instruction to proceed to Regina to enter upon his duties as Inspector in the Northwest Mounted Police.

The Rev. Father Conway, Parish Priest, returned on Friday evening from a four weeks' holiday at Peek's Island, off Portland, Maine. He comes back much improved in health and invigorated by the fresh sea breeze.

Mr. Walter Cottingham is at home on a short visit.

Mr. Ed. Brown, the obliging manager of the Lansdowne Roller Skating Rink, has returned from a trip to the seaside, looking and feeling well. He has profited by his trip in more ways than one, having made it a point to visit the principal roller rinks during the progress of his trip and is consequently in a position to go to work again with some first-class and entirely new ideas in the art of roller skating.

Mr. John Learey, of Peterborough, preached morning and evening in Mark street church, Ashburnham, for the Rev. Mr. Macdonald, who is away for his holidays.

Dr. Taylor, of the firm of Taylor & Macdonald, druggists, is taking his holidays at Niagara Falls.

The Rev. E. F. Torrance has returned from a four weeks' trip to various places in Canada. He conducted the services at St. Paul's on Sunday.

The Rev. Walter Rogers has gone for a week's outing at Stoney Lake.

Mr. Peter Henry, Mr. Jas. Stevenson's chief clerk, has returned from New York, where he has been spending a pleasant three weeks. The air of Gotham seems to have agreed with him.

FISHERMEN IN TROUBLE

ONE OF THE CRAFT SHOT IN THE HEAD BY ANOTHER.

Marcelle O'Dette the Victim—The Wounds Fatal, But They are not Considered Fatal.

On Saturday morning Mr. Marcelle O'Dette, a fisherman by trade, residing in the south end of the town, had a very narrow escape from being killed by shot, at the hands of another fisherman named James Wedlock.

It seems that there had been a coolness between the two fishermen for some weeks. About a month ago O'Dette, while trawling down the Otonabee, about two miles south of Faucher's Point, had the spoons of his bait caught. Upon examination he found that they were caught in a net. He was somewhat surprised, but said nothing. The net, it appears, belonged to Wedlock, and he, finding that it was discovered by O'Dette, offered to make him a partner in the illegal trade. Wedlock offered to give his fellow fisherman half of the catch, providing that he would set and take care of the net. O'Dette

INDIGNANTLY REFUSED THE OFFER, stating that he would always comply with the laws of the country. The two fishermen parted, not on the best of terms. But all went smoothly along for the next four weeks. O'Dette, though strongly disapproving of his fellow in trade violating the law, did not stoop to be an informer. On Friday O'Dette was paddling down the river, when near Faucher's his eye was

ATTRACTED BY SOMETHING on the bank, to all appearance a blanket. He paddled to shore, got out of the canoe, and went to examine the object. He found it to be a net. He put it down and went his way. It appears that Wedlock, who was near at the time, saw O'Dette's action. It is likely from the circumstances which followed, that Wedlock thought that O'Dette was going to inform on him. On Saturday morning O'Dette, another fisherman from Peterborough, Francis Gosling, and a Port Hope merchant, George Hill, who was down the river duck shooting were all three sitting on the bank of the river. All at once a canoe hove in sight and on coming nearer it was seen that Wedlock the occupant. When opposite where the three were sitting Wedlock deliberately ramed his gun and FIRING A CHARGE of shot into their midst. He then immediately paddled away. The three were dumfounded at the violent action and for a time no one was aware that any harm had been done. Examining an adjacent tree, however, it was found that the bark was torn off considerably. After a little while O'Dette felt the trickling of blood on his face, and upon one of the party looking for the source of the streamlets it was seen that O'Dette had received.

THREE WOUNDS ON THE SCALP. His right hand, too, was bleeding. Thinking that the wounds were mere scratches the fisherman continued to troll during the forenoon. At about twelve o'clock he commenced to feel faint, and he went to Faucher's hotel. Here his wounds were temporarily dressed and all the afternoon he kept still. On Saturday evening he was driven to town and the same evening Dr. Pidgeon extracted

THREE GRAINS OF SHOT from O'Dette's head and one from his right hand. O'Dette appeared at the Police Court this morning to lay an information against the guilty party, but the Peterborough court has no jurisdiction in the matter and the information was accordingly laid with Mr. J. Wood, county Justice of the Peace, Ashburnham.

The United States Senate Austria.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The state department has permitted the correspondence between this country and Austria in relation to Minister Kieley's rejection to be made public. The most interesting portion is the letter of Secretary Bayard to the Emperor Francis Joseph. It says that this republic not only does not recognize but has a profound contempt for race or religious distinctions; that not recognizing them ourselves we cannot be expected to consider them for the purpose of humoring other people's prejudices. Mr. Bayard intimates that while the Austrian ambassador will be treated with social and official courtesy so long as he remains here, the United States government would not be offended if that gentleman were called home. The emperor's reply to this letter has not been received at the state department.

THE COBLEN CLUB SCARED.

The royal commission to investigate the causes of the trade depression in Great Britain is another indication of the continually increasing discontent with their tariff policy that is felt in the Mother Country. The fact that prominent free traders have taken the unusual step of declining to serve upon this commission, far from being a proof of their confidence, is a symptom of the growing uneasiness of the Cobden Club. They shrink from a thorough investigation of the subject, because they have a well founded dread of what would be divulged, and they prefer to rely upon the market resistance in the Old Country to abandon a policy that has been deliberately adopted by the people. The utterances of some of the Conservative leaders point in the same direction; they hesitate to avow an intention of moving in the direction of protection, because they loyally desire to give to the very fullest extent a fair trial to the popular decision in favor of free trade.

But, unless we are much mistaken, it will soon be made apparent that the people of Great Britain and Ireland are tired of the so-called free trade that is only free on one side. They find their industries are being seriously hampered by the unfair competition that is thus established. Among the millions of new voters enfranchised by the recent Imperial Act, there must be a large proportion who have a personal interest in the encouragement of home industries. When the electors speak the politicians will not be slow to act.

The Globe says that on September 4th, 1884, a petition was sent from Beloeche to the Government asking for a river survey, and that three of the signers were killed in the rebellion and others are prisoners. These men had waited from September until March, six months, and finding that a survey had not been made during the winter months, when it could not be done, they rebelled. Taking the Globe's statement for granted, men who rose in arms for such a reason, and plundered and killed and aroused the Indians, should be severely punished. Their "grievances" were hardly "unbearable."

The Reformers have discovered that the Minister of Marine and Fisheries has committed a great crime. It seems that Mr. Joseph Howe, mentioned "orange blossoms" and "candles" in a speech at Halifax, yet Mr. McLean had the effrontery to mention "orange blossoms" and "candles" again in a speech in the House of Commons. We beg to suggest, lest any others should offend unwittingly, that the words "orange blossoms" and "candles" should be struck out of all dictionaries, or that at least it should be explained that these words have been copyrighted by the late Joseph Howe.

The Globe pretends that it did not invite the invasion of Canada and the rescue of Riel, because some other journal has published the information that Dumont and Dumee were contemplating such steps. But it was the Globe that a short time ago invited invasion and a rescue of the rebel leader, by pointing out the facilities for such a raid and its chances of success. In short the Globe acted as a spy for the enemies of its country.

PETROLEUM IN QUEBEC.

Successful Boring Operations.—A Company formed and the work to be presented.

THREE RIVERS, Que., August 15.—Some eight or ten years ago it was frequently remarked that at certain places on the farm of Hilarde Trudel near St. Gregory, Nicolet County, a peculiar odor was noticeable. Apart from casual remarks no notice was taken of it. Last summer more attention was drawn to the place, and after diligent surveys, and from information received, several gentlemen, all residents at or around St. Gregory, decided to form a company, which accordingly was done during the past winter. Early this spring an engine was sent from Quebec, who visited the locality and pronounced it a petroleum mine. This encouraged the company, who got oil miners from Petroli to come on with boring apparatus, and they are now tapping a well. These borers declare that the indications of the existence of coal oil resemble in many particulars those of Petroli. These men are paid $8 per day, and furnish the boring apparatus. When they began to bore they found the different strata of earth, etc. they would meet with. First a bed of clay, forty feet thick, was crossed, then one hundred feet or so of (sandy) earth was gone through, and now they have bored through a solid stratum of rock until a depth of 210 feet was reached last Tuesday. While boring, the men said that a certain depth they would come across a certain hard, flinty stone that they called diamond (indeed), and sure enough they did, but four feet deeper than they predicted. The enterprise seems to be very promising, as last Tuesday several gallons were pumped up with the borings. The company issued a hundred shares at twenty-five dollars each, and to date have sold ninety-six, thus leaving only four to be disposed of. So soon as all the shares are taken up the company will seek incorporation, and will then energetically push on the work. The place is situated three miles to the southwest of the thriving village of St. Gregory, one of the principal villages in the new diocese of Nicolet.

RAISING THE REVENUE.

SOME EXTRAORDINARY VIEWS ADVANCED BY SOME OF THE COUNCILLORS.

A Notice of Motion Standing to Exempt the Whole Town from Increased Taxation for Ten Years.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

There were present:—Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Kelly, Yelland, Douglas, Kendry, Rutherford, Green and Menzies.

In the absence of the Mayor, Councillor Kelly was elected to preside.

The minutes of the last two meetings were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read as follows:—From John Bell, stating that he had been brought up before the Police Court and fined for having interfered with the Police in the discharge of duty. He could prove the contrary and asked the Council to give him justice.

Supervision of Police.

From Charles D. Macdonald, certifying that the Town Hall, Lock Up, etc., By-law had been duly passed.—Received.

From John Czekery, stating that the sum of $2,500 would be required for the maintenance of the Separate School system for the current year.—Finance Committee.

From Henry Denno, W. Peterson & Son, the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company and Peter Hamilton, asking that by-laws be passed giving them the same privileges as those given recently to other manufacturers.—Finance Committee, with instructions to have a by-law prepared.

From O. A. Ransy, asking the Council to pay the expenses of a poor emigrant girl to the hospital in Montreal.—Granted.

ACCOUNTS.

Accounts were sent in as follows:—Times Printing Co., printing and advertising, $4 30; W. B. Kelly, lumber, $18 33; W. H. Wright, charity orders, $2 08; Carter Bros., charity orders, $2 50; Alex. Elliott, railway ticket, $5 05; Alfred McDonald, lumber, $12 92; Peterborough Gas Company, $30 05; Peterborough Gas Company, Fire Hall, $21 18; M. O'Brien, drawing house cart, $175 00; J. E. Belcher, Town Engineer, $175 00; Walter Peterson & Son, wood, $14 75.

On motion all of the accounts were referred to Finance Committee with the exception of that of the Times Printing Company, which was ordered to be paid.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Councillor RUTHERFORD addressed the Council on the state of the Fire Department. He stated that there was a deplorable lack of hose and that more should be at once procured, lest that a case of serious fire a great loss of property should be incurred.

EXEMPTIONS.

Councillor MENZIES, seconded by Councillor CAHILL.—That the stores on George street be exempted from taxes for ten years.

Councillor MENZIES in moving this as a notice of motion, stated that he thought that the merchants had as good a right to be exempted from taxes as the manufacturers. He had come to this town some thirty years ago, and during that time he had paid a good round sum in taxes. He liked first rate to see strangers come to town, but at the same time he liked to see these strangers pay taxes. The storekeepers were not, as the chairman was well aware, making any too much money, and if the manufacturers were not to be taxed he wanted to know who was going to pay the taxes. Were the storekeepers and laboring men?

Councillor DOUGLAS moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor YELLAND.—That the taxation of the present year be taken as a basis, and that no change be made in the said taxation for the next ten years, and that a by-law be prepared for that purpose.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that by passing this motion the services of the assessors might be dispensed with, and the salaries now received by them would be saved.

Councillor RUTHERFORD.—This is preposterous. I hope the members of this Council are not going crazy.

Councillor MENZIES, on the other hand, hailed the amendment with delight. The passage of such a motion would, in his opinion, be the greatest work the Council had ever done. In a short time we would have a larger city than either Montreal or Toronto. The people all wanted low taxes, and putting down the taxes would have the effect of bringing in hordes of people from all parts of the country. He was sure that this action would be received by the ratepayers with the greatest satisfaction. Councillor DOUGLAS consented to allow the motion to stand as a notice of motion.

THIRD READING.

The Town Hall, Lock-up, etc., and Waterworks By-laws were read for the third time and passed.

IMMEDIATE ACTION.

Councillor KENDRY moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS.—That the Building Committee be instructed to go on at once with the town buildings.—Carried.

SIDEWALKS.

Councillor DOUGLAS moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD.—That a new sidewalk be put down on the south side of Brock street, between Aylmer street and Beattie street, as the old one is completely worn out.—Carried.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Councillor KENDRY moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIES.—That the Street and Bridge Committee be instructed to make some street improvements in the north end of the town.—Carried.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY.—That the whole Council be a committee to inspect the Smith street bridge, and that they go to-morrow, August 19, at nine o'clock, a.m., to see what measures can be devised to have said bridge put in a proper repair for traffic, and that the Town Engineer also be present.—Carried.

On motion, Mr. J. E. Belcher, Town Engineer, was heard.

Mr. BELCHER said that his attention was first called to the state of the bridge by Mr. Curtis. He made an examination and reported to the chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee. Prompt action was taken, a man being sent to make the necessary repairs. But when he commenced to work he found that the bridge superstructure was in a rotten condition. The Street and Bridge Committee, together with himself, had inspected the bridge, and it was decided to close it.

STREET WATERING.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that some time ago he was instructed to enquire into the manner in which one of the street waterers was doing his duty. On doing so he found that several were complaining against the way in which the work was done. He asked that the Council give him power to appoint another man, as the Street Inspector informed him that he could never find Mr. Tremann when he was wanted.

Councillor MENZIES said that some time ago Mr. Tremann had a poor sprinkler on his cart and if a sufficient amount of water were not discharged it was not the fault of the driver. Mr. TREMANN, on motion, addressed the Council. He said that he was trying to do his work to the best of his ability and that he had gone to the Inspector's house several times for work, but that he could never find the Inspector.

Councillor CAHILL called attention to the way in which George street was watered. In his opinion too much water was put on, and the result was that the street was being out up. The Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee should look to the matter. The Council then adjourned to meet at the call of the Mayor.

AN INDIAN AUCTION.

Selling a Dead Brave's Effects and Then Laying His Ghost.

I witnessed an interesting feature in Indian life a short time ago at one of the camps of the Kaw agency, Indian Territory. A tent had been erected, and all the effects of a dead brave were deposited in the tent. The Indians were going to hold an auction. At early dawn before the sun the Indians gathered around the tent. The auctioneer, stepping out of the tent, holding a blanket in his hands, began in a loud voice to invite bids on the blanket. "Four dollars," sang out an old man who had a patch of yellow paint under his right eye, and sat on the outer edge of the circle which had now formed around the tent. "I'll give you," cried one of the Indians sitting in the circle. "It's yours," said the auctioneer, and the bidder, after depositing a due bill for the amount, received the blanket. The auctioneer now brought out a pair of beaded leggings, and the bidding began.

One thing was noticeable, the number bidding never exceeded two, and the article was invariably knocked down to the second bidder. Moccasins, necklaces, fans of eagle feathers—in fact, the whole paraphernalia of a complete outfit was brought out and sold to the highest bidder. Finally an Indian pipe of red stone—a very large and handsome one—was brought out, and the bidding became livelier. "Five dollars," was shouted. "Eight," sang out a trader, who, besides your correspondent, was the only pale face in the audience, and who already saw the pipe in his mind's eye hanging with his other Indian curiosities; but he was doomed to disappointment when a hungry looking member of the circle who was evidently wanting his breakfast and was anxious to bring the ceremonies to a close, said: "My brother, that pipe has been smoked in many councils. Our brother who has buried on yonder Indian trail, 'Roh in trail and end,' has smoked it in the distance. 'Thought much of that pipe. I am not willing to let it should fall into other hands. My brother, I will give a pony for the pipe.' These remarks of Old Hungry were received with a few short yells, which denoted great satisfaction.

At this point a member with nothing on but a breech-clout came dashing into the circle, holding in his hands a skillet filled with live coals. He was followed by another one bearing a large arm of cedar, which was deposited over the coals. These two were followed by the dead Indian's relatives—wife, sister and children, moaning and wringing their hands. The burning odor now began to pour forth a volume of smoke, and out by one of the members of the band rushed into the smoke, bending down close to the coals, turning round and round with many wild gestures and with outstretched blanket, the smoke at times completely hiding the man from view. "Come on, my son," said one of the party, taking a firm hold of the trader's arm, and reluctantly the paleface was drawn into the smoke, where he performed the smoke act to the evident satisfaction of the party. Hastily withdrawing in a fit of coughing, he came to the front, where he was met with cries of "Good, my son! The ghost will never trouble you." The performance was now ended by the auctioneer turning over all the receipts of the sale to the relations.—Chicago Tribune.

ANECDOTES OF A GREAT COMPOSER.

Whatever outward form it takes—whether of the poet's melodious verse, or of the musician's harmony of sweet sounds—true, sacred song must spring from the singer's heart. His skill may mould; it never can create. The emotion which he would awaken by his art in the breasts of others must first have been deeply stirred in his own. We do not owe the noble creations of Handel to the musician's cunning alone. Though quick tempered and blunt, the great composer was a good and warm hearted man, and all the grand works he has given us were inspired by deep and genuine religious feeling.

Being asked about his ideas and feelings when composing the "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel replied, "I did think I did see all Heaven before me, and the great God Himself." He would frequently burst into tears when writing, and is said to have been found by a visitor sobbing uncontrollably when in the act of setting the words, "He was despised." Shield tells us, "that his servant, who brought his office in the morning, often stood in silent astonishment to see his master's tear mixing in the ink, as he penned his divine notes."

Like a true man, Handel valued his work more by the greatness of its good influence than by the fame and credit it brought him. This is shown by an incident which occurred when the "Messiah" was first brought out in London. The performance produced a deep impression. "Amos" roused through the vast arches of the church. "Amos" responded Handel, as he slowly let the staff fall with which he had been beating time. When he left the church a royal equipage stood in waiting by the King's command to convey him to Carlton House. George the Second, surrounded by his whole household and many nobles of the court, received the illustrious German.

Well, Master Handel," said the King, after a hearty welcome, "it must be owned you have made us a noble present in your 'Messiah.' It is a brave piece of work."

"It is indeed," said the King. "And now tell me what I can do to express my thanks to you for it?"

"Give a place to the young man who sang the tenor part so well," said Handel, and I will ever be grateful to your Majesty."

This young man was one whom Handel had befriended and taught to sing.

"I shall have a place from this day in our chapel as first tenor," said the King. "But have you nothing to ask for yourself? I would gladly show my gratitude to you in your own person for the fair entertainment you have provided us all in your 'Messiah.'"

The flush of anger mantled Handel's cheek, as he answered, in a disappointed tone,—

"Sir, I have endeavored so to entertain you, but to make you better."

The words were so spoken, that King George stepped back a pace or two, and looking on the bold master with surprise. Then laughing heartily and walking to him, he cried:

"Handel, you are, and ever will be a rough old fellow, but a good fellow, and a good fellow withal! Go! Do what you will; we remain ever the best friends in the world!"

WHY WILL YOU cough when Handel's Cure will give you immediate relief. Price 10 cts. per box, and $1. For sale by Ormond & Walsh druggists, Peterborough.

How to Keep Well in Hot Weather.

In New York city there were over 1,000 deaths for the week ending July 19. A very large proportion was caused by the heat. The New York board of health thereupon immediately issued its annual summer circular. It is printed in four languages and scattered through the length and breadth of the city. Its leading suggestions are as follows for sunstroke: Prevention:—Don't lose your sleep; sleep in a cool place; don't worry; don't get excited; don't drink too much alcohol; avoid working in the sun if you can; if indoors, work in a well-ventilated room; wear thin clothes; wear a light hat, not black; put a large green leaf or wet cloth in it; drink water freely and sweat freely; if fatigued or dizzy, knock off work, lie down in a cool place, and apply cold water and cold cloths to your head and neck.

Cure:—Put the patient in the shade; loosen his clothes about the neck; send for the nearest doctor; give the patient cool drinks of water, or black tea or black coffee, if he can swallow; if his skin is hot and dry prop him up, sitting, against a tree or wall; pour cold water over the body and limbs and pat on his head pounded ice wrapped in a cloth or towel. If you can't get ice, use a wet cloth and keep freshening it. But if the patient is pale and faint, and his pulse is feeble, lay him on his back, make him small harshes for a few seconds, or give him a spoonful of aromatic spirit of ammonia or tincture of ginger, in two tablespoonfuls of water. In this case use no cold water, but rub the hands and feet and warm them by hot applications until the circulation is restored.

A Wicked City.

"When I am to New York," said a countryman, "I allow go round holdin' on to my pocketbook like grim death. You can't tell what minute some fellow may rob you. This city is full of thieves."

"Do you carry much money with you?" "I've got about $300 now. I sold an old hen that I picked up for $200 that wasn't worth $75. I saw in a minute that the fellow I sold him to didn't know much 'bout 'em."—N. Y. Sun.

The special police force detailed to suppress the illicit whiskey traffic at Blenheim returned to Toronto on Saturday morning, having effectually dispersed the gang and put a stop to the rowdyism rampant at Blenheim.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, AUGUST 18, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South and west winds, mostly fair, very warm weather, with local showers and thunder storms.

News.

Wend was received at Brampton on Sunday that Willie, a son of Judge Scott, brother of the late W. H. Scott, of Peterborough, was drowned on Friday at a place thirteen miles from Port Severn. At latest accounts the body had not been recovered.

Excellent Printing.

The Weekly Gazette says:—
“We are indebted to the Peterborough Review for one of the most colored posters of the Central Exhibition to be held at Peterborough on September 29th, and 30th. The Review is characterized for excellent printing, and in printing the above poster it has added an additional feather to its hat.”

Peterborough Abroad.

We notice in a report given of the teachers' examinations for British Columbia that two of the old Peterborough Collegiate Institute students have passed their examinations very creditably. Messrs. E. Stuart Wood and Wm. Ward were both successful in carrying off first class certificates. The latter had 308 marks over the required number to obtain the certificate. Only 11 out of the 33 candidates succeeded in passing.

Lively and Prosperous.

The Brampton Conservator concludes its account of the excursion from that place to Peterborough as follows:—
“Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the excursion and everybody was highly pleased with the ride, delighted with the scenery, and very rapid for their journey to the lively, prosperous town of Peterborough. We never knew an excursion from the town that gave greater satisfaction to those who went along. A visit from the people of Peterborough and their horses and carriages may be looked for either this fall or next year, sure.”

The Recent Act.

The organizers of the Scott Act work, Messrs. W. G. Fox, of Toronto, Foster and another gentleman, have arrived, and the work of organization has commenced. The public meetings will commence on Sept. 1st. Speakers have been secured, including Mr. J. A. Nicholas, Mrs. Peck, Mr. F. S. Spencer, the Rev. B. B. Keen, Mr. W. H. Howland, the Rev. W. A. McKay, Woodstock, Judge McDonald, of Brockville, the Rev. Mr. Stibald, of Belleville, and probably the Hon. R. W. Scott.

Personal.

Mr. Charles Shaw, formerly of the Toronto Bank here, arrived in town on Monday evening, together with a friend, Mr. A. W. Shawwood, from one big Lower Canada village, Montreal. They came as far as Harwood by train and there launched a canoe and paddled to Peterborough. Charles seems to be substantially sustaining the reputation of Peterborough's canoe man, as he has succeeded in winning no fewer than seven hundred medals this season. On the return trip they will paddle down the Ottawa and Trent rivers to Lake Ontario and thence down the St. Lawrence to Montreal.

Mr. John McKee left town on Monday evening for Toronto, where his mother lies in a low state of health. He will be absent from town for some time.

Mrs. F. J. Daly, of the Grand Central hotel, together with his wife, left town this morning for a two weeks' visit to Uncle Sam's Garden City, Rochester.

Mr. R. Snyder departs this evening for the Northwest, where he will assume the duties of his new position, that of Inspector of Mounted Police.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hoffman of the Dalles House, Belleville, are in town on a visit.

Tim Ingat and Jess Steak of Twenty-five Cent Tea Shop brought to Peterborough. See A. McNeill's window.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Room
Supper, Luncheon, etc., will be served in a car at all hours.

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Apples, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables. Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, game and fowl.

G. F. S. Picnic.

A picnic will take place on Thursday, Aug.
20th, to Idle Wild by the steamer Golden-Eye, under the auspices of the Girl's Friendly Society of St. John's Church, starting at 7.30 a.m. Return tickets 50 cents.

Everybody.

To the aged and the adolescent, the gay and the gloomy, the long, lank and lean, the short, stout and stumpy, you are all invited to attend
the lacrosse picnic to Campbelltown on August 25th, Tuesday.

Bill of Fare

At the Rochester Fruit Store. Black Raspberries, Cherries, Watermelons, Muskmelons, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Apples, Black Currants, Rok Currants, Plums, Pears, Green Corn and Garden Vegetables of all kinds. E. G. Stone, Proprietor.

McNeill's 35 cent Ties cannot be beat in the Dominion.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—
Thermometer. Barometer
9 o'clock.....65.....29.15
1 o'clock.....64.....29.15
3 o'clock.....64.....29.14

News Abstract.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—
“The Central Exhibition is to be held at Peterborough on Sept. 29th and 30th and Oct.
1st. A most attractive poster has been issued from the Review office. It is a piece of typography that reflects credit upon the office. Mr. E.
O. Hill is engaged in putting every town between Toronto and Ottawa.”

Look! Look!

The Yacht “Pearl” will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Funcher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 8.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

More Attraction at the Golden Lion.

Fair, VanEvery & Co. are daily opening new fall goods. Their grand exhibit this season is well worth your inspection, as they will surpass their former efforts for quantity, variety, quality and cheapness. See their new Crotonas with Fringes to match, Lace Curtains, Edmund and Embroidered Form Cloths, Boating Wraps, Fancy Dark English Prints, etc.

Don't Miss It

The people of Peterborough should take advantage of the rare opportunity which will be afforded on Wednesday afternoon and go to see the celebrated baseball game, the Clippers of Hamilton, contest in a match with the home club in the Riverside Park. This will be the first visit of the Clippers to Peterborough, and the Park should be packed to witness their wonderful feats in ball playing.

Look at McNeill's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

To be Regarded.

A committee composed of the whole Council of the Town of Peterborough, together with the Town Engineer, Mr. J. E. Balch, went up to the Smith street bridge at about ten o'clock this forenoon to make an inspection of the structure and to decide on some means for opening it up again. It was found that the wooden superstructure between the two central piers was in a very insecure condition, the timbers having become in places very rotten, owing, no doubt, to it having come in contact with the spray from the falls over Martin's dam. The old bridge at Lakeside cost considerably more than the Smith street bridge, and being situated in a similar place, subject to the action of spray, became a year ago unfit for traffic and has been replaced by an iron bridge. It was found, however, that by expending between $500 and $600, the Smith street bridge could again be opened for traffic and that it would, in all probability, last for several years longer. This action, it is understood, the committee decided on carrying out and a report to that effect will, in all probability, be made to the Council at its next session.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

TUESDAY, Aug. 18.—Thos. Ritchie was again before the court charged by P. U. McGlaty with having been drunk in a public place. He pleaded not guilty. Constable McGlaty was sworn and proved the charge.

The MAGISTRATE addressed the prisoner, saying that if he did not soon change his ways
he would run a good chance of going to Central Prison. He was a young man and there was ample time for reform before the vice obtained a too firm hold on him. If he continued in his ways, however, he would surely be sent to the reformatory for his own sake and that of the community. On promising to quit the habit the prisoner was allowed to go.

WAGES CASE.

The adjourned case, Dumont vs. Faucher, for non-payment of wages, came up this morning.
Mr. J. O'Meara appeared for the complainant, and Mr. Geo. Edmondson appeared for the defendant.

Mr. EDMONDSON stated that Mr. Faucher was ill and was not able to attend court. He asked that judgment be given for $14.00, the sum the defendant claimed that he owed to the complainant, and that the settlement of the balance be laid over.

Mr. O'MEARA objected, and asked that the case be dropped at once.
The MAGISTRATE gave judgment for $23.84, the amount claimed less the price of one day's work.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

LACROSSE.

FOOTBALL.

The Young Canadians, of Toronto, want to play the Riverside Club at an early date. It is probable that a match will be arranged.

THE BALL GAME.

SHORT STOPS.

The home team meet the well known ball players, the Clippers of Hamilton, in the Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon. The following are the names of those who will compose the Peterborough nine, together with their positions:—

P. J. Sullivan.....Pitcher
F. J. O'Neill.....Catcher
W. Methers.....Infield
Campbell.....Infield
W. H. Dayman.....Short Stop
H. Dunn.....Infield
C. Henderson.....Centre Field
F. Cameron.....Right Field
A. Moore.....Left Field

Several of the merchants who are to play on the George street nine against the lawyers on Friday next were over to the Riverside Park yesterday afternoon putting in effective practice. The result of the coming match is considerably doubtful. Edg. Hartley, who some years ago tossed the ball for the Dundas nine, will pitch for the merchants.

A matched game of ball will be played this evening in the Riverside Park between the first and second nines of the club, the former to put out eight men to the latter's three. No admission will be charged, and all are invited over to see the match.

To the Sporting Editor of the Review.

The Telegraphers of the town hereby challenge the Bankers of the town to a friendly game of baseball on any agreeable date. They wish to hear from them.

THE TURN.

MATCHED RACE.

A matched running race, mile heats, best two out of three, will take place on Thursday evening next on the course of the Peterborough Driving Park, between W. Howden's mouse coloured mare “Buckskin,” and W. Clancy's bay mare “Sylvia.” The stake will be $50 a side. Already there is considerable interest taken in the race in sporting circles, and the contest is expected to be a keen one.

FOUND DEAD.

OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—John T. Coleman, a taxidermist, brother of the chief of police of Bownville, was found dead in his room last night. The doctors say he died with a cancer in his throat.

The Fatal Wild Fencing.

BRIMLEY, Ont., Aug. 17.—A fatal poisoning accident occurred about two miles from here to-day. Three sons of David Walker found some wild poisoning, which they mistook for upright, and ate it. The eldest, Wallace, about twenty-four years old, died in a few hours.
He leaves a wife and one child. The other two, aged 17 and 15, are very low, but the doctor has hopes of their recovery.

Cattle Disease.

BLOOMING, Ill., Aug. 17.—Cattle disease, alleged to be Spanish or Texas fever, has developed here, and is creating considerable excitement among stockmen. Two weeks ago sixty-one cattle were shipped here from Hutchinson, Kansas. When they arrived they appeared to be in perfect health. On Friday the cattle showed signs of being sick, and already 15 are dead and 15 more are down with the disease. Veterinary surgeons say it is genuine Spanish or Texas fever.

Two Winning Officers Disabled.

WINNIPEG, August 17.—Lieut.-Col. Osborne
Smith while riding from the camp to the brigade office Saturday morning, met with a severe accident dislocating his shoulder and severely bruising his knee. It was caused by the horse stumbling from a hole in the road upon the street. The doctors say the accident will not prevent the officer attending his military duties. Major Thibodeau of the same corps had his arm broken Friday night by a fall off the sidewalk into a ditch.

East Durham.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 7.—The nomination for candidates for Member of Parliament, to fill the seat rendered vacant by the death of the late member, Col. Williams, was held here to-day, when Mr. W. T. R. Preston, of Port Hope, was nominated as the standard bearer of the Reform party, and Mr. H. A. Ward, barrister, of Port Hope, was nominated as the Conservative candidate. Speeches were made by the candidates, and by Mr. Kerr, Q.C., of Coburg, Mr. O. H.
MacIntosh, M.P., and the Hon. J. B. Plumb.

Drowned by an Old Span.

SUBURBANIA, Pa., Aug. 17.—Reed, Leon,
Chas. Dibble and Joe Hilliard went rowing in the Susquehanna, near McKeon's, Friday.
They came to blows over an old misunderstanding, and in the struggle caused both fall
when they still remained attached together, although both sank to the bottom. On reappearing on the surface neither would loosen his hold. Hilliard jumped into the water and, swimming to the bank, separated them.
Leon sank again and was drowned. Hilliard got Dibble safely to the bank.

Injured on the Rail.

The Midland train which arrived at the Union station, Toronto, shortly after nine o'clock on Monday night, brought a passenger who had been injured on the track near Port Union.
The man, whose name is Henry W. Todd, was standing on the rear platform of the train when in rounding a curve he was thrown off. The train was stopped and he was picked up in an unconscious condition. On arriving in the city he was taken to the hospital, and was still unconscious at a late hour. No bones were broken, and the only bruise was on one side of the head. He intended going on to Guelph, for which place he had a ticket.—West

Killed by Falling on a Sledge.
LONDON, Aug. 17.—Wm. Harris, aged 30 years, son of Wm. Henry Harris, of lot 20, Concession 3, of North Dorchester, went to cut grain this morning. It is supposed he put the sledge over the fence and stumbled upon the sledge, inflicting an awful gash on his right thigh. He fainted and on recovering he cried aloud which drew the attention of his people.
When they reached him they supposed he had been attacked with cholera morbus, but he soon found he had lost so much blood that he became unconscious. Dr. Graham was quickly summoned and did all that medical skill could do under the circumstances, but his efforts were of no avail. Harris lived only about five hours after the accident.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Convention of French Canadian of New York State closed at Rochester on Tuesday. His Lordship Bishop Janet, of Peterborough, delivered an eloquent address.

Mr. Robert Kelly has opened a fine new billiard parlor in Fenchurch's old stand. The room is large and comfortable, the tables are splendid, the cues and ivory's are first quality, and "Bob" is a careful and obliging attendant. Call in.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh west and north winds, fair weather, lower temperatures by to-night.

The Market.
The attendance at the market this morning was rather meagre; but fairly large, considering the season of the year. No grain was offered for sale. Butter sold at 19 and 20 cents per pound; eggs, at 12 cents per dozen; and lamb at 8 and 9 cents per pound. Crabsapples sold at 25 cents per bushel; apples, at 30 cents per bushel; potatoes, at 17 cents per bushel; and green corn at 15 cents per bushel.

Ballabore Union Show.
The directors of the Ballabore U. A. Society have decided to hold their second annual show on Tuesday and Wednesday, 26th and 27th of October. The directors intend to make every effort to make the show a success, and being the centre of a fine district a good exhibition may be expected. The Ballabore Union is an independent Society, there being only one other in Ontario that does not receive Government aid.

Excavating.
A number of those who saw men at work excavating in Mr. Geo. A. Cox's lot on the corner of George and Charlotte streets began to surmise that, after all, there was something in the rumour to the effect that a new opera house was to be built which was circulated some time ago. It turns out, however, that the excavating is being done for the purpose of getting suitable earth for the flooring of the moulding shop in the stove foundry.

Body of Judge Scott's Son Found.
A telegram has been received at Brampton from Waukegan with an account of the drowning of Willie Scott, eldest son of Judge Scott, of that town, fifteen miles from Port Severn. It appears that the boys had been fishing on an island when their canoe got adrift. Willie attempted to swim to recover it, but got into an eddy and was drowned, before his father, who was only a short distance away, could reach him. A telegram received from the judge says he has recovered the body.

Constable Chase's Happy Thought.
Between the village police and the village goss, Constable Chase, Ashburnham's preserver of the peace, is having a warm time of it. While he is driving the goss to pound, every small boy in the corporation, to all appearances, takes the advantage of the turned back, and hies to the river and runs races in the tummy along the bank, or if the constable goes to divert the river's bank of its airy sprinters the goss rumples in flocks around the streets. But Mr. Oveis has hit on a happy idea, which he carried into effect on Tuesday afternoon. The lads, as usual, were out in full force for their afternoon bath, when, to their great dismay, the wary peace preserver stole surreptitiously along, and confiscated a pile of dry goods. He took them to a place of safety, and the boys got out of their difficulty as best they could.

Extension.
The system of waterworks in Peterborough has been considerably extended in various directions this season. The Water Company's men are now engaged in running a line of pipes from Rabbidge street along Hunter street to Park street. When such extension is made it will afford great accommodation to numerous residents in this part of the town. The work is being done under the supervision of Superintendent Henderson, and Mr. R. Martin, in a very businesslike manner, takes charge of the men.

Ladies will find at Turnbull's Fine Black Jerseys all sizes extra good value.

The Wrong Curve.
One of our George street merchants, who is to take part in the base ball match with the laymen, suggested to another that they go out into the back yard and have a little practice. The addressee said that he had a little "time" to spare, and the two accordingly retired. A commercial traveller who was standing near also went with them, and as the first named merchant stood in the assumed pitcher's box and dropped in his curve, the second named commercial traveller became deeply interested. He advanced a step or two to make closer inspection, when all at once the ball took the wrong curve, and took a step or two toward the solitary spectator's right optic. The drummer now says that he never could see anything in balls.

There has been nothing introduced in Ladies Wear that is so neat and comfortable as Jerseys. Look for them at Turnbull's.

POLICE COURT.

DUIKE.

WEDNESDAY, Aug. 18.—Duncan Caboon, a railway magistrate of the toughest sort, stood before Magistrate Stevenson this morning charged by P. C. Adams with having been drunk.

The arraigned said that he guessed the charge was all right, but weakly urged that it was all the fault of two glasses of beer that had found their way down his throat. He had been out on the O. P. R. and had just come to town. Not being used to intoxicants, he had succumbed to the effects of the train.

The Magistrate pointed out in a clear manner that Michael should not have indulged in such refreshments and in case that he should spend the seventy-five cents that he had still in his possession, His Worship suggested the advisability of adding another quarter and to pay a fine of $1. In case no one would be willing to advance the said sum, the alternative would be ten days in Castle North.

Michael Grier, who had been intently listening to the preceding case, stood up when his name was called.

The Magistrate—You are charged with being drunk. Is that correct?

Michael (with a modest smile)—I guess it is, your Worship.

The Magistrate—Well, we'll let you off easy this time. A dollar and costs, or ten days.

PROFANE LANGUAGE.

Patrick Hoffman was charged by P. C. McGlady with having used profane language on the public streets. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

The Magistrate said that he would not expect such a respectable looking young man to use such language. He would impose a fine of $1 and costs, or ten days in goal.

Gen. Middleton Knighted.

Gen. Middleton has received through the Governor-General the announcement that the Queen has conferred on him the title of Knight Commander of the order of St. Michael and St. George.

A Terrible Accident.

STRAITFORD, Aug. 18.—A young man named George Moore, of the township of Down, was hitching the horse to a wagon, when his father came out of the barn with a barrel on his head, at which the horse took fright. As they started to run the pole of the wagon caught the son's nose, tearing it off and half of his face. There are little hopes of his recovery.

The St. Louis Trunk Mystery.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 18.—A letter is published here to-day, dated Sunnybank, Hyde, Cheshire, England, July 12, 1885, signed Samuel Brown, which speaks of his son H. M. Brown having left home last January on a business trip to Ireland and stating that no word had been received from him since. It is known, however, that he had the curate of an adjoining parish for a companion, and that they had indulged in various extravagances and that Brown's name had got mixed up with the "St. Louis trunk mystery," and had also got mixed up with Dr. Maxwell. The letter makes an urgent appeal for information in regard to the persons concerned in the murder. Part of this letter was shown to Maxwell and he recognized the signature as that of his father, and desired permission of the letter to write his father and tell him that he was innocent of the murder of Preller and that he had a perfectly good defence.

FEMALE SMUGGLER.

Centrahand Trade in Corsets by a Belleville Woman.

KINGSTON, Aug. 18.—A case of wholesale smuggling has just come to light. About three months ago Solomon Vermilyea and his wife, of Belleville, started an alleged corset factory in Westport, N. Y., and she supplied about 200 ladies. A few days ago the Customs authorities at Cape Vincent were informed that smuggling of corsets was going on, and going to Westport. One thousand dollars' worth were seized. The method of smuggling adopted by Mrs. Vermilyea was simple. She and her two lady assistants would make frequent trips to Belleville and purchase a large number, ranging from $200 to $400 worth. The corsets would be removed and the ladies would roll up the cloth portion and make them into bundles, working the steels in a large number of dress skirts, which they always carried in their trunks while going and coming between the Cape and Kingston. Several of these steels corsets would also be tightly rolled and placed inside dirty corsets, which at a casual glance would not appear suspicious. In that way $2,000 worth of corsets have been smuggled.

RASTINGS.

THE RIFLE.—The match, civilian vs. volunteer, arranged for Thursday of last week, (the civic holiday) resulted in a victory for the volunteers by seven points.

SUCCESSFUL.—Among the names of successful candidates at the July examination in Toronto, for teachers' professional certificates, we are pleased to observe that of Alfred Orr, a native of this village.

TALL TALE.—Mr. Nicholas Keating has a field of potatoes which produced an abnormal growth of tops. Three feet six inches high, and three and one-half inches round the butt is found to be the measurement of the stalks, and should the tubers grow in like proportion, a Nick will be able to boast of growing the champion spud.

THE SWING BRIDGE.—For some time past some doubt existed as to the stability of the swing bridge which spans the locks, and fears were entertained that it would go down some day when a heavily loaded wagon was crossing. A visit was therefore made on Tuesday of last week by the engineer of the Trent works, Mr. R. B. Rogers, of Peterborough, and a close and thorough examination of the structure was made. With the exception of some minor defects the principal timbers, beams, etc., were found to be sound, and will last for several years. Mr. James Graham is effecting the necessary repairs and will also replank the floor.

A Great Railway Strike.
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18.—The order issued yesterday by the Executive Committee of the Knights of Labor requesting all employees of the Wabash system who belong to the organization to strike at noon to-day, had been promulgated in Fort Wayne, Andrews and Peru, Indiana, Decatur and Springfield, Ill., Moberly and St. Louis, Mo., Toledo, Ohio, Council Bluffs, Ia., and St. Louis. The committee claim that they have got the shops at the above named places sure, and claim to have the yards and trainmen, but are in great doubt about the engineers and firemen. They admit that the movement is an experiment, but express confidence in being able to practically suspend the operations of the road. The general committee will remain here and conduct the strike from this point.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

FUELED INTO ONE.

Canada has advanced a century or more in all that is national within the past four months. The rebellion came upon us, a people united by Act of Parliament; it is over, and the Federal figure of clay has been touched into the spirit of vigorous life. The Dominion, to-day, stands erect in dignified manhood, the youngest born, but not the least promising of the people. The east has changed hands with the west, and the electric thrill of nationality passing along the completed circuit has fused the elements which are touched into a homogeneous whole. Canada, one and indivisible, is the result. Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario have met their younger sister, Manitoba, under circumstances in which real acquaintanceships spring up. We can never again become strangers. There has been no Ontario, no Quebec, no Nova Scotia in this city of late, while Manitoba can't her individuality in entertaining the sons of her eastern sisters the Confederation. We have all been Canadians. We have all felt proud to think that we were Canadians.—Windsor Mail.

A BENEFICIAL LAW.

One result of the Government's wisdom in prohibiting the importation into the Dominion of articles made by United States prison labor, is seen in the fact that a Canadian firm who used to send a large number of vehicles to Canada, find their business so curtailed by the prohibition that they have decided to start a factory in Gananoque, where about a hundred hands will be employed.—Mail.

MUDDLED FREE TRADERS.

The Canadian free traders are in a peculiar muddle. They wish to draw political moral from the stoppage of some Canadian cattle imported into Buffalo on the charge of undervaluation. It will, not do for them to say the stoppage is in any way disadvantageous to the Canadian producer, because they have asserted over and over again that it is the consumer who pays the duty and not the producer. Nor can they claim, as they are disposed to, that the prevalence of low prices here causes our farmers to send their cattle abroad for sale, because if they make such a claim they are immediately faced by the fact that there is a Canadian duty upon cattle which according to their own argument, causes them to be sent here. Then again the fact that Canadian cattle are exported as all is somewhat of a set back to them, as they predicted that under protection feed would become so high that the exportation of cattle would be impossible. It seems that they are wrong in every detail of their position. They are therefore content themselves in this case with attacking the National Policy on general principles, though what the action of the Buffalo customs authorities has to do with it would puzzle them to explain.—Mail.

SOCIALISTIC NONSENSE.

If it were accorded with Christian morality to call a man a fool the term can properly be applied to the Chicago socialist. One of their mottos is, "Down with the Throned, the Altar and the Money Bag." Of course the throne indicates the judge who is likely to sentence them for perjury or to give him the penitentiary by knocking him down two or three times in lieu of argument; the altar signifies the Bible injunction that a man shall not steal, and their object in destroying the money bag is to spill its contents overboard. A highwayman, a pirate, a thief, a man who will do anything to get what he wants without working for it. These socialists like to sit in the shade all day while honest men are earning a living, and then in the evening when they are hungry they talk about some cook and bull philosophy which will compel the honest worker to support them. Their theory is simply an attempt to make a reason for the industries should work for the lazy. They are the annoying folk to whom Society G. M. referred when he said, "You twining serpent."—New York Herald.

CANADA'S DEFENCES.

We do not object to Canada having a small standing army; on the contrary we have already expressed the opinion that one of the least taught by the rebellion is the desirability of increasing the strength of our permanent military force, so as to enable us to cope with any local disturbance. But the backbone of our defence against foreign foes, if we ever have any, must be our citizen soldiers. The Government will surely be disposed to give the volunteer movement substantial encouragement now, and to take the fullest advantage of the present extraordinary popularity of the service.—Montreal Star.

THE REFORM REBELLION.

There has been a feeling among a large portion of the Liberal party for some time past, that as a leader of that party Hon. Edward Blake is a failure, and that he ought to be replaced with a better man. His conduct in the House, in connection to the salary grab, has served to deepen that feeling, and it is evident that his "neutrality in power" as a party leader. A more recent act of his will do more to hasten his downfall than anything he has heretofore done, or failed to do, as leader. Common with a large number of newspapers, Grip saw fit to severely censure the Hon. Edward for allowing the salary grab to be perpetrated without protesting against it, and, in doing so, only extended his undoubted right; but the Hon. Edward, like a big spoiled school boy, at once stopped his paper. No one would have expected such obstinacy in a great public leader such as Hon. Edward Blake no doubt thinks he is, and we repeat that such an act is enough to disqualify any man possessing an ounce of common sense. The Hon. Edward had better go and put his head to work.—Perry Sound Star (Edinboro).

EDUCATION IN CRIME.

Dr. E. A. Marechal, of Toronto, in an article on "Compulsory Education in Crime," arranges the goal system of this continent as a system of schools of crime maintained at the public expense for the training of criminals in their profession. He says that 100,000 prisoners annually pass through the goals of the United States; that, though their stay is usually brief, they are more or less fully intermingled with the worst criminals while they stay; and that the worst mania to educate the younger and newer ones in criminal practices through their conversation, and generally turn them out wares, instead of better, for their reformation. There is too much truth in this indictment. The only cure for the evil is separate confinement in all goals. This might cost more for goal fittings, but, in the end, it would probably cost the public much less, through the diminution of crime.—Detroit Post.

BISHOPS ON GUN, BUCKNER'S MIST.

Gen. S. B. Buckner, who was one of the two pallbearers for the Grant, had a very remarkable staff during the war, and his military family has furnished the Episcopal Church with three bishops—Gallagher, of Kentucky, who was a lieutenant-colonel and assistant adjutant-general in the war; Louisville, who was a captain in the Kentucky, captain and aide-de-camp, in the war; and of Georgia, aide-de-camp, who is a bishop of the Michigan diocese, was first minister to this high dignity in the church. Another clergyman who was in the same strange training school is Bishop, a West Point graduate, who left the old army and went south. He is now a D. D., and famed for his serene and serene piety, as he was in the old times for daring and reckless courage.—St. Louis Republic.

MEXICO'S EL MARI.

The success of an outlaw who holds the Mexican Government.

Mexico has apparently found her Mahdi in the person of Jose Maria Cajeme, who holds a scepter of terror over Sonora. Cajeme, chief of the Yaqui and Mayo Indians, was born in 1842, in the tiny town of Torin, on the banks of the silent Yaqui river, which creeps to the Pacific from Sonora's heart of forests. From earliest boyhood Cajeme took to the chase, and refused to work on a farm, when he could pour the deep forest with his bow and arrow. When thirteen years of age he ran away from home, and from that day his life was a constant restless march, a Bohemian existence. He entered the service of Mr. J. R. Brown, an American miner at Alamos.

Wine and women soon drew their chains about him, and, fired by jealousy and desire, he drew his first human blood by stabbing Abraham Joliman, who was Mr. Brown's steward. He then fled.

In 1872, when the governor of Sonora, Ignacio Fungia, started out to assist the governor of the neighboring state of Chihuahua against the revolution headed by the bloody Marquez, Cajeme joined the state troops. During the campaign he gave proofs of great valor and of uncommon military skill, and was made a Colonel in Mexican army. During latter months of the campaign he learned to read and write, for as he never could go to school he had to learn the alphabet when he entered on this exciting period of his life. When peace was established Cajeme returned to his home proceeded by an uncommon fame. At that time Julio Moroyqui, nicknamed the Jaguar, ruled the Yaqui. He was one of the most sanguinary despots of Mexican history, and kept as the American Nero. Moroyqui confirmed the rank of colonel, earned by Cajeme in the Government army, and the latter soon bent his extraordinary talents to repressing disorders in the Government of the former. Little by little Cajeme acquired popularity, and the Indian camps soon became too narrow a theatre for two such men. One day Cajeme with ten picked men surrounded the palace of the Jaguar, and going in assassinated him, and was immediately proclaimed his successor in power, a place he has since held.

While in Navajo he collected in marriage the daughter of a rich planter. His suit refused, Cajeme "retreated in good order," and went back to the Yaqui river, thinking that time would soothe his suffering. Alas! he made up his mind to see the girl again, and he started on a dark night and in disguise to visit her. On the way he was ambushed by E. J. Cantor, a brother chief, who was his rival for the possession of this Mexican Helen. Cajeme proved to be a successful fighter. Single handed he killed Cantor and three of his men, besides wounding another, and escaped bleeding from several wounds at the foot of Jesusa Narvaez. She fled from her home in his company. Since that time Cajeme has led a fugitive life with his band of Indian warriors, and has defied the power of the Mexican republic among the mountains and marshes of Sonora.

Cajeme is well built, has herculean muscles, regular features with a savage air impressed upon them, and has a bronzed, almost black, skin. He is a splendid horseman; has moved his own life on several occasions by his fleet running and excellent swimming qualities. He has an unconquerable will, a presence of mind which never deceives him, and a courage which borders on temerity.—San Francisco Republic.

A STATIONARY ROOM.

The Marble Palace at Hatfield, and Salisbury's Home.

This magnificent apartment is probably unrivalled in the beauty of its oak paneling and carving. The noble and massive effect is harmonized by the ascending loftiness. It fills two stories of the north front and is lighted by two tiers of three windows each, and by two oriel windows at the upper end of the north side. The room is fifty feet long by thirty feet wide. An oaken wainscot, which runs around two sides, rises as high as the top of the chandelier. The wainscot is plainly paneled, and is without ornament of any kind. This simple yet bold and free treatment of the wood is incomparably effective. Warm, rich and massive, the dusky oak paneling exquisitely reflects the ever varying shades of light. On the southern side of the room the wall space between the wainscot and the ceiling is filled up by some three and a half dozen golden, with deep effective borders. But it is in the carved oak screen and its two galleries that the Marble Palace shows most of its fame. The screen is at the western end, and partitions the room from the lobby outside. It is divided by richly carved pilasters into compartments filled slightly arched panels, some of which are open, some are solid. The large folding door, with the bold and sweeping arch, are identically treated. Above the arches, and enclosing slightly from it, runs the "Victory Gallery." The great screen is a wealth of carving, modelled on the same lines as the screen, but richer and more fantastic. The plain shield of the two compartments beneath the screen, for visitors to watch the change below. The large folding door, with the bold and sweeping arch, are identically treated. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Three Russian Athletes.
The three celebrated Royal Russian Athletes, Frederick, Goss and La Van, the world's greatest gymnasts, will open a three night's engagement in the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week.

The Weather.
The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock	60	29.52
1 o'clock	70	29.54
3 o'clock	70	29.51

Stock Shipment.
A few days ago Mr. Geo. Webber shipped another carload of choice cattle for the Montreal market. The shipment consisted of 23 fine animals purchased from well known county farmers. Mr. Webber has made quite a number of shipments this season, and he always sends out stock of a quality that is calculated to give Peterborough county a good name.

A Lakeland Pony.
Mr. Richard Parker, the proprietor of the Blakely House, Lakeland, has purchased a beautiful Shetland pony from Montreal. The little traveller only weighs 300 pounds, and comes from Lakeland to Peterborough in 30 minutes. His color is jet black and as he is driven along the street his appearance attracts the attention of a great many.

Bo For Niagara Falls.
The fast all rail excursion to Niagara Falls over the Grand Trunk Railway takes place on Thursday next, August 27th. Parties taking this trip will have no reason to be dissatisfied, as every preparation and arrangement has been made for their comfort. The train leaves the Peterborough station at 6 a.m. and reaches Niagara at noon. Returning will leave Niagara at 5 p.m. and arrive home at 10.30. Tickets, $2.50, and good for 3 days or to stop off at Toronto.

Another Big Attraction.
Mr. Ed. Brown, with his usual push and enterprise, has made arrangements for another grand attraction in the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week. At a large expense, he has closed with the three Royal Russian Athletes, now performing in New York, to fill an engagement of three nights in Peterborough. The performance of these living wonders is spoken of by press and public as simple superb. Full particulars will be given in the local columns of the press and by poster.

A Fine House.
The Detroit Trade Journal of August 15th says:—
"The 'Shelby Club House,' of which Messrs. Heck McIntyre and Ed. A. Bean are the gentlemanly proprietors, is at No. 126 Shelby street, opposite Whitney's Grand Opera House, and is a sample room of which these gentlemen may well feel proud. It is centrally located, and just out of the noise, dirt and confusion of business and is a neat, quiet, genteel, first-class hotel in all respects. It has as fine a class of custom as any similar establishment in the city, and is one of the best conducted club houses in the country, everything being done on the gift edged plan."

Amusing.
An amusing incident happened at the River side Park on Wednesday afternoon. The Clippings were at the bat and one of the batsmen sent a foul ball into the river. There was a general run to the river's edge to see how the ball would be taken out. A lad made a jump in after it, but Fred Cameron's dog was also on hand. Brown also went in and it is a question for a time whether dog or boy would have it. The dog, however, proved successful and brought the ball safely in, while the lad with dripping clothes was well applauded for his efforts. The play was then resumed.

The largest and best stock of Twenty-five Cent Ties ever brought to Peterborough. See A. McNair's window.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms.
Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served at a price at all hours.

Smith's Market.
Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables. Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, hams and bacon.

Garden Party.
A garden party in aid of the South Ward Sunday School of St. John's Church will be held on Wednesday evening, Aug. 26th, in the grounds of Mr. George Dunford, south of the Bank of Montreal on Water street. Admittance, 15 cents.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fair weather, slightly higher temperature.

Wonderful Athletes.
The performance of the three Royal Russian Athletes, who will appear in the Lansdowne Roller Rink on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week, is simply wonderful. The greatest athletes the world ever saw. Go and see them. Don't miss it for anything!

Bill of Fare.
At the Rochester Fruit Store. Black Raspberries, Cherries, Watermelons, Muskmelons, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Apples, Black Currants, Red Currants, Plums, Pears, Green Corn and Garden Vegetables of all kinds. E. G. Stone, Proprietor.

McNair's 25 cent Ties cannot be beat in the Dominion.

Look! Look!
The Yacht "Pearl" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Fauscher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

More Attractions at the Golden Lion.
Fair, Van Every & Co. are daily opening new fall goods. Their grand exhibit this season is well worth your inspection, as they will surpass their former efforts for quantity, variety, quality and cheapness. See their new Crotonese with Fringes to match, Lace Curtains, Edgewise and Embroidered Scrim Cloths, Boating Wraps, Fancy Dark English Prints, etc.

Look at McNair's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty five cents.

Personal.
Mr. W. Brundrette, the popular and energetic station agent of the Grand Trunk Railway in this town, leaves this evening by the 8.10 train for a short vacation in his old home in Cheshire, England. We wish him bon voyage and hope that his visit among his friends in the "old world" may be productive of much pleasure, and that he may return with renewed health.

Mr. E. C. Hill left town this morning to bill Bethany, Millbrook, Omemee and Lindsay with Central Exhibition posters. He takes an assistant along and will return on Friday.
Mr. J. G. Handa, editor and proprietor of the Cullingswood Bulletin, has been here on a short visit. He left for home to-day.

During Mr. Brundrette's absence his office will be filled by Mr. Geo. Brown, of Madoc, formerly of Peterborough.
Messrs. G. A. Cox and W. A. Morrow returned to town on Wednesday night from Hamilton where they had been attending the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canada Life Insurance Company. The meeting was largely attended and the annual showing more satisfactory than ever.

True Blues' Excursion.
An excursion and picnic was held on Wednesday, under the auspices of the True Blues' organization of Peterborough. About one hundred and seventy-five people left the Grand Trunk station at a few minutes after eight o'clock in the morning in four comfortable coaches. After a quick ride to Lakeland the excursionists took the steamer Cruiser to Stony Lake. The number of excursionists was here swelled to about two hundred, and both the steamer and the shore, which was attached, were well laden. Going up the stream to Stony Lake the dance was well kept up to the excellent music of the Fire Brigade Band Orchestra. The boat, with its jolly passengers, arrived at Mount Julian, Stony Lake, at a few minutes after 12 o'clock and here it was that a very pleasant picnic was held. Dinner was partaken with evident relish and during the succeeding four hours that were spent the members of the party strolled around enjoying the scenery, canoed, trolled and fished as the case might be. At about half past four o'clock the return trip was commenced. Down the stream also the dance was greatly in demand with the dancers and the orchestra were kept busy until Lakeland was reached. Another lively run from Lakeland brought the excursion party up again to the Grand Trunk station here at about eight o'clock. No accidents occurred, with the exception of one slight one. A young man went to step off the steamer to the Lakeland wharf. It was a little further away than he seemed to think. Instead of stepping on the wharf he slipped into the water. He reached shore nose the worse for his unexpected bath.

ACCIDENTS.

A Young Woman Has Her Arm Cut off and a Boy his Fingers.

On Wednesday evening, Mr. Chas. Lang, of Otonabee, residing a few miles from town, finished reaping a field of grain and had drawn the reaper up to the corner of the field so that it would be out of the way. A little son went up to it and commenced to play with the knives. He got his fingers in between the knives and the guards, and the tops of both his little finger and the third finger were mangled off. Mr. Lang brought his boy to town this morning and Dr. King dressed the wounds in a skillful manner.

Another Accident.
A very serious accident happened at the Auburn Woolen Mills at about five o'clock this forenoon. A young woman, Miss Louisa, was engaged in her usual occupation, when, by some means, her right arm got caught in the cog wheels. Part of the limb passed through the wheels, resulting in a compound fracture of the wrist. The wrist joint, too, was somewhat injured, and the muscles and tendons of the arm were badly lacerated. The injury was so severe that it is difficult to say whether or not the limb can be saved. The young woman resides on Brook street, and at her home she is now under the care of Dr. Kincaid.

Merchants vs. Lawyers.
The Legal and Mercantile clubs meet in the Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon for a friendly game. The legal nine are a strong one and the merchants also have some heavy men on. The following are the names of those who will comprise the teams:—

Some of the merchants are putting in effectual practice in the Park this afternoon.

Double Drowning Accident.
PORT DALHOUSIE, August 19.—Wesley Clark, aged 18, son of the late collector at this port, and Miss Gertrude Kennedy, of Toronto, were drowned near lock 3 of the new Welland canal about nine o'clock last evening. Miss Kennedy and her mother were visiting here. Mr. Clark and Miss Kennedy drove into St. Catharines early in the evening, and were returning by the road running along the river bank. The night was dark and the road narrow, and in turning out to pass another rig, Mr. Clark's horse and buggy went over the edge of the road and into the canal. The buggy was covered one with the top up, and both the occupants were held fast and drowned. The bodies were recovered in a very short time, but too late.

A Lucky Escape.
DURNVILLE, Ont., Aug. 19.—Last night during a severe thunder storm the residence occupied by James Canal of this place was badly damaged by lightning striking the corner of the building. The bed in which Mrs. Canal and a child were sleeping was smashed into shivers. Mrs. Canal was unconscious for a few hours, but has recovered. The child was not hurt.

A BATTLE IN PERU.

Government Forces Defeated by the Rebels—Heavy Losses on Both Sides.

LIMA, August 19.—On the 15th instant the Government troops, occupying Canto, consisting of 350 infantry and 100 hundred cavalry, were surprised by rebel forces numbering from 1,800 to 2,000 men, said to be under the command of General Ochoa or Colonel Morales Bermudez. The battle lasted five hours. When the Government troops had exhausted their ammunition and their Mitrailleuses had been disabled, a bayonet charge was attempted, but without success, and they retreated in confusion. Lieutenant Bustamante, seeing that all was lost, shot himself. The losses on both sides were very heavy. Two hundred fugitives of the Government forces have arrived at Lima and its environs.

Highly Creditable.
The Lindsay Post says:—
"From the job room of the REVIEW Printing Company of Peterborough has been issued for the grand central exhibition at that town, the posters announcing the date and other particulars. The excellent facilities at the command of the REVIEW to execute work of this description is very well known and the poster is highly creditable to the mechanical skill, who have certainly done the work well. The poster is a three sheet placard in red, green and black, very well designed and clearly printed in brilliant ink. Colored work of this description can be finely executed at many country offices and in a style quite the equal of the best city efforts, the REVIEW office being notably prominent in this respect."

64311 Larkings.
It seems that the bold burglar has found Ashburnham a pleasant place to reside and that he still lingers there. On Wednesday night, Mr. J. D. Rosnell, before retiring, looked every door leading from his house. In the morning, on coming from his room, he was somewhat surprised to find that the door he had looked before found to be wide open. Nothing was taken from the house, but several things indicated that the house had been visited by prowlers.

Excursion to Idyl Wild.
An excursion down the river to Idyl Wild was held on Thursday, under the auspices of the Girls' Friendly Society in connection with St. John's Church. At about eight o'clock the Golden Eye left the Wolfe street wharf with about one hundred excursionists on board. A pleasant sail down the river was made and Idyl Wild was reached at about 12 o'clock. The day was spent in strolling around, boating, etc. The Golden Eye, with her fair cargo of passengers, reached the wharf here at about eight o'clock in the evening.

CHURCH FAIR.

A Regular Meeting of the Members of the Peterborough Market.

Landed in to Save Her Child.
WINNIPEG, August 20.—A two year old child of Francis Ross was drowned in a well at Minnedosa Tuesday. The mother discovering that the child had fallen into the well, leaped in after it. The well is twenty two feet with ten feet of water. Neighbors visiting the house were attracted by the screams of the mother, and with help succeeded in rescuing her after being nearly two hours in the water. The child was also taken out but dead. The mother is recovering under surgical attendance.

Swamped as a Tub.
KINGSTON, Aug. 20.—Yesterday morning a fatal accident occurred in the home of Mr. Samuel Swann. The little children were playing "hide and seek" in the yard, and one of the girls not being able to find her little brother, aged 21 months, went in quest of him, and saw his little feet sticking out of a tub. Hastily she pulled him out and screamed, attracting Mr. Swann, who was washing just inside the back kitchen, and not ten feet from where the tub stood outside and beside the door. The little fellow was quite dead and could not be resuscitated. The tub had been half filled out of a barrel with washing water. The mother did not hear the little fellow fall into the water, and her grief is very bitter. He could not have been more than a minute or two in the tub before being discovered. Just a week ago Mr. Swann lost a son aged nine years.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1886.

EARLY CLOSING.

In several large cities the half holiday movement has made a considerable stir and has been very successful. Saturday is the day chosen for the holiday, and in large cities where the principal trade is wholesale it is found to be the best day. In cities or towns where a large retail trade is carried on, Saturday could not be chosen for such a purpose. A half holiday on Saturday in Peterborough would not only revolutionize our retail trade, but would seriously injure it. But while a half holiday on Saturday is out of the question here, might it not be advisable to consider whether the stores, especially the groceries, could not be closed at an earlier hour than prevails at present? It is not for the benefit of the merchants and clerks alone that the suggestion is made. The present custom tends to keep the whole town out to a later hour on Saturday night than on any other night. Not only do many make their purchases on that night, but the open stores and lighted streets induce many to promenade later than on other evenings. If it is desirable (and few will say that it is not) that the churches should be generally attended on Sunday morning, that the people should feel composed and not fatigued, and that they should be in a frame of mind best suited for the proper religious observance of the Lord's Day, then it is important that the transaction of business should cease much earlier than it does on Saturday night.

It is only by the united action of the employers of men, the merchants and the customers that such a change can be brought about. The employers should choose some other day than Saturday for pay day, and the customers should leave as little as possible to be done on Saturday in the way of making purchases. The result would be beneficial to all.

One of the statements made by the Globe when it was endeavoring to incite the people of the Northwest to rebel, was that the Halfbreed Chief, Commissioner, abruptly closed their claims when the rebellion was over. The statement was then denied by Mr. W. P. R. Street, the Chairman of the Commission, who states that every claim presented was thoroughly considered, and that ample time was given for the presentation of claims.

The Globe will soon have the history of the Northwest campaign written up to its satisfaction. It has so far discovered that the Militia Department mismanaged everything; that Gen. Middleton "did not know how long the campaign lasted, nor what the people of Canada thought of him," and that he did not know his own mind and blundered; that Col. Irvine is deserving of blame; that the volunteers were "bum-bullies" and "incubers," and that, after all, they only conquered "a few more halfbreeds and Indians." Col. Otter has escaped the Globe's censure because he belongs to Toronto. The Globe is almost alone in the disparagement of those engaged in the campaign.

IMMIGRATION.

A Scheme for bringing British Agriculturalists to the West.

OTAWA, Aug. 20.—Prof. Tanner, of London, government examiner of agricultural classes in England, is in the city on business with the departments of agriculture, and also on his way to the Northwest. He has the following scheme on foot, and his project is apparently encouraged by the Dominion Government: In Great Britain the imperial government gives a regular course of instruction to about 9,000 agricultural young men and women annually. Of these about 6,000 go before a board of examiners, of which the presence is a member. A large portion of these are sons and daughters of farmers. With the poorest farmers have been making for the past few years it is quite impossible for them to settle their children on lands on their own account, and the professor's visit to Canada on this occasion is to endeavor to increase the facilities for sending these people to some of the older provinces as to the Northwest. In addition to the class of young people above alluded to, there are many others who have a small amount of capital, but for whom, to make their course successful, necessary means will require to be adopted whereby they can settle in small villages instead of being isolated. The necessity for such an association of residence is for the purpose of mutual benefit, and they claim it is absolutely necessary for the protection of small capital and the maintenance of friendly associations.

Local Fire in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 20.—A fire broke out this morning about 5 o'clock in the Bell Telephone Company's works, Craig street, and flames worked up through the premises of the Bank North Company, causing damage estimated at about $20,000, fully insured. A watchman named Bradley, in the North Company, had fallen asleep and was smothered.

EXEMPTIONS.

Councillor YELLAND moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS, — That a by-law be prepared to repeal the Dickson Company by-law.

Councillor YELLAND said that if he had not been away at the time of the passage of this by-law he would have opposed it. He did not think it in the interests of the town to give any company such a full exemption.

The Mayor left his seat to speak to the question, Councillor Cahill taking the chair.

The Mayor said he did not think that Mr. Yelland looked at the matter in the proper light. This building which the Dickson Company was putting up was not being put up without the knowledge that there would be any money in the scheme otherwise there was a bare interest if it succeeded. On the other hand there was a risk to be run, and nearly anyone was willing to put their money into it. He, with others, had canvassed the town for stock, but with the exception of one or two, none had subscribed. The way the by-law stood no injury was done to anyone; it was merely allowing the taxes on the property to remain at the same figures. It was a current remark that if there was only push and energy to utilize the Dickson water power, the race would soon be over with factories, but now when men were willing to put money into it they are discouraged by the Council. There was no encouragement given to go ahead.

Councillor YELLAND said that some time ago a certain party had started a large factory shop in a certain place, and had stated that he would soon shut out all of the small establishments. He mentioned his buggy and waggon business over the country, but instead of shutting out the small places he shut out himself, not, however, without doing an injury to these small shops. He did not want to see such a factory on the Dickson race.

The Mayor pointed out how rapid the increase in the value of property was in the neighborhood of the store works. Although the works were exempted, and although the town did not get a cent in this way, yet the town received the benefit from the increased taxes and the now more valuable property. If the factories were put up on the Dickson Company's water power the effect would be precisely the same, and the Council could not consistently repeal one by-law without the other.

Councillor McNAUGHTON said that no one more than himself liked to encourage industries. He was satisfied with the lock works and the stove works exemptions, but he did not believe in giving such a sweep to the Dickson Company.

Councillor DOUGLAS was not against giving the Dickson Company exemption, but he wanted them to come to the Council like other people. When they built a factory, came to the Council and asked for exemption, they would get it, but he did not like to work in the dark in this way, and perhaps give exemption to factories that would compete against those that have been struggling along for the last fifty years.

The Mayor maintained that to allow the exemption of the Dickson Company's property to remain at the present estimate value would be a burden on no one, and as far as the competition was concerned it would be no worse in Peterborough than in Ashburham.

The company owned as much water privilege on the other side of the river as they did on this side and he ventured to say that if the Ashburham were asked for partial exemption they would willingly grant it. He maintained that the town of Lindsay had done to encourage manufacturers.

In addition to granting exemption for 50 years, they had presented the Sylvester Resper Company with four acres of ground. To-day Mr. Tolson had handed him a communication from a man who wanted to know if there would be any chance of opening up a saw factory in Peterborough. The building now in course of erection on the race would be the very place for a saw factory.

If the factory were built this industry would in all probability be established here, but if not the town would lose it. The strongest argument that could be urged against the by-law was the injury to other mill owners, and he was sure that every member of the Council and every ratepayer would be willing to grant exemption, if the mill owners enlarged their premises, on the new parts, allowing simply the exemption to remain as it was. He thought the opposition to the by-law came from some of the people not understanding it. The Company did not ask for exemption; they merely asked that their taxes be the same for ten years.

Councillor RUTHERFORD warmly supported the by-law. There was every need of factories being established here. The time was when Peterborough depended chiefly upon her agricultural resources, but now that was passing away. The town was growing faster, and it was not sufficient to support a town of Peterborough's size. Something would have to be done. Manufacturers would have to be built to give the town a backbone. If the town went on increasing in size at the present rate for the next few years without any manufacturers being established, there would certainly be a serious relapse.

Councillor KENDRY also supported the confirmation of the by-law. If the Council did not grant exemption of the Dickson Company they would certainly be short sighted. He ventured to say that more taxes would be forthcoming from private houses that would have to be erected to accommodate employees of the new factory than the exemption amounted to.

Councillor DOUGLAS contended that a man who spent $15,000 in building houses was just as much entitled to exemption as the man who spent $15,000 in a factory.

Councillor KENDRY—Who is going to fill these houses? If a man is not going to establish more factories here there will be two or three hundred houses to rent before two years.

Councillor McNAUGHTON was willing to give $4 a year extra taxes to support factories, but he was not, as he said before, willing to give such a sweep to Mr. Hazlett.

Councillor McNAUGHTON moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY, — That the by-law exempting the Dickson Company from taxes on the property from taxation and all other applications asking for exemption be referred to a committee composed of the following, namely:—Councillors Cahill, Yelland, Douglas, Kendry, Rutherford, Green and the Mayor, to report to the Council at the next meeting.

Councillor McNAUGHTON said that he had heard that the Oriental Hotel, a part of the Dickson Company's property, was to be exempted, and he was not, as he said before, willing to give such a sweep to Mr. Hazlett.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Vote.
The date of the voting on the Scott Act in Peterborough has been fixed for September 24. The Canada Gazette of to-day contains the announcement.

Street Improvements.
A long needed improvement on Dowell street is now being made, that of grading it and putting a sidewalk down between Hunter and Stone streets. The work is progressing satisfactorily.

New Heavy Weight Jerseys for Fall Wear. Just received at Turnbull's.

Quick Work.
Mr. John B. Fowler one day last week cut and bound five cases of wheat in about three hours, and five cases of oats in a little over the same time. The work was all done by the Maxwell Lovelace Binder.

First, Second, and Third.
Chiropractic and Massage, of New York, is in staying in Peterborough for a few days at the Grand Central Hotel, room 32, first floor. All persons troubled with Cerebra, Benign and Injurious Nails, will be cured at once without pain. Postal cards answered. Outside orders promptly attended to.

Ladies will find Black Jerseys with Cardinal, Green and Old Gold Vests at Turnbull's.

Box of Fruit.
At the Rochester Fruit Store. Black Raspberries, Cherries, Watermelons, Muskmelons, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Apples, Black Currants, Red Currants, Plums, Pears, Green Corn and Garden Vegetables of all kinds. E. G. Stone, Proprietor.

For a beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNEIL's window.

New Good.
First instalment of new goods from Liverpool to Peterborough in 15 days. Fair & Van Every have received the first shipment of their Fall importations, per S. E. "Montreal," comprising Floor Oil Cloth, Scotch Winceys, French Dress Goods, French Kid Gloves to match and French Rubber Goods in great variety, Mourning Cloths, Crapes, etc. Visit the Golden Lion for variety and cheapness.

Ladies will find Coloured Braided Jerseys to match all Shades at Turnbull's.

Returned.
Mr. E. G. Leach has returned from New York and Otago Island where he has been spending a week or two.

Mr. Walter B. Rabbidge, registrar of the High Court of Justice, Beaufort, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. J. McNamara, Peterborough's best cyclist, has gone to Montreal for a two weeks' visit. He took his wheel with him and while there will probably give the Lower Canadian wheelmen a few points in how to run a machine. It is somewhat surprising, however, that he took the train to go down, but perhaps he will ride back on his own wheel.

The largest and best stock of Twenty-five Cent Ties ever brought to Peterborough. See A. McNEIL's window.

The Invasion.
The invasion of the United States by the Saved Army takes place to-day. Capt. Must and Capt. Daly, both for a time stationed in Peterborough, together with other officers, lead the attack. Fort Vincent will be the first place assailed, and after the Army gains a footing there a special corps will lay siege to other places. Capt. Daly was originally from Peterborough. She joined the Army here last January, and was rapidly promoted from one rank to another, until she attained the one she now holds. Capt. Daly was at the meeting held at the Peterborough barracks on Friday evening and left this morning to join the attacking force.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

SHORT STOPS.

The Lindsay Warder mentions that the score in the Ojima-Peterborough match was 11 to 10, and adds that "the game, of course, was a mere practice match." Exactly, and little result had been of importance there is no knowing what the Peterboroughs might have done with the Clippers.

The Lindsay Echo says:—"A telegram received here states that Mr. Joe Ray won $225 betting that the Peterborough club would score more than Lindsay against the Clippers."

The telegrapher-banker's match is the next. It takes place on Tuesday.

The insurance men are now ready, as before stated, to play the winners of the lawyers-merchant's match.

The Secretary of the Peterboroughs received a communication to-day from the Dawson, of Hamilton, stating that they had accepted terms offered and would play a match in Peterborough on September 2nd or 4th. The Dawson are a strong amateur team, and the home side will find it difficult to get away with them.

The Secretary of the Oshawa writes asking the Peterboroughs to pay a visit to that place. The matter will be considered.

The employees of Mr. Peter Hamilton's foundry say, in answer to the employees of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's Works, that ball is not their game. They say that they manufacture agricultural implements and want to play an agricultural game. Lawn tennis is theirs, and if the crank ball players of the west end want to try their hand at a couple of sets, they are invited to come on at the earliest date.

ACQUATIC.

STURGEON POINT REGATTA.

The regatta held at Sturgeon Point under the auspices of the Lindsay Canoe Club was very successful. The open sailing race, for which there were ten entries, was won by Mr. E. B. Edwards, of Peterborough, in the Varna. The Post says:—"Mr. Edwards is an experienced and skilful canoeist and gained quite a reputation at the A. C. A. meet at Grindstone camp, where he carried off the flag for open sailing canoes. At the close of the regatta Mr. Edwards went out in his canoe and gave an exhibition of his skill in filling the craft with water, upsetting, throwing the water out and getting in and under way. Mr. Edwards is very adroit and a perfect aquatic gymnast."

THE TUFF.

COMBINATION RACE.

The Lindsay Post says:—"A combination race has been formed by the owners of five of our local horses as follows: Fanny R. of Peterborough, Dan O'Connell of Haliburton, Jennie Lee, Fearless Dick and Billy Green of Lindsay, each owner giving $25 to go as a prize or pot for the winning horse. The race to take place on the agricultural track, on or about September 2nd."

LAWYERS VS. MERCHANTS.

The lawyers and the merchants' sides came together in the Riverside Park on Friday afternoon, and the game was, without exception, the most interesting that has been played in Peterborough for years. It is safe to say that every one who attended was well satisfied with the afternoon's sport. The players on the winning side were also well satisfied. The lawyers went first to the bat and got in three in good style, followed by the merchants with three also. From the way in which the play was made the lawyers immediately became the favorites, and they sustained their part up to the fourth inning. But the tables soon began to turn, for on the sixth, seventh and eighth innings the merchant side filled up 5, 2 and 7 respectively to the lawyers 1, 1 and 0.

The nine and their positions were as follows:—

MERCHANTS.
B. J. Seabury.....Pitcher.....Geo. W. Hutton
F. J. O'Neil.....Catcher.....P. J. Sullivan
M. Gironx.....1st Base.....W. Sabine
M. Gironx.....2nd Base.....J. H. Long
J. Carey.....3rd Base.....J. H. Long
J. J. Hartley.....Short Stop.....R. A. Peck
W. W. Green.....Left Field.....John Green
R. W. Green.....Centre Field.....J. H. Burdett
J. Mills.....Right Field.....John O'Meara

The score by innings is as follows:—

Lawyers.....2 0 1 1 1 0 0—11.
Merchants.....3 0 3 3 3 2 0—21.

Long, on second base, and Hutton, in the pitcher's box, played in a highly creditable manner.

Sullivan and O'Neil caught for the respective sides, by request of the captain.

Gironx is a dead sure catch. First base is his place.

O'Meara struck a comfortable ball attitude on left field, and acted as a kind of general super-intendant of the game.

Green, of the lawyers, bats fairly, but he doesn't run bases fast enough.

On the fourth inning Carlton took the box in his own feet and sent in some twisters.

Sullivan says that he struck two men out, any way.

Hartley—Oh, but it was my twister that pointed the lawyers.

"Jimmy" is of opinion that with a little practice at the bat he will be just as good as all round player as the few writer merchant.

Burdett surprised the spectators with the way in which he ran the bases.

REGULAR MEETING.

A regular meeting of the Peterborough Base Ball Club was held at the Commercial House on Friday evening. Mr. F. J. O'Neil was appointed Captain of the nine, and Mr. P. J. Sullivan was elected Property Man. The Secretary was instructed to write to the clubs of Lindsay, Uxbridge, Bowmanville, Newcastle, Cobourg, Napesee, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville and Ottawa, to arrange a series of matches. After some discussion as to an eastern league the meeting adjourned.

LACHESSE.

THE ORILLIA-BEAVERTON DECISION.
Mr. Joseph Henderson, of the Peterborough Leagues Club, received a despatch this morning from Orillia to the effect that the dispute between the Orillia Club and the Beaverton Club, for the championship of Central Ontario, had been decided in favour of the Orillia Club by a vote of 6 to 3. The Orillia Club have worked hard and have earned their honors in a fair and manly way. They gave the Peterboroughs three keen matches last season, but were unsuccessful each time. But the Orillia Club lost some of their pluck by their defeat, and came here during the early part of the season, and succeeded in carrying off the coveted championship. And we are sure that not one of the Peterborough men grudged them the honour which was so fairly won.

But now that the championship matter between the Orillia and Orillia has been decided, it will be in order for the Peterboroughs to again enter the arena and bring back the laurels to the hub. It is an acknowledged fact that at the time of the championship match here not one of the Peterboroughs were in anything like a fit condition. There should be a united effort put forth, steady and effective practice put in, the old down should get together again for solid work, and if this is done we are confident that the Peterboroughs will be the champions of central Ontario at the end of the season.

THE COMING PICNIC.

The arrangements for the annual picnic are satisfactorily going on and everything points to its being a decided success. A grand day's sport may be expected on Tuesday, the day of the picnic. The trip down the river will be enjoyable, and the programme to be carried out is sure to give satisfaction. A meeting of the Club will be held on Monday evening.

The Peterborough Prize List.
The prize list for the Peterborough Central Exhibition, to be held in the new exhibition grounds on Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1, has just been issued from the Exhibition office, and are ready for circulation. Parties who wish to make entries will find an entry form for that purpose in each copy of the prize list.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, AUGUST 23, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh winds, fair to cloudy warm weather, with local showers and thunderstorms.

New Heavy Weight Jerseys for Fall Wear, just received at Turnbull's.

Scott Act.

A meeting will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. hall for the purpose of canvassing for the vote on the Scott Act, which is to be taken on the 24th of September. All willing to help in the work are invited to attend. A similar meeting will be held in the Town Hall, Ashburham, on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Mr. Fenny, of Toronto, will be present at both meetings.

Bill of Fare

At the Rochester Fruit Store. Black Raspberries, Cherries, Watermelons, Muskmelons, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Apples, Black Currants, Red Currants, Plums, Peas, Green Corn and Garden Vegetables of all kinds. E. G. Stone, Proprietor.

Personal.

Mr. A. Clegg has returned from England, where he has been spending some weeks. He visited, also, France, Scotland and Ireland, and to all appearances has been benefited by the trip.

Mr. C. W. Savers, who has been camping on the shores of Lake Superior for the last ten days, returned to town on Saturday.

Look! Look!

The Yacht "Pearl" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Fancher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

Services at St. Peter's.

On Sunday morning at half past ten o'clock His Lordship Bishop Casberry, of Hamilton, preached in St. Peter's Cathedral. In the evening at seven o'clock, Rev. Father Fleck, of Guelph, preached the sermon, and His Lordship Bishop Jamot, assisted by the Rev. Father Conway, conducted the service. The sermon dealt exclusively with the importance of keeping the heart pure, the rev. gentleman setting forth the life of the Virgin Mary as a fit one to imitate. The congregations were large on both occasions.

For a beautiful, cheap Tea, see McNEIL's window.

New Goods.

First instalment of new goods from Liverpool to Peterborough in 15 days. Fair & VanEvery have received the first shipment of their Fall importations, per S. S. "Montreal," comprising Floor Oil Cloths, Scotch Wincies, French Dress Goods, French Kid Gloves to match and English Rubber Goods in great variety, Mourning Goods, Crapes, etc. Visit the Golden Lion for variety and cheapness.

Ladies will find Coloured Braided Jerseys to match all Shades at Turnbull's.

Avenue for Agriculture.

We would call attention to the letter of Mr. H. T. Strickland on the subject of the ruin produced in the adjoining county of Hastings, and its use in agriculture for destroying noxious insects. His valuable suggestions as to the matter being taken in hand by our agricultural society should be acted upon. No doubt the company would give every facility for such a trial. Besides, the benefits of the agricultural use of this product of our own neighbourhood will help to build up our mining industries.

The largest and best stock of Twenty-five Cent Tea ever brought to Peterborough. See A. McNEIL's window.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

SHORT STOPS.

The match between the telegraph operators and the bankers takes place on Thursday afternoon without fail. Both sides are vigorously practicing for the event.

The employees of Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger's carriage works challenge the employees of Messrs. Porter Bros. carriage works to play a game of ball and ask for an early date. These two factories should be able to put strong nines into the field.

The home nine will probably play the Cobourgs in the Riverside Park on Friday. The Chippers defeated the Frims. on Saturday at Hamilton by a score of 5 to 3.

The Londoners played an exhibition game at Woodstock on Saturday. The Woodstocks were defeated by 10 runs, the score standing 12-2.

TO-MORROW'S PICNIC.

Arrangements for to-morrow's picnic are almost completed. A committee went down to Campbelltown to-day to see that everything was in readiness, to put up the tables, etc. Mr. Calcutt wishes to inform those who do not wish to take baskets that meals will be furnished on board the Golden Eye at the usual price. There is no doubt that those who attend the picnic will be well satisfied with the way they spend the day.

FOOTBALL.

Word was received this morning to the effect that the St. Paul's, the champions of the United States, had accepted the terms offered by the Peterboroughs, and would be here to play a match on Wednesday. The St. Paul's are composed nearly altogether of Canadians who have played in the Toronto and Shamrock teams. They are a strong twelve and a good game is expected. They will arrive in their special hotel car on Wednesday morning. The Shamrock defeated the Toronto by three straight games yesterday in 17 and 18 minutes respectively.

THE RIFLE.

THE BOLD BURGLAR.

He Enters a House on Water Street on Saturday Night.

On Saturday night between twelve and one o'clock the residence of Mr. E. H. D. Hall, situated on Water street, was entered by burglars. The entrance was made through the dining room window, which was left half way up. Mr. Hall is away from home at present, and no one was in the house except Mrs. Hall and the servant girl. The burglar commenced to cry and it is probable that the provokers decamped as soon as they heard the child's voice, for in carrying off the spoils they took a card receiver, Picturesque Canada, several napkins, etc., while they left a considerable quantity of silverware which was standing on the top of the sideboard. Mrs. Hall, however, did not hear the midnight visitors making either their entrance or their exit, and was unaware of their visit until the morning.

When leaving Mr. Hall's house they made an attempt to force an entrance to Dr. Halliday's residence. Mrs. Halliday heard the noise of opening shutters and opening an upstairs window she asked what was wanted, thinking that, perhaps, it was someone after the doctor. No answer was given, however, except some mutterings, and the men went on in the clear moonlight, trying to force an entrance. The next moment a shrill whistle was heard, and the men bolted out of the yard and up the street.

Ladies will find at Turnbull's Plain Black Jerseys all Sizes extra good value.

More Attractions at the Golden Lion. Fair, VanEvery & Co. are daily opening new fall goods. Their grand exhibit this season is well worth your inspection, as they will surpass their former efforts for quantity, variety, quality and cheapness. See their new Cretonnes with Fringes to match, Lace Curtains, Edgings and Embroidered Scrims Cloths, Boating Wraps, Fancy Dark English Prints, etc.

A HANDSOME RESIDENCE.

One of the Most Complete Houses in Peterborough.

The new residence built for Mr. J. H. Roper, Manager of the branch of the Toronto Bank here, by Mr. Geo. A. Cox, is one of the most complete, if not the most complete, in Peterborough.

The house, which is of the modern style of architecture, is situated on the north side of Hunter street, west of St. Peter's Cathedral, and is elegantly appointed in every respect. It is three stories high, with mansard roof covered with different colors of slate, and planed by ornamental gold tipped iron cresting. The building is of white brick, painted with red pencilling. The window sills and door plates are of Belleville limestone. The three broad entrances, with heavy railings, at the front and at each side, are porched over in an elaborate manner, as are also the two verandahs. The verandahs on the ground floor, one in front and one at the west side, have for a base neat green lattice work.

On ascending the flight of steps to the main entrance and passing through the circle doors, which are finished in grained walnut and frosted plate glass, we enter an airy vestibule about eight feet square. Another set of doors, of much the same style, is swung open, and we stand in a hallway about thirty feet long and eight feet wide. Facing us is the flight of stairs, with a suitable balustrade, leading to the next flat. To the left we enter a large room with a bay window. It is divided into two parts by an arch ornamented with plain mouldings, which terminate on either side in elegant scrolls. The room is furnished with rich plaster of paris mouldings, and a handsome gasolier circular is constructed in the centre of the ceiling. The part of this room facing the street is intended for the sitting room and the part in the rear for the dining room. Off the dining room is a pantry which leads to the kitchen pantry.

Across the hall is the drawing room, a cheerful apartment, with delicately stained walls, pretty cornice pieces, and coal grate with marble mantle.

The cellars are commodious, being floored with cement and well lighted. There are five cellars altogether, including the laundry and the furnace room. The kitchen, which is situated over the laundry, is fitted with all modern culinary equipments. Leading up from the kitchen to the second flat is a winding staircase. This flat is divided conveniently. One spacious apartment is fitted with a coal grate and marble mantle, and all are light and airy with closets attached. On this flat the bathroom is situated. The divisions of the third flat is much the same as that of the second.

The house is fitted with the latest hot water heating apparatus, with coal bells, and with gas. Coils of piping are placed in the halls of two flats and in a good number of the rooms. The bath room is furnished with hot and cold water, as is also the laundry. Marble wash stands stand at the entrance of the house from the east and in the hall of the third flat. They are also furnished with hot and cold water taps.

Light is admitted to the house through some forty-three windows.

The building was built by Mr. J. Alfred and cost about $10,000.

Mr. Roper is now moving into the house and will shortly take up his residence permanently.

EXEMPTIONS

The By-Law Granting Partial Exemption to the Dickson Property.

The following is a copy of By-Law No. CCCCXCV, granting partial exemption to the property of the Dickson Company, referred to in another column:—

A By-law to grant certain privileges and exemptions to "The Dickson Company of Peterborough (Limited)."

Whereas the said Company have acquired the several water privileges on the river Otonabee extending from "The Dominion Mills" on the north and Wilson's woolen factory on the south and intend to develop the said water privilege by erecting thereon factories of different descriptions, and it is adjudged in the interest of the town that the privileges, immunities and exemptions hereinafter mentioned should be granted to the said company.

And whereas the total assessment of the said several water privileges as acquired by the said Company, and the lands used in connection therewith, amounts to the sum of $50,000.00.

And whereas, by way of partial exemption from taxation, it is deemed expedient to fix the said assessment at the sum of $25,000.00.

The Corporation of the Town of Peterborough by the Council thereof, enacts as follows:—

GARDEN PARTY.—The garden party to take place in Mr. R. C. Strickland's grounds on Tuesday, August 25th, for the benefit of the St. John's Church, promises to be in attendance and will give both instrumental and vocal music.

There will also be matches between the Peterborough Lawn Tennis Club, the Amherst Athletic Lawn Tennis Club, and the Lakefield Lawn Tennis Club. It is hoped there will be a large party from Peterborough as special arrangements have been made for their accommodation.

FIRE-SCAPED CATTLE.

Two farmers in Rawdon, after losing eight head of cattle very suddenly, during the last few weeks, deemed it advisable to find out the cause of their death. For this purpose Mr. W. V. Since, V.B., was called on Monday last, and after holding a post mortem examination of the one which died on Sunday, pronounced it a case of arsenical poisoning. It seems that hard threats were made by certain neighbors, against both the cattle and the owners. It is too bad that in the interests of society some means could not be devised to bring such people to make such threats to justice.—Belleville Intelligencer.

AN ILLINOIS TRAGEDY.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 23.—This city is greatly excited over a double, and what may prove to be a triple murder, which occurred in broad daylight to-day in one of the principal streets. This morning Leonard Gardner, who spent the night in jail for wife beating, procured a revolver and was released. He immediately armed himself with two large revolvers of large calibre and became lost in his threats against Policemen Camp and Gall, who arrested him. About noon Gardner saw the two officers approaching him on Washington street. Hastily entering a hall-room he opened fire, Officer Camp fell dead. Gall returned the fire rapidly, and in a moment Gardner fell pierced with three bullets. He died instantly. Officer Gall fell with two bullets in him. It is thought he will die.

REMARKABLE MEMORIES.

Wonderful Natural Faculty Applied to, Useful Purposes.

There was a Corsican boy who could rehearse forty thousand words, whether nouns or non-nouns, as they were dictated, and then repeat them in the reversed order without making a single mistake, although he had not read it for 30 years. Euler, the great mathematician, when he became blind, could repeat the whole of Virgil's "Æneid," and could remember the first line and the last line in every page of the particular edition which he had been accustomed to read before he became blind. One kind of retentive memory may be considered as the result of these works, a determination toward some particular achievement without reference to either cultivation or to memory on any other subject. This is frequently shown by persons in human life in regard to the Bible. An old beggar man of Stirling, known about fifty years ago as Blind Allick, afforded an instance of this. He knew the whole of the Bible by heart, inasmuch that if a sentence was read to him, he could name the book, chapter and verse; or if the book, chapter and verse were named, he could give the exact words. A gentleman, to test him, repeated a verse, purposely making one verbal inaccuracy. Allick hesitated, named the place where the passage was to be found, but at the same time pointed out the verbal error. The same gentleman asked him to repeat the nineteenth verse of the seventh chapter of the Book of Numbers. Allick almost instantly replied, "There is no such verse." This chapter has only eighty-nine verses." Guessing that he had misheard, the gentleman then named the verse, and in order to give his memory exercise he was in the habit of daily reciting six hundred verses from different languages.

SHOOTING A CUBAN PATRIOT.

A New Yorker who had joined the Insurgents Comedown and Killed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The Cuban revolutionists in this city received news on Monday that on Aug. 6 at Barraco, the Spaniards shot First Lieut. Jose Angel Rodriguez. He left New York in September with Gen. Limbano Sanchez to wage a guerrilla warfare on the Spaniards in Cuba. In March last they landed in Cuba with a force all told of nineteen men. In their first skirmish with the Spanish forces Rodriguez was wounded in the hip, and the bone was badly shattered. Being near his relations, he asked permission of Gen. Sanchez to remain on a plantation superintended by a cousin. Gen. Sanchez reluctantly consented, and left him in charge of friends while he and his little band retreated.

It soon became well known that Rodriguez was wounded. The Spanish commander called on the man in charge of Rodriguez and told him that he knew the wounded man was in the district, and, in order that he might be properly treated, the commander asked to be informed where he was concealed. Believing in the Spanish leader's sincerity, Rodriguez's cousin told him where Rodriguez was. The Spaniard took Rodriguez to the prison of Cienfuegos. Alto, where he was thrown into a dungeon and lay there for many months.

His wound healed, but the bone was broken, and he could not walk. This month he was court-martialed and sentenced to death. He was borne to the place of execution in a chair, and shot while sitting, being unable, on account of his wound, to stand up. It is said that he bore the ordeal bravely. Some of his friends and relatives visited him on the night before the execution, and he told them that he welcomed the hour that he was to be shot, because his imprisonment had had so much suffering in it. Not many persons saw the execution. The Cuban letter says that everybody was disgusted with the brutality of the Spanish commander.

Rodriguez lived in New York from 1880 to 1884. He owned a farm in Cuba, but his land was seized by the Spanish Government for his participation in the revolution. He hid himself aboard a fruit vessel at Barraco, and escaped to this country. While in this city he was employed by Louis, Pindus & Co., cigar-makers, Pearl street. He was a well educated young man, 31 years old.

Cuban revolutionists in New York say their friends cannot fight his battles till the army that is forming in the United States goes down there to help them. Major Gen. Antonio Maceo has left his boarding place at 19 West Ninth street, and Dr. Joseph M. Parra, leader of the insurgents in this city, says that General Maceo is still in town, but prefers not to have his whereabouts known to the Spanish Consul here.

DOINGS OF THE FIRE WIND.

Eight Vessels Burned off Long Island—Destruction in Arkansas.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—A fire, causing a loss of $100,000, broke out on board the Colorado, lying off Plum Beach, near Fort Washington, Long Island, last night. The flames spread from the Colorado to the following ships, all of which were burned to the water's edge and sunk: Minnesota, Susquehanna, Congress, South Carolina, Iowa, Lotta Grant, and Fairplay. All with the exception of the last two belonged to the United States navy. They had been condemned, and were bought from the government by Stannard & Co., who were to break them up for the old iron and planks they could get out of them. The fire broke out on the forward deck of the Colorado, where men were at work burning up planks to get the iron spikes. On the right of the Colorado was the Susquehanna, to which the flames spread rapidly, and before either it or the Colorado could be towed out of the flames they spread to the other vessels. The fire burned so fiercely that inside of three hours nothing was left on the vessels but a few charred timbers. The hulls sank at once to the bottom. The Susquehanna broke loose from her moorings, and at one time it looked as if she would be carried ashore in her vicinity. She floated about fifty yards from the shore and then heeled over and sank. The flames spread from the Iowa to the Lotta Grant and Fairplay. Two schooners were anchored near the shore, and they, too, sank. Mr. Stannard said that the loss to him was not less than $100,000. It was only for the iron on the vessels that he bought them. Had the vessels been scuttled the loss would have amounted to millions. An attempt will be made to raise the hulls. The loss on the schooner, it is said, will not be less than $25,000.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 22.—Fire at Texas, Ark., yesterday morning destroyed the Arlington hotel, telephone office, post-office, and Western Union telegraph office. Two squares on the Arkansas side were also destroyed. Loss estimated at $150,000; insurance not known. Col. O. E. Dixon, proprietor of the Arlington, was badly burned and otherwise injured; Frank Varner, porter, cut in the breast; and Pat Doran struck by a falling veranda and dangerously injured.

REMARKABLE MEMORIES.

Wonderful Natural Faculty Applied to, Useful Purposes.

There was a Corsican boy who could rehearse forty thousand words, whether nouns or non-nouns, as they were dictated, and then repeat them in the reversed order without making a single mistake, although he had not read it for 30 years. Euler, the great mathematician, when he became blind, could repeat the whole of Virgil's "Æneid," and could remember the first line and the last line in every page of the particular edition which he had been accustomed to read before he became blind. One kind of retentive memory may be considered as the result of these works, a determination toward some particular achievement without reference to either cultivation or to memory on any other subject. This is frequently shown by persons in human life in regard to the Bible. An old beggar man of Stirling, known about fifty years ago as Blind Allick, afforded an instance of this. He knew the whole of the Bible by heart, inasmuch that if a sentence was read to him, he could name the book, chapter and verse; or if the book, chapter and verse were named, he could give the exact words. A gentleman, to test him, repeated a verse, purposely making one verbal inaccuracy. Allick hesitated, named the place where the passage was to be found, but at the same time pointed out the verbal error. The same gentleman asked him to repeat the nineteenth verse of the seventh chapter of the Book of Numbers. Allick almost instantly replied, "There is no such verse." This chapter has only eighty-nine verses." Guessing that he had misheard, the gentleman then named the verse, and in order to give his memory exercise he was in the habit of daily reciting six hundred verses from different languages.

Spain then sent from Germany the following energetic protest against the action of Germany, in response to which that government to-day telegraphed a reply explaining that its action had been animated altogether by friendly motives, and that Germany regarded the affair as unworthy of interrupting the ancient amity between the two nations. The reply further explains that Germany, seeing no evidence of Spanish domination in the Carolines, thought the islands had been virtually abandoned to the German government however does not mention whether any of the islands have been actually occupied.

An Escaped Buffalo.

EXEMPTIONS.

THE By-law passed by the Town Council to exempt the property of the Dickson estate along the river from increased taxation for ten years has been referred to a committee for further consideration. We have already referred to the importance of having manufacturing industries located here, and we would advise the committee to deal carefully with the subject. Nothing should be done, which can fairly be avoided, that would injure the prospects of having the Dickson race lined by more factories.

The discussion on the By-law in the Council on Friday evening was animated, but we believe the warmth was largely caused by a misconception on both sides. There are some who oppose exemptions in every case, and they point to the fact that they pay more taxes now than they did some years ago as an argument against exemptions. But if the taxes on any property have increased to any appreciable extent during the past ten years it is owing to the increased value of the property. The rate of taxation in 1875 was 11½ mills, while last year it was 12½ mills, but the aggregate assessment of the town has increased over $600,000 since 1875. We do not think that there is any objection on the part of the Town Council to exempt new industries for a term of years, the only objection being to the terms of the By-law which applied to the Dickson property.

The property included in the By-law lies along the river between the "Dominion Mills" Martyn's old mill, on the north and Mr. E. B. Wilson's woolen factory on the south. The property is at present assessed for, in round figures, $60,000. The intention of the By-law is that, if new buildings are erected on this property for manufacturing purposes, or if the factories at present situated upon it are enlarged or improved, the assessment will not be increased, but will remain at $60,000 for ten years. If buildings should be erected on the property for other than manufacturing purposes they are not to be exempted from taxation. We believe that no member of the Council objects to exempting for the period named any new industries which do not compete with factories already established, and the objection urged does not, therefore, apply to the manufacturer mentioned by the Mayor at the Council meeting on Friday night.

One objection urged to the By-law as it stands is that should a manufacturer at present doing business on the race improve his factory or mill his taxes would not be increased, while another whose factory was located in another place would be compelled to pay more taxes if he made a similar improvement. This would, without question, be unfair, and the only way to remove the unfairness would be to exempt improvements made in all factories in the town for a similar term. The merchants and other property owners, however, object to this proposition, and it brought about the suggestion, made at a recent meeting of the Council, that the assessment of the whole town remain as it is for ten years. With our present system of assessment, by which the improvements on property as well as the land upon which they are situated, are taxed, it is very difficult to adjust these things to the satisfaction of all parties. It is also urged against the By-law that if a factory were established upon the Dickson property to compete with a factory now doing business here, it would place the resident manufacturer at a disadvantage, as he would be compelled to pay taxes, while the other would not. There is another point in regard to this By-law that the committee should consider. It is at least open to question whether the exemption can be carried out in the manner provided for. The By-law instructs the assessor or assessors who may be appointed to assess the several properties that the aggregate will amount to $60,000. But the assessors are instructed by statute (a higher authority) to assess all property at its actual cash value, and when they return the roll they have to swear that they have done so. The statute must be obeyed, and the By-law, therefore, cannot be obeyed by the assessors. There is no other way provided in the By-law for giving the exemption effect.

It would undoubtedly have been much better if the Council had considered all these things before passing the By-law, but although it has been passed, it is not too late to amend it or to repeal it and adopt another which would serve the purpose and not cause so much dissatisfaction. Care should be taken, however, not to repeal the By-law without substituting another, as new manufacturers should be encouraged in every way possible. There is no objection to the By-law exempting the stove foundry and the lock factory, and all new industries should receive similar encouragement.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

FLOCKING BACK TO CANADA.

There is no circumstance which we have not seen noticed which is likely to exert an important influence on the future of prices in the cotton goods market. Our cotton mills have recently suffered a great loss in workers. A large percentage of the operatives in these mills, especially in the weaving department, are French Canadians, and, for some reason not wholly explained, there has been within a few weeks a general exodus of these people to Canada. So important is this loss to many of the factories in Lowell, Naabua, Manchester, Newmarket and Norwich that it must result in a considerable restriction of production, and this in turn will lead inevitably to a hardening if not to a sharp advance in prices of cotton goods.—Boston Evening Record.

WHAT THE GAME IS.

The Young Men's Liberal Convention, at Toronto, is announced to be on the 15th and 16th of September. The Bobcaygeon Independent remarks that if the Convention is "guided by old Grits it will not rise above the level of the political pot pourri, and he distinguished for nothing more than howling." The Ottawa Free Press says the new platform prepared for the occasion only embraces two planks which are led by Hon. Mr. Blake. The Toronto News puts the Convention; but the Globe is not very warm towards it. The whole secret appears to be—looking to future leadership.—Newmarket Era (Reform.)

POLITICAL SCANDALS PROMISED.
The Globe has made arrangements which will supply its readers with an unusually good quality of fiction during the coming fall months.—Toronto Globe.

THE NEW KNIGHTS.

It should not be forgotten that Middleton directed the whole North west campaign. The disposition of the whole 4000 or 5000 men in the North west was his; that it was an able disposition, we think, indisputable, and it is for ability that generals are rewarded and promoted. Of course, generals who don't succeed never have ability. As for our Minister of Militia, he displayed vigor, and that was the quality so very much required under the circumstances, that his reward is not out of proportion to his success.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

REFORMERS CHAGRINED.

It is seldom that the repayment of a loan gives offence, but the C.P.R.'s proposal to return to the national treasury five millions of dollars because they do not need the money will be a cause of chagrin in certain quarters. Those who do not regard the ruin of the country as necessary preliminary to our political salvation will gladly congratulate all concerned. To say nothing of the intrinsic value of the money, the fact that our great transcontinental road is in such an unexpected good condition that it has no use for five millions of dollars, must make for the benefit of every interest in the dominion. It will create confidence at home and abroad, and we need not explain what that means. Our political pessimists had better take in their signs. The people will not do business with them, nor with any set of men who attempt to march into office through the gloomy valley of despair.—Toronto World (Indep.)

RIEL OR MIDDLETON.

The Boston Traveller says: "Some of the Canadians wish to hang Riel, the rebel, while others are in favor of sending General Middleton, who captured him, to the scaffold." The latter half of this sentence may be accepted as proof that the Traveller exchanges with some of our papers, one of which is published in Winnipeg, and the other in this city.—Toronto Mail.

TWENTY-FOUR O'CLOCK.

Application of the New Time System to Clocks and Watches.

The pioneers and others who have taken an active and successful part in the introduction of standard time have all along acknowledged that the system of time action now in general use, which divided the day into two parts of twelve hours each, beginning and ending at midday and midnight, is altogether contradictory and confusing, and is cumbersome, because in noting the hours, which are repeated every day, they have to be explained as either ante-meridian or post-meridian. The railway officials have been most alive to this anomalous condition of things, because they have found as great difficulty in making up their time schedules as the public usually have in deciphering them. Railroad men, therefore, would be a unit for the adoption of the twenty-four hour system. At the meeting of the American society of civil engineers on Jan. 21 last, the committee on standard time reported that since the June previous they had communicated with a large number of prominent men in all parts of the country, and found 92 per cent of them decidedly of the opinion that the hours should be counted in a single series, from zero to 24. Replies from railway officials representing over 50,000 miles of road were also received favoring the change. The telegraph interests were also reported to be in full sympathy with the new system, and the president of the Western Union telegraph company was given authority for the statement that, besides reducing the number of errors, fully 150,000 letters would be saved annually in transmission if it were adopted. The proposed change has been widely discussed in this country and in Europe, and in both sections there is to be noted a growing sentiment in its favor.

The 24 hour system, for their special services for a long time, and this year the observatory Greenwich, England, changed their astronomical time from beginning the day at 12 o'clock noon to 12 o'clock night. In other words, the day at that institution begins now at midnight, counts up to 12 o'clock noon, and then forward to 24 o'clock at midnight. One of the practical difficulties of making the change to the proposed 24 hour system is that our time pieces both in mechanism and system of notation are all based on the 12 hour system. Various devices have been suggested to adapt the proposed system to the present style of watches and clocks, all of them more or less ingenious or simple. One of the very best which has so far been shown has recently been patented in this country and Europe, and may therefore be described, though it has not yet been put upon the market. It is so simple, so direct setting, so free from complicated mechanism, and is operated by the main spring, which runs the works, that its advantage and simplicity are at once apparent. It consists of a series of twelve radial plates, running outward from a ring which it surrounds, but do not touch, the ring in which the hour hand is secured, to an outer ring or peripheral band—the first ring representing the hub, the plate, the spokes and the outer ring, the fully or rim of the wheel. Each of the plates carries two oblong blocks, one being very much smaller than the other—small one being about midway between the hub and outer block, and into which four short pins are inserted on the four faces. The outer blocks or disks would resemble dice, only they are oblong. Four of their six sides have on them the Roman numerals and Arabic figures, each kind being on opposite faces, as, for example, the block that comes after the meridian block has the Roman letter I on two sides, and the figure 16 on the two other sides. In the same way the meridian block has XII on two opposite sides and 24 on the other opposite sides. The plates are pivoted and journaled, and rotate in the rings, which are secured on the dial plate. From the barrel which carries the hour hand an arm is made to project outward so as to engage successively with the pins in the plates, which are placed diagonally to the face of the dial thereon, so that when the hour hand traverses half the distance between the hours the pins in which is the plate which has been engaged by the arm is turned one-eighth its diameter, showing at once the Arabic figure departing and the Roman numeral coming in, or vice versa, as the case may be. When the dial is fully turned, it is kept in place, with its face flush with the face of the clock, and can be made to fit so closely as to appear of a piece with the same. The arm which operates to turn the dial can be placed at any point so as to allow three or more figures preceding the one nearest the hour hand to retain their identity, and thus the procession of Roman figures for twelve hours, followed automatically by a like procession of Arabic figures like the succession of twelve hours—the two sets taking their places in orderly and unvarying succession—presents to the eye, in its simplest and clearest expressions, precisely the information needed at any hour of the day or night. The power required to turn one of the plates one quarter around during one hour is so infinitesimal as not to interfere with the ordinary adjustment of any watch or clock. The invention, when applied to an ordinary timepiece, does not change the mechanism or the general appearance of the whole. The name adopted for this new departure in time notation is the international timepiece dial, which appears to be an appropriate name for it, and it is evidently well adapted for use in all civilized countries in the world, even before the general adoption of the common sense system of counting the hours of the day consecutively to the end, instead of the present anomalous system.

A Commander Lowers the Record.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The great Cunard steamship Eturia has lowered the ocean record to six days and five hours, beating the Oregon's record by five hours. She sailed from Queenstown Sunday last at 4.30 p.m., and arrived at Sandy Hook at 4 p.m. to-day. No less remarkable was her trip from this port to Fastnet light, which was made in six days, five hours and thirty-five minutes. The estimated distance from Queenstown to this port is 3,300 miles. A ship making the passage in six days and five hours must steam over twenty-two miles per hour in all kinds of weather.

A NEWSPAPER THEFT.

The Herring of the Owner and the Theft of the Thief.

Probably nothing so annoying to the man who is accustomed to reading the newspaper before going to business in the morning as to find upon opening the hall door that the paper is not there. The first impulse is to blame the carrier for tardiness, but when he ascertains that his next door neighbor's paper was delivered all right he sensibly concludes that his must have been also, and the suspicion is slowly formed that some one has stolen it. A gentleman well known in electrical circles, living in the west end of the city, found his "Ottawa" "lost to sight" on three successive mornings, and resolved to augment the meek thief's apparent desire for knowledge by a short but rather effective lesson in electrical science. The gentleman connected a strong battery by means of a concealed wire to the wire door mat on the front step, and connected the other pole of the battery to the metal knob of the hall door through which and the panel the carrier always placed the "Ottawa," previously folding it into compact form. These arrangements were completed at night, and the front morning the gentleman announced himself in the hall behind the blinds, where, without being seen, he could watch operations and turn on the electric current at the proper moment. In due time the carrier came along, took one glance at the paper, and, as usual, full, folded it up and put it in the usual place between the panel and the door knob. As soon as he had gone the gentleman slightly opened the door, and by closing it upon the edge of the paper, made it necessary that the thief should catch hold of the knob in order to release the paper. Fortunately for the thief, the rain of the previous night had left everything out of doors very wet, so that the conditions for a good electrical circuit from the battery through the knob, thief and door mat were extremely unfavorable.

The experimenter behind the blinds had to wait nearly an hour before he was rewarded for his trouble; but, as he remarked afterwards, the reward was "full and running over" when it came. Numerous people, good, bad and indifferent looking, passed by, and at last a boy about fifteen years of age walked slowly along, looking cautiously up and down and with a nervous look on his face. Assuming himself that all was serene he opened the front gate, stepped quietly up the walk and onto the wire mat, at the same instant reaching for the paper. Finding it caught in the door, he placed his hand on the knob, intending to quickly turn it and thus release the paper. It was at this point in the proceeding that the experimenter received his reward for his pains, and the boy's pain for his reward. No sooner had the boy's hand closed on the knob than an expression of wrath crept over his face compared to which the "before taking" expression of lookback advertisement is a smile, while the manner in which he had been getting out of it. The last seen of him he was hurriedly running down the street holding his right hand in his left, and looking at it every other moment, probably to see if it was still there. He is a cured newspaper thief, and his fate should be a warning to others.—Ottawa Citizen.

ORIGIN OF "O. K."

Why and How General Jackson Came to Use the Sign.

In the language of the Choctaw Indians one of the most frequently recurring expressions is the emphatic oke, which with an affirmation or denial is concluded. This oke (pronounced with strong accent on the last syllable) is one of the substitutes for the copulative verb to be, which is wanting in Choctaw. Oke, as pronounced in Choctaw, has exactly the same sound as the alphabetic pronunciation of the letters O. K. in English.

The meaning of the expression, as nearly as it can be conveyed in English is: "That is true." "That is all so." A few examples, out of many that might be cited, will show this. "The Choctaw Indians is a good fellow" is expressed in Choctaw as Hatah ap! hama achukmah oke, in which hatah ap! hama means "Indian" (literally man body red), achukmah means "good," and oke is the copulative expression, "it is so." In the Rev. Cyrus Bryington's Choctaw New Testament the first sentence, Matthew v. 13: "Ye are the salt of the earth," is: Gahni in huppi huchukmah oke; literally, "The earth its salt; that is so."

To Gen. Andrew Jackson is attributed the introduction of the Choctaw word into our Anglo-American speech. Before the war of 1812 in voyages up and down the Mississippi and in trading expeditions overland from Mobile, Tenn., to Natchez, through the Choctaw Nation, he was brought into frequent communications with the Choctaws.

General Jackson, as everybody knows, was prone to the use of the most concise and energetic methods of expression. Hearing this emphatic oke so frequently uttered by the Choctaw people, he learned the meaning conveyed by it to the Choctaw mind and appropriated it, out of hand, to his own purposes. From him it passed over to the multitude. This account of the origin of O. K. has been current in the South for years. If not true, it is, to say the least, very probable.

No one who has ever read an autograph letter of General Jackson will easily credit the story that he was in the habit, when he was President of the United States, of endorsing, in katow blinks, applications to office, with the letters O. K., under the belief that these words were the proper initials for "all correct." Jackson was no scholar, but he was not so grossly ignorant of English orthography as to fall into a blunder of that sort. His initials were ordered down with the letters O. K. as a jocular symbol of his favorite Choctaw expression. The story that these letters were seriously intended by him as an abbreviation of all correct was, probably, as Mr. George Bancroft suggests, as a postscript invention of the enemy—to wit, the Whigs—during the hot political contests of the days of the secession.

That the abbreviation O. K. was coined by Jackson himself, and used long years before it passed into current slang, finds curious confirmation in an extract from the court records of Sumner county, Tenn., quoted by Farson in his Life of Jackson, volume 1, p. 134.

"October 6, 1790, Andrew Jackson, Esq., proved a bill of sale from Hugh McGary to Gaspar Manker, for a negro man, which was O. K." [A common western mistake, says Mr. Farson, for O. R., which means Ordered Recorded. Hence, perhaps, the saying O. K.]

It is not more likely that the O. K. of this entry was suggested by Jackson himself, as a brief way of saying, after the Choctaw fashion, that the claim had been legally made out.—American Magazine of History.

Sole Mole's Case.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—J. O. David, of this city, has received a letter from Mr. Fitzpatrick, one of Riel's counsel, informing him that it was probable that Riel's case would not be allowed a hearing before the Manitoba Court of Appeal for the want of a special order, which has been refused. Mr. Fitzpatrick will therefore be forced to convey his case directly to the Privy Council.

ENGLISH LEGENDS.

Some of the Early and Beautiful Traditions of the Motherland.

The stories which circulate through our cities, or in a thickly inhabited neighborhood, even in the country, or find their way into newspaper columns, says Home Chimes, have always in these days, be they ever so strange or startling, a touch of the realistic and prosaic about them. If a ghost makes his or her appearance it is sure to be arrayed in a coat or robe of the most modern cut, and sitting in a railway carriage or hansom cab; if a young lady elopes she does it in the coolest, most matter of fact manner possible, and never forgets to pack up even her tooth brush; the very horrors in the penny dreadful have something that savors of the commonplace in their sensationalism, and generally have for their scene of action a scullery full of dirty dishes, and enlivened by the melodious dripping of a pump, or a market garden peopled with cabbages and gooseberry bushes. The case is, however, very different in the region round about Exmoor, whether we want to connect our modern fairy tale with the legends of the flowers and ferns in the deep lanes; there no respectable ghost would think of showing his nose except arrayed in a winding sheet; there lovers still keep moonlight trysts, and escape the vigilance of too busy parents and maiden aunts by stolen rambles through shadowy woodland paths, where there are none save the birds and the squirrels to peep and watch. Here romance has not yet died out beneath the rule of the conventional or the useful. Here fancy and poetry have not, as yet, quiet fled from the land before the scream of the steam whistle. In a narrow valley among the hills round about Exmoor, there stands a quaint little house, some hundred years old, the home of the most ancient and respectable yeoman families of the district, where ghosts are well known by everyone within ten miles of it to frequent in the most orthodox manner possible. They rush up and down the passages in robes of such stiff brocade and whalebone that it is utterly useless for any one to try to repress in their beds between midnight and dawn; they tramp about the attic in their head and shoes and relate to the tenant though there is a book-case hard by filled with the most racy French novels, and the rarest blossoms of German skepticism; they dance in the large kitchen until the stars are rings again, and the little house is filled with a mysterious harmony that seems to come from a fiddle playing no one knows where, the merriest strains, yet strains that, with all their airy nimbleness, were never played by any barrel organ to-day.

There was a beautiful legendary custom in the west country with regard to Easter Sunday. Early on Easter morning, long before dawn, the couples of Dunkey come forth and are covered with young men, who seemed to come from every quarter of the compass, and to be pressing up to the beacon, as the highest point of the hill is called. The belief was that an unmarried man who came to the sun down from the top of Dunkey that Easter day would be blessed with a run of good luck in his love, in the workshop, or on his farm for the whole of the rest of next year.

Not far from the Bristol channel there stands a handsome old church which has a singular legend connected with its erection. It is said that long ago an ancient hostelry stood where the church now stands, and that one night a funeral party who were conveying the body of a lady for burial in a family vault, she having died far from home, came here to rest on their journey. On their dead lady's hand there was a ring of great value, which had been given her by her husband in the days when they were young, and which she desired might not be removed from her finger even after death. This fact was known to her husband's confidential servant, who had been instructed with the wherewithal of funeral arrangements—his master not intending to meet the end and procession till it got to the place of interment. The man's dishonest greed was excited by the thought of the diamonds in the ring; he stole the diamond from the coffin, and the body had been deposited, and opened the coffin with some tools he brought with him, hoping at once to get possession of the coveted treasure, but the ring could not be got off the cold, stiff finger; so he used a knife to try to remove it. What was his terror when the blood began to flow from the supposed dead hand, and the lady sat up and gazed around her. No record tells what was the ultimate fate of the man; but he was certainly not a member of the funeral party who were conveying the body of a lady for burial in a family vault, she having died far from home, came here to rest on their journey. No record tells what was the ultimate fate of the man; but he was certainly not a member of the funeral party who were conveying the body of a lady for burial in a family vault, she having died far from home, came here to rest on their journey. This fact was known to her husband's confidential servant, who had been instructed with the wherewithal of funeral arrangements—his master not intending to meet the end and procession till it got to the place of interment. TUESDAY, AUGUST 25, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A municipal convention of those in favour of the Scott Act will be held at the Town Hall, Ashburnham, this evening at 8 o'clock. Business organization.

Fishing at Fausch's Point.

Mr. Wm. Deane caught three muskellongs on Monday afternoon inside of one hour. One weighed twenty-five pounds, one twenty-one and a half, and one five and three-quarter pounds.

100 Boys Wanted.

Mr. Ed. Brown, the manager of the Land-down rink, wants 100 boys to carry torches in the grand parade that leaves the Post Office corner this evening at 7.45. Be on hand in time, boys!

The "American Bookmaker."

To the publisher, the printer and the book-binder of both Canada and the United States, Mr. Howard Lockwood has addressed the above new monthly magazine, and they owe him a debt of gratitude for its publication. It comes to us in the form of a neat periodical, well bound, and is a model of typography. Book-binders will be particularly delighted with it, but it should be made a possession of the publisher, printer, paper maker and the other kindred interests. We welcome it to our table and hope it may long continue to come to us.

For a beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNell's window.

Open Air Concerts.

Weather proving favorable, the Wizard Oil Concert Company will be on the market square tonight, giving an open air, vocal and instrumental concert! These entertainments will be continued every night during the week with an entire change of programmes each night! We append the following mention from the Belleville Ontario:

"The concert given by the Wizard Oil Company have been attended by large and enthusiastic audiences. The gentlemen representing this company are unlike the usual travelling companies. They give a fine musical entertainment and conduct themselves as gentlemen."

Do not fail to hear them.

Ward Committees.

A meeting of Scott Act supporters was held on Monday evening at the Y.M.C.A. Hall for the purpose of organizing ward committees for this town. Vice-President Dr. Fife occupied the chair. The attendance was a representative one. Mr. Courtney Fessy, of Toronto, briefly explained the plan to be pursued. Mr. Sawyer, of the Peterborough Business College, was elected town secretary. Four excellent committees of efficient workers were organized. It was announced that two convenient committee rooms had been placed at the disposal of the Scott Act Association by its president, Geo. A. Cox, Esq. They are located in the Business College block, Hunter street. The secretary was instructed to call a special meeting of the ward committees for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. All interested in the promotion of the Act are invited.

Organ Recital.

The coming organ recital, to be given by Prof. J. S. Parker, organist of St. Paul's church, promises to be a musical treat. Prof. Parker will be assisted by his choir and Prof. Hampshire, of St. John's church. The programme is in the printer's hands, and it is certainly one of merit. No. 2 is an anthem composed by Prof. Parker, "Benevolent, Breathe an Evening Blessing." This will be produced for the first time. Arrangements are being made to run out special trains to leave Bethune street station at 6 p.m., and to return at 10.30 a.m. The proceeds are in aid of St. John's Church.

Be Sure to Go.

Miss Churchill, the great elocutionist, and Miss Strong, Canada's finest singer, will be here on Tuesday, September 1st, under the auspices of the Women's Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society of St. John's Church, at Bradburn's opera house. Plan of the hall at Hartley's music store.

To Miss Churchill the poet Longfellow writes:—"Your conception and rendition of 'His Father's Name' is a masterpiece of art. She has a commanding form and great facial expression, fully equal to Charlotte Cushman, and a tragic power scarcely surpassed by that eminent tragedienne."

Of Miss Strong the Boston Times says:—"Miss Marie G. Strong may truly be called 'Forever and Forever,' with her pure, rich contralto voice being supplemented by a most graceful stage presence."

Well Worth Seeing.

The three Russian athletes, Fredericks, Glom and LeVae, appeared before a Peterborough audience on Monday evening in the Leandrow roller rink for the first time. They were advertised as the world's greatest gymnasts, acrobats and athletes, and certainly they have just cause to style themselves this. The audience, although not large as it would have been were it not for the numerous other attractions, was nevertheless very enthusiastic, as was evidenced by the liberal applause that was given the performers at the conclusion of each feat. In the first part the athletes appeared in their great Gladiatorial Roman balancing ladder act, and in the second part in the champion double horizontal bar performance, in both of which acts they fully carried out to the letter all they advertised. They are certainly athletes far above the average, and their performance is both pleasing and decidedly entertaining. Mr. Brown, the energetic manager of the rink, has made arrangements with these three celebrities to appear this evening and again to-morrow evening for the last time, and those who did not attend on Monday evening will find unmitigated pleasure in witnessing the daring and marvellous feats accomplished by these acrobatic wonders if they go this or to-morrow evening. The entertainment is refined and pleasing, the Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance, and altogether the performance is well worthy of public patronage.

HALLELUJAH WEDDING.

A BIG NIGHT IN THE SALVATION ARMY AT PETERBOROUGH.

Staff Radio Married, to Capt. Sarah Chapman—Bredburn's Opera House the scene of the event.

On Monday there was a noticeable stir in Salvation Army circles. The unfamiliar faces of foreign officers and soldiers were frequently seen on the streets. As the day advanced each train brought soldiers or officers. It was Capt. Eddie's wedding day. By the bills which had been posted up it was seen that the wedding was to take place in the Opera House and long before the marching militants with their drums, tambourines, cornets, fife and flags, had reached the hall it was crowded in every part. Ten cents was the admission fee.

On arriving, the soldiers and officers who took part in the procession took places on the platform. Before all were seated a large bouquet was handed up from someone in the audience. It was laid on the table, presumably for the bride. The meeting was opened with prayer by Capt. Macdonald, of Trenton, and Major Combes, of Toronto, took the solo of the chorus "The Midnight Cry." Capt. Eddie then prayed, followed by Capt. Burrell with a song entitled, "I'm Trusting, Dear Jesus, in Thee." Capt. Scott, of Lindsay, or, as Major Combes introduced him, of Lindsay gael, spoke for a short time. Major Combes said in introducing him (pointing his hand familiarly over the captain's cropped hair) that his hair had not yet grown out. His occupation during his stay, the captain said, was divided between that of barber and that of jurymen. In performing the latter functions, the jury had returned a verdict of "died by heart disease," when he was satisfied that it should have been "died by dropsy." However, he was out of the goal, but he would again be willing to go back if it was to serve the good cause. He had been quite happy and contented during his stay. "Under the Blood and the Fire Flag" was sung. Capt. Eddie taking the solo.

"Happy Nancy" was then called on to speak. She made a rattling speech, waxing quite eloquent towards the end. She let the people know in the most emphatic terms that she was as happy as the day was long, and added that if she didn't show it she would indeed be a hypocrite.

"Glorious Tom" was the next to speak. Besides having glory on his back, he had glory in his heart.

Capt. Eddie sang a song, accompanied on the harmonium accompaniment, a small French organ, by Capt. Higgins.

Capt. Macdonald, of Trenton, and Capt. McGhee, of Brudenbury, gave short addresses. Capt. Higgins sang "There's Rest Beyond Jordan."

The Rev. Mr. Davis then said a few words. He was happy to be here to-night at this happy event. It will be remembered that Christ himself delighted to display his power at marriage ceremonies. In his own term of ministry, which had lasted now nearly 30 years, he had joined together many couples in the bonds of matrimony, and somewhere did he get that he did not see smiling husbands and wives that he had joined together. He was thankful to be here to do honor to his friends. Marriage was a holy and delightful ordinance, and he trusted that these two would continue to live good and pure lives throughout the rest of their days. Cardinal Manning had said this down as an undoubted axiom of theology, "All who love God shall be saved." He believed the soldiers of this Army did love God, and that they exerted themselves to increase the Christian Work. He blessed the couple and prayed that the Army might succeed more and more in the good work in which he believed they were employed.

Major Combes then commenced the marriage ceremony by saying that the Army took advantage of every opportunity to advance the interests of the Lord. He did not see why they should not try to lay hold of men and women's hearts at weddings, christenings or burials. He believed in making the most of everything for giving salvation to the world. After asking whether there was anyone present who knew of any just cause, etc., why Wm. Eddie and Sarah Chapman should not be made one, and receiving no affirmative, he read over the vows, repeated by the contracting parties, as follows:—"I call upon those persons present to witness that I take _____ to be my lawful wedded _____ and my continued comrade in this war, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better or for worse, for richer or for poorer, in sickness or in health, to love and to cherish, until death us do part, according to God's holy ordinance, and this I declare upon my honor as a true soldier of Jesus Christ."

Capt. Eddie seemed to enjoy the event immensely. He smiled and looked quite happy, and repeated the words in a cheery and confident tone. When it came to the "for better or for worse" part of the service, he said that he thanked God that it would not be for worse that he was taking Sarah. Major Combes remarked that Capt. Eddie did not seem to be a very bashful young man. Capt. Chapman, however, was not so demonstrative. She repeated the service in a quiet and reverent manner, and at the close the bride was given away by Councillor Douglas, who at the same time acted as groomsmen. Capt. McGhee was the bridesmaid.

While putting on the ring the groom repeated the following after Major Combes:—"I put this ring upon your finger as a continual sign that we are married under the solemn pledge that we have this day given, to love and to fight for God (and die, if necessary, said the groom), in the Salvation Army."

Major Combes then declared the contracting parties to be man and wife, and a volley was fired. After a few more songs the ceremony was over.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

SHORT STOPS.

A telephone message was received this morning from Mr. D. Hoey, stating that the Cobourgs would be in Peterborough on Friday to play against the Peterboroughs. The Cobourgs maintain that they are the de facto champions of the Midland district, they having defeated the Lindseys last season by a long score to a very small one. The Cobourgs and the Peterboroughs have not met as yet, but an exciting and close game will in all likelihood take place in the Riverside on Friday.

The Examiner's employees accept the challenge recently issued by those of the Review, on condition that a date can be agreed on. How would a week from Saturday suit, the game to commence at say 4 o'clock in the afternoon?

The telegraph operators and the bankers, about a week ago, arranged a match. It will be played in the Association grounds on Thursday afternoon. But there was considerable intriguing in getting the nines picked out, in which contest the lightning signers rather got the "bulge" over the bullion dealers. One of the bankers called on O'Neill a day or two ago, and mildly intimated that they would like to have him over to see the game. "Oh! yes," replied "Tip," "I'll be there. I'm an old operator you know." The bankers fled and the fellows in trouble are now thinking of bringing "Cush" down from Hamilton to see them through.

The "Unions" is a new club that has been formed. They are juveniles and they hold forth on the top of the Court House hill. They wish to challenge the Comets, the champions of the north ward.

CHECKER.

ALPH.

The Campbellford club have sent word to the effect that they will be unable to play in Peterborough on Thursday. The second eleven regret that the Campbellfords are unable to come.

The crews in the Association grounds is in excellent condition and is brought into good use every day. Not only do the seniors put in effective work, but the little fellows are putting in steady work. The juniors should again try their hand with the Lakefield lads.

LACROSSE.

ANNUAL PICNIC.

The annual picnic under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club was held to-day at Campbelltown. The Golden Eye led the Wolfe street wharf this morning with a large and jolly party. No doubt they have spent a very pleasant day.

The St. Paul's lacrosse team will be here to-morrow without fail to play the home team.

RACE DURNAN.

Mr. Ward, Conservative, Elected by a Mandate Majority.

By Telephone to the Review.

PORT HOPE, Aug. 25.—The election yesterday for a representative in the House of Commons for East Durham, the seat rendered vacant by the death of Col. Williams, resulted in the election of Mr. H. A. Ward, the Conservative candidate, by a majority of 368. Mr. Ward's majority was as follows: Port Hope, 328; Cavan, 263; Manvers, 268. Hope township gave a majority of 194 for Mr. Preston. After the result was known last night the Conservatives held a torchlight procession, and speeches were delivered.

THE SCOTT ACT.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I saw a list in your paper of lectures on behalf of the Scott Act who propose to hold meetings through the country. I do not see the name of the Hon. Aulley Gray, who did such noble work in Perth and other counties. Will we not have the benefit of his long and varied experience? I am aware that he was stricken with disease at Buffalo a short time ago, and it may be that he has not recovered.

Yours,

Peterborough, Aug. 25, 1886.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Collegiate Institute.
The Collegiate Institute and Public Schools of Peterborough will re-open for the fall term on Monday next, Aug. 31st.

Cheap Fares.
An excursion will be run from Peterborough to Toronto and return on the 27th of August at single fare ($2.40). The tickets will be good to return up to the 29th August.

Funeral.
Mr. Dutober, American consul of Port Hope, paid a visit to town this forenoon. His express mission here was business arrangements with some of our manufacturers. He was accompanied by his son.

The Prohibition.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly north-west and north, the weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Furs.
As orders for new furs are coming in already, I wish to remind my customers and the public in general not to delay the opportunity to bring their furs in early for repairing. As the fur business of a manufacturer differs so very materially from any other trade, the months of November and December are only devoted for making up ordered goods. W. LAC.

The Market.
At the market this morning a fair representation of fall fruit was offered for sale. Apples brought from 50 cents to $1 per bag; crabapples sold for 20 cents per peck; red plums, 40 cents per peck; and blue plums 50 cents per peck. Chickens brought 50 cents per pair; ducks, 60 cents per pair; lamb, 8 cents per pound; eggs, 12 cents per dozen; and butter 20 cents per pound.

For a beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNair's window.

Scott Act.
A meeting for organizing was held in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, on Tuesday evening. It was presided over by Mr. Courtney Fennay, of Toronto. A local committee of about twenty, to canvass the voters and to make preparations for the polling, was appointed. The committee will also have charge of meetings. Mr. W. Wand was elected president of the committee, and Mr. A. Russell was appointed Secretary.

A second Paper in Hastings.
The Hastings Observer is the latest addition to the number of newspapers published in the Province. It is a neat eight-page paper, containing a fair amount of readable reading matter. Mr. H. Morton is the proprietor, and the Observer promises to be independent in politics. If there is room for two papers in Hastings the Observer ought to succeed, but the astronomical publication will hardly be forced to give way if there is not the space required for its twinkling light and the observations of its young rival.

All Arrangements Made.
The readers of the REVIEW will please bear in mind that the great all-rail excursion to the wonderful Falls of Niagara takes place on Thursday next, 27th August, and that all arrangements have been completed for the same. The committee, who have just returned from the Falls, have arranged for an excellent dinner at a greatly reduced price, and they will also be prepared to furnish a lunch on board the train at a trifling cost. This excursion will be the last of the season. All tickets good to stop off in Toronto, and are valid for 3 days. Round trip only $2.50, children half price—See posters. Parties wishing to remain over Sunday at Niagara Falls can do so by paying $1 extra on Monday.

Look at McNair's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

THE MARCELLE O'DETTE AFFAIR.

Mr. James Wedlock Denies the Statements Made in Regard to the Shooting Scrape.

It appears that there is another side to the Marcelle O'Dette shooting scrape, and the statement given by Mr. James Wedlock places the matter in a wholly different light. It will be remembered that, a few days ago, according to Mr. O'Dette's statement, Mr. Wedlock was not only accused of deliberately firing at a company of three persons who were sitting on the river's bank near Fawcett's resort, but more particularly at Mr. O'Dette, but that he was charged with having illegally used a fishing net and with having tried to inveigle persons into the illicit traffic. Mr. Wedlock makes a flat denial of these allegations. He says that he never set a net in his life; that he was always on the best of terms with Mr. O'Dette, and that he was shooting at snipes when a few stray shots struck Mr. O'Dette, who he had not seen at the time of firing. He also states that Mr. O'Dette acknowledged that he was unintentionally hit with the shot. In this, Mr. Wedlock says, Mr. Hill, of Port Hope, will fully bear him out. A circumstance which makes it appear evident that Mr. O'Dette knew that the shooting was accidental is this: Mr. O'Dette was informed, when he applied to lay an information at the Police Court, that as his case was out of the jurisdiction of the town court, he was advised to go to Ashburnham, which is in the county. Mr. O'Dette then stated that he would go to Ashburnham to lay the information. But Mr. Wood, J. P., of Ashburnham, states that no such information has been laid, neither has any application been made for such. If Mr. O'Dette circulated this report merely to raise a temporary excitement, his action is certainly not at all commendable. Mr. Wedlock feels naturally indignant that any such reports should have been published.

Annual Holiday.

The Times staff hold their annual holiday on Thursday by taking a trip to Niagara. No issue of the Morning Times will appear on Friday.

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables, Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, hams and bacon.

A gifted Speaker.

Mrs. Susanah Evans Peck, of New York, acknowledged to be one of the most gifted and cultured platform speakers of the day, will speak in this county all next week, commencing at Lakeside on Monday and here on Friday, 4th September.

Garden Party.

A garden party in aid of the South Ward Sunday School of St. John's Church will be held on Wednesday evening, Aug. 26th, in the grounds of Mr. George Dunlop, south of the Bank of Montreal on Water street. Admittance, 15 cents.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer.	Barometer
9 o'clock.....	54	29.2
1 o'clock.....	56	29.2
3 o'clock.....	57	29.2

A Mass Meeting.

The Scott Act campaign will be formally opened in Peterborough on Monday evening next, August 31st, by a great mass meeting in the Opera House, to be addressed by the famous lecturer, Mr. John A. Nicholls, of Lowell, Mass.

Special Convention.

The Scott Act Committee and those favorable to the measure in North Monaghan are urgently requested to attend a special convention to perfect the township organization, which will be held at the Scott Act Headquarters, Business College Block, Hunter street, Peterborough, on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 29th, at 2 p.m.

New Goods.

First instalment of new goods from Liverpool to Peterborough in 15 days. Fair & VanKryver have received the first shipment of their Fall importations, per S.S. "Montreal," comprising Floor Oil Cloth, Scotch Wincies, French Dress Goods, French Kid Gloves to match and English Rubber Goods in great variety, Mourning Goods, Crapes, etc. Visit the Golden Lion for variety and cheapness.

A New Department.

Dr. Tassie, the Principal of the Collegiate Institute, has decided on introducing, during the fall term, certain branches of study outside of the regular curriculum. In fact the doctor believes in the "sound body, sound mind" maxim, and has made arrangements with the Amateur Athletic Association for the use of the Ashburnham grounds for the purpose of giving the pupils of the Institute an opportunity to learn and take part in, games and sports of different kinds, such as cricket, football, baseball, etc. The pupils will have the right to practice as much as they desire in the morning before nine o'clock and in the evening from four to six o'clock.

Their Arrival.

The St. Paul lacrosse team arrived this morning over the Ontario and Quebec Railway in their special hotel car. The carriage is indeed an elegant one, divided into kitchen, dining room, bedrooms, etc. The dining room is a particularly cozy apartment and the Americanized Canadians who comprise the team seem to fully appreciate the advantages of travelling in this manner. The room is neatly carpeted, hung with mirrors, heated by steam, and well lighted. Electric bells are in connection with the culinary department, so that the knights of the stick may call in their darlings without leaving the table, or if the "grab" doesn't suit, they may ring the Ethiopianians under their august presence and comfortably scold them.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

SHORT STOPS.

The Cobourgs have decided to run an excursion from Cobourg to Peterborough on Friday next, the day of the base ball match between themselves and the Peterboroughs. The excursion will be run over the Cobourg and Peterborough railway to Harwood, and thence by Calcutt's line of steamers. It is probable that a good number of the Cobourgs will be up to see the match.

Mr. Jennings, Station Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, informs us that he has picked out his C. P. R. nine, and is waiting to hear from the G. T. R. ball players, who, it will be remembered, issued a challenge to the former some time ago.

Several of the insurance men were over to the Riverside Park on Tuesday afternoon, getting into trim for the prospective match between themselves and the merchants. Wilson and Morrison would make a good battery.

The Lacrosse Club was defeated on Tuesday by the Metropolitan of Toronto by a score of 8 to 3. The match was played in Lindsay.

The Toronto defeated the London, in London, on Tuesday by a score of 8 to 6.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club are thinking of putting a nine into the field to play against the P. B. R. C.

LIGHTNING VS. BULLION.

The telegraph operators and the bankers play a match in the Association grounds to-morrow afternoon. The following are the names of those who comprise the teams:—

NEVER TAKE A BACK SEAT.

DEAR SIR.—Noticing a challenge in your paper a day or two ago from the employees of Messrs. Fitzgibbon & Stanger's carriage shop, issued to those of Messrs. Porter Bros', carriage works to play a baseball match at an early date, and as the employees of the latter never take a back seat in such matters, I on behalf of my fellow workmen, accept the challenge. We will play the employees of Messrs. Fitzgibbon & Stanger on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 3rd, if the date is convenient. Game to commence at 2 o'clock.

Yours truly,
EMPLOYEE.

LACROSSE.

ANNUAL PICNIC.

The annual picnic under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club was held on Tuesday. About two hundred boarded the Golden Eye and that snug steamer sailed away from the wharf with her load of passengers at about eight o'clock a.m., for Campbelltown. The club could not have picked out a better place to hold their picnic than they did. Besides being convenient to town, Campbelltown has very picturesque surroundings, and those who were down fully appreciated the pleasant and the beautiful scenery, and the dinner in the shade of broad spreading branches. Quite a number also dined on board the Golden Eye. During the afternoon the interest seemed to centre in a baseball match between chosen sides of the club and their friends. The following took part:—M. Giroux, John O'Brien, W. Redhine, W. McDonald, J. Sheehy, J. Begley, F. Mercer, W. Clancy and H. Neil, versus G. Giroux, H. Huxion, C. Rutherford, R. Tierney, J. Hyde, John Brydon, D. Connel, T. Theobald and J. Lynch. Three innings were played, the former nine winning by 22 runs, the score standing 33-11.

The Golden Eye arrived in town early in the evening and all were perfectly satisfied with the way in which the day was spent. The President and the club are to be congratulated on the magnificent success of the picnic.

POINTS.

One of the first twelve assures us that they didn't really mean to make any scrapers off George every time.

The heavy base of the City Band found it somewhat difficult to play base in ball. The two words are spelled much the same, but their meaning, as John says, is not at all alike.

The St. Paul's arrived this morning over the Ontario and Quebec railway, and this afternoon a match is in progress between them and the home twelve.

The Etobicoke, of Brampton, who recently played against the Peterboroughs here, were defeated by the Young Canadians, of Richmond Hill, on Tuesday. The match was played in the Rosedale grounds, Toronto. The Bramptons won the first game in 4 minutes, and the following three were won by the Young Canadians in 11, 6 and 2 minutes respectively.

BINKLEY'S.

ROYAL RUSSIAN ATHLETES.

At the Lansdowne Rink on Tuesday evening the three Royal Russian Athletes gave their second exhibition. The first feat was the wonderful performance on ladders. It is really amazing to see the manner in which this is done. One of the performers is deputed to maintain the balance of the ladders while the other two run rapidly up and down or perform feats on the sides or top. The most daring and difficult feat performed was that of one of the athletes lying across the ladders at the top, face upturned, while another stood upright on his breast and waved the national flag. This feat was particularly loudly applauded. After a fifteen minutes' pause they again occupied the floor and gave an exhibition of the horizontal bar performance. The three are all finely proportioned men, and their performance is in every respect first class.

Canadian Exhibits at Antwerp.
TORONTO, Aug. 25.—The Globe's London cable says:—Although the details of awards to Canadian exhibits at the Antwerp Exhibition are not published till September, it is understood that it has been decided, subject possibly to final revision, to give the following awards: Three diplomas of honor, thirteen gold medals, thirty-one silver medals, thirty-three bronze medals and thirty honorable mentions.

Extensive Flouring Mills Destroyed.
WYOMING, Oct. 24.—About 3 o'clock on Sunday morning fire was seen to be issuing from the roof of Mustard's new flouring mill in this village, and within an hour the whole mill with its valuable machinery was in ruins. The loss is in the neighborhood of $30,000, with an insurance of $11,000, divided as follows: Northern $4000, Royal $3000, Queen's $3000, Economical $2000, Waterloo Mutual $1000. The cause of the fire unknown.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1885.

SYMPATHY FOR REBELS.

ATTRA all the talk there has been concerning who led the charge at Batoche, and all the gush that has been bestowed on Sir Adolphe Caron for his share in putting down the rebellion, there is a deep tinge of irony in the remark attributed to Poundmaker: "You did not catch me. I gave myself up."—London Advertiser.

The Advertiser might as well have said, "After all that has been said about the bravery of the troops and all the gush that has been bestowed on the volunteers, there is a deep tinge," &c. But a great many of the young men who served as volunteers in the campaign have votes, or will have under the new Franchise Act, and the Advertiser, while wishing to say a word for the rebel Indians, did not wish to point its remarks too plainly against the volunteers. At the same time we fail to see the brilliancy of the coloring referred to. Poundmaker had received a severe check from the volunteers. His ally, Riel, had been defeated, and reinforcements were coming to operate against him. He saw that all was lost and asked for terms of capitulation, but he was refused any terms. He surrendered unconditionally to avoid defeat and capture. Poundmaker was able to say "You did not catch me," because he did not wait to be caught. The man who shouted "enough" while his opponent was taking off his coat may not have received a beating, but the onlookers did not consider him the better pugilist.

The Reform press are greatly exercised because duty will be levied on fish exported from Canada to the United States. If the free trade idea that the consumer pays the duty is correct, what difference can it make to the Canadian exporter?—Peterborough Review.

Simply this, that the duty raises the price, checks the consumption and interferes with the natural course of trade. Besides, as the American fishermen have the free use of our fishing grounds by permission of Sir John A. Macdonald, the consumer will purchase from them and so escape the duty.—Brookville Recorder.

Now, let us try to understand the question, as it is stated by the free traders. The United States levies a duty on fish shipped into that country by Canadians. That raises the price. But the Americans can purchase from their own fishermen and thus escape the increase in price the duty would otherwise cause. Very good. Canadians purchased manufactured articles in the United States. The Canadian Parliament increased the duty on these articles. That would raise the price of them. But Canadians can purchase the same articles now from Canadian manufacturers and escape the duty and the increase. The consumer pays no more and the country is benefited. That's protection.

THERE has been much ado about an order in Council passed allowing distillers to sell ten gallons of liquor in Scotch Act counties, and it has been stated that the Government had made a "rift" in the Act. The Ontario, however, the temperance organ edited by the chief Scotch Act organizer, says that the Act is "absolutely unimpaired" by it, and the Montreal Witness contends that the order makes no change in the Act and that it is "quite unimportant."

THE free trade papers are kindly helping the National Policy and favorably advertising Canada by showing that our imports of cattle and the value per head have greatly increased since 1878. The conclusions which they endeavor to wrench from these facts are impotent, and the gratifying facts are made more widely known.

The Saskatoon-Berkeley Railway Plant. It is stated that Sir Andrew Clarke, Inspector General of Fortifications, has now completed his plans for the distribution and use of the railway plant which was intended for the Saskatoon-Berkeley railway. It comprises some 60 miles of rails, sleepers, and fittings of the best manufacture, and has been loaded at the different South Coast ordnance stores in as good condition as when it was sent from this country to Saskatoon. Sir Andrew Clarke considers it necessary, to perfect the defence of the South Coast, that a line of rails should be laid down in the rear of the forts protecting Chatham, Portsmouth (including Hilles and Gosport), and Plymouth. In each of these places the forts are long distances from the water, and they should be connected by railway, so that they could be quickly reinforced in case of emergency, and a supply of provisions provided in case of sustained attack. Sir Andrew has also given instructions that in every case the whole of the railway plant at disposal will thus be utilized, with the exception of a few miles, which will be employed at the new heavy ordnance depot at Lydd to facilitate the transport of men and material over the extensive stretch of sand to the shooting ranges.—London Times.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

"GLOBE" BLACKGUARDISM.

The article in yesterday's Globe, respecting the knighthoods conferred upon the Minister of Militia and General Middleton, is another sign of the decadence of what was once a powerful journal. The smallness of the pattern must be painfully obvious to the leaders of the Grit party. It is a stupid production, destitute of force, truth or ingenuity. The Conservative will ridicule it, the Globe will feel ashamed of it, the volunteers will resent it, and what will the Globe profit by it? Not long ago a similarly vulgar article appeared regarding Sir David Macpherson, and people said that Editor Cameron was away. That gentleman is at the helm when this second uncalled for tirade appears, and is responsible for it. Criticism, severe and cutting; satire, remonstrance, and sarcasm, are effective political weapons. Such articles as those in the Globe have not the redeeming characteristics of political usefulness.—Toronto World (Indep.).

HE COULDN'T STAND IT.

The Toronto Globe refers to the time when "Daniel Webster was getting up his dictionary." No wonder Riel rebelled.—Boston Herald.

A PLUCKED BIRD.

The reform candidate was wrecked in port. Port Hope for the first time in years renounced the errors of Gritism to embrace those of Toryism. To parody a Hibernian ball, Mr. Preston has no cause to feel ashamed of a victory in a Tory constituency, but when the Globe tells him he ought to be proud of the result it asks him to play a peacock's part minus the tail feathers.—Toronto World (Indep.).

REFORMERS AND "WHIGs."

There is a boom in the whig making business. Large numbers of whigs have been ordered by bald old Grits, who intend to pass themselves off as youthful Liberals at the coming convention.—Hamilton Spectator.

RECIPROCITY.

The Toronto Globe says:—"It may be that Sir John Macdonald contemplates such an act of unparalleled treachery towards those who elected him in 1878 and 1883 as would be involved in his entering into a reciprocity treaty with the United States on such terms as those upon which only a treaty can be negotiated." If this is treachery it is just the sort of treachery that the Globe has itself been trying all the time; and moreover it has very often declared that thousands of those who voted for protection did so as a means of forcing reciprocity, and that the Government was guilty of the most culpable negligence in failing to open negotiations with the United States with a view to securing reciprocity. Now, believing that the Government intends to open negotiations, it is apparently trying to make capital among those manufacturers who are opposed to reciprocity.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

ANOTHER N. P. OUTRAGE.

A Brockville Reform paper exposes another N. P. outrage. It appears that a manufacturer was not content with selling at a low price, but he was actually mean enough to offer to supply for the already low figure asked, a larger quantity of goods than was originally contracted for. The Reform paper says comments upon the transaction and says: "We are afraid the N. P. has more to answer for than many imagine."—Toronto Mail.

MORRIS ST. LOUIS.

The fuss made by St. Louis over the man accused of murdering Peller has been surprising to the friends of the country for several days. "What Maxwell was brought back it might have been thought that he was a member of the Young or James gang, as impressive was his reception. Far from regarding him as a probable principal in a particularly cold blooded and atrocious murder, the 'prominent citizens' of St. Louis were only to ready to honor the reception which he forthwith held in the office of the chief police. It has not been said how many ladies sent him flowers, but doubtless the number was considerable, and it is on record that many sympathetic citizens offered him gifts of various values. Why all this should have been done it is difficult to understand. Maxwell is charged with murdering a friend who confided in him; that is to say, he is charged with a crime which could only have been committed by a peculiarly heartless scoundrel. There is no ground whatever for assuming his innocence, for the evidence against him is almost complete and conclusive. Why then should the people of St. Louis—the leading citizens, as has been expressly stated—manifest so deep and conspicuous an interest in this man?—N. Y. Tribune.

THE ADVANCE OF CHOLERA.

Cholera still proceeds in its ravages. The area over which the disease extends is always widening, and the rate of mortality is apparently always on the increase.

In Spain the state of matters seems to be becoming always more deplorable, and in Madrid, Toulon, and other French towns, it is not much better. That this plague will be kept from crossing the Atlantic is a matter of hope, rather than of expectation. The specialists are as much at sea as ever in reference both to its cause and cure. One thing only seems quite certain, and that is that there is an intimate connection between it and filthy habits and surroundings. Other things being as they are, the man or the community that is degraded in habits of life, and filthy in surroundings, is most likely to be scourged by cholera. Clean houses, clean streets properly constructed sewers, pure water, and well cooked food, with clean skin and clean clothes, are the best and most effective protective against this pestilence that walketh at noonday. Medicine and the doctors' skill may do a good deal. We shall never understand the value of them. But without the others mentioned they will avail at best not a jot for much.

It is the same with quite a number of other diseases. Smallpox is certainly not confined to the poor or unclean, but such it finds a specially attractive home, and there it commences its widest and most deadly ravages. The same thing with typhoid and other fevers. In short nature intimates very unmistakably that those who neglect the laws of cleanliness must suffer for their folly, and it is just as well that all should read the lesson in time and profit by it. In this respect we in Toronto have little to boast of. We have filthy places open in abundance, and the Bay especially is becoming every day more and more a perfect sewer of filth, and if efforts are not speedily made to supply an effective remedy by the construction of a great trunk sewer along the front of the city we shall have no ground for wondering how it is that so many are sick and that so many doctors are prosperous. We may say anything if we please, and the authorities may certify that all is right. But the death rate will rise all the more, and the bay by delay will only become more and more an abomination.

Let a universal and enthusiastic crusade be proclaimed against all forms of uncleanliness, and we shall all have healthier, happier and safer lives.—Globe.

Yellow Fever in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 26.—An epidemic of yellow fever is raging in the state of Chiapas, Mexico, on the Guatemalan border. The fever is of a virulent type, destroying entire families.

ESTIMATING DISTANCES.

Valuable Hints to English Soldiers to Measure by Sight.

It constantly happens that men detached from the main body of an army are called upon to determine for themselves their distance from an object to be fired at. Experience abundantly proves that soldiers, by continued practice, may learn to estimate distances up to 800 or 900 yards with considerable accuracy by simple, rapid observation. Every soldier is supposed to have good eyesight; he, therefore, after a little practice in sight estimating, learns the following facts:

At 30 yards the white of man's eye is plainly seen, and the eyes themselves up to 80 yards. At 100 yards all parts of the body are seen distinctly, slight movements are perceptible, and the minute details of the uniforms can be distinguished.

At 150 yards the brass buttons on the blouse can still be separately distinguished. At 200 yards the outlines of the faces are confused, and the rows of brass buttons look like yellow stripes.

At 300 yards the buttons are no longer visible. At 400 yards the face is a mere dot, but remnants of legs and arms are distinct.

At 500 yards details can no longer be distinguished, though the files of a squad, if the light be strong, can be counted.

At 600 yards the men in a squad cannot always be kept up for their individual movements distinguished.

At 1,000 yards a line of men simply resembles a broad belt; the direction of their march can, however, be readily distinguished.

At 1,500 yards infantry can be distinguished from cavalry.

At 2,000 yards a mounted man looks like a mere speck or dot. The estimating drills are first conducted on smooth, level country, and afterwards on rough, broken ground. The above drills are supplemented a little later in the season by skirmish practice, when the soldiers have advanced or retreated on the run, before a line of targets the size of men lying down, kneeling or standing, when they load and fire at a sound of a bugle, depending entirely upon their own judgment as to what distance they happen to be from the objects fired at. It teaches them to be quick and observing, and for most all to depend upon themselves for the manipulation of their sights and the handling of their rifles. The estimating distance drills are usually kept up for two or three weeks, when the soldiers are practiced indoors at aiming, pointing and pulling the trigger.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Who Forgave the Beg.

A remarkable instance of canine sagacity came under the observation of the Alta reporter yesterday. The news gleaner was walking along Post street, pretty well out of the business portion of the city, when he chanced to notice a little child some three years of age at play with an immense Newfoundland dog on the lawn in front of the largest residence. In the rough and tumble sport of the two the child hurt his dumb playmate so that he snarled rabidly at the infant. A lady who stood watching on the porch cried out:—"Nerve, nerve! you shames me to frighten baby! Go away, you bad dog!" Poor Nerve didn't stand away, he sprang towards the screaming child, and off one of the fragrant blossoms, and with many extravagant capers laid it at the feet of the child, and then bounded forthwile the mistress to receive the crown of forgiveness.—San Francisco Alta.

A Swiss Colony.

Dr. Myers, who obtained a grant of 640 acres in the district of Amalinoia for the purpose of forming a Swiss colony for the manufacture of butter and cheese on the cooperative principle, has issued the rules under which the experiment is to be conducted. He has secured two hundred heads of Swiss families who have agreed to join in the venture, and work will be commenced next spring.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the heads off our 5c. Cable Co., and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, painting them off as the genuine "Cable." We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the brands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the "El Padre" cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (15c.) fifteen cent imported cigar and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a musty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine. We do not object to the consumers paying (10c.) ten cents for our (5c.) "Cable" cigars, and (15c.) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c.) cigars; as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when we bring up no us.

Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Modern" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Australian Mail.

The mails for Australia and New Zealand via San Francisco, which had been stopped on Aug. 1st, have been resumed, making the transit more rapid and less expensive.

Organ Recital.

Romer Prof. Parker's organ recital to be held in the School Room of the St. Paul's church this evening. A choice programme has been prepared.

The Prohibition.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly north and north-east, continued fair, cool weather.

The Hub Billiard Parlor.

Mr. Robt. Kelly, the obliging proprietor of the Hub Billiard Parlor (Fletcher's old stand), is doing a splendid business. Robt's tables are in A 1 order, and the boys are taking advantage of them these cool evenings to spend a pleasant hour. Call around and see him in his new stand, Opera House block.

Just received at Turnbull's, one case of Field Wincies in handsome patterns.

Brigade Camp.

We learn that the brigade camp for this district will be held at Kingston this year, from Sept. 14th to 25th. The Peterborough cavalry troop, Prince of Wales Dragoon Guards, will go, but we understand that the Peterborough Rangers will drill at home. The Durham Field Battery will drill at the Kingston camp.

Sunday School Work.

Rev. Jas. McEwan, Secretary of the Provincial Sabbath School Association, will address a meeting of teachers and friends of Sunday School work on Friday evening, August 28th, in the St. Paul's Presbyterian Sunday School room. The chair is to be taken at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends of Sunday School work.

For a beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNell's window.

Painting Up.

The station of the Canadian Pacific Railway here is being generally improved in appearance by the magic touches of the painter, or "pointer," for it is about the same thing. Last winter a spot on the west end of the building was tucked pointed, but for some reason, the whole structure was not treated in a similar manner. During the last few days, however, men have been at work on it and when the painting is complete, the George street station will look exceptionally neat.

A "Pictoreque" Encourager.

A day or two ago the delivering agent for Pictoreque Canada entered a certain store on George street, and asking for the proprietor, healed out of his bag the two latest numbers of the work, intending to serve them on the afore-said proprietor. "These are your numbers," said the agent with suavity. "But I never subscribed for your work," was the reply. "Oh, yes, you did," answered the agent in confident tones. "I have your name down in my book." The merchant asserted in rather emphatic language that he had never had anything to do with the work, while the pertinacious agent stoutly declared the opposite. The result was that Pictoreque Canada was laid on the merchant's shoulder by the agent, and the two numbers having fallen on the floor, they were kicked by the storekeeper under a table near by. The agent left considerably out of humor, and went to his hotel for his book to prove that he was in the right. He again came to the store fortified with his capacious volume. "There," said he, pointing to the list of signatures, "Is that not your name?" "Well, I don't think so, I guess that's my brother's signature." A hasty retreat was at once taken by the crestfallen peddler.

Fresh Oysters at the Depot Restaurant.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served in a carte at all hours.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock	51	29.60
1 o'clock	54	29.60
3 o'clock	55	29.60

When you are in Turnbull's ask to be shown his Plain and Fancy Canton Flannels, the colors are uncommonly handsome.

Look! Look!

The Yacht "Pearl" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Fancher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

The Military Camp.

The Kingston News of Aug. 26th, says:—

"This morning Col. Villiers announced, officially, that the military camp would be held in Kingston. It is probable that it will comprise about ten or eleven hundred men. The maximum number is 1,700, and as the 14th F.W.O.B. and the Midlanders, who were in service recently, and the 4th Troop of Cavalry, will not go into camp, the numbers will be reduced to the figures mentioned."

Be Sure to Go.

Miss Churchill, the great abolitionist, and Miss Strong, Canada's finest singer, will be here on Tuesday, September 1st, under the auspices of the Women's Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society of St. John's Church, at Bradburn's opera house. Plan of the hall at Hartley's music store.

To Miss Churchill the poet Longfellow writes:—"Your conception and rendition of 'Hawthorne's' teaches us that it is harder to find readers than writers. You are full of the spirit of the song."

The Boston Advertiser says:—"Miss Churchill has a powerful voice, well cultivated, and evinces the highest degree of taste and perfection of art. She has a commanding form and great facial expression, fully equal to Charlotte Canning, and a tragic power scarcely surpassed by that eminent tragedienne."

Of Miss Strong the Boston Times says:—"Miss Marie G. Strong sang 'To the Future and Forever,' with fine effect, her pure, rich contralto voice being accompanied by a most graceful stage presence."

To be held at Turnbull's, a case of Ulster cloths, handsome patterns. Mantles and Ulsters well out and made on short notice.

Personal.

Mr. T. O'Connell and Mr. P. J. Dwyer, of Rochester, N. Y., are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. G. R. Van Norman, Jr., travelling passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, is in town to-day.

Mr. John Sherin and wife left by Grand Trunk on Wednesday for Huron, Dakota. Mr. Mr. Sherin goes out to look for land.

Misses Anne and Emma Delaney departed this morning on a week's visit to New York.

Mrs. Douglas Lundy departs on the 5.15 train for Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, of Apley, have gone to New York, Coney Island and Long Branch for a three week's visit.

Mrs. Hurdon and son, of Douro, left this morning on a visit to Chicago.

The Wizard Oil Concerts.

The Wizard Oil men continue to give nightly their free concerts on the market square to large audiences. The concerts are good throughout, and seated on the open air stage, fitted up on top of their large waggon drawn by four spanking Arabian steeds, the performers have rather an odd look. But it is not the express business of these people to provide the public with good singing, etc., but they came here to sell Wizard Oil, a fact which the full voiced lecturer makes known in a very audible and eloquent way, winding up with impressing his crowds of hearers that the wonderful medicine is sold at only a dollar a bottle. The lecturer quotes numerous cases where prominent people of Canada and the United States have been greatly benefited by Wizard Oil. The performers appear on the market square this evening as usual.

Passed Away.

Once more with feelings of deep regret we chronicle the death of one of our Peterborough boys. On Wednesday evening, August 26th, Ernest A. Reid passed peacefully, calmly away, after a long, wearisome illness. Deceased was the only surviving son of Mrs. Wm. F. Reid, his father being one of Douro's first settlers. During his short life of thirty years, he had the respect and esteem of a large circle of friends and acquaintances, won not only by honesty and uprightness, but by his genial, kindly disposition, ever ready with a helping hand and cheerful word. Instead of casting gloom around him. About two years ago his health not being good, he bid good bye to old friends and left for Port Arthur with a hope that the bracing climate and change of air would fully restore his naturally strong constitution, the result proving contrary to his hopes. In June he was brought back to his old home, instead of renewed strength, gradually growing weaker and weaker till the end came and he entered into his long rest, surrounded as the last by the relatives and friends he loved so well. He laid down the cross to wear the crown, sorrow and pain are over, the laborer's task is finished; and

So "God doth his own in safety keep. He giveth his beloved sleep."

Look at McNell's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

LACROSSE.

THREE STRAIGHTS FOR THE PETERBOROUGH.

The lacrosse match played on Wednesday afternoon in the Ashburnham grounds between the St. Pauls, the champions of the United States, and the Peterboroughs was, without doubt, the best that has been played here for a considerable length of time. The St. Pauls were the favorites all along until they took their positions on the field and commenced play, at which time there was a considerable revision of feeling in favor of the home twelve. Several who have been in active practice since the recent disastrous defeat, showed signs of doing better. They did; and chiefly owing to them the match was won.

The following are the names of those composing the teams and their positions:—

ST. PAULS.	PETERBOROUGH.
J. Martin.....Goal.	J. Maynam
O. Sherwood.....Point.	J. Joyal
W. Burns.....Cover Point.	P. Myers
W. Larkin.....Defence Field.	M. Tierney
W. Orr....."....."....."....."	W. Hall
Engine Gibberson....."....."....."....."	R. S. Kelly
Jan. Hughes.....Centre Field.	J. J. Sheehy
P. Castello.....Home Field.	M. Halpin
Geo. Warwick....."....."....."....."	O. Rutherford
Wm. McNaught....."....."....."....."	J. Henderson
D. Mahoney.....2nd Home.	W. Rudkin
Wm. Hughes.....1st Home.	W. J. Scott
J. F. Smith.....Field Captain.	J. Coughlin

At about half past three o'clock the St. Pauls, neatly attired in grey knickerbockers and blue shirts, took up their positions and in a few minutes were followed by the Peterboroughs. The ball was set down between Sheehy's and Hughes' sticks by referee H. LeBrun. Jimmy trundled it out, as a matter of course, and Kelly, who stood out like watching for prey, pounced upon the coveted sphere, and after a semicircular run dropped it in front of the St. Pauls' goal. It was shied out to one side, but Henderson was there and recovered and again dropped it in. But the St. Pauls' defence was strong, and for a second time the ball refused to pass between the sticks, but, on the other hand, went flying up to centre. Again it took another flight and threatened the home goal; but Joyal reached up, secured it, and with one of his long shots, again created a scrimmage directly in front of the St. Pauls' goal. By a random swipe it was sent out side ways from the goal, and, for a moment, the visitors points had a little rest. Halpin, however, who had taken after it accompanied by two or three of the Yankees, scooped it up and returned it among the home fields. Hughes, the centre for the visitors, made a successful reach after it and ran up in dangerous proximity to the home goal, and matters again began to take a serious aspect. But the throw was the best his made, and Myers was there to take it. Percy lodged it safely in his net and then started down field at a 2.40 gait. He made some dexterous dodging, and after reaching centre passed it in to Rutherford. "Kit" took it neatly and gave it Henderson, who sent it through in a twinkling. Time 10½ minutes.

On the second game Sheehy again drew out the ball and it immediately passed to the visitors' goal. Here for a time the ball remained and there was considerable scrimmaging done. If it did pass it scarcely got further than centre. Drop shots were put in again and again, but the St. Pauls point and defence seemed to be impregnable. After about five minutes' play the ball managed to find its way up towards the home defence, and the work was warm in that quarter for some time. For the visitors in this game Hughes and Sherwood did some really pretty play. For the Peterboroughs, Tierney on the defence, and Scott and Rudkin, on home, all worked hard. Tierney put in effective play by relieving his goal several times by long throws, and the latter two, in the fore part of the game, were in the heat of the battle. At length at the end of 32 minutes' play, the ball was in the midst of several of the defence and home men about ten feet from the goal at one side. It rolled out and Henderson, who had been standing on the outskirts, swiped the ball through. But it seems that the game was not yet concluded. About a minute before the ball had passed through, one of the St. Pauls men had claimed a foul, his stick having been knocked out of his hand. After a few minutes' play Henderson got the ball at about centre, and after a brilliant run, drove the ball between the visitors' sticks.

At the first part of the third game it looked as if the Peterboroughs were going to carry it by storm. From the centre's sticks it passed, through the medium of Kelly and Rutherford, to the St. Pauls' defence. Here it stayed for some time. The St. Pauls seemed then to awaken to the danger of their being beaten three straight. They put on a united spirit and played, for a time, in magnificent style. Several times were the Peterborough flags in jeopardy. But this outburst of fine play soon died away, and the ball returned down field. Henderson again carried off honors by passing it through. Time, 13 minutes.

FOOTBALL.

The boys all seem to be at home in the old grounds.

Hall played a stiff game all through the match.

Will the championship be brought back to Peterborough this season? Yes, on one condition. Provided the team put in proper practice.

Rudkin distinguished himself on several occasions during the process of the match, by his quick play and adroit dodging.

Ref. Stevenson took the goal keeper position with credit. He knows just how a ball should be stopped.

BASEBALL.

SHORT STOPS.

The Cobourgs will arrive in town at about noon to-morrow per steamer Golden-Eye. Quite a number of the lovers of the ball game from Cobourg will accompany them up to see the match.

The following are the names of those who will comprise the Peterborough nine, and as will be seen they are all strong men in their respective positions:—

P. J. Sullivan.....Pitcher.
F. J. O'Neill.....Catcher.
W. McNeill.....1st base.
F. Billings.....2nd base.
W. H. Dayman.....Short stop.
C. Rutherford.....3rd base.
A. Campbell.....Centre field.
F. Cameron.....Left field.
J. Callaghan.....Right field.

The Cobourgs are a strong team, in fact, they claim to be the strongest in the Midland district, and if the Peterboroughs succeed in making a close score it will certainly be creditable to them.

Capt. Davidson, of the Councilbluffs nine (our Finances Minister), says that in view of several prospective matches he has decided to take his nine down the river for a week's cruise. While there he will develop their baseball qualities to the best of his ability, and at the end of the week, after steady training, he is confident that his nine will make a creditable show against any of the local celebrities, blacksmiths or otherwise. Professionals, of course, he debars.

The telegraph operators and the bankers are playing in the Association grounds this afternoon.

A game of ball was played at Cobourg on Wednesday between the home team and the Port Hoppers. The Cobourgs won by a score of 50 to 12. The batting of the Cobourgs was terrific.

The Leafs and the Torontos met in the Jarvis street grounds, Toronto, on Wednesday. The Leafs were worsted by 4 runs, the score being 6-2.

The Prims were to have played the Londons on Wednesday, but on account of several of their nine being sick the Prims did not file an appearance. The Londons were awarded the match, 0-9.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.

BULLION VICTORIES.

The ball match which was arranged some time ago between the bankers and telegraph operators was played in the grounds of the Amateur Athletic Association on Thursday afternoon.

As the operators had two of the Peterboroughs on their nine, and also two or three fairly well accustomed to the game, their stock went up.

But when the bankers commenced to bat and almost every other one made a two base hit, the admirers of the lightning men began to entertain some doubts as to the result.

The operators went first to the bat, and by the sharp fielding of their opponents they were retired with only one run to their credit. The bankers came in and made four. The operators made a similar number in their next inning, and the bankers made two in the second inning.

The operators in the third inning again made two runs and then the fun began. The bankers went to the bat and made a clear 14, getting in no fewer than ten after two men were put out.

The operators followed with nine and the bankers, in the fourth inning, pulled up their end with 10. In the fifth inning the operators only got in 3 runs thus giving the game to the bankers by one inning and eight runs.

The following are the names of the team, their positions, and the number of runs made by each player:

BANKERS. OPERATORS.
C. H. Geale p. 2 W. H. Dayman c. 3
F. E. M. Cooper c. 3 T. J. O'Neill c. 3
W. Sabine 1st b. 4 J. Henderson 1st b. 5
A. St. A. Smith 2nd b. 3 T. Spencer 2nd b. 1
M. Hamilton 3rd b. 4 H. W. Kent 3rd b. 3
J. Morris 4th b. 4 W. Dixon s. 2
P. Christie c. f. 2 W. Wood c. f. 2
G. M. Ord c. f. 3 J. McLaughlin 1st b. 2
O. McGill c. f. 3 J. Stimm c. f. 1

SHORT STOPS.
Dixon distinguished himself by making the only home run.

The two base hits were too numerous to count.

Smith made a brilliant catch near second base in the third inning. He ran for a flyer, got it, and was well applauded. He should be put in the field for one of the league sires.

Wood played a reliable centre for the operators.

Stimm needs a little more practice at the bat. He made one good hit, though, a two base.

The bankers now feel jubilant and think of challenging the merchants, who, only about a week ago, gave the lawyers such a raking.

The bartenders of Peterborough wish to challenge the bankers to play a game of baseball at an early date. If the bankers do not accept the challenge it stands good for the bankers.

The insurance men are in steady practice and their match with the merchants is expected to be a close one.

McNEIL'S 25 cent Ties cannot be beat in the Dominion.

HOWWOOD

SHARPS FALL.—On Tuesday morning as Messrs. J. Buck, W. Tucker and J. P. Brown were engaged in getting on the corner on Mr. Thos. Buck's new cement on Belmont street, the scaffold on which they were standing gave away, and the three men fell to the ground.

Mr. Buck escaped unhurt and Mr. Tucker was only slightly injured, but having fallen on the top of a post. He was carried into a neighbor's house and placed under the care of Dr. Ford.

His injuries are said to be very severe.—Register.

A Handsome Sheet.

The Star notices Mr. E. C. Hill's presence in Hastings, where he is giving the Central Exhibition bill, and adds—

"The poster was 'got up' in the Review office, and is a very handsome sheet printed in four colors, and is a credit to the mechanical ability of that office."

CARDWELL ELECTION.

Mon. Mr. White Re-elected by a Greatly Increased Majority.

MONRO MILLS, Aug. 27.—The following are the minorities in the contest held in Cardwell to-day, all the places but three having been heard from:—

	WHITE.	ALLISON.
Bolton	14	7
Albion, No. 3	43	35
Albion, No. 4	60	31
Albion, No. 5	36	31
Charleston	53	35
Ballymore	56	31
Church's Falls	36	31
Belmont	36	31
Caledon, East	36	31
Ferry's School-house	36	31
Lockton	36	31
Acton	36	31
Camella	36	31
Harbaw's	36	31
Palgrave	36	31
Total	585	149

This gives Mr. White a majority of 436, and the three places yet to be heard from will increase it to at least 450. Mr. White's majority at the last election was 341.

THAT RETURNED LOAN.

The C. P. R. Solicitor's Answer to the Globe.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—The Hon. J. J. O. Abbott, the solicitor of the Canadian Pacific railway, in an interview published this evening, gives a convincing answer to the Globe's charges about the return of the five millions to the government. The first mistake the Globe makes, said Mr. Abbott, is in assuming that these bonds are Canadian government ones. They are Canadian Pacific bonds. The set of last session authorized the issuing of $35,000,000 worth of first mortgage bonds of the company. Of these $20,000,000 worth were retained by the government as collateral security. The remainder were placed upon the market and the proceeds devoted to the equipment of the line. As security for the recent loan of $5,000,000 the government retained $8,000,000 worth of bonds. The statement of the Globe that this $8,000,000 worth held by the government had not yet been put on the market is incorrect. The entire $15,000,000 worth have been sold. By the terms of the act the proceeds of $8,000,000 would have to be retained by the government as security for the loan, and to release that amount we will give the government a check on Baring Bank for $5,000,000.

Q. How about the Globe's statement that the additional liabilities to the extent of $5,000,000 on Canada?

A. That is another of the fallacies of the Globe's article. To the argument that because the government's security for its loan is worth $3,000,000 more than its loan it will lose $3,000,000 by taking back its loan and realizing the security, the reply is obvious. The $3,000,000 they belong to us, and the government merely holds them as security for $5,000,000. The case will not affect the government in the slightest degree.

Q. If the government accepted the return of the loan?

A. There will be no difficulty about that. We will give them a check for $5,000,000 on Baring Bank, London, and in that way the loan will be repaid.

MODERN REFORMERS.

THE HON. A. MACKENZIE has returned to the Dominion treasury the $200 extra seasonal allowance which had been sent to him, and says that but for his illness he would have returned it earlier. If Mr. Mackenzie felt that it was not right that the country should be made to pay for the time wasted by Messrs. Mills, Edgar and other lieutenants of the Reform party, and by some of the rank and file who followed their guidance in the absence of the leader, he has adopted a manly and consistent course in refusing to accept it. If he did not oppose the vote in the House, we are quite ready to consider that the same obstacle, namely illness, was the preventing cause.

This is very different from the course of Messrs. Blake, McMillen, et al., who denounce the extra indemnity yet take it and expend it wholly or in part to further their personal and political interests by giving what they own they have not earned, wherever they think it is most likely to influence votes in their favour at the next election. It is also very different from the course of other members of the Opposition, who carefully avoiding any obstruction to this vote in the House, they condemned it elsewhere, and eagerly pocketed the dollars when they came along.

The leader of the Reform party for the moment certainly does not conduct favourably in this matter with the former leader whom he supplanted.

THE readers of the Ottawa Free Press must have been surprised when they read in it the statement that Sir Charles Tupper "demands respect because of his undisputed ability," and their astonishment must have been overwhelming when they saw the Globe stating that Sir John Macdonald was "able." The statements were true enough, but it was surprising to see them in these papers.

WAR FEVER IN SPAIN.

The Military and Naval Strength of Spain and Germany.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Madrid journals are filled every day with warlike leaders and statistics showing the comparative military and naval strength of Spain and Germany. It is admitted that the German army is larger than that of Spain and that the Germans could triumph in Spain if they ever got there, but on the sea, the papers assert, Germany's power is contemptible in comparison with Spain's, and that the Spanish navy could blockade Germany's ports and sweep German commerce from the seas at any moment. The Madrid Journal asserts that an American firm of steamship owners has offered to deliver within three months a squadron of fighting schooners ready for service. The war fever has extended to the Spanish shipping trade, and many merchant steamers are being offered to the Government.

THE NIAGARA PARK.

The Canadian Reservation to be opened to the Public in July.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 26.—A meeting of the Canadian Niagara Falls Park Commission was held to-day. There is every reason to believe that the park will extend from the ferry road, near the new suspension bridge, up to Barning Spring, a distance of two miles, and back to the brow of the bluff, and including Clark hill and Cedar islands and museum. The park and buildings acreage will greatly exceed that of the American reservation, while the cost is not expected to reach more than half. The Commission adjourned this afternoon and will shortly have a preliminary report ready to submit to the Ontario Government. Should the report receive the approval of the Government, the Commission will appraise the property and place the result of their labors before the Ontario Government next session. The Canadian reservation will likely be opened free to the public in July next.

VENGEANCE UPON ENGLAND.

Meeting in Paris Regarding the Pain Affair.

PARIS, August, 26.—A meeting was held to-night with the avowed object of taking action in regard to the death of Olivier Pain. It had been announced that M. Rochefort would preside, but he only appeared for a moment and then hurriedly withdrew. The result was that Socialists occupied the platform and speeches were made denouncing the present order of things generally. The object of the meeting was forgotten until near the close, when motions calling for vengeance upon England were hurriedly put and adopted. The meeting was orderly. The meeting was so crowded that Rochefort was unable to reach the platform. Several speakers denounced England and also the French Cabinet for their treachery in the Pain matter and their colonial policy. A motion was passed censuring the French ministers as accomplices in Pain's murder. A resolution expressing sympathy with the Irish in their struggle for freedom was adopted. Another meeting will be held on Saturday.

WHOLESALE MURDER.

A Terrible Series of Crimes Committed by a Texas-Six People Killed.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 26.—The Daily Minute has the following remarkable series of killings, which parties confirm who arrived here yesterday: Albert Lackie, of Blanco county, an old citizen of extensive connection, had a step daughter living with him whom he seduced several years ago. Lately his own daughter was apparently pregnant and putatively by him. The fact has been disturbing to him, and his connections attributed to him the crime of seducing his daughter. On Monday, between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon Lackie left home, intending, as he said, to go to John Green's place to borrow a sum to pay his debts. Green and his family were away from home. Lackie entered the house and took Green's Winchester rifle, returned to the residence of his brother, Berry Lackie, and shot and killed Berry and his wife. A neighbor, John Nicholson, rode up, and Lackie forced him at the point of his rifle to go with him to Stokes. On arriving at Stokes' house Lackie shot and killed Stokes. At this point Nicholson lost sight of his horse, which was tied at Stokes' door when found. From there Lackie went to his own residence, shot and cut the throat of Mrs. Lackie, the wife of his stepson, who was on a visit; shot and killed Mrs. Stokes, the wife of Stokes, whom he had just come from murdering. After all this bloody work Lackie bled his own daughter and shot and killed her. He attempted to kill his wife, but the cartridges were exhausted and he could not fire another shot, and she escaped. Having failed to catch his wife he cut his own throat. After cutting his throat he mounted a horse and started for Johnson city. He met Thomas Brunsvick, whom he attacked and wounded severely with a knife. Near Johnson city he was arrested when faint and nearly dead. About twenty children are orphaned by this series of crimes.

MORMONS MOBBED.

Utah Missionaries Felled in the Streets of London.

LONDON, August 26.—For some time past several Mormon missionaries have been laboring with great energy in the East End, and have succeeded in making many converts and proselytes in spite of persistent and brutal opposition. Recently there have been reports that these missionaries had been systematically kidnapping handsome young women and shipping them to Utah to be "sealed" to rich and lecherous Mormons. All sorts of stories have been told about the harems kept by the wealthy Mormons, and the indignities inflicted upon the girls who were entrapped into becoming their wives or concubines. These reports have greatly exasperated the east enders, and last night an infuriated mob invaded and took possession of the hall in which the missionaries were speaking. The invaders stormed the platform, smashed most of the furniture in the hall, and made a total wreck of everything on the platform. The seven elders who had been conducting the services fled for their lives. The rioters chased them through the streets, pelting them with brick, and with every sort of missile that could be picked up. Several of the elders were captured and were terribly abused by the mob. Their clothing was torn to shreds, and they were beaten until they were unconscious and almost lifeless. The rioters, evidently believing them dead, fled, and left the Mormons lying naked and bleeding on the pavement, where they were afterward found by the police.

A MIMO BATOCH.—A farmer residing at a short distance from the classic neighborhood of Fraserville, has been bothered for some time back by the village crows, which have a decided preference for a piece of crop of his as a pasture ground. Threats of impounding or shooting were alike useless to prevent their depredations. A few mornings ago the said farmer proceeded to the field with a couple of guns loaded with powder, and commenced a fusillade in their presence, which the owners of the crows took for real business, and a general stampede by women and boys was made for the battle ground, but the bovines had retreated before their arrival, consequently a slash was avoided. A local bard has described the scene—

Some thought it a pity, more thought it fun,
While Bill blazed away with his gatling gun.
It is safe to say a more exciting scene has not transpired for some time in the village.

Two Hundred Dollars Reward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the bands off our 5c. Cable Co., and sell them (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who also put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars, palming them off as the genuine "Cable."

We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who take the bands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the El Padre cigars) in imported cigar boxes, and sell them for a (15c.) fifteen cent imported cigar, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a spurious, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine.

We do not object to the consumers paying (10c.) ten cents for our (10c.) "Cable" cigars, and (15c.) fifteen cents for our "El Padre" (10c.) cigars; as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havana boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us.

Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported.

The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and "Moderns" brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them.

Grant's Tomb.

As the work of leveling the grounds around Grant's tomb goes on, the magnificence of the site becomes more manifest. If the highest point in the grounds is chosen for the permanent monument, many of the best trees will have to be removed in order to give an unobstructed view from the river. If the ground now covered by the Claremont House is selected for the tomb, the view will be unobstructed without any removal of the trees. It is believed that the character of the memorial agreed upon will determine the location of the tomb, and that will probably be left to experts like Mr. Olmstead, Mr. Vaux, and the artists who design and execute the monument.

$500 Reward.

The former proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for years made a standing public offer in all American newspapers of $500 reward, for a case of Catarrh that he could not cure. The present proprietors have renewed this offer. All the druggists sell this Remedy, together with the "Donche," and all other appliances advised to be used in connection with it. No catarrh patient is longer able to say "I cannot be cured." You get $500 in case of failure.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES BENEDICT.

Many of our readers will regret to learn of the death of Mr. James Benedict, of the firm of James Benedict & Son, which occurred last Saturday at his residence in Albany, N. Y., at the advanced age of eighty years and four months. This event reminds us that the pioneer lumbermen of the country are fast passing away. The firm of James Benedict & Son is well known to the lumber trade of Canada and the United States. It has done business in Canada with nearly all the lumbermen of the Bay of Quinte district and other sections of Ontario, including among other well known names in the trade, Mr. Sanford Baker, who for many years owned Baker's Island Mills, Mr. Stinson (deceased), Mr. F. Walbridge, Rev. Henry Uehorn, who built and operated the mills now owned by Gillis Bros. at Brantford, Messrs. Thompson and Miller of Longford, the late J. C. Miller, of Parry Sound, H. McLachlan, of Amherst, the late W. A. Scott of Peterborough, &c. The firm commenced doing business with H. B. Rathbone, Esq., in 1856 and the business relations then established have continued uninterrupted for 29 years. The closest commercial intercourse had endeared the deceased gentleman to many connected with the business founded by Mr. Rathbone, and from all of whom he had succeeded in winning the greatest respect and confidence.

Mr. Benedict, who was of English parentage, was born at Danbury, Conn., and had for his past thirty-one years resided in Albany. He commenced his lumbering operations in a mill which he himself erected on a small stream on his father's farm. He afterwards transferred his operations to the town of N. Y., where for some 15 years he handled the lumber manufactured in that country. In 1864 he went to Albany where he established the house of J. Benedict & Son, which for 3 years has been so signally prosperous. In 1867 he was largely engaged in the tannery business in Sullivan Co., N. Y., erecting what at that time was considered the model tannery of the State. Mr. Benedict was the first lumberman to introduce the delivery of hemlock lumber by the retail lumber yards of New York city. Spruce and pine had before that been exclusively used. He supplied a large amount of timber used in the first construction of the Hudson River Railway and the old New York and Erie Railway. He also furnished the timber used in the construction of the dam on the Croton River which supplies the city of New York with water, and the timber used in the construction of the old water reservoirs of the same city.

Mr. Benedict was an excellent business man, being endowed with great energy and sterling integrity. His business operations were large and conducted on the most conservative principles. For many years previous to his death his failing health compelled him to relinquish his active business pursuits and live a life of comparative retirement. He was a member of the Baptist church, and was very active in the church of his denomination and ever modest and unassuming in his good works as in all his business operations.

At a meeting of the Board of Lumber Dealers of Albany held at the District Chapel, on August 17th, 1885, the following memorial was unanimously adopted:

Again we call together to take proper action in reference to the death of one of our oldest and most prominent members, Mr. James Benedict, the senior partner of J. Benedict & Son, a firm which has been recognized as the largest dealers in the district, and one of the charter members of our organization. His long business experience, his commercial capacity, his unimpaired honesty, and his mature judgment, have made him prominent in our Board, and we would do well if all would emulate his virtues and be prepared, as he was, for the great change which, sooner or later, awaits us.

On motion, the board resolved to attend his funeral as an organization, and that this memorial be published in the daily papers, and that a copy be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

WM. N. FARRIS, Secretary.
HENRY PATTON, Vice President.

On the occasion of his funeral the lumbermen of the city of Albany closed their offices out of respect to his memory. His remains were interred in a beautiful plot which he had purchased in the Rural Cemetery of Albany. He leaves a wife and one son, Ezra G. Benedict, who is also widely known in lumber manufacturing circles.—Deseronto Tribune.

ECONOMICAL STEAM ENGINES.

In selling steam engine attachments and improvements, the man who can demonstrate that his attachment is going to effect a large saving in the party who gets most customers. Unless there is some prospect of a device effecting a saving of from 10 to 50 per cent., few engine owners or steam users will listen to him. There are sometimes curious ways of proving that a saving has been effected. A well known engineering expert once had occasion to examine the engine of a steamer on one of the inland lakes. He found it in a bad shape, and wished to have some repairs done. The owner would not listen to the suggestions till he heard there was a probability of saving 30 per cent. of coal at a small outlay. The cylinder was badly out of round, and the practice was followed of jamming the piston packing in very tight to prevent leakage as far as possible. Owing to this the engine would not move till the boiler had a pressure of 20 pounds of steam. The expert had the cylinder bored out, and put in good steam packing. When that was done and the engine lined up, he had steam raised. So soon as there was ten pounds of steam shown on the gauge, he called the engine to start and the boat out. The owner protested that there was no use trying to start till they had more steam, but the expert insisted that there was steam enough, and the engine was started, and the boat moved out in good shape. The owner was so astonished at the immediate improvement that he paid for the work without any more trial.

The same expert wanted to put a balanced live and some other improvements on a river steamer. The owner did not care to incur the expense, but was brought around by a promise that the engine would make ten more turns. The old valve was leaking badly and was not properly set, besides the engine needed lining up. The expert gave the engine a small overhauling at the time the balanced valve was put in, and had no difficulty in getting the additional ten turns. We believe that in a great many instances it will be found that the inventor expects to get part of his saving through his skill in selections not entirely connected with the device he sells.—Dominion Mechanical and Milling News.

A Brave Lady.

The Marquis de Lancy, a daughter of Banker Hoffman, of New York, had returned from her hunting trip to northern Montana, accompanied by a lady relative, the party being in charge of Vin Smith, a well known frontiersman, who was formerly a scout for General Terry and Miles on the Montana mountains. The lady shot four bears and the scout shot two, who were coming unpleasantly near, and each killed another higher up in the mountains, making eight in all. Smith says the Marquis is an excellent shot, and as fearless as a cowboy.

Then he was in a quandary. He never could keep the Grants in sight if he went on foot through the multitude. Besides it was six miles to the park. A happy idea struck him. Along Twenty-third street was a long row of carriages to be used by the Grants and prominent people who were staying at the hotel. So, quickly, this young, but enterprising journalist threw away his cigar, straightened his hat and walked out. He stood a moment on the steps, and then motioned to the driver of the best looking carriage. John drove up quickly, and the reporter got in.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 28, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Hon. Thos. White.

The news of the triumphant reelection of the Hon. Thos. White gave great satisfaction to his many personal as well as political friends in Peterborough.

The Weather.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock.....	64	29.89
1 o'clock.....	61	29.88
3 o'clock.....	62	29.87

A Comfortable Billiard Parlor.

Since Mr. Robert Kelly has taken charge of the "Hub" Billiard Parlor (Faulcher's old stand, Opera House block), he has had it fitted up in excellent style. The tables, balls and cues are kept in first-class order, and Bob himself is an obliging and painstaking proprietor. The public will find these rooms the best in town. Call and see him.

A Bare Treat.

We understand that the secretary of Ottonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., read at word to-day that in all probability arrangements could be made with Canon Farrar, the noted writer and eloquent English divine of London, England, to stop in Peterborough and deliver a lecture as he was passing through from Montreal to Toronto. If the services of the reverend gentleman can be secured it certainly will be a great treat for our people. We therefore trust that Ottonabee Lodge will be successful in their negotiations.

For a beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNell's window.

Lakeside Regatta.

An arrangement has been made for a double canoe/paddle race between two members of the Peterborough Town Council and two members of the Lakeside Village Council for a prize to the value of $10, the town being represented by Councillors Davidson and Cabill and the village by Councillors Cox and Moore.

As we go to press we learn that the Peterborough representatives have withdrawn, but we are authorized to state that two of the Lakeside council are ready to meet any two councillors either from the town or Ashburnham.

Garden Party.

On Wednesday evening a most pleasant and successful garden party was held in the grounds of Mr. Geo. Dunsford, Water street, which had kindly been given up for the occasion to the ladies of St. John's South Ward Sunday school. In spite of the cold weather there was a large attendance. After enjoying themselves in the grounds, which were illuminated with Chinese lanterns, and enjoying the excellent refreshments provided, a large number of the party accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Dunsford and entered the house, where a pleasant hour was spent in social chat, dancing, etc. The financial proceeds, which go to the fund for building a chapel and school room in the South Ward, amounted to the tidy sum of about $35.

Street Lighting.

For some months there has been constant complaints as to the mode of street lighting in the business portion of the town. The electric lights were put out at 12 o'clock, and from that time till daylight the streets were left in darkness. An effort was made to have the electric lights kept burning all night, but it was found that the cost per lamp would be very high, seeing that the street lamps were not numerous, and although it would cost the Electric Light Company the same amount to keep the machines in operation from twelve o'clock till daylight as it would to keep them running during the fore part of the night. But the business part of the town is to be lighted in as efficient way from midnight till morning and in a way that will not cost a very great amount. Mr. James Stevenson has placed a Lombard lamp of 500 candle power on the corner of Simcoe and George streets, and intends to put up several others on the corner of George and Brock, George and Hunter, and probably in other places. These will be kept burning from midnight until daylight, and no doubt the night police will now find it easier to perform their duties.

Oysters.

Fresh Oysters at the Depot Restaurant.

Look! Look!

The Yacht "Pearl" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Fauscher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

Excursion from Cobourg.

An excursion under the auspices of the Cobourg baseball club arrived in town, per steamer Golden Eye, at about half past twelve o'clock to day. There were about fifty, besides the nine, on board. The match between the home nine and the Cobourgs commenced in the Riverside Park, at half-past two o'clock. As we go to press the game is in progress.

New Good.

First instalment of new goods from Liverpool to Peterborough in 15 days. Fair & Van Every have received the first shipment of their Fall importations, per S. S. "Montreal," comprising Floor Oil Cloths, Scotch Winceys, French Dress Goods, French Kid Gloves to match and English Rubber Goods in great variety, Mourning Goods, Grapes, etc. Visit the Golden Lion for variety and cheapness.

Stand Pipes.

The stand pipes which have been so long urgently needed, are now being put in their places in the convenient points of the street watering circuits. The stand pipes were manufactured at the Central Bridge Works. They stand ten feet, six inches high, three feet higher than the watering carts. The first was put in at the corner of Sherbrooke and George streets on Thursday, and the others will be put in as soon as possible.

Excursion to Niagara.

The excursion to Niagara on Thursday run over the Grand Trunk Railway was a success in every respect. The train, composed of seven coaches, arrived in Peterborough from Millbrook with not many passengers, but at Peterborough, the train was boarded by about one hundred. The number was swelled at Oshawa and Lindsay, and at Markham it was found necessary to attach extra coaches, making about half past twelve with about 500 passengers on board the train. Arrangements had been made at the hotels and various points of interest for low rates to the excursionists. These privileges were fully taken advantage of by the visitors. Many of the excursionists went across to the American side, while the rest remained to enjoy themselves on Canadian ground. The train left at six o'clock homeward bound, and Peterborough was reached at about two o'clock a.m. Most of those who went stayed over, the tickets being good to return until Saturday. Mr. W. H. Robertson had the management of the excursion, and he looked after every detail in a manner that did him credit.

Lakeside Regatta.

The occasion of the celebration, on Tuesday, September 1st, of the tenth anniversary of the incorporation of the village of Lakeside, is one that should not be passed over with neglect. Arrangements have been made for the celebration in Lakeside of such a nature as to ensure a splendid day's enjoyment for the people of the municipality and the friends to whom they are prepared to give a hospitable welcome. Cricket and lacrosse matches and athletic sports in the forenoon, and a grand illumination of the village and river in the evening, make a very attractive programme. To suit the convenience of their Peterborough friends the village authorities have made arrangements with the railway company to run special trains as follows:—From Peterborough at 9 a.m., 12.30 p.m., 6.30 p.m.; from Lakeside at 3.10 p.m., and 10.30 p.m. The City Band will be in attendance. The Lakeside canoeists say that they are determined to retain in the village the prize flags for the sailing races, kindly supplied by the ladies of Lakeside. Our townspeople should not fail to show by their presence in numbers their interest in the prosperity of our sister municipality.

Look at McNell's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

Organ Recital.

The organ recital given by Prof. J. S. Parker in St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening was fairly well attended. The Professor took his seat at the organ at shortly after eight o'clock, with the members of the choir in their places. The following programme was carried out to the satisfaction of all present:—

1. Grand Chorus.....D. Major.....Outburst
2. Anthem.....Bavaria, Breathe an Evening Breeze.....J. S. Parker
3. Fantasia.....F. Major.....Clarke
4. Offertoire.....No. 2.....Lafayette Wily
5. Prelude and Fugue.....B. Major.....J. S. Bach
6. March....."Vienna".....Scottish Chorus

1. Overture.....e. Mariba.....Flute
2. Vocal Solo.....Abide With Me.....J. S. Parker
3. Grand Offertoire.....D. Minor.....Battista
4. Carole.....Francis.....Clarke
5. Anthem.....Vesper Hymn.....Giddie

6. Allegro.....D. Minor.....Archer

Number two in the first part was especially pleasing. It is an anthem composed by Mr. Parker, and that of Thursday evening was its first rendition. The movement is slow and well balanced and the harmony perfect. The one or two loud outbursts, which were particularly well rendered by the choir of some twenty-five voices, serve by the contrast to intensify the low, sweet, plaintive passages following. The production is one of decided merit. "Abide With Me," No. 2 in the second part, was sung by Miss Hamilton. This is also composed by Prof. Parker, and is arranged as a solo and also as a quartette.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Room. Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served at a carte at all hours.

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables, Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, hams and bacon.

"Uncle John."

Mr. Charles Harris, better known as "Uncle John," has pulled up stakes in Peterborough, and informs us that he will leave for Ottawa in the morning. It was rumored that he had been offered a Government appointment in the Northwest to collect the buttons and old clothes worn by Riel, Big Bear, Poundmaker and other Indian celebrities, with the view of presenting them to the talented leader of the Opposition, at Ottawa for his efforts to keep the rebels posted in the movements of our brave volunteers during the rebellion, as well as for the ability he displayed on the Indian classes of the franchise Bill. But "Uncle John" says he would soon such an office; and if Sir John has nothing better for him when he arrives in Ottawa with his family he intends opening out a business on an extensive scale, and conduct a legitimate business that will be a credit to the commercial interests of the flower city of Ottawa. "Uncle John" has no doubt, will carry with him the best wishes of all who knew him during his stay in this town, and who will be pleased to hear that he has gone where his talents will be more thoroughly appreciated and his usefulness have a larger field. "You bet your 'appy life."

Starvation for 17 Days.

About five weeks since Mr. A. C. Barker, residing between L'Amable and Bancroft, lost an ox. It was searched for in every direction, and at last found in an empty barn on a non-resident lot. Some one had cut down the fence and fastened the door without looking inside, and the poor animal was there confined for a period of about seventeen days; at one end of the thresh floor there was a small bedding of pea straw, where a horse had been stabled the previous year—this was all it had to eat, and of course it was totally unprovided with water. When found the ox was a complete skeleton and could scarcely stand. It was at first sparingly supplied with hay and water, and with diligent nursing slowly recovered and now appears to be very little the worse for its long imprisonment.—Bellefleur Intelligence.

Salt in the Nation for Poultry.

There is a prevalent notion that salt causes the feathers of fowls, or perhaps of the feathered tribes in general, to fall out. This, we believe, is well founded. Certainly, excess of this condiment should be avoided. There appears to be some connection between salt and feathers. Feather-eating fowls are often cured of the tendency by adding salt to their food, and a small quantity of fine salt in the food of other birds, or is supposed to promote, the production of the new crop of feathers at molting time. This supposed effect may be simply the loosening of the old feathers. The result, as promulgated of molting, would be the same. Salt is a very important ingredient in the ration of pigeons, and where these birds are confined without it, they are never so thrifty. It is natural then, to conclude, that it is valuable in the food of other birds, and especially for barn door fowls. The earlier old fowls are out of their moult and in full plumage, the sooner will they begin to lay, in the autumn. Pullets usually begin to lay as soon as they are completely plumed as adult fowls. It is worth while, therefore, to encourage molting in every way, giving them exercise, insect food, or fish in their rations, with ground bone, ground oyster shell, and sound grain. A tablespoonful of fine salt in the feed, given daily to a flock of twenty hens, will be a fair allowance. Fowls do not depend upon this for the salt which their bodies and feathers contain, for either the material itself, or the elements of which it is composed, exist to a greater or less extent in almost all the food they eat and the water they drink; and what we do by giving them salt is simply to increase the supply.—American Agriculturist.

No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1885.

THE PUBLIC MEETING.

The Town Council has decided to call a meeting of the ratepayers to obtain their views in reference to the By-law exempting the property of the Dickson Company from increased taxation for ten years. The necessity for holding such a meeting it would be futile to discuss at present, as the motion to call it has been adopted.

We have hopes that some good will result from the meeting. The people of Peterborough are almost unanimously and emphatically in favor of encouraging and assisting new industries. They recognize the importance of securing new manufacturing establishments in any town at any time, and they are aware of special reasons which would make them of more importance to Peterborough at the present time. It is to be hoped, therefore, that this fact will be expressed in such a manner as will leave no room for doubt upon it, for, although the meeting is called to consider one By-law only, exemptions generally will no doubt be introduced into the discussion.

The Town Council, as well as the people whom they represent, are in favor of encouraging new industries. They have shown that by their action in reference to the two manufacturing recently located here, and it was their zeal in that direction that led them into what many ratepayers, and several of themselves as well, consider an indiscretion in passing the Dickson By-law. The Dickson Company wish to secure the location of manufacturing on their property and wish the town to assist them. The Town Council is willing to assist them, but they differ as to how the encouragement should be given.

The Mayor, speaking, we presume, for the Company, does not appear to be willing to accept anything but the By-law which has been passed. The Council (or at least several, if not majority of the members) now believe it advisable to repeal or at least amend that By-law, because they believe it to be too sweeping in its provisions, too indefinite, and to be of doubtful legality. We have pointed out some of the objections urged against the By-law, and also one reason why it is believed to be illegal.

There is another point that it would be well to bear in mind while the By-law is being considered. The Mayor stated that if anyone thought there was a paying speculation in the stock of the company, they could secure stock, and there is therefore a chance of the control of the company changing hands. What others might do should be considered, as well as what the present management would do. The property, according to the By-law passed, is exempt from increased taxation for ten years, and if a manufacturer were to remove from another part of the town to a new building on that property, he would get the benefit of that exemption. If this were done the town would lose the taxes, other property owners would be injured, and no benefit would be derived from the change.

The Company profess to be anxious to secure factories for the town, and we believe they are. The town is anxious that they should succeed, and is willing to assist them. When there is entire accord so far, can they not reach an arrangement that would be mutually satisfactory; an arrangement that would assist the company, and by which the Town Council would feel that it had not left itself open to the charge of being hasty and indiscreet? The Company should consider that it is very doubtful whether the By-law does exempt the property. The assessors may, taking the statute for their guide, as they are bound to do, assess the property at what they consider its actual value, and the taxes will be levied accordingly. Of course, were that the case, and in all probability it would be, another By-law could be passed rectifying the error. But would it not be better to rectify the error now? Why hold to a document which is loose, indefinite, and which may mean nothing?

It is sincerely to be hoped that a satisfactory arrangement will be made. The Dickson Company deserve credit for their enterprise in preparing to increase the value of their property and thus benefit the town. They should be encouraged in that, and it is therefore of the greatest importance to all concerned that the present difficulty should be settled. We hope it will be.

THE HON. THOS. WHITE.

The re-election of the Hon. Thos. White, the new Minister of the Interior in the Canadian Cabinet, on his accepting that office, is another satisfactory evidence that the people appreciate the good government with which they are now favored. Any sign of that Reform reaction of which we have heard so much, is still a thing of the future. It will be said by the Reformers that it was not a party contest and that it has no political reference, but they were quite prepared to state the contrary if the result had been different. As an instance, the Reform organ in the Dominion capital on the day of the election said editorially:—

"The rejection of Mr. White will mean that the Ontario Conservatives have themselves lost confidence in the administration which they placed in power."

The election of Mr. White means conversely that the Conservatives and the majority of the people of Canada have not lost confidence in the administration they placed in power. The new Minister has been elected by a majority greater than in his previous election. No doubt the great mass of the Reformers voted for the result depicted by the Free Press of inflicting a severe blow upon the Macdonald Government, while it would only have been natural if a few Conservatives had yielded to the insidious cry of support for a local candidate. Under such circumstances an increased vote for a member of the Administration is conclusive of the failure of the Opposition to weaken the confidence felt in the Cabinet.

Councillor DAVIDSON, on presenting the statement, said that in view of the town's having derived a considerable amount from indirect methods last year, such as the Ashburnham arrangement, selling fire engine, south reserve lands, etc., no revenue from which would be derived this year, with the exception of Ashburnham and that would be merely nominal, and in view of the fact that a considerable amount had been expended in special grants, it was a matter for congratulation that the rate was so low. When compared with the rates of Port Hope, Lindsay, Cobourg, Belleville and Kingston, the rate was exceedingly low.

The Mayor and several of the Councillors complimented the Chairman of the Finance Committee on his presenting such a full and accurate report, and not only for that but for the very satisfactory statement in regard to the town's standing.

Councillor DAVIDSON acknowledged the compliments briefly.

BY-LAW.

The by-law to authorize the levying of the taxes for the year 1885 was read its several times and passed.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS, That the clerk be authorized to prepare a by-law granting the sum of $100 to the Mechanics Institute for the year 1885.—Carried.

THE EXEMPTION QUESTION.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that he understood that a report was to have been brought in this evening by the special committee in regard to the Dickson estate exemption question. He would like the chairman of that committee to explain why that report was not forthcoming.

Councillor MENZIES, the chairman of the committee, said that he had called the meeting for Wednesday night, but not being able to be present, had asked the members to go on and do the business without him. This they had not done, but he saw no reason why the question should not be dealt with in open Council.

Councillor McCLELLAND said that in his opinion a great injustice had been done to the ratepayers by the passage of the by-law referred to, and he was sorry to learn that the Mayor had used his position to influence the passage of it. He saw many reasons why the by-law should not exist. In addition to the objection that would be done to other manufacturers there was the increasing difficulty to be got over. The assessors had to give a sworn statement that they have assessed all property, exempted by statute, to its full value. They could not do so if the present by-law were not withdrawn.

The Mayor rose and appealed to any member of the Council in regard to whether he had abused his position by advocating the passage of the by-law, or if he had made use of one expression which was not absolutely correct.

Councillor McCLELLAND—You are personally interested, Mr. Mayor, in the passage of that by-law.

The Mayor—Yes; Mr. McClelland, I am. I am also personally interested in the property of the town.

Councillor HARTLEY said that he thought there was a false impression as to what the by-law called for. It did not exempt any property; the town received just as much taxes from the property as it did before. He was inclined to think that a great amount of the dissatisfaction came from the fact that the matter was not understood. For the last twenty years there had been murmurs of discontent among the people because the Dickson water power was being allowed to lie undeveloped. And now a company offers to put up buildings for factories, running the risk of getting tenants for them, and all they ask is that they be not taxed for these buildings, or on any extensions they might make to other buildings, for the term of ten years. If the rate were fixed with factories and the taxable property at the end of ten years was worth $200,000 or $300,000, instead of the present $50,000, he did not think the town would lose any money. But if some encouragement was not held out it was probable that 20 years from this time the value of the property would be just the same as it is now.

Councillor McCLELLAND—How do you propose to get rid of the injustice to others in similar or like circumstances?

Councillor HARTLEY—Show me a case where an injustice is being done.

Councillor McCLELLAND—These new factories will be exempted from taxes for ten years. The people struggling along for years will have to pay taxes.

Councillor HARTLEY—We do not propose to exempt anybody, nor no one is exempted by this by-law. He who wants to pay no taxes on this property had changed hands, he thought every encouragement should be held out for the fully believed that the development of the Dickson water power would have the effect, to a great extent, of making Peterborough a manufacturing town.

The Mayor explained, in reference to what Councillor Hartley had remarked, that the property was virtually in the same hands. He owned only a nominal interest in the Dickson estate and no others but the original heirs and himself were shareholders. As the waterpower was only a part of the property, he did not think that he could be accused of personal motives, for the amount he would realize, even if the scheme were a great success, would be comparatively small.

Councillor McCLELLAND—I have simply expressed the impressions of a large number of ratepayers.

The Mayor—Well, then, if that is the feeling of the ratepayers the best thing that can be done is to hold a public meeting, and let those expressions be heard. If the public think that the by-law does injustice to other ratepayers the sooner the matter is dropped altogether the better. The Company had, he said, intended to increase the capacity of the Dominion mills to 150 barrels of flour per day, and the Clegg mills to 200 per day. Together with Messrs. Dense and Hilliard they were to get a through rate for grain from Duluth to Montreal, with a privilege to stop and grind at Peterborough. There was no arrangement of any kind between the company and the town, and the Clegg mills should not be made. Peterborough had all the facilities for carrying on such a trade, so that they could successfully compete with the large Montreal mills. But of course if no encouragement was held out, the scheme would have to fall through. The by-law exempting the look works and the stove works should also be repealed.

Councillor DOUGLAS pointed out that no one objected to exempting the two latter places. But what was complained against was the exemption of the whole Dickson estate. He was in favour of exemptions for new industries, but he wanted to see what was going to be exempted before a by-law was passed.

Councillor YELLAND said that he did not want to discourage the Dickson Company from developing the water power, but he did not want to do injustice to any of the ratepayers. For instance, if the exemption business were to be extended to all manufacturers, who was going to pay the taxes?

The Mayor explained that everyone would pay the taxes that were paid before. There would be no reduction or exemption, from trouble whatever.

Councillor YELLAND, to get rid of all taxation, advocated giving a bonus to the Dickson Company.

Councillor McNAUGHTON remarked that the whole water privilege had been offered for $100,000 some time ago. It would be a good idea for the town to buy it.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS, That a public meeting be called to discuss the propriety of repealing the passed by-law exempting the Dickson Company from advancement of $50,000 assessment (the present assessment) for ten years and that the clerk advertise that a meeting take place on Friday evening next, September 5th.—Carried.

A motion was passed granting Janitor Beavis a two week holiday and the Council adjourned for one month.

"Why, Brown, how short your coat is," said Jones one day to his friend Brown, who wittily replied: "Yes; but it will be like long before I get another." Some men spend so much for medicines that neither heat nor help them, that new clothes is in their eyes a great state—few and far between. Their Departure.

The Wizard Oil men give their last performance on the market square this evening. During their stay for the past week they gave a series of highly interesting entertainments, so interesting that the square has been filled each night with crowds.

At the Lakeside Tea-Table.

There will be a senior and junior race at the Lakeside Roller Rink to-night, for which a number of entries have already been made. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance and a pleasant evening will be spent by all who attend.

Temperance Lecture.

John A. Nicholls, lecturer for the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance, will, D.V., occupy the pulpit of the Mark St. Methodist Church, Ashburnham, tomorrow (Sunday) evening at 7 o'clock. All are invited to come and hear this eloquent advocate of Temperance. Silver collection at close of sermon.

Winter Coming.

Father Time is quietly making slow but sure strides onward toward the merry (?) winter season. In fact, from the weather we have been having for the past few days, it would not be surprising to see the snow flakes flying at any time. Mr. James Stevenson is making ample preparations for the "gold blasts" and inclemencies of the approaching season, by lying in a big stock of coal. He intends to import four thousand tons altogether, two thousand of which have already arrived and is in his Bethune street shed.

For a beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNeill's window.

Another Open Air Concert.

The Fire Brigade Band gave another of their delightful open air concerts in the Horticultural Garden on Friday evening. Owing to the dampness and coolness of the evening there was not the large number of people present that there would otherwise doubtless have been. Quite a number, however, enjoyed themselves by strolling through the walks. Mr. Miller informs us that now that a suitable place has been provided for the band, he and the members of the Fire Brigade Band will give an open air concert every Friday evening, weather permitting, until the end of the season.

The Market.

The market this morning was very largely attended. Wagons and vehicles of all kinds lined the square in every part on both sides, and the broad sidewalk between was filled to its utmost capacity with busy buyers. Several loads of wheat sold at from 75 to 80 cents per bushel, and oats at 35 cents per bushel. There was no barley nor peas offered. Potatoes sold at 60 and 70 cents per bag; apples at from 75 cents to $1.00 per bag; crabapples at 30 cents per peck; red plums at 40 cents per peck; and blue plums at 50 cents per peck. Chickens sold at 40 cents per pair; ducks at 55 cents per pair; lamb at 8 and 9 cents per pound; mutton at 8 and 9 cents per pound; butter at from 20 to 23 cents per pound, and eggs at 12 cents per dozen.

Personal.

Mr. John A. Nicholls, of Lowell, Mass., the well known temperance lecturer, who speaks in the Opera House on Monday night, has arrived from Toronto.

Mr. B. J. Salisbury, who has been a resident of Peterborough for the last year, and who, during that time, both in business and social circles, has made many warm friends, has, it is to be regretted, been ordered by his medical adviser to spend the winter in the south on account of pulmonary affections. Mr. Salisbury will be succeeded in the proprietorship of the Brown Bookstore by his brother, Mr. W. Salisbury, of Cobourg.

The Rev. I. Towell returned to-day from a few weeks pleasant holidays spent in the Muskoka district.

The Rev. E. H. Dewar, editor of the Christian Guardian, was in town to-day.

Opening of the Schools.

The Collegiate Institute and the Public Schools of the Town of Peterborough will reopen for the full term on Monday next.

Y. M. C. A. Song Service.
Mr. J. W. Bickley, of Cobourg, will take part in the song service at the Y.M.C.A. rooms on Sunday evening at half past eight o'clock.

She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

Fairs.

As orders for new fairs are coming in already, I wish to remind my customers and the public in general not to delay the opportunity to bring their furs in early for repairing. As the fur business of a manufacturer differs so very materially from any other trade, the months of November and December are only devoted to making up ordered goods. W. LACROIX.

A Comfortable Billiard Parlor.

Since Mr. Robert Kelly has taken charge of the "Hub" Billiard Parlor (Funcher's old stand, Opera House block), he has had it fitted up in excellent style. The tables, balls and cues are kept in first-class order, and Bob himself is an obliging and painstaking proprietor. The public will find these rooms the best in town. Call and see him.

New Goods.

First instalment of new goods from Liverpool to Peterborough in 15 days. Fair & VanEvery have received the first shipment of their Fall importations, per S. S. "Montreal," comprising Floor Oil Cloth, Scotch Window, French Dress Goods, French Kid Gloves to match and English Rubber Goods in great variety, Mourning Goods, Crapes, etc. Visit the Golden Lion for variety and cheapness.

Be Sure to Go.

Miss Churchill, the great elocutionist, and Miss Strong, Canada's finest singer, will be here on Tuesday, September 1st, under the auspices of the Women's Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society of St. John's Church, at Bradburn's opera house. Plan of the hall at Hartley's music store.

The Boston advertiser says:—"Miss Churchill has a powerful voice, well cultivated, and of the highest degree of tone and perfection of art. She has a commanding form and great facial expression, fully equal to Charlotte Canning, and a tragic power scarcely surpassed by that eminent tragedienne."

Of Miss Strong the Boston Times says:—"Miss Marie C. Strong sang 'Tillie's' 'Forever and Forever,' with fine effect, her pure, rich contralto voice being supplemented by a most graceful stage presence."

Look at McNeill's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

POINTS.

The Crete and the Riverside, both local teams, play an exhibition game of lacrosse on Tuesday forenoon in Lakeland, on the occasion of the celebration of the centenary of the corporation. There will also be a large number of aquatic events, and a cricket match in connection with the programme of sporting events which will be carried out.

BASKETBALL.

COBBOURG VS. PETERBOROUGH.
An untold game of ball was played in the Riverside Park on Friday afternoon between the Peterboroughs and Cobourgs. The threatening weather had the effect of keeping a large number of people away, who, had the weather been fine, would have been present. As it was, however, a fair number were in attendance and resolutely stood in the drizzling rain to watch the three innings which were played. At the end of this the rain came down so heavily that it was impossible to play the game out any further.

The teams took their positions on the field at shortly after two o'clock, the Cobourgs going first to the bat. Mulhall drove out a good ball to centre and made first base. Wood, the next to bat, gave Dayman a pretty fly to catch, and it was nearly missed. Hargrave retired on strikes, and McDonald went out on a foul catch, and the side retired with Mulhall on third.

Gironx went to bat first for the home side. He hit a ball out about ten feet in front of the home plate and by a sharp run made first just in time. He stole second and third and came home on a pass. Sullivan went to bat on balls and was put out at second while attempting to steal. Campbell was struck out, and Dayman, by tidy fielding on the part of York, was put out at first. It might be here mentioned, that while at the bat Sullivan was hit on the arm by a dead ball, and the bruise being rather severe, the pain prevented him during the rest of the match from picking his best game.

By some heavy hitting and by some rather rank errors, York, Cann, Stevens and Pickering all got in. Mulhall was the only one struck out. Dayman again catching a fly off Wood in a neat manner, and Hayden being put out while trying to steal home.

O'Neill came in and made a safe hit, stole second and when Callaghan batted out the sphere for a base O'Neill took third. Cameron went to the bat, and while waiting for a strike Cal. traversed the ninety feet to second. Cameron took first on balls and the bases were all filled. Methersal, the next to bat, also took base on balls and the bases were all filled. Methersal, the next to bat, also took base on balls and the bases were all filled.

A double play was made here. Gironx was caught out and Cameron was put out on third. Callaghan, however, got home and Methersal reached third base. On a pass ball he came in. Sullivan was caught out by the first baseman.

The visitors now swelled their score to ten. The batting was heavy and the fielding was weak. The play was terribly wild, all who got the ball not seeming to know where or how to throw. This "rattling" the visitors took advantage of and Hargrave, McDonald, Hayden, Cann, Pickering and Hall, all got in before the side were retired.

Peterborough only pulled up by one in the third innings, but had the hard luck of having three on bases when the side retired. Campbell, Callaghan and Galley, all went out on strikes. Dayman succeeded in getting in, with O'Neill, Cameron and Methersal on bases.

MONDAY, AUGUST 31, 1886.

CANADA IN LONDON.
AMONG the valuable services that Sir C. Tupper has rendered Canada in his capacity of High Commissioner has been his success in bringing the produce and manufactures of the Dominion prominently before the people of the Mother Country. He evidently intends to surpass his previous efforts in this direction on the occasion of the great exhibition to be held in the metropolis of the Empire next year. Already he has secured a most spacious and prominent site for the fitting display of the exhibits of this country, and now in his twofold capacity as High Commissioner for Canada and one of the Royal Commissioners for the exhibition, he is actively engaged in securing a satisfactory showing of what Canada can produce. It is with this object that he is now in Canada, for Sir Charles is too energetic not to attend in person to such an important matter. Already his zealous intervention has had good results in various directions, and his successful accomplishment of his purpose is assured. But even so efficient a head cannot do everything, and his efforts should be supported by all who can aid in carrying out this work. At our Central Exhibition to be held this year, a representative of the Dominion Administration will be present to select specimens of our agricultural produce for exhibition in London. This should be another inducement to our farmers to bring samples of the grain that can be grown in this country, for such an advertisement of the locality in the Home Country may have most beneficial results.

It is not only farm produce that is important in this respect. Our rich minerals, and our fine timbers should also be adequately represented. Even in manufacturing industries we have much that we need not be ashamed to show in the chief commercial city of the world.

Canada should do full justice to itself on this occasion; every locality and every individual who can contribute to this end should aid as far as possible, for so will a satisfactory aggregate be obtained.

THE INTERCOLONIAL.

Official Inspection by Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. Mr. Pope and Others.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 29.—The special train conveying Sir Charles Tupper, the Hon. Mr. Pope, acting Minister of Railways, Mr. Schreiber, of the Intercolonial, and Mr. T. R. Jones and party, arrived here late last evening on an official inspection tour. At ten o'clock this morning a large number of prominent citizens of St. John extended a hearty welcome to the party, who expressed themselves fully satisfied with the work of the bridge. There was a large number of visitors present. The party are to leave by special train this afternoon.

SPLIT IN THE SOCIALIST PARTY.

Herr Most Bitterly Denounced as a Traitor and Spy.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—A serious split has occurred in the socialistic organization of this city, and it is likely to disband. Their paper, Der Zukunfft, has been compelled to suspend, and a number of disorderly scenes have been enacted at their meetings. The most recent was when Selig, an agitator from New York, was attacked in the midst of a baroque in which he defended Herr Most. Selig went back to New York with his head swathed in bandages. The trouble originated through jealousy, and there is a bitter feeling here against Most and his friend Herr Koebelin who was formerly editor of Der Zukunfft. Under the new management and in its valditory issue the paper denounces Most as a traitor and spy in the pay of the German government. The article says: "To our great sorrow, one more has to fall a victim to the spy system. Say what you may, Most's paper was responsible for the detection of Lelaka. It furnished the prosecution with all the material needed to secure a conviction. Ten days after its publication a copy of the paper giving the secrets of the order is in the hands of the Secretary of State of Germany. It was sent to him by Most."

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

DOMINION RIFLE MATCHES.

Preparations for the Opening on Monday—Gen. Middleton's Prize.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—The Dominion Rifle Association matches open on Monday at the Rideau ranges, and the arrivals go under canvas to-night. There will be no changes in the character of the targets used. The entries, so far, are 270 for the general matches and 180 for the nursery. All matches must be shot in uniform or multi, according to the character of the match, but no competitor can appear in a non-uniform jacket and militia trousers. Gen. Middleton's prize for a moving target will be shot for by teams of five riflemen. The competitors' meeting takes place on Tuesday morning. General Middleton's prize will be shot for on Thursday, and there will be an exhibition of Gatling gun firing the same day. The first shot in the matches will be fired at nine o'clock on Monday morning.

A CURIOUS SUIT.

Queen Isabella and the Duchess of Montpensier Sued for 5,000,000 Francs.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—A curious suit against Queen Isabella and her sister, the Duchess of Montpensier, has just been heard before the Civil Court. The plaintiffs were the descendants of a Senor Urade, who, in 1822, assisted King Ferdinand VII, of Spain, then in pecuniary and political embarrassments with a sum of 5,000,000 francs or 1,250,000 francs, for his personal use and private purse. The lender was left free to demand reimbursement if he thought fit. He died without having done so, but his family has since suffered a reverse of fortune and claims repayment of the sum from the king's daughters. The royal ladies opposed the demand at first on the ground that the pecuniary assistance to Ferdinand VII was a gift and next that the claim is barred by prescription.

DUBLIN ENJOYS A SCANDAL.

A Judge's Son and a Deputy Lieutenant Horseripped by a Husband.

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—A great sensation has been caused in fashionable circles by the thrashing of an officer and the horseripping of a deputy lieutenant by John Pollock, of Timery, county Galway, well known as high sheriff and owner of estates in Scotland. Some painful domestic differences recently led to Mrs. Pollock leaving her husband and going to Scotland.

Many stories were current here, several of which coupled the names of Captain Barry of the Royal Horse Artillery, son of Lord Justice Barry, and John Albert Blakeney, deputy of Ballinacorney, county Galway. Deputy lieutenant, with that of the erring wife. Pollock threatened to horserip both gentlemen, and this week he came to the Dublin horse show, met Capt. Barry leaving the Killara street club, pulled him off an outside car as he was getting on, and struck him in the face and then on the head with a stick. Friends intervened and separated the combatants. Mr. Pollock called out, "Barry, you know where to find me if you want satisfaction," and drove to a house in Burlington road, where Blakeney was to dine, and waited until Blakeney drove up. Pollock seized hold of him in front of the house and thrashed him soundly with a horserip. The deputy lieutenant belated, but made not the slightest resistance.

THE GOTHENBURG SYSTEM.

How the Liquor Question is Dealt With Under the Above System.

The attempts of Sweden to deal with the liquor question on what is known as the Gothenburg plan, are apparently meeting with considerable success. It is now nearly thirty years since parliamentary enquiry led to the passage of an act conferring upon each Swedish commune, or local government, the right to adopt its own methods for the regulation of the traffic. As the law then stood, every landowner in the country possessed the right to distil Swedish brandy, and as the process involved little expense, places of sale multiplied without number. The brandy, made from potatoes and grain, and containing fifty per cent. of pure alcohol, was exceedingly destructive when taken to excess, and so disastrous were its effects to universal drunkenness of the people, as to threaten a general decadence, both physical and moral. Among the first to act under the permissive rule was the Government of Gothenburg, and out of its experience and labours has grown the plan or institution which, roughly stated, may be said to embody the idea of absolute local control of the sale of intoxicating liquors. Acting on the theory that the excessive use of alcohol is generally the outcome of squalid surroundings and poor food, the first step was to abolish the indiscriminate sale of liquor, and to permit it only in a certain number of restaurants opened by a company. This company, then, organized for the purpose under municipal law, and whose accounts are to be open to public inspection, is the only source from which spirituous, malt or vinous liquors can be obtained in Gothenburg. Moreover, every saloon is an eatinghouse, and the profits are six per cent. on the capital and necessary expenses are applied to the maintenance of public parks, the erection of schools, and providing music and other innocent pleasures for the working people. There are other rules prohibiting the sale of liquor to youths under eighteen or to persons who require several drams in succession, the introduction of music, the running of accounts, etc., all of which are strictly enforced by the managers, upon a penalty of removal. Under these regulations drunkenness in Gothenburg has decreased one half in the last ten years, the low groggeries which infest all cities have disappeared and the number of saloons has been reduced from sixty to twenty-five in a population of 35,000. The latter, too, are all rating houses, in which carefully prepared food is served, and where the labouring classes assemble thrice a day to get their meals. The same experiment has been tried with beneficial results in other localities, notably in the district of Upsala and in Stockholm, where the plan has already been eight years in force. Considerable attention has also been given to it by other countries, and a British parliamentary commission is now on the ground engaged in a thorough examination into its workings. Whether, however, any modification of the system can be made to meet the growing evil either in England or our own land, has yet to be seen.—Interior.

LINDSAY.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT.—The Post says:

—The Sylvester Agricultural Works will show at the industrial exhibition, Toronto, a full line of all the implements manufactured, including the famous Minnesota Chief cut binder. No doubt the exhibit will be a thoroughly creditable one, and if merit counts for anything the usual diplomas will follow.

RETURNED.—Mr. Adam Hudspeeth and Miss Hudspeeth returned by the Parisian, reaching Lindsay on Monday. Mr. Hudspeeth was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Vivian, formerly a resident of this town, but who for some years has been living in Scotland.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

Interview With an English Lumberman—A Favorable Outlook.

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—In an interview to-day Mr. R. M. Cox, member of a well known Liverpool lumber firm, gave a very gratifying account of the condition of the lumber trade, both in England and in this district. He said that the Ottawa lumbermen are doing a more prosperous trade this year than for years past, and on the whole product the prices on an average are from three to four per cent. better than last year. This increase is principally owing to the English demand, which is quite brisk. American prices are a shade less than last year, but the English prices average seven per cent. more, and a larger proportion of lumber has been exported to England, this year than ever before. In alluding to the nature of the exportation to England, Mr. Cox said that the tendency to import sawn lumber, which has prevailed for some years, is now assuming a greater magnitude and this augurs well for the full development of the trade in this locality, and it gives more employment to labor in its manufacture. As the sawn lumber branch of the trade is increasing in percentage of exportation the square and waney is decreasing in the English market.

No Mistake His Son for a Bear.

A case occurred in the Township of Ham by which a young man named Andre Boivert, aged 19, came to his death by the hands of his father, Octave Boivert. The deceased, in company with a young man named Gauthier, went into the woods to pick cherries. While in the woods the young men, named Boivert and Gauthier, also went out for the same purpose and happened to go out in the same direction. Young Boivert on hearing them made a growing noise like that of a bear for the purpose of frightening the boys, who at once ran home and told Mr. Boivert that there was a bear in the woods. Boivert went to the woods with the boys and seeing something black moving about he fired. Young Boivert, who was mortally shot, cried out "Oh, oh," and his companion rushing over to Mr. Boivert, ex. claimed, "You have killed Andre!" The young man never spoke a word and died in four or five minutes. An inquest was held and the jury, after hearing the evidence, returned a verdict of "Accidental death."

Coal Prices Advanced.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company has advanced its selling rates, to take effect September 1. The company will not issue any circular, but posts the following figures with the additional announcement that they are maintained: $2.50 for broken, egg and chestnut, and $2.75 for stove and small stove. This is an advance at Schuylkill Haven of ten cents on stove and twenty cents on egg and chestnut, ten cents lower for broken and egg and twenty cents lower for chestnut than upon June 1, when the last circular was issued.

The following is from J. W. Ptolemy, of Winnipeg, formerly grain buyer for William (Hillsby, Hamilton and Grimsby): "I was for many years much afflicted with Constipation, Biliousness, and ultimately Dyspepsia. I suffered very much and tried many different remedies, which gave me only temporary relief and then I was as bad as ever again. I felt like a new man, and I have enjoyed my health ever since. I commenced taking it February the 17th, 1879. Sold by J. H. McKee."

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, AUGUST 31, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. are holding a regular meeting this afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Faint Tunes.

Geo. Gumprecht is in town. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' store or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's store will be attended to.

Commencing Drill.

The members of the right division of the Durham Field Battery commence drill in the drill shed to-morrow evening, so as to be well up in all the points by the time the 15th of September arrives, when they will take their departure for Kingston to participate in the annual fall drill. The attendance of every member is required.

Towns vs. County.

A picnic will be held in Hazlet's grove, Otton, under the auspices of the ladies of that township, on September 10th. The principal feature of the day will be the contest between the town and county. Miss Begley will represent the town, and Miss Redmond will represent the county. Votes are sold at ten cents each, and the one of the leaders who succeeds in getting the most votes is to be presented with a handsome gold watch. The proceeds will be in aid of St. Peter's Cathedral building fund.

Musical Notes.

At St. John's Church on Sunday evening, the choir sang in a very creditable manner, Hymn No. 198, "O, Jesus, Thou art standing," to the musical composition of Prof. Hampshire, the organist and choir master.

We understand that an organ recital will be given by Prof. Hampshire in St. John's Church in about a fortnight.

In our report of Prof. Parker's organ recital, we inadvertently omitted to mention that Prof. Hampshire played the accompaniments to the anthem and solo in a highly finished manner.

The Wizard Oil Company.

In reference to the letter signed "Rents and Taxes" in Saturday's REVIEW, we find that the writer is astray as to the Wizard Oil Company. They paid a license of $25 for the week and, therefore, certainly contributed very largely for the privilege of doing business in our town for a short time. They have also expended a considerable sum of money in the town for their business expenses, besides, as we are assured on good authority, having largely patronized some of our merchants for their private purchases. They have behaved themselves in a thoroughly business like and exemplary manner in town during their stay.

The Lock Company.

A meeting of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company was held in Mr. Geo. A. Cox's office, George street, on Saturday, for the purpose of electing a President and Directors. Every stockholder was present. The following Directors were elected for the current year: Messrs. J. Brooks, Geo. A. Cox, J. Burnham, Jas. Stevenson, J. Carnegie. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors Mr. James Stevenson was elected President of the Company. The Company starts out with very bright prospects of a successful future. From the encouragement they have received from both the wholesale and the retail trade, it looks as if the Peterborough locks will at once take a prominent place in the Canadian market.

For a Beautiful, cheap Tie, see McNeil's window.

New Business on Hunter Street.

One of the stores on Hunter street, formerly occupied by Darcy's Hotel, is now being overhauled and put into shape for a new floor and lead store, which will be opened next week by Mr. J. W. Brisbane, late of Litchfield. We learn that Mr. Brisbane, who is a gentleman of good business experience and has the reputation of combining energy with foresight, has been favorably impressed with Peterborough, and sees a good opening for this branch of business here. The location which he has secured for his new store is in the very centre of the town, and it should not take very long for him to become known to the public, provided he does not neglect the judicious use of some good printer's ink. His announcement, we believe, will be issued in a few days.

Temperance Sermon.

A temperance sermon, "The Unchained Monster," was given in the Ashburnham Methodist Church last night by Mr. Jas. A. Nicholls.

Smith's Market.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Grapes, Cherries, Oranges, Lemons, Apples, Melons, Garden Raspberries, Currants, Gooseberries and all kinds of green vegetables, Ripe Tomatoes twenty pounds for one dollar. Fresh fish, game and bacon.

Look! Look!

The Yacht "Pearl" will leave Peterborough every morning at 9 o'clock for Funcher's Park, and arrive in town at 5.30 in the evening. She will leave town again at 6.15 for the Point, and will arrive in Peterborough at 10.30. Parties wishing to spend the day and part of the evening at the Point can do so as above.

Mass Meeting To-Night.

Great expectations are held by the Scott Act supporters regarding to-night's public meeting in the Opera House. Mr. Jas. A. Nicholls, the speaker of the evening, is claimed to possess rare oratorical abilities, and to always arouse enthusiasm. The meeting is announced to commence promptly at 8. Discussion and questions have been publicly invited.

New Good.

First instalment of new goods from Liverpool to Peterborough in 15 days. Fair & Van Every have received the first shipment of their Fall importations, per S. S. "Montreal," comprising Floor Oil Cloths, Scotch Winceys, French Dress Goods, French Kid Gloves to match and English Rubber Goods in great variety, Mourning Goods, Crapes, etc. Visit the Golden Lion for variety and cheapness.

To hand at Turnbull's, a line of Under Cloths, handsome patterns. Mantles and Ulsters well cut and made on short notice.

Our Model Town.

The Collingwood Bulletin says: "It was our fortune, good or bad it were hard to say, to light not long since upon a town not much over 100 miles from here. Ten years ago that town was about as large as Collingwood is now; it had one railway, a blasted monopoly which was doing its utmost to kill the town just as the Northern Railway is doing now; and it had no modern improvements of any kind, just as we have not at this present time. To-day the population enough to be declared a city and it has six lines of railway travel, while Collingwood has only three. Yet it has not spent one dollar in bribing railways to come to it and as a consequence it has no debt. It has waterworks, the electric light, gas, and all the other modern improvements which Collingwood has not, and its annual expenditure is just half of ours. The taxation of Collingwood this year will be 22 mills, with a new debt issue equal to three mills more, while this model town pays 12½ mills on the dollar, and has considerable assets, marketable buildings and landed property. This model town is Peterborough."

Personal.

We find in the London (England) Times the following paragraph in relation to the Hon. Cecil Clement Smith, C. B., a nephew of the Rev. V. Clement:—

THE NEW LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF CEYLON.—Mr. Cecil Clement Smith, C. M. G., Administrator and Colonial Secretary of the Straits Settlements, who has been nominated Lieutenant-Governor and Colonial Secretary of the Island of Ceylon, is a son of the Rev. J. Smith, late rector of Buckhurst-hill, Essex, and was born in 1840. He was educated at St. Paul's School, and graduated at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, taking his Bachelor's degree in 1862, and proceeding M. A. in 1868. Mr. Smith was elected student interpreter at Hongkong in 1863, and in 1865 was appointed registrar-general there. He was in the same year nominated acting police magistrate, and in 1867 he was appointed acting colonial secretary. He was elected a member of the Executive Council in 1869, was appointed treasurer in 1871 and was again acting colonial secretary from 1872 to 1875. In 1875 he was appointed British Commissioner to settle certain marine claims at Manila, and he was in the same year made colonial secretary of the Straits Settlements. Mr. Smith, who was nominated a Companion of the Order of the Bath (Civil Division) in 1880, married, in 1869, Teresa, daughter of the late Mr. Arthur Newcomen, of Kirkcaldy-hall, York-shire.

Look at McNeil's north window, and you will see Ties of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

Heavy Campers.

For the past week or ten days a number of Peterborough's popular citizens have been enjoying a pleasant holiday on our back waters, breathing pure, fresh air into their lungs, and otherwise fortifying themselves for a hard fall's work, previous to the approach of winter. At Boeshank Camp, Stony Lake, Messrs. H. LeBrun, who is captain; Andrew McNeil, who fills the office of secretary; Ed. Brown, Alex. Elliott, R. H. Forster and Geo. W. Rubidge, have been enjoying themselves to their hearts' content. On Saturday night their camp was taken by storm. A number of knowing ones from town were bound to pay Capt. Le Brun and his warriors a visit and partake of their hospitality. Those who so unexpectedly broke in on the peaceful slumbers of the knights of the book and line were Messrs. J. J. Daly, H. Phelan, S. Fitzgerald, F. Walsh, (Winnipeg), J. Mitchell, (Winnipeg), F. Dillon, T. Dunn and M. Dunn. Mr. W. H. Bowman, the well known caterer, provided the following menu for Sunday's dinner, and the visitors were invited to partake of what, for camp life, proved an utter surprise for them:—

Menu.
SOUP.—Mock Turtle.
FISH.—Boiled Mackerel and Egg sauce.
BOILED.—Bacon and Boston Beans.
ROAST.—Chicken, ducks, lamb, and mince sauce.

RELISHES.—Rat's pickles, French mustard, Nabob sauce, chow chow, celery, cucumbers.
ENTREES.—Stewed chicken or boiled tongue.
VEGETABLES.—Potatoes, beans, stewed tomatoes, rice pudding and brandy sauce, apple pie, peach tart.

DESSERT.—Apples, Filberts, Almonds, raisins, tea, coffee, cheese.
The campers are expected home this evening, and those who were used in such a princely manner by them are ready to give them a hearty reception on their return.

LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY.

More Improvements—Growing Prettier as it Gets Older.

At the time of writing perhaps the Little Lake Cemetery looks prettier and more picturesque than at any previous time during the season. The flowers, many of which are to be seen in our cemetery, are in full bloom, while the grass is as green as it was two months ago. Mr. Kelly, the superintendent and caretaker, is deserving of credit for the handsome appearance the cemetery presents at the present time. The many walks, roadways and avenues have all been nicely cleaned up, not only in the central portion of the cemetery, but all over the grounds. Mr. Kelly has just completed the laying out of fifteen new sections—burial ground for no less than three hundred graves. The work of improvement is everywhere visible; constant work seems to be necessary so that there should be abundance of choice in the selection of lots.

NEW MONUMENTS.

In every visit made to the cemetery one sees a number of new and handsome monuments of various designs erected to the memory of departed friends. Messrs. Stapleton and Morgan, the agents in Peterborough for the White Bronze Monument Company, of St. Thomas, have just placed in position in the cemetery a massive monument in the lot of the late Andrew Jackson. Mr. Jackson was at one time a thrifty and prosperous tiller of the soil, and emblematical of this honored calling there is the sheaf, plough and chain very prettily designed on the side of the monument. It stands 14 feet high, and will prove an attraction to every one who visits the cemetery.

THE ROADWAY TO THE CEMETERY.

One cannot but notice with regret the daily destruction that is befalling the once wide roadway that leads to the cemetery, caused by the constant washing of the waters of the Little Lake against its shores. It is high time that some one would move in this matter before action will be too late. The road in some places is not wide enough for two vehicles to pass each other, in fact some portions of it is none too wide for one rig to drive over. What the result will be in a very few years, if the evil is not remedied, it is not difficult to conjecture. We understand that the Cemetery Company will proceed without delay to clear up the new grounds lately purchased from Mr. Burnham. On these grounds are a large number of stumps that could or might be utilized to assist in protecting a portion of the shore from the wash of the lake, and if the Town Council would make a move the Company would give them the stumps for the removal of them from off the ground. Years ago, a portion of the roadway was filled in this way, and to-day the beneficial result is plainly to be seen.

Another thing that is badly needed is a sidewalk to the cemetery. This could be managed at a small outlay, and would prove a comfort to the thousands who visit the cemetery every season.

MORTUARY RETURNS.

It is a matter for congratulation to learn that during the present summer there has been a falling off in the number of interments, as compared with other years. Although our population is always growing larger there has been a decrease in the death rate this year. The number of interments for the past eight months this year up to the 30th of August has been 92. During the past twelve months, from 1st Sept., 1884, to date, there has been 147 interments.

From the 1st January, 1884, to the 1st September, 1884, the number of interments was 103, as compared with 92 for the same number of months in 1885.

Doubtless the energetic action of the Medical Health Board and their officers has had a good deal to do with this. According to the cemetery records there has not been a case of fever or contagious disease interred in the cemetery this year up to date. If our Board of Health perseveres in their good work we have good reason to believe that the mortality returns will continue to diminish.

In conclusion, we once more call the attention of the proper authorities to the lamentable state of the cemetery roadway, and trust that the call will not be in vain.

Ladies will find at Turnbull's new Black Cashmere Hosiery, in all sizes and prices.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

Presentation to Mr. H. Charman for his Services in St. John's Sunday School.
On Thursday a presentation was made to Mr. Herbert Charman in acknowledgment of his long and valuable services in connection with the Sunday School of St. John's Church, of which he has acted as superintendent for nearly ten years. The rector on behalf of the teachers and friends of the school, after some appropriate remarks, delivered to Mr. Charman the present, consisting of a silver salver, pitcher, teapot and cream jug. The pitcher bore the following inscription:—"Presented to Mr. Herbert Charman by the teachers of St. John's Sunday School, Peterborough, Aug. 27th, 1885."

In replying, Mr. Charman, after cordial thanks, spoke of his hereditary connection with Sunday School work. In explanation of this we may give the following extract from a recent number of the London (England) Times, in regard to Mr. Ralke, the founder of Sunday Schools, who is an ancestor of Mrs. Charman. His daughter and his niece (Mrs. Charman's grandmother) were the first teachers in the first Sunday School opened in England in the city of Gloucester over a hundred years ago. The following is the paragraph:—

"Robert Ralke, of Gloucester, died April 6th, 1811, aged 76. He was the originator of Sunday Schools, and spent his life in acts of kindness and compassion, promoting education as a source of happiness to his fellow beings, and bestowing his exertions and bounty to benefit the helpless. His statue is to be seen on the Thames embankment in the Gardens opposite Cleopatra's needle."

Already received at Turnbull's, several cases of Flannels, in union all wool, plain and fancy. Inspection invited.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1885.

FREE OR FAIR TRADE.

The publication of the names of the Royal Commissioners to investigate the reasons for the depression of trade in Great Britain, shows how unwarrantable was the refusal of some of the Liberals alone to act upon the commission. The list of those who have consented to serve includes thoroughly representative men in the leading industries and the financial institutions of the country. Some of them are thoroughgoing free traders and with the addition of those who have called away, their views would have been thoroughly represented upon the Commission. It must be remembered that the chief duty of the Commission is to procure evidence as to the causes of the avowed depression, and that even if the majority drew forced conclusions from such evidence, their expression of opinion would be by no means conclusive, but that the majority would be equally free to announce their views.

It is very evident that this singular abstention of some of the inveterate free traders from such an enquiry, betokens their dread of what it would disclose. It has been manifest to close observers that the confidence in so called free trade has been rudely shaken in the only country that has steadily adopted it, and more, that this discontent with their fiscal policy has been rapidly growing. That this feeling should be made public in an authoritative shape, in opposition to the manufactured opinion disseminated by the thoroughly organized Cobden Club, was a thing from which the free traders shrink, and they declined to be a party to facing the light.

Much interest will be felt in the labours of the Royal Commission. The investigation will no doubt be thorough, and it will certainly not be one sided, for many of the Commissioners are fair minded men, whose great object will be to get at the truth, and there are still among them zealous free traders, who will see that their view of the question is adequately presented. It is very desirable that the whole truth should be known—that facts should be presented by which to test mere theory, and these ends seem likely to be secured by this Commission.

CARDWELL.

Now that we have obtained the full returns from the polls at the recent election in Cardwell, the result appears to be more satisfactory than was at first supposed. Both the Hon. Thomas White and the Administration of which he is now a member may well be proud of a manifestation of public approval conveyed in the doubling of a previous very large majority.

It is said, to the credit of Cardwell, that it is a thoroughly Conservative constituency. But this fact shows all the more plainly the hope that the Opposition had formed of a reaction in public opinion sufficient to warrant them in the unusual and factious course of opposing the re-election of a member on his acceptance of office. In this hope they were egregiously disappointed. It will, of course, be said by the Reformers, that the rival candidates was also a Conservative. But it is obvious that a Conservative would not have ventured upon such a course unless he had been assured of the support of the Reform party. As a matter of fact we know that he was so assured by the Reform press, which claimed in advance that his success would be a strong proof of a loss of confidence in the Conservative Administration. And the result has shown that there is no such loss of confidence, but that the Cabinet has by its statesmanlike policy and business-like administration gained an increased popular support since the general election.

Mr. White will take up his portfolio with his hands greatly strengthened by such a magnificent demonstration of the approval of his constituency, and with his great abilities he will add strength to an already strong Administration.

This triumphant re-election of the Hon. Thos. White has incidentally proved of great service to the Dominion by dealing a heavy blow at the evil and unpatriotic practice of appealing to sectional feelings in Dominion politics. Besides being a true son of Ontario, Mr. White is emphatically a "Canadian," and it was rightly felt by his constituents that his personal interest in more than one Province does not disqualify him from being their representative.

A Clerical scandal.

VINNA, Aug. 29.—The people of Poland, in Austro-Hungarian Galicia, are busy with a clerical scandal. The Bishop of that diocese felt himself compelled to call upon one of the priests, who was a candidate for election, to the boundary of clerical property. The priest resented this as an unwarrantable interference with his personal rights and a quarrel resulted. The priest became enraged and put the bishop out of his parsonage, chased him through the streets to his residence and there fell upon him and gave him an unmerciful beating.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

DON'T SEEM TO COUNT.

The Halifax Chronicle asserts that "the days of the Tory Government are numbered." It would be interesting to know their number. Unless the young Liberals do some good during the life of the old Tories, who don't seem to count.—Toronto World (Indep. Ref.)

A CONTRAST.

The Hon. Alexander Mackenzie's return of his extra sessional indemnity of $500 is what might have been expected of the honest old Scotchman. There are others prominent in political life whose personal integrity may have been as unimpeachable, but there are none so absolutely lacking in what may be called worldliness as the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie. His unpretending honesty, by the way, is in strong contrast to that of Mr. McMullen, who in parliament ostentatiously promised his indemnity to his constituents, and when he got home gave them one third of it; it is in strong contrast even to that of Hon. Mr. Blake, who gave all his indemnity to his constituents, and in so doing, as a western paper pointed out, used money to which he disclaimed his own right, to further his own political interests.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

THE RESULT IN EAST DURHAM.

East Durham has repeated its approval of the policy of the Dominion Government.—Port Hope Guide (Reform.)

EXTRACT OF CUCUMBER.

The Globe is a sad and solemn sheet, but it is the cause of much mirth to its contemporaries. Among its latest unseasonable jokes is the assertion that "great was the delight of Mr. White that for a time his friends thought his election doubtful. Mr. White, no doubt, regards the vote of Thursday as a notice to quit Cardwell, and is even now looking all over Quebec for a constituency in which he may take shelter at a general election." This may be accepted as the largest sunbeam ever extracted from a cucumber.—Toronto World (Indep. Ref.)

BUSINESS LIKE DEALINGS.

The $5,000,000 episode serves to set out in a very clear light the fact that Canadian Pacific railway affairs are looking promising, and also the fact that the Government dealings with the company last session were business like. It is almost an unthought of thing that inside of a few weeks a dividend should be able to return an enormous loan simply because his prospects had brightened in the meanwhile.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

IN THE COLD.

Canadian geography gets mangled upon its native hearth stoves as well as in England. The Montreal Herald calls it West Durham, the Stratford Herald calls it South Durham, and the Globe believes it to be North Durham because of the cold day it experienced down there.—Toronto World (Ind. Ref.)

WHAT IS IT?

Turn we now to Mr. Blake's policy. What is it? Who knows? Is there any body who can give a clear and distinct reply when asked what is the Grit policy? Are they for Free trade or Protection? Do they want to finish the Pacific Railway, or to scrub it up short? Do they desire to maintain the confederation, or to see its dissolution? Beyond striving to out Sir John, what do you want? We really don't know. Very well, then, let the Young Men's Liberal Association direct their whole attention to formulating a distinct policy, and defining what are the objects they seek to attain.—Bobasque Independent.

AN IMPOSITION.

"The price of the fourth reader (fifty cents) is extortionate," and if the minister of education wishes to avoid a constant series of attacks upon the publishing monopoly with which the province is to be inflicted for the next ten years, he will be wise to use such pressure as to induce the publisher to decrease the price. The first three readers are illustrated—the fourth is not. The cost of illustrations the mere-t tyro knows is greater than the cost of a page of composition; and yet the difference in price between the illustrated third reader and the non-illustrated fourth reader—(that is not much larger in bulk)—is fifteen cents. It is inferior paper, inferior binding, inferior workmanship throughout. It looks like imposition.—Ottawa Free Press (Indep.)

IMMIGRATION FROM CANADA.

Worthlessness of E. A. Statistics Admitted at Washington.

BUFFALO, Aug. 30.—The Washington Government has practically conceded the point that their statistics relating to immigration from Canada are worthless and have been fraudulent. In yesterday's returns of the immigration for July the following sentences occur:—

"As there is no law of Congress for the collection of statistics of immigration by railway cars and other land vehicles across our frontier, it is found impracticable to enumerate the immigrants by railway, except at the ports of Detroit and Port Huron. The delay in arriving at the train across the river at these points has to some extent facilitated the efforts of collectors, while examining the baggage of passengers, to discriminate between mere passengers and bona fide immigrants, and in a measure enabled them to procure information as to the number and nationality of the latter. The statistics of immigration from the Dominion along the entire frontier being thus rendered very defective, it is deemed best to suspend further publication of these until the subject can be investigated by a special agent of the Treasury for that purpose, and until a more effective system, either by means of law or observation, can be devised for an enumeration which shall be less incomplete and misleading and more worthy of confidence and official publication."

RIVAL TELEGRAPH COMPANIES.

A $7,000,000 Suit Against the Western Union—Cost of Competition.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The Tribune prints a letter to-day to Cyrus W. Field from Robert Stewart, recently general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Company, in which Stewart alleges that the Baltimore and Ohio are losing money at the rate of $50,000 per month in the attempt to maintain competitive telegraphy.

Counsel for the receiver of the Bankers' and Merchants' Telegraph Company has been a suit in the Supreme Court against the Western Union Telegraph Company for $2,000,000 damages, caused by the recent seizure of the plaintiff company's wires by the Western Union.

Yellow Fever.

VERA CRUZ, Aug. 29.—Despite the remarkable cleanliness of the city and the rigid enforcement of sanitary regulations yellow fever is raging with great violence and many deaths are occurring daily. The epidemic has spread to many interior towns and cities and is rightfully fatal. It is also raging with great violence in the large cities of Tehuantepec and Modlan, whose filthy conditions and want of proper sanitary regulations furnish abundant food for the scourge. Wealthy people are fleeing with their families to the higher altitudes.

THE SOUTHERN CYCLONE.

Disasters to Shipping—Loss of Life—Cotton Crop Badly Damaged.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 29.—Capt. Vogel, of the steamer City of Palatka, from Charleston, arrived this morning. He reports passing twenty or thirty large vessels totally damaged, the result of the recent gale. None of them asked for assistance. He found the hull of the Charleston pilot boat, John Stoddard, off the mouth of the North Edisto River, and believes her entire crew were lost. The Ocas, from Charleston, is lost. John's bar is covered with drift stuff from vessels. Reports from the southward show that the Sea Island cotton crop was badly damaged. Some estimates are that the cotton bolls and the cyclone have destroyed three-fourths of the crop. Reports from Georgetown say the rice is seriously injured.

An Improbable Story.

An additional sensation attaches to the Spanish German difficulty by a rumour giving Prince Bismarck's reason for the seizure of the Caroline Islands. The rumour attributes to Germany a determination to obtain possession of Cuba and explains her conduct in seizing the Caroline as a ruse to secure an understanding between the United States and Germany in regard to outlining Spanish possessions, as a result of which Germany would permit the United States to secure the Philippine Islands if the Washington Government would consent to Germany's annexation of Cuba. The story comes from Paris, where it is extensively discussed. The main part of the Spanish press there are furiously indignant. The Telegraph of Berlin, in referring to the matter yesterday, remarks that the beautiful ladies of Cuba will soon be lovely subjects of Emperor William, and is even now looking all over Cuba for a constituency in which he may take shelter at a general election. This may be accepted as the largest sunbeam ever extracted from a cucumber.—Toronto World (Indep. Ref.)

Passenger Train Wrecked by a Bull. McROBERT, Tex., Aug. 28.—Early this morning a passenger train on the Texas and St. Louis railroad ran into a bull. The engine and all the passenger coaches were derailed. Conductor Gordon had his leg badly injured. Mrs. DeHill, an elderly lady, was fatally injured, and several other passengers were more or less hurt.

A shock of earthquakes occurred near Blowing Rock, Caldwell County, N.C. on Thursday. People sitting in their houses were surprised to hear a noise resembling thunder. The shock lasted for several minutes of country. It lasted but a few seconds, but there was a violent rocking. People on the mountains at the time were much frightened and made a hasty descent. There was a similar shock at Elk Mountain, near Asheville, last summer.

The following is an extract from a letter received at the REVIEW office, which speaks for itself:

"Orillia, Aug. 27, 1885.

"We neglected in the press of other duties to acknowledge the receipt of bound volumes of "Picturesque Canada" from your office, in excellent binding. It compares favorably with the work done in Toronto.

"As there are several here with their copies still unbound, you may, if you have any enquiries, refer them to our copy for specimen. One gentleman who has seen our books said he preferred your binding to the Toronto work.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Board of Education.
A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening.

Stock Shipment.
Mr. Wm. Denon shipped over the Grand Trunk Railway this morning a car load of fine cattle for the Montreal market. Mr. Denon has done considerable in the shipping trade this season.

Extensive.
The largest and best stock of Twenty-Five Cent Tea ever brought to Peterborough. See A. McNeil's window.

Mr. J. W. McNeil.
Mr. J. W. McNeil, grain dealer, is at present engaged in having his storehouse enlarged preparatory for the fall trade. A new office will be built on the north end of the building, situated on Charlotte street, and the present office will be converted into storehouse accommodation.

A Big Fish.
While Messrs. J. J. Daly and R. H. Fortye were visiting the Boobich camping party at Stony Lake, they were successful in catching the largest fish that has been caught in these waters this season. They had only been out a short time when "Joe" pulled in a mackinaw, which turned the scales at twenty pounds. How is that for fishing?

McNeil's 25 cent Tea cannot be beat in the Dominion.

Recessary.
Lakeside to day celebrates her tenth birthday. It is just that length of time since she separated from the Township of Douro and assumed municipal government. The pretty, thriving village has grown considerably since that time, and numerous manufacturing industries have been located there. The celebration to-day consists of cricket and lacrosse matches, aquatic events, and a grand illumination in the evening. A special train left this morning at 9.30 and the regular train left at the usual time at noon, together taking about two hundred people from Peterborough.

For a beautiful, cheap Tea, see McNeil's Window.

A Tidy Little Craft.
A representative of the Review and one or two friends enjoyed a short cruise around the Little Lake last night in the new steam yacht "Masappa," built and owned by Mr. Fred. Hall, confectioner, of this town. It was quite an enjoyable sail, and the party were delighted with the novelty of the trip. The "Masappa" balances as steady in the water as a duck, makes excellent time, and responds promptly to her steering apparatus. Her boiler was made by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company of this town, and her engine was supplied by Doty, of Toronto. The hull and almost the whole of the wood work and fittings were done by Mr. Hall himself at leisure moments, and is a credit to his skill and patience.

Look at McNeil's north window, and you will see Tea of every conceivable shape and colour for twenty-five cents.

W. C. T. U.
A regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Monday afternoon. The meeting opened with singing and prayer. Short addresses by Dr. Fife and Mr. Fessy were delivered on the Scott Act. There were 25 members present. A committee composed of the following was appointed to distribute temperance literature:—Ward No. 1—Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. J. Stratton, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Mrs. Mary Sanderson, Mrs. Byrne, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Clarke. Ward No. 3—Mrs. G. A. Cox, Mrs. W. A. Morrow, Mrs. W. Leaser, Mrs. Fraser, Mrs. D. Smart, Mrs. Pettick, Mrs. Bird, Ward No. 4—Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. J. S. Martin, Mrs. Staples, Mrs. Maharry, Mrs. M. Richardson. Members of the committee will meet on Monday, September 7th, at 3.30 o'clock, in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, to arrange for division of territory.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

BASEBALL.
REGULAR MEETING.
A regular meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club was held at the Commercial House on Monday evening. President Calcutt occupied the chair. The resignations of Messrs. R. Reeves Manager, and R. J. Salisbury, Vice President, were accepted, and Messrs. R. Reeves and J. F. O'Neil were elected to the respective positions, while Mr. W. Salisbury was elected to the secretaryship. A trip to Ottawa will probably be the next excursion of the nine, when they will play the crack Ottawa ball team. A date is being arranged.

SHORT STOPS.
A new club is being organized at Young's Point.

The Warsaw, the champions of the east riding, would like to meet the new club. They ought to play in Lakeside, it would be neutral ground.

The employees of Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger and Lochart & Chownen play in the Riverside Park this afternoon.

The Clippers shut out the Maple Leafs at Guelph on Monday by a score of 4-0. The Leafs' new short stop, Richardson, distinguished himself by fumbling every ball that came to him.

RENOVATING AND REMODDING.

The Parlor Rink, Water street, is at present undergoing a considerable overhauling. The floor has been planed, scraped and some rough spots caused by the slight shrinkage of the flooring have been made perfectly smooth. The gallery and dressing rooms have been freshly painted. New decorations will be put up in a few days, and the rules and regulations, instead of being hung up on printed cards, will be neatly painted on the walls. The seating accommodation will be also improved, and the galleries will receive some touches at the hands of the painters. The annual horticultural exhibition will be held in the rink next week, and a few days after that event the rink will be re-opened for the fall and winter season.

LACROSSE.

The Cornwalls and the Ottawas (formerly Meta) played for the intermediate championship in Cornwall on Monday. The Cornwalls won the match by three games to one, taking the first, second and fourth games in two minutes, five seconds and five minutes respectively. The Ottawas won the third game in fifteen minutes.

THE FAIR.

EXCITING RACE IN LONDON.
An exciting race was run in London, Ont., on Monday between George and Cummings. In the Lillie Bridge Athletic Grounds, where the event took place, there were about 15,000 spectators, and the wildest enthusiasm was expressed by the admirers of each man. George took the lead at the start and held that position till the end of the mile. Time, 4:14.

New Goods.

First instalment of new goods from Liverpool to Peterborough in 15 days. Fair & Van Every have received the first shipment of their Fall importations, per S. S. "Montreal," comprising Floor Oil Cloth, Scotch Wines, French Dress Goods, French Kid Gloves to match and English Hubber Goods in great variety, Mourning Goods, Crapes, etc. Visit the Golden Lion for variety and cheapness.

Personal.
Mrs. S. E. Peck, of New York, who speaks here on Friday evening, passed through town on her way to Lakeside yesterday.

We notice that Mr. Frank P. Henry, of Peterborough, has successfully passed the first intermediate examination for August, held in Toronto by the Law Society. Mr. Henry stands 5th in the long list of candidates who have passed.

Mr. J. E. McIntyre, of the Oriental Hotel, has returned from Plumb creek, Nebraska, where he has been spending the last week or two.

Be Sure to Go.

Miss Churchill, the great elocutionist, and Miss Strong, Canada's finest singer, will be here on Tuesday, September 1st, under the auspices of the Women's Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society of St. John's Church, at Bradburn's opera house. Plans of the ball at Hartley's music store.

To Miss Churchill the poet Longfellow writes:—"Your conception and rendition of 'Havah' teaches me that it is harder to find readers than writers. You are full of the spirit of the song."

The Boston Advertiser says:—"Miss Churchill has a powerful voice, well cultivated, and evinces the highest degree of taste and perfection of art. She has a commanding form and great facial expression, fully equal to Charlotte Cushman, and a tragic power scarcely surpassed by that eminent tragedienne."

Of Miss Strong the Boston Times says:—"Miss Marie C. Strong sang 'Tostie's Farewell and Farewell' with fine effect, her pure, rich contralto voice being supplemented by a most graceful stage presence."

The Hon. Theo. White.

Much interest is naturally felt here at the recent promotion of our former town-minister, Mr. Theo. White. We quote from the independent Montreal Star the following remarks on the banquet given to the new Minister:—"The banquet of which the Hon. Thomas White was the recipient on Saturday evening was one of which any public man might be proud, indicating, as it did, that the new Minister will carry into his new and responsible position the best wishes of many political foes as well as political friends. The speeches were all admirable in the skill with which the speakers avoided references to political topics. Everyone understood that the banquet had been tendered him by his conferees and personal friends irrespective of all political influence, and the bitter issues of the political battlefield were allowed to slumber. Mr. White announced his intention of visiting the Northwest, and doing all in his power to make it a happy, prosperous and contented country. If he succeeds in doing so thoroughly, we are sure he will receive the commendations not only of his own political friends, but also of those Liberals who showed their personal interest in him by their attendance at the banquet on Saturday evening."

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

TUESDAY, Sept. 1.—The Shuter family held their peridical wrangle in the court this morning. Mr. Shuter occupied his wonted position on the prisoners' seat, while Mrs. Shuter, Mary Jane Shuter, Emma Henrietta Shuter, and the rest, sat on the opposite side. There was a slight variation from the regulation mode of procedure on the part of the complainant, Mrs. Shuter. In fact she had discarded the non-support charge, and had brought her husband up for assault. After considerable cross fire on the part of the complainant and the defendant, Mary Jane was called upon to give her evidence. She stated that in the middle of the night she heard a noise and after getting up she found that her father had broken into her mother's bedroom. It was in the middle of the night and yet she saw her father strike her mother. Here Mr. Shuter broke in, declaring that he did not intend to strike his wife, but that he wanted to slap his children for not going out of the room and for not stopping their yelling when he told them to. He claimed that every man had a right to rule his own house. Chief Johnston waved his hand and gave the defendant a knowing look and the voluble tongue of Mr. Shuter ceased wagging for the time being.

Mr. Shuter was asked to come up and give his evidence. He said that he had not lived with his wife since she had him up before the court the last time. When he had a wife he wanted her to be civil and to sleep with him. (Mrs. Shuter.—Is there a stick of wood or a mouthful of oat in the house now?) Mr. Shuter.—Have you washed my shirts for the last three months? Turning to the Magistrate Mr. Shuter said that he had been wearing clothes not fit for any man to wear. Continuing with his evidence he said that he went to her bedroom door on Sunday night, but she had it fastened. He broke it in and she began to scream. This brought the children and they also took up the cry. While he was going to slap the children he made a mistake and hit her. He also slapped her subsequently for blackguarding him.

The Magistrate did not think that the injury Mrs. Shuter had received was of a very serious character, but still, in the eyes of the law, it was an assault. The case was an utterly disgusting one; the wife complaining for bread and the husband complaining for his rights. It was a case that should never have reached the court. He found the defendant guilty and fined him $1 and costs or one day in goal.

Mr. Shuter affirmed in positive terms that he would never pay it, and that he would rather go to goal for 40 days than to pay it. The family then filed out of the court room.

DISTURBING THE PEACE.

John White and Albert Jenson were charged by Chief Johnston with having disturbed the peace on Sunday night. The latter answered to his name and pleaded guilty, but White did not appear. The defendant said that he was merely taking the part of another when White struck him. He did not strike back at White. He was discharged.
